Information released by Plains Cotton Growers, Incorporated Friday reflects changes in the grade and staple discounts that will be applied to the most common qualities in the 57.08 cent base Commodity Credit Corporation loan in 1982. These changes range from decreases up to 60 points on the higher grades of cotton stapling an inch or less to increases of up to 225 points in the lower grades of cotton stapling above an inch.

Tolk Official Gives Update On Plant

Eddie Barron, official with Southwestern Public Service Tolk Station told Rotary members Tuesday that the plant (Tolk) was about three weeks away from making electricity. A crew is on duty twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, in preparation for this date. Barron said that employees are busy now with cleaning out lines and getting trash and debris cleared from boilers and other equipment. Steam lines were blown the first part of May and are scheduled for the same action again the latter part of the week. Coal trains are being received on a regular basis, with the last one being dumped on Tuesday of this week. The SPS official also stated that construction on the second unit was progressing according to plan, with the boiler being up to elevation at this time.

Gas Irrigation Rate Hike Scheduled For July

Irrigation customers served by the West Texas System of Energas Company are being notified that a 10 percent rate increase will be put into effect July 1, company officials said today.

Letters explaining the rate change have been mailed to all affected customers. The area involved extends from the central Panhandle to south of Odessa.

"It has been three years since we last raised the irrigation rate," Charles K. Vaughan, Energas president, said. "In December 1981, the general service rate for customers on the West Texas System was increased by 10.6 percent replacing a rate that had been in effect for nearly three years."

The new irrigation rate is identical to the West Texas System general service rate through the first 50,000 cubic feet of monthly gas use.

The PCG analysis shows that the average change on inch and below cotton classing above low middling spot comes to an increased discount of about 10 points, as opposed to the average increase in the discounts on the same grades of longer staples of just over 100 points.

The United States Department of Agriculture has not announced the 1982 loan program location differentials, but officials at Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Incorporated

Other information compiled by PCG shows that micronaire discounts in all groupings above and below 3.5 to 4.9 show an increase over last year, from 35 points on 3.3 and 3.4 to 65 points on 2.6 and below.

Almost all qualities of cotton stapling an inch or less and grading low middling light spot, strict low middling spot, middling spot or above will be discounted less this year than last. Even in the lower grades of these staples, discount increases are mostly in the 5 to 100 point range.

Donald Johnson, Executive Vice president of PCG says that on the longer fibered cotton, there will be no discount increases. Most all grades of these staples below the Strict Low Middling 1 1/16th inch base show greater discounts, and qualities above the base will receive smaller premiums than in 1981. The largest changes in the quality differentials came in the longer staples, as evidenced by the averages of premiums and discounts applied to the predominant qualities, according to Johnson.

say the base loan rate at Lubbock area warehouses most likely will be 57.2 cents, 12 points above the national average of 57.08.

age. Additional volumes will be at rates that are lower in price than the general service rate.

Vaughan said Energas historically has provided service for irrigation purposes at or below the general service rate in effect in communities it serves in the surrounding area.

"We are confident that the new rate is quite favorable as compared to the prices charged by other gas

PAUL MOORE

Moore Named SPS Consultant

Paul Moore has been promoted to area development consultant for Southwestern Public Service Company, announced Jon Krebs, area development manager.

Moore had previously served as supervisor of managerial programs for the Employee Development Department and succeeds Krebs as area development consultant.

The Area Development Department works closely with communities within the Company's service area to further the economic development of the area.

A native of Oklahoma City, Moore earned a bachelor's degree in secondary education and a master's degree in interpersonal communications from North Texas State University.

Prior to joining SPS in September of 1981, Moore worked as a corporate instructor for Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Texas. He has been involved in leadership and management training for the past five years.

Southwestern Public Service primarily provides electric utility service to a population of more than 1 million in a 46,000-square-mile area of the Panhandle and south Plains of Texas, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas. The Company is headquartered in Amarillo, Texas.

The clinic is open to any pork producer, 4-H and FFA members, their parents, leaders, county extension agents and vocational agricultural teachers who wish to participate.

Cost of the clinic is $15 per person which includes printed proceedings and two meals. Pre-registration should be sent to District Extension Directors, Texas A&M University Research & Extension Center, Rt. 2, Box 950, San Angelo, Texas 76901. Registration checks should be made payable to Extension District 7 County Agricultural Agents Association, the clinic sponsor.

Assistance in organizing the clinic was provided by carcass data. During this activity the concepts of production oriented market hogs versus carcass oriented market hogs will be debated.

Ten producers in the state are fitting barrows to exhibit before the visiting experts. Live evaluation of these barrows takes place on July 19 and carcass evaluation on July 20.

In addition, 37 barrows consigned by 29 breeders across Texas are on a 100-day feeding test which ends July 17. Texas A&M University swine specialists will provide detailed carcass evaluation which will be made available to each registered clinic participant. Six different slides are being made of each barrow at the start of feeding period, at 35 days, 70 days, 100 days and carcass. The barrows will be evaluated live by the visiting judges and participant producers.

The clinic also includes a panel discussion on "Selecting Weaning Pigs for Show Barrows" and "The Method of Building a Breeding Herd or Mating System to Produce Champions."

Talks emphasizing the importance of nutrition, facilities, genetics, selection, health regulations and stock show ethics will be presented.

Several area Extension home economists will spotlight pork as part of a nutritious meal with live demonstration, recipes and a food booth.

Motels for out-of-town participants are available at Fredericksburg, Llano, Mason, Kerrville, Johnson City and Boerne.

Tax Relief Available For Flood

The Internal Revenue Service advises victims of flooding caused by the recent heavy rains that they may be eligible to claim casualty losses on their 1982 returns.

Losses to business property are generally deductible in full. Personal property loss deductions are limited to the amount of loss exceeding $100 for each occurrence.

To claim a casualty loss a taxpayer must be able to substantiate the loss. Victims should compile a list of those items damaged or destroyed and determine their value immediately before and after the loss occurred. Before and after photographs of damaged property are important records to maintain, as are judgements of independent appraisers.

Of course, any portion of a loss covered by insurance and subsequently reimbursed is not deductible.

Further information for taxpayers is available by calling IRS toll free and asking for Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses, and Thefts," and Publication 584, "Workbook for Determining Your Disaster Losses." Call 742-2440 in Dallas, 335-1370 in Fort Worth and 1-800-492-4830 elsewhere in Texas.

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson farm on Sandy Creek comes up with an idea for the United Nations he claims.

Dear editor:

Up to now the United Nations hasn't had any luck preventing wars. It passes resolutions against them but nobody pays any attention.

There's an area however where it might function better. Instead of trying to prevent wars it could try scheduling them.

Like it is, Iran and Iraq were doing very well on TV with their war until the Mideast flared up and took away their ratings. Then the Falkland Islands came along and took away the Mideast's ratings.

Have you considered what a predicament there'd be if a fourth war broke out and here we are with only three networks? A war without TV coverage is hardly worth fighting, yet networks can cover just so many at one time.

Here's where the UN comes in. It should schedule wars. Assign numbers to countries mad at each other and make them wait their turn. Start a war out of turn and you get no TV coverage.

Also, you've got to remember a network's evening news program lasts only 30 minutes. It's impossible to cover three wars in that span of time and leave room for wrecks, floods, tornadoes, Congress, State Legislature and other disasters.

Therefore ABC, CBS and NBC ought to get together and divide up the wars. One take Iran-Iraq, another take the Mideast, and another the Falkland Islands.

Like it is, with all three trying to cover three wars at once, no telling how much domestic news they have to leave out. Congress could vote itself another raise and you'd never see it on your TV screen.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Fair Awards Scholarships

LEVELLAND-The Panhandle South Plains Fair has again awarded $2,000 in scholarships to the agriculture program at South Plains College here.

"We don't think there is any better investment than youth and agriculture; and the two combined make these scholarships an extremely worthwhile project," commented Steve Lewis, manager for the South Plains Fair.

Since instituting the agriculture scholarship program 10 years ago, the Fair has contributed over $78,000 to Texas Tech University, Lubbock Christian College, South Plains College and Western Texas College at Snyder, he said.

The scholarships were originally begun for the Dean Stangel Perpetual Scholarship Fund and the L. M. Hargrave-T. L. Leach

Agriculture Education Scholarship Fund, both at Texas Tech University. "In 1976, we conceived the idea of giving scholarships to all institutions of higher learning on the South Plains; we hope to increase these scholarship amounts as time goes on," Lewis said.

SPC will award the agriculture scholarships for the fall semester. For information, contact James Carroll, SPC professor of agriculture technology and chairman of SPC's agriculture, applied health and technology department at (806) 894-9611, ext. 295.

Scanning
Social Security

In light of economic and demographic changes which have changed the financial outlook of the Social Security system, Congress acted in 1977 and again in 1981 to make significant changes to help bring the system into balance. The factors necessitating these changes are complex, but primary among them were the economic effects of unemployment and inflation, and the demographic effects of a lower birth rate and longer average life span.

These factors combined to lower the income to the Social Security system and increase its costs. In 1977 Congress voted to increase payroll taxes from 5.85 percent on earnings of up to $16,500 in 1977 to 6.70 percent on maximum earnings of $32,400 in 1982. Further increases are scheduled and the tax rate will rise to 7.65 percent in 1990.

In 1981, Congress acted to lower benefits in several categories. Below is a description of some of those changes.

Changes in Student Benefits

The 1981 law will gradually phase out benefits to students attending college or other post-secondary schools. Under prior law, unmarried full-time students could get payments until they reached age 22 if a parent was entitled to retirement or disability benefits or had died. Congress realized, however, that in recent years other types of aid to students had become available.

Benefits can continue for some students as the program is being phased out over the next four years. For students entitled to a check for August, 1981 and enrolled as a full-time student in a post-secondary school (usually a college or approved technical or vocational school) before May, 1982 benefits can continue until the student reaches age 22, marries, or finishes school. However, benefits will be reduced by 25 percent each year starting in September, 1982 until they are completely eliminated for months after April, 1985. Also, starting in 1982, no benefits can be paid for May, June, July and August.

For persons becoming entitled to benefits for September, 1981, or later, who are full-time students at a college or other post-secondary school, payments can be made for months of full-time attendance only through July, 1982. After July, 1982, students benefits will generally be payable only to high school or elementary school students through age 19.

Minimum Benefit Eliminated

As a result of the new law, the benefits payable to a worker and his or her dependents or survivors becoming eligible after December, 1981 will be based solely on the worker's average earnings covered under Social Security, regardless of the level of those earnings. Under the old law, the benefit amount could not fall below a certain floor specified in the law, no matter how low a person's average earnings were. This floor, or minimum benefit, has been removed by the new law.

No beneficiaries entitled in December, 1981, or earlier, will be affected by this change. Congress acted to eliminate the minimum benefit for future beneficiaries because it felt that it no longer fulfills the purpose for which it was originally intended, and because the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program is now available for needy aged and disabled people.

The SSI program is administered by the Social Security Administration but its full cost is paid from general revenues of the federal government, not the Social Security trust funds.

Lump Sum Death Payment Restricted

If a worker dies after August, 1981, the $255 lump sum death payment can be made only if a surviving husband or wife was living with the worker at the time of death or is eligible for survivor benefits in the month of death, or if there is a child entitled to benefits. Under the old law, if there was no spouse who was living with the worker at the time of death, the lump sum payment could be paid to whoever paid the burial expenses or to the funeral home.

The next article in this series will continue the explanation of changes made by the 1981 Amendments to help strengthen the financial status of the Social Security System.

Milsap To Headline South Plains Fair Show

Ronnie Milsap, who has been described in some circles as the Elton John of country music, will be appearing as a headline attraction during the 65th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here Sept. 25 - Oct. 2.

Milsap, who was one of the featured attractions at the exposition in 1975, will be appearing in 5:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. shows on Sept. 29, according to general manager Steve L. Lewis.

He'll be sharing the stage with the Maines Brothers Band, popular local entertainers and recording artists, who have appeared in numerous area night spots as well as ringing down the curtain on the KLLL West Texas Saturday Night Opry Shows.

Milsap's repertoire encompasses classical, jazz, fifties rock and roll, rhythm and blues as well as country.

At age 7 he had become a violin virtuoso and at 8 he had learned to play the piano. Four years later, he had conquered the guitar.

He turned professional in 1966, when he formed his own band and did some recording for a small label.

But it wasn't until he moved to Memphis in 1969 that his musical career began to take off. He got work as a keyboardist for sessions with big names like the late Elvis Presley, Petula Clark, B. J. Thomas and Dianne Warwick.

Shortly afterward, Charley Pride's musical publisher and personal manager urged Milsap to move to Nashville.

In Nashville, he immediately got a permanent gig at a popular motel. He later went on the road with Pride and won a contract with RCA.

In 1973, Milsap's album "Where My Heart Is" became a top country seller. A year later, his single, "Pure Love," became number one across the country.

Since then, his string of hits have included, "Night Things," "Please Don't Tell Me How the Story Ends," and "Legends in My Time."

At age 29, Milsap won both a Grammy and male vocalist of the year awards.

The Maines Brothers have appeared with Milsap in a recent concert in Lubbock. The band includes brothers Lloyd, Steve, Kenny and Donnie Maines, Richard Bowden, Jerry and Randy Brownlow.

Tickets for all shows are $7 and $8 and mail order reservations now are being accepted by writing Show Tickets, P. O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408. All seats are reserved.

Requests should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Orders will be processed in the order in which received but tickets will not be mailed until after July 15.

Earlier, Lewis had announced the following other shows: Mickey Gilley and Johnny Lee, Sept. 25; Crystal Gayle, Sept. 27; Don Williams and Lee Greenwood, Sept. 28; Conway Twitty and Helen Cornelius Oct. 1; Roy Clark, the Wild West Band, Jimmy Henley and Fanci. A seventh and final show will be announced later.

GIVES $5,000 AWAY

LAFRANCE -- A 10-year-old boy at an elementary school became the most popular man on campus when he handed out $5,000 in cash that he found in an envelope at his home. The boy's grandfather came to visit and the boy apparently took an envelope full of cash from him and started giving it away.

POLISH PRESS

WARSAW, POLAND -- Poland's official press recently issued its harshest attacks to date on Western reporters, accusing them of fostering social unrest. PAP warned the nation was again on the brink of "catastrophe" because of the latest riots, which it said were instigated by Western reporters, etc.

You can save about two-thirds on the purchase cost of a ready-made by selecting a similar quality fabric and garment design and sewing the fashion yourself, she adds.

The quality of the home-sewn garment is important, and sleeves are one area that can pose problems, so stash a few sewing tricks up your sleeves, Saunders advises.

Depending on fabric and garment design, the following timesaving suggestions may be helpful when setting sleeves in your home-sewn garment:

Make a self-lined sleeve if the sleeve has a straight hemline and no cuffs. Any see-through patterned fabric, like lace or brightly printed voile, may need to be lined with a solid fabric to enhance the design.

To self-line the sleeve, fold the pattern on the hemline and cut with the hemline on the fold of the fabric (Fig. 1).

Join the double sleeve along the underarm seam with right sides together (Fig. 2). Trim seam allowance and press open. Turn the double sleeve up along the hemline and press.

MRS. MARGARETTA GRAVES

Use ease stitches to set in the sleeve and continue according to the pattern guide sheet (Fig. 3).

Use a quick ready-to-wear method to hem sleeves of any length if the hem allowance follows the shape of the sleeve.

This method will not work on bulky fabrics as the seam allowances will be turned in one direction.

Cut the sleeve as normal, finishing edge of hem allowance as needed. Turn up on the hemline and press (Fig. 4). Pin the underarm seam together and before stitching, fold up the hem on the hemline, so the underarm seam and hem are stitched at one time (Fig. 5). Turn the hem right side out along the hemline. The hem now turns up in the finished position.

Sew sleeve hem as appropriate and continue according to the pattern guide sheet (Fig. 6).

Roundup contest winners will be recognized at a special assembly that evening at 8 p.m. in Rudder Auditorium.

The final day's program will include special activities for Congress participants, including tours and visits in various academic departments at Texas A&M.

State 4-H Roundup is a highlight of the 4-H year for many members, points out McArthur. Those who qualify to compete in the various contests have worked long and hard to sharpen their skills. They must have won at the county and district level to qualify for state competition.

Those who compete in the Project Show are demonstrating their expertise in certain project areas which they have developed over the years, he adds.

And Congress participants are working to expand their leadership skills and knowledge bases as they prepare to make choices relating to continued education and careers.

This year's Roundup, is combined with Congress and promises to be a highlight in the lives of many 4-H'ers, contends McArthur.

Three Local Men Honored By Tech Medical School

Three Muleshoe men were honored, along with other West Texas citizens on Friday, June 4 with an appreciation banquet and ceremonies awarding Distinguished Associates of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Medicine.

John E. Birdwell, Dave Marr, Jr. and Judge Glen Williams of Muleshoe were honored at a banquet which launched activities for a weekend long celebration of the medical school's first decade in physical education. The events will culminate with the graduation convocation on June 6.

Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Medicine will honor West Texas citizens in recognition of their support in its development on Friday, June 4 with an appreciation banquet and ceremonies awarding Distinguished Associate certificates. The banquet will launch activities for a week end long celebration of the medical school's first decade in physical education and will culminate with the graduation convocation on June 6.

The first students were admitted to the medical school in Lubbock in 1972. Over the next ten years, campuses were developed in Amarillo and El Paso and teaching programs begun.

"Starting a medical school on one campus is no easy matter," said J. Ted Hartman, M.D., interim dean of the School of Medicine. "Development of a school on three campuses simultaneously is a real challenge.

"With the encouragement, support and assistance of concerned citizens throughout the state, but particularly in West Texas, we have grown from a school in a converted dormitory to a multi-campus institution serving the region," he said. "It is fitting that we give special thanks and recognition to the individuals who provided invaluable help during this period of growth as we mark a decade of physician education."

During the first decade, the medical school has expanded from accepting 40 students per year to admission of classes of 100 students. The school has graduated 278 physicians, 105 of whom have completed specialty training programs and have entered practice. In addition to medical students, the school has 210 resident physicians in 22 training programs in 11 medical specialties on its three campuses.

Persons named Distinguished Associates of the medical school during the Decade observance included physicians who serve on the clinical faculty and as preceptors for medical education; legislators, community officials, members of service organizations and concerned individuals who have been supportive of development of a medical school in West Texas. Muleshoe individuals honored include John E. Birdwell, Dave Marr, Jr. and Judge Glen Williams.

Three cases of non valid motor vehicle inspections were filed along with two each for expired license plates and stopping on the wrong side of the road. One case was filed for each of the following violations: no headlamp when required, passing in a no-passing zone, and no liability insurance.

Disposition was made this week on 15 speeding cases, four for failure to stop at stop signs, four for non valid MVI and two for violation of written promise to appear. One each was disposed of on the following charges: no drivers' license, over regular weight and public intoxication.

The Texas Consumer Association Education Fund's Report from Austin
By Rebecca Lightsey, Director

Having difficulties paying your bills? Under ancient Roman law, a merchant or artisan who couldn't pay his debts had everything he owned seized by creditors. Then, the lenders "broke his bench"—destroyed his workplace—assuring that he wouldn't be in business again. Fortunately, times have changed. Now, when individuals or businesses find themselves destitute and unable to repay their debts, they aren't automatically destroyed for life. Federal law provides a means for getting a fresh start, through bank-

CANCER ANSWER LINE
American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

Question: "Is there really a risk of a non-smoker developing cancer from working in an office full of cigarette smoke?"
ANSWERline: We still don't know whether exposure to second-hand smoke results in cancer or other diseases, but recent studies indicate that smoke-filled rooms are far from healthy. One study, reported in the New England Journal of Medicine, involved more than 2,000 smokers and non-smokers. Results showed that the nonsmokers inhaling other people's smoke had the same lung damage as light smokers or smokers who do not inhale. The damage affected the small airway passages of the lungs, but the effect of that damage to a person's health is not yet known. Lung damage to average and heavy smokers was far worse. Another study showed that a smoke-filled room needs six times as much air circulated per hour as one without cigarette smoke, in order to maintain the same amount of oxygen.

That's when chances of cure are best. The other form of uterine cancer — endometrial cancer — affects mainly older women. A special tissue sampling is recommended at menopause, as part of a complete pelvic exam. Also recommended is a pelvic examination every three years from age 20 to 40, and annually thereafter.
Question: "I find that when I'm sitting in front of the typewriter, I simply must smoke. Would I be better off smoking cigars or a pipe instead of cigarettes?"
ANSWERline: That depends on how you smoke them. Naturally, you would be far better off if you stopped smoking altogether. Cigar and pipe smokers — as a rule — inhale less than cigarette smokers, so they have less of a risk of smoke-induced lung cancer, although they are still more likely to get it than nonsmokers. However, pipe and cigar smokers are especially subject to cancer of the lip, mouth and nasopharynx area. One problem of switching from cigarettes to that smokers who inhale usually continue doing so even after taking up cigars or pipes. Since cigar and pipe tobacco is stronger, such smokers expose themselves to even greater risk of lung cancer.

Question: "I'm 23 years old and one of my friends tells me it's important for young women my age to have regular Pap tests to check for cervical cancer. I thought that cancer affected only women over 35."
ANSWERline: Your friend is right. All women 20 years of age and older, and younger women who are sexually active, are susceptible to cervical cancer. You should get a Pap test at least every three years, once you've had two initial negative tests one year apart. The Pap test is important because it is extremely accurate in detecting cervical cancer while the cancer is still in an early, localized stage.

Do you have further questions? Call your local unit of the American Cancer Society or call M. D. Anderson Hospital & Tumor Institute's Cancer Information Service, 1-800-392-2040 toll-free in Texas, 792-3245 in the Houston area.

A foolish idea a day keeps the mind working, at least.
