City To Require Peddler's Licenses

The Sterling City Council met Monday evening in regular session in the city hall. Mayor Rufus Foster presided and all councilmen were present, including Horace F. Donalson, Lee Reed, Hugh Harzke, Fred Hodges, Harvey Glass and the city secretary, Mrs. Johnnie Donalson.

The council plans to pass a city ordinance regulating the peddlers using the city for a sales ground, such as fruit and produce peddlers, magazine and book salesmen, carnivals, circuses, shows etc. The body is investigating the usual costs for such licenses and will set up a fee schedule in a few days. Sterling County residents who raise produce and sell it local residents door to door will not be required to pay a fee it was said.

Most type of house-to-house salesmen will need to go by the city hall and get a license permit after the ordinance is in effect.

Street maintenance for the city streets in the future was talked Better drainage of the city streets was discussed and upkeep of the paving drew some comments.

Fire Insurance Rate Up 10c per Hundred

It was brought out that the State Fire Insurance Commission had raised the Sterling City fire insurance rate 10c per hundred—to 94c now.

This was done in spite of the new water system with the fire hydrants, the new fire truck and 1,000 feet of hose recently purchased, and all the other improvements of the fire department.

The irony of such a move is lost in considering the futility of dealing with such an august body as the insurance commission. The mayor and the councilmen plan to continue to try to placate the board with all that is possible in trying to gain a rightful decrease in fire insurance rates. The board is the last word on rates in the cities of the state.

Darwin Sprawls Appointed Fire Marshal

Darwin Sprawls was appointed City Fire Marshal by the council Monday night in action trying to gain an insurance rate decrease. An actual count of wood shingle dwellings will be made by the marshal along with Hugh Harzke and Horace Donalson, councilmen.

Sprawls is local manager of the South Texas Lumber Co. here in Sterling.

Car Wreck Monday Night

A car of Latins wrecked their car four miles up the Big Spring road Monday evening about 10:30, with all three occupants being shook up somewhat. A Lowe ambulance took the victims to the Medical Arts hospital in Big Spring. The couple and a little daughter were returning to their home in Big Spring following a vacation. The woman is a nurse at the Medical Arts hospital.

Sunday morning about 3:30 a soldier fell out of a parked truck behind the school house and dislocated a shoulder. He was taken to the Malone-Hogan hospital in Big Spring by Lowe. Rain started and was so heavy, Lowe couldn't get started back home till the middle of the morning. The soldier's name was S P3 Edward A. Lemmus.

Kent Jones, son of the O. T. Joneses, now a student in Texas Tech, Lubbock had a car crashed into Monday evening in Lubbock. Kent told his father on the phone the car was smashed into the side by a woman coming thru a red stop and go light. No one was hurt.

North Concho River Soil Conservation News Column

Cooperators of the North Concho River Soil Conservation District are among those honored by issuance of the world's first soil conservation stamp. The stamp, to be issued August 26 at Rapid City, S.D., is a tribute to the nation's conservation farmers and ranchers including the Sterling County cooperators of the local district, which has been operating since 1940. The 1-cent stamp is in recognition of the farmers and ranchers who are demonstrating good soil stewardship. It is a salute to their soil conservation districts, and to the professional workers of State and Federal government who help them.

The stamp will go on sale August 26 at Rapid City, S. D., at the annual meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America. On the following day, the stamp will go on sale at other post offices throughout the country, including the post office here.

Recent rains should improve and maintain good growing conditions for the month of July. This should be a good summer to grow some grass. A good point to remember is grow some grass when it is raining, because there will be another drought.

Keep your plants up if you don't want your bare ground to show.

AROUND THE COUNTY by

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

The Livestock Sanitary Commission of Texas will hold a public hearing on the recently passed brucellosis control bill as passed by the state legislature. The hearing will be held on Monday, July 20, 1959 at 9:30 a.m. in the offices of the Livestock Sanitary Commission at 3320 West 7th St., Ft. Worth.

All interested people are invited to attend the meeting and present their views on the bill. All objections and comments will be heard at the hearing by the commission. The commission will then evaluate the opinions presented at the hearing and within 10 days present their opinion to the public. Any revisions will be put into the law at that time.

A national referendum will be held on the 1960 wheat quotas on July 23, next Thursday, in all commercial wheat states. All wheat producers who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat during 1960 will be eligible to vote.

The referendum in Sterling County will be held in the offices of ASC in the courthouse in Sterling City. If you plan to produce more than 15 acres of wheat next year, you are eligible to vote. Check with the local ASC office, Johnny Hailey, secretary, on any questions you may have in regard to the referendum.

Johnny also advises us that a referendum on the wool program will be held later this year, sometime in September. More details on that will be announced when they are made known.

The July range and live stock report shows nearly all areas in Texas improving. Two areas in the state, th

Trans-Pecos area and the extreme northern part of the Panhandle, are the only areas that have not shown improvement as a result of June rains. Those areas received little if any rainfall.

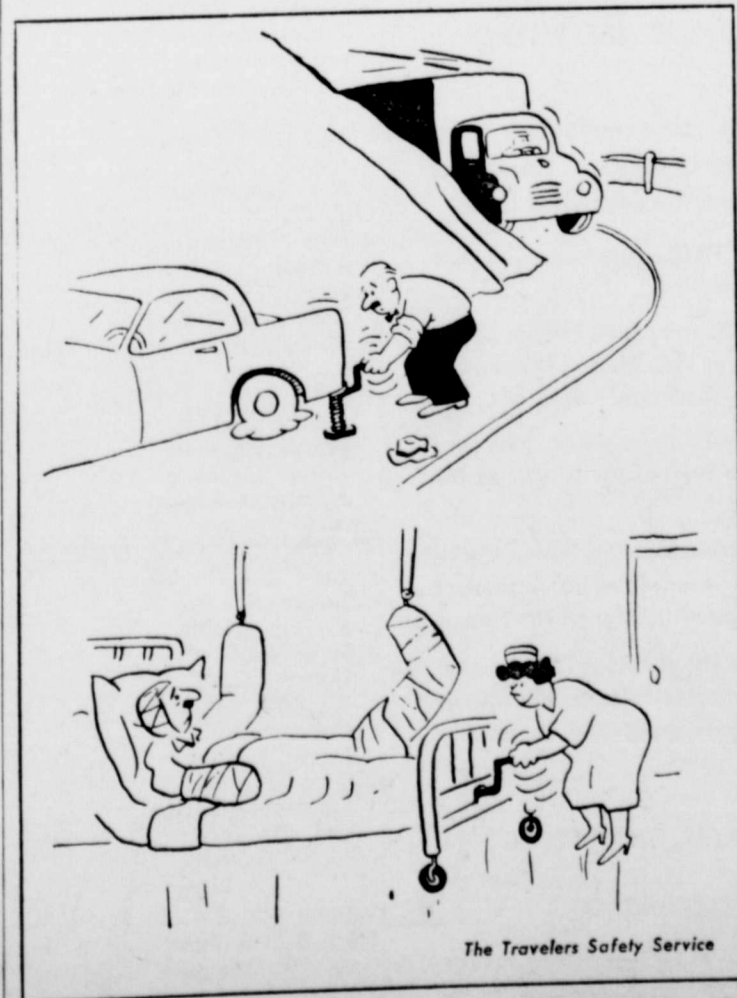

Range feed conditions are called the best in most areas since 1949. Cattle and sheep are in good condition throughout Texas according to the report. Demand for cattle has been high but marketing has been short. Contracting for fall calves has been light as both buyers and sellers adopted a wait-and-see attitude. California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona are dry with the drought continuing in those states. Elsewhere the western range states are in good condition due to June rains.

The week-end rainfall in Sterling County was pretty general although the amounts were varied. Heaviest rain seemed to be in the west and north west sections of the county. Bill Reed reported from 3 to 4 inches over much of their country. Fowler McEntire reported just under 5 inches at his house. John Copeland reported they had 1.75 inches in the canyon while Ed Bynum had 1.2 inches. Our gauge in town showed 1.65 from Sunday morning's shower. Generally the rainfall was less in the south and east parts of the county.

The showers have been scattered but for the most part nearly every section of the county has had some rainfall in the past couple of weeks. This should bring on the grass and furnish grazing for awhile at least. Continued rain will see good conditions to go into winter but a cutoff on the rainfall now could mean a dry fall with only grass to start the winter.

Wheat Referendum for 1960 Nears

Wheat growers of Sterling County will soon be making their annual decision on marketing quotas, chairman Billy Ralph Bynum of the Sterling County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today.

On July 23, they will join with wheat farmers in 38 other states in a referendum to decide the type of marketing control program they will have for the 1960 crop of wheat. The referendum is held at this time so that farmers will know at winter wheat planting time whether marketing restrictions will be in effect at harvesttime in 1960.

The wheat program on which farmers will vote, Mr. Bynum said, is the same as that which has been in effect for the last several years. Marketing quotas have been proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture as required by the law when supplies are excessive. They will remain in effect only if approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting in the referendum.

When wheat marketing quotas are in effect, farmers who comply with their individual farm wheat acreage allotments may market their entire wheat crop without penalty and are eligible for price support at at least 75 per cent of parity. A grower who exceeds his allotment will be subject to marketing quota penalties on his excess wheat except that any grower may produce up to 15 acres for harvest as grain without penalty.

If more than one-third of the voters vote for no quota controls, they do not take effect and there are no restrictions of wheat marketings.

Price support is available at 50 per cent of parity to farmers who comply with their acreage allotments.

The marketing quota penalty rate will be announced later, Mr. Bynum said. It is $1.07 per bushel for 1959-crop wheat.

Any farmer is eligible to vote who expects to produce more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1960, except a grower who participated in the feed wheat program in 1959.

Wasted!!!

Dollars needlessly spent are a TWO-way waste! You won't have them when you need them for something really important. (2) They contribute to inflationary pressures, help keep prices on the rise . . . wasting away the purchasing power of dollars you spend in the future. Deposited in your savings account, saved dollars work just the opposite. They earn extra dollars for you. They help keep inflation under control. Help you to get MORE for the dollars you spend later. Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

A Presidential veto of the housing bill, Democratic Chairman Paul Butler's attack on the Democratic leadership in Congress, and a substantial cut in foreign aid, produced headlines in the Capitol city last week.

The veto, which was expected, puts a quietus on an over-ambitious housing bill. The President properly labeled the measure as inflationary and entirely too costly. Proponents claim the bill called for less than requested. But they never mention the fact that the bill also authorizes 190,000 additional public housing units which would cost the taxpayers $3.7 billion and which were not requested. And this despite the fact more than 100,000 additional units are already authorized that have not been constructed.

FOREIGN aid may be reduced substantially this year as a result of the Senate action last week. The President had requested authorization for $3.9 billion. The House acted first and trimmed the budget figure down to $3.5 billion. The Senate approved an amount just a little higher than the House had provided. Actually there is and has always been a lot of fat in for-ign aid, and much of it can and should be cut out or reduced even more.

DEMOCRATIC Chairman Paul Butler's attack on Senator Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Rayburn seems to have backfired on the talkative chairman. Butler, who always plugs for more and more spending and more and more liberal and socialized legislation, was kow-towing to the radicals in the party. But probably to his dismay the chief back-fire came from such moderates and liberals as Senator Green of Rhode Island and Assistant Senate leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

AMONG Recent guests have been Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lee and son, Robby Lee, of Mason; Mrs. F.F. Westbrook and her daughter, Janet, and Mrs. Roy Foster, all of Sterling City; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Halliday and son Roy, of Brady; Mr. and Mrs. Don Russell and Lane Walker, of Lohn.

GUM Chewers— Americans are chewy people, by gum. Last year they paid $306 million for 250 million pounds of chewing gum, enough for more than 200 sticks for every man, woman and child! But gum manufacturers are not satisfied; they aim for an annual chewing consumption of 500 sticks a person.

Mrs. Clara Lou Berry of Midland and Newton Ernest Waits of Odessa were married at the Methodist parsonage on July 12 by pastor Asa Avant.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my deep appreciation for the flowers, cards, gifts, visits, and kind thoughts given to me while in the hospital. May God bless each of you. MARIE DILLARD

OUTDOOR COOKING MADE EASY

— by Joe Bates, Jr., Guest Columnist

Since we wrote in this column about the "stovepipe stove" (as described in the booklet mentioned below), other similar outdoor cooking ideas have been sent in by readers. A good one — especially for windy places — is the "tin can stove", which looks like this:

The can, of course, is a large and clean one with the top removed. With metal shears and a beer can opener, cut upper and lower vents as shown, and the stove is ready for use. Build a small fire and invert the can over it, because the can's bottom is the top on which we cook. The fire is fed with small, dry sticks added either through the bottom or the top vents. With a little practice, any degree of cooking heat can be obtained, merely by adding twigs or dry sticks, as needed.

We tried this stove while ice fishing, and rested it on a flat rock we had pushed out on the ice. The harder the wind blows, the better it seems to work, and it's an excellent arrangement for warming cold hands. A stone placed against the lower vent to partially plug it up acts as a damper, forcing the fire to burn slower and for a longer time.

First we fry bacon or sausage on the top to "grease the skillet". Then we make pancakes, each of which can be as big as the stove-top. To some regular pancake mix we add an egg (if we have it) and a little of the bacon or sausage fat — plus enough milk or water to make a batter. We make chocolate or coffee or mocha pancakes instead of using syrup. To do this, merely stir three or four tablespoons of "EverReady" cocoa, or one tablespoon of "Nescafe" and one of sugar per cup of flour into the mix. If we use both "Nescafe" and "EverReady", we get mocha cakes, which are exceptionally good.

Of course this stove will cook bacon and eggs, hamburgs and many other "short order" dishes. It makes good toast, too, and is a good way to grille sandwiches. The food can be carried in the can, so everything is in a compact container. When the stove is not being used for cooking, keep a pot of water heating on it. This one pot of water provides a choice of several instant drinks, such as "Nescafe" instant coffee, "Nestea" instant tea, and "Ever-Ready" cocoa. Just pour very hot water over the powder in a cup, and the steaming beverage is ready to drink. "After all", one fisherman said, "there are no grounds for waiting!"

The "energy bar" recipe brought lots of mail, too. This pocket sportsman's snack is described in the booklet mentioned below, so we won't repeat it here. One of the better recipes sent in, from the outdoorsman's point of view, is for "Mocha Peanut Clusters". We tried this at home and had to make a second batch to take while fishing, because the family consumed the first one.

To make "Mocha Peanut Clusters", merely put a 6 oz. package of "Nestle's" Semi-Sweet Chocolate pieces into a double boiler and add a third of a cup (2/3 stick) of butter or margarine. Keep stirring, and when this is melted and smooth, add a tablespoon of "Nescafe" instant coffee. Mix well; remove from heat, and stir in two cups of salted peanuts. Drop the mixture from a teaspoon onto waxed paper.

Both the "energy bar" and the "peanut cluster" recipes are good ones for outdoorsmen because they contain a lot of protein and chocolate — both valuable energy builders for folks who enjoy exercise. Wrap them in foil and carry them in your fishing or hunting coat, so you'll have a tasty, energy-building snack when you want one.

The "stovepipe stove" and the "energy bar"; plus scores of other ideas and recipes for outdoor cooks, are contained in a free booklet called "The Easy Way to Outdoor Cooking". To get a copy, just mail a postcard request to "Joe Bates, Jr., Box 414, White Plains, New York".
