Around Muleshoe

Officers and members of the Muleshoe Elementary P.T.A. have planned for all friends, relatives, and former students of Mrs. Katherine Sanders and Mrs. Edith Henderson to attend a retirement reception held in their honor on Sunday, May 1, 1983, from 2:00 to 4:30 p.m. in the friendship room of the 16th and Avenue D Church of Christ.

In a specially called School Board Meeting on April 22, board members took action on a disciplinary matter regarding an incident at Junior High School, expelling one student for the balance of the semester of this year.

The Rotarian's regular "Fish Sale" will be held on Tuesday, May 10 this year, with pre orders being taken ahead of time. Fish may also be purchased at the truck on the day of the sale.

New construction is on the climb in Muleshoe now, with the building of two new places of business. The first one is located on American Boulevard where Pucket and Clark trucking stood. That land, according to our reports, has been purchased for fast food service featuring both fish and chicken. An opening date was not available.

Dr. Tom K. Boud has recently begun building his dentistry office just to the north of the old XIT Restaurant. Dr. Boud and his wife Annette have lived in Muleshoe about two years where he has been practicing. Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

Nelson Services Held Tuesday

Services for Nannie Pink Nelson were held at 11 a.m. Tuesday, April 26 in the First United Methodist Church of Muleshoe with the Rev. Bill Kent officiating. Burial was in the Muleshoe Cemetery under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Nannie Neison died on April 24 in Cook Memorial Hospital at Levelland. She was 92 years of age and had been a resident of Bailey County since December, 1922, moving here from Amarillo. A Collingsville, Texas native, Ms. Nelson married George Arthur Nelson who preceded her in death in 1959. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church at the time of her death.

Survivors include two daughters: Mrs. Hazel Gilbreath of Muleshoe and Cont. Page 6, Col. 5

MULESHOE LIBRARY FAMILY OF YEAR--The Carroll Rhodes family formerly of Muleshoe and now of Tahoka were named "Library Family of the Year for 1983" last Friday in ceremonies capping off a week long National Library Week celebration. The children's names are Allison and Johnathan. They were presented a plaque and a dictionary by the Muleshoe Study Club, with Mrs. Ed Johnson, Chairman of the Library Committee and Mrs. Joylene Costen Club president looking on.

Alcohol-Related Offenses Plague Local Law Officers

Muleshoe and Bailey County's law enforcement officers had a busy time of things over the past week with a number of alcohol-related violations.

On April 14, Domingo Coronau Vasquez was arrested by local police on MPD and DPS warrants on a failure to appear charge. He made bond and was later released. Joe Luis Flores was arrested on April 19 on a Capias Warrant originally issued for "No Drivers License." He made arrangements for the payment of his fine and was released. Also on April 19, three junior high school teachers reported the theft of money from their purses. A juvenile was questioned in this matter.

An attempted burglary was reported on April 19 by a local woman. Entrance had been tried through the back door of the home. On April 20, the U.S. Post Office reported a criminal mischief when a window was shot out by BB gun pellets. The window was repaired at a cost of $100.

On April 20, local officers arrested Roman Garcia, Jr. on a failure to appear warrant for traffic citations. Garcia was jailed in lieu of $120 bond. Roberto Flores was arrested on April 21 on a charge of DWI after officers observed him weaving in and out of lanes. He was booked, given a breath test and placed in the County Jail. Jane Elizabeth Flores was arrested on April 21 at the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center and charged with disorderly conduct, public intoxication and resisting arrest. She was booked into the county jail.

On April 23, Jose T. Quesada was arrested for failure to appear and no liability insurance on an October 31, 1982 offense. He was released after paying a $50 fine.

Civil Defense Needs Citizens' Help

The Muleshoe Civil Defense needs help from Cable TV Customers. There is a new emergency warning system available which will enable the Civil Defense to issue a warning in seconds instead of the 5 to 10 minutes it now takes for Lubbock T.V. stations to do the same job, and we all know that a lot can happen in 10 minutes.

All that is needed to receive this new service is to be a cable customer.

This system when installed will let the Civil Defense override any T.V. channel that someone could be watching to issue a warning for any type emergency that might arise.

Now comes your part - the Civil Defense feels that the people that to receive this service should be the ones that pay the bill, so they are asking for donations ONE TIME toward the cost of the equipment. During the week of May 2nd through May 7th volunteers from the Muleshoe Civic Clubs, Muleshoe Fire Department, and the Muleshoe Civil Defense will be knocking on your door to ask for your help. Help as much as you can.

Plainview Man Killed In Fall Near Muleshoe

A 21 year old Plainview man was killed near Muleshoe shortly after 11 a.m. on Monday, April 25, when a crossbar on a highline pole broke, causing him to fall.

Eli Anthony Hartman was pronounced dead at West Plains Medical Center at 11:35 a.m. where he was taken by Ellis Ambulance.

The accident occurred about 13 miles west of Muleshoe where Southwestern Public Service Company was dismantling power lines from Muleshoe to Clovis, New Mexico. Hartman had worked for SPS for about two years.

SPS Officials said that no electricity was involved in the accident, but that an investigation was continuing on Monday night.

Services for Hartman are pending with Wood-Dunning Funeral Home in Plainview.

He was born January 26, 1962 in Tulia and grew up at Kress, graduating from Kress High School. He

Bids Made On Corn, Grain Sorghum, Wheat

On April 4, under the direction of the USDA, the Bailey County ASCS office began a two week "reserve PIK" sign-up period initiated to acquire corn, sorghum and wheat from farmers who had those commodities under the Commodity Credit Corporation's regular and farmer-owned reserve price support loans.

The need of the plan was to enable the USDA to satisfy Payment-In-Kind program needs, which had gone way above the expectations of farm officials.

According to Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng, the USDA had accepted all bids that did not request more than 20 percent in like grain. In addition for the year of 1981 and older crops of wheat, bids between 20 and 25 percent were accepted to help meet the program needs. The USDA implemented the reserve PIK plan due to government stocks being insufficient to cover obligations under the original PIK program.

Bailey County Executive ASCS Director, Rusty Williamson told the Journal on Tuesday that notifications of bids in Bailey County should be forthcoming within the next few days. Williamson said that from all indications now, it looked as if fifty wheat bids will be accepted in Bailey County, fifty-three corn bids and one hundred nineteen bids of grain sorghum. These figures were arrived at by using the averages.

Grain sorghum bids totaling 161 filed for the reserve PIK program were on an average bid of 20 percent. For corn, average bids submitted were at 21 percent on the 1982 corn bids filed. Wheat bids in Bailey County, which numbered 101, were bid on the average of 22 percent.

Williamson was quick to stress that the figures offered were in no way official, but expects word sometime this week. Farmers will be notified by letter whether or not a bid was accepted or not accepted, he said.

"While we don't have any idea whose bids were accepted, Bailey County farmers are expected to have stayed pretty well in the middle of the bidding," the Director said. He said that bids went from zero to 50 percent on grain sorghum, zero to 35% on Corn

DECA Duo Honored At State Meeting

Two persons from Muleshoe High School who were in Houston last weekend for the annual DECA State Convention brought home impressive honors.

Jimmie Lee, Jr., son of Mrs. Judy Gordon won state honors in Advertising Services Series and now qualifies for national competition to be held in New Orleans in June. He qualified for state by winning at area in March.

His sponsor, Lola Pylant, said the event consists of preparation in ten categories within Advertising Services; Advertising, communication, display, human relations, management, mathematics, merchandising, operations, product and service technology, along with selling.

She also explained that when the contestant gets to the contest, he is evaluated in any of these above items through written, oral and role-playing situations.

Mrs. Pylant said this was the first time in many, many years a MHS student had qualified for national competition.

During the 37th Annual Career Development Conference at Astro Village Hotel in Houston, Mrs. Pylant also received a state recognition.

Her plaque read "Texas Association of DECA -- special recognition of having contributed guidance and support to the DECA program of youth activity statewide."

Mrs. Pylant, who has a Bachelor of Arts from Texas Tech and a Master of Education from North Texas State University in Vocational and Business Education, has just completed her third year on the Board of Directors for state.

She has been with Muleshoe High School for the past six years, and previously spent two years with the Wichita Falls ISD.

WIN STATE HONORS--Mrs. Lola Pylant, sponsor of the Distributive Education program at Muleshoe High School, seated, and Jimmie Lee, are shown with their plaque and trophy won by them during the annual state DECA Conference at Houston last weekend. Jimmie also qualified for national competition in New Orleans.

Speeding Violations Load Local Courts

Over the past week, local courts, both Municipal and Justice, have reported the filing of a total of 73 cases for the period from April 19 to April 26. Cases disposed of totaled 39 for the two courts combined. While a few cases filed were not traffic-related, the majority of the filings were on moving traffic violations.

In Municipal Court, Judge Linda Huckaby reported fines paid and cases disposed of during this period totaling 18, of which eight were for speeding. Two violations of city ordinances were disposed of and one case each on the following list of violations: bad checks, expired sticker, permitting unlicensed driver to operate, minor in possession of alcoholic beverages, illegal turn, no liability insurance, racing and failure to appear.

In new filings, Judge Huckaby reported a total of 17 for speeding, six for bad checks, three for no MVI, two for running stop signs, two for exhibition of acceleration and one for each of the following offenses: disorderly conduct, public intoxication, permitting unlicensed operator to operate vehicle, violation of city ordinance, minor in possession of alcoholic beverage. Rotarians Honor Their Own

The Muleshoe Rotary Club met for a regular meeting on Tuesday, April 26 at the Civic Center. George Nieman was in charge of the program and he presented Hugh Young who showed a film on telephone operations and functions and how they affect our society.

Long-time member and honored past officer, Harmon Elliott was presented a Paul Harris Membership Certificate at this meeting. Harmon was cited for the work he had done in getting and keeping. Cont. Page 6, Col. 6

Rural Hero Saves Father's Life

Eleven-year-old Chris Wilhite and his ten-year-old sister Amy of Saltillo (Hopkins County) received the 1983 Rural Heroism Award here today for their role in saving the life of their father who severely mangled his right arm in a farm accident last June.

The presentation was made by Millard Shivers, awards chairman of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, during the annual meeting of the Texas/Southwestern Safety Conference and Exposition. Ben Bullard, assistant director of the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department, is the council president.

Two other nominees, Mrs. Paul Fox of Desdemona (Eastland County) and John Henshall of Beeville (Bee County), received honorable mention.

Mrs. Fox probably saved the life of her husband when she jumped on a runaway tractor and stopped it, after the man had been knocked unconscious by a tree he was pulling down with the tractor. Henshall used a front-end loader to lift a tractor which had overturned on a co-worker, Leroy Robbins, as the two were excavating dirt to build some terraces.

Last June 23, Steve Wilhite, 30, was working with a hay baler on his 160-acre dairy farm near Saltillo in northeast Texas when he slipped, pinning his right arm in the rollers of the baler.

Responding to Wilhite's cry for help, Chris and Amy came running from a nearby lake. Chris shut off the tractor's power takeoff and then lifted the tailgate of the baler, allowing the elder Wilhite to remove his severely mangled arm.

Accustomed to pasture driving but never highway traffic, Chris started the family pickup and Amy kept their ailing father awake so he could shift gears as Chris sped 75 miles per hour the eight-mile distance from their farm to Franklin County Hospital at Mount Vernon.

Emergency treatment was given to Wilhite, but hospital officials determined that the only chance Wilhite had of keeping his right arm would be to take him to a Dallas hospital.

J.W. McKay, who lives near Mount Vernon, has an agreement with the hospital there to use his helicopter to fly patients in need of more specialized care.

McKay flew Wilhite with his injured arm packed in ice to Parkland Hospital in 38 minutes. However, surgeons at Parkland could not save the badly mangled arm, because they said the bone had been twisted beyond repair.

Nevertheless, the quick action of the Wilhite youths has been attributed to possibly saving his life.

Playing hero was not the main concern of the two children at the time of the accident. Chris said his primary concern was "getting daddy to the hospital." Amy said her main interest was "keeping daddy alive."

Chris and Amy attend school at Mount Vernon, Chris being in the fifth grade and Amy in the fourth grade.

Both children help their parents with the farm chores. Chris helps with cleaning the milking parlor and raking the hay for baling. Amy helps feed the baby calves.

Home Ventilation Saves Energy

Using outside air wisely can reduce energy use for residential air conditioning. During spring and fall periods when average outside air temperatures are comfortable (82 degrees F. or below), whole house or attic fans can be used to pull outside air into the home and remove heat, points out Dr. Bill R. Stewart, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas

A&M University System. However, this practice may not be desirable for those with allergy problems.

A whole house fan is usually installed in a hallway ceiling or other convenient location so that it can pull air through any or all the rooms, notes Stewart. Air flow will depend on having windows or doors that will open in each room to admit air. Then openings must be adjusted to equalize the air flow or to control the velocity of air through the room.

Whole house fans should be rated to provide an air flow of 10 cubic feet per minute (cfm) for each square foot of house area. Thus, a 1,000-square-foot home would need a whole house fan rated at 10,000 cfm, explains Stewart.

Where fans are installed in the ceiling to exhaust air out through the attic, be sure there is enough attic ventilator outlet. Attic screened vents should have 1.75 square feet of area per 1000 cfm of fan capacity, says the engineer. These may be gable vents, under eave vents or roof vents.

When whole house fans are installed in ceilings they should be covered when central air conditioners are used to prevent excess attic heat from entering the home through the fan openings.

Another method of reducing air conditioning bills during the summer, particularly for those homes with low levels of ceiling insulation, is to provide attic ventilation, says Stewart, since air will try to rise as it is heated.

Attics can be ventilated by providing adequate outlet vents near the peak of the roof along with the same amount of inlet vents at the eave. Both inlets and outlets should be uniformly distributed to provide uniform replacement of attic air.

Research with attic ventilation has shown that attic temperatures can be reduced substantially by providing about one square inch each of vent outlet and inlet per square foot of ceiling area, notes the engineer.

The greater the difference in height between inlets and outlets, the greater will be the ventilation rate. High peaked roofs are easier to ventilate than low sloped roofs.

Some roofs are not easy to ventilate by gravity systems, so power vents can be used. However, research in the Houston area has indicated no significant saving in energy use when a home had a ceiling insulation level of R-19 (6.5 to 8 inches of insulation).

Attic ventilation is most effective when the ceiling insulation level is below R-11 (less than 4 inches). However, if investing in energy-saving material or equipment, the wisest choice would be to increase the ceiling insulation level, says Stewart.

BISHOPS & FREEZE

The nation's Roman Catholic bishops, under heavy pressure from the Reagan administration, softened their support for a nuclear freeze, but in a pointed statement still condemned nuclear war as "immoral."

SAVINGS?

President Reagan's private-sector task force said recently the government could save $48 billion over the next three years, mostly by clamping down on benefits to federal workers--including early retirement.

An Explanation Of The 'Farm Equipment Exemption Law'

Texas Constitution Art. 8, Sec. 19A

Texas Property Tax Code 11:161

The Appraisal District Office has received numerous inquiries as to the possible impact this law can create as well as to clarify certain questions.

Section 19A of Article 8, Texas Constitution, was adopted by the voters of this state last November. The amendment reads as follows:

"Implements of Husbandry that are used in the production of farm and ranch products are exempt from ad valorem taxation."

The amendment allows for the exemption of any "Implement of Husbandry" which is used for "The production of Farm or Ranch products" regardless of who owns the implements. The owner could be a farm owner and operator, a tenant farmer, an implement dealer and leasing company, a fertilizer dealer, a custom combine operator, a crop duster or a gin, which owns certain implements. The owner can be an individual, a corporation, a partnership or a group of joint owners who share the use of an implement.

It is clear there is no monetary limit on the value of the implements to be exempt for any one owner.

The term "Production of Farm or Ranch Products" indicates that only implements used in the production phase of agriculture are exempt while those used in the processing stage are not exempt. The line between production and processing is not easily established, but the district will take the stance that an action or item that occurs or is used after harvest will constitute processing, not production.

For the district to define the tax code section 11:161 "Implements of Husbandry" the "Primary design, primary use, primary purpose test"

Bailey County Appraisal District

104 E. Avenue C

Muleshoe, Tx.

Ph. 272-5501

will apply, and when necessary, a case by case procedure will be used.

An illustration of the code 11:161 is as follows: A truck, will by itself, not qualify for the "Primary Design" portion of the test, by a specially adapted fertilizer or feeder truck with the sole purpose and sole use for crop production will qualify for exemption.

On the other hand, the courts have held that a pick-up truck is taxable and not normally an "Implement of Husbandry."

While no application is required by law to receive the exemption, a business that might have equipment that qualifies will need to inform the District Appraisal office of the equipment value, and documentation to confirm its use in the "Production of a crop."

Items like house, barn, shed and windmill are improvements and will not qualify for the exemption. Also gins, tanks, grain storage and hay processing plants are improvements and fail to qualify for the exemption.

This opinion is a compilation of oral and written statements of attorneys at law, registered Chief Appraisers and the State Property Tax Board, and is merely an attempt to inform the taxpayers of this District about a law that remains untested in the field and has not been challenged in the courts of law.

The impact this law created will affect each entity in the appraisal district's 885 square mile area which means the tax burden will shift to land owners, home owners, businesses and inventories for the 1983 tax roll.

In the event there are questions which are not answered by the above statement, contact the Bailey County Appraisal District Office.

Benefits Requirements Extended, Liberalized

Recent legislation liberalized eligibility requirements and extended existing Veterans Administration benefits for former prisoners of war, advises the director, Waco VA Regional Office.

For example, he noted, a POW of more than 180 days may be eligible for any needed dental care from the VA. Also, a former POW may establish that certain disabilities are related to the POW experience without having to produce military medical records showing that they were incurred or aggravated during active duty.

The VA has priority policies on medical admissions and treatment of former POWs. Each VA medical district has a physician with expert knowledge on physical deprivation and psychological stress endured by former captives. Many of those designated physicians are former POWs. Staff at VA regional offices, medical centers and outpatient clinics have access to such a physician and other consultants regarding proper treatment of former POWs.

A system also has been established to collect important medical data on former POWs, he added. That information is important in assuring that accurate medical diagnoses are made.

For further information about, or a pamphlet on, benefits for former POWs, write, visit or telephone the Waco VA Regional Office toll-free number listed in your local telephone directory under "Veterans Administration" or "U.S. Government." A VA counselor will respond.

Farm Inputs To Decline With PIK

The high level of farmer participation in the PIK (payment-in-kind) program will have a marked impact on agricultural production expenses, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Overall demand for farm production inputs should decline due to the high unanticipated levels of PIK participation," says Dr. Forrest Stegelin. "This will affect nearly all expenses associated with crop production, but especially fertilizer, seed, pesticides, fuels and energy, and operating cost."

Initial forecasts are that expenditures for farm inputs will decline 12 to 15 percent, notes the economist.

Use of pesticides and seed is expected to decline sharply since these are most closely tied to planted acreage. Total sales of both are expected to fall 14 to 20 percent because of PIK.

Fertilizer use is forecast to decline by 15 to 20 percent, but sales may decline even more due to large inventories and already soft prices.

Machinery purchases are expected to decline only 3 to 5 percent as these sales are closely tied to net farm income which is forecast to improve.

Machinery repair expenses should drop 12 to 15 percent.

Fuel use may drop 8 to 10 percent, says Stegelin.

Inputs needed for erosion and weed control on idled acres--seed, chemicals, fencing and other materials--are becoming more expensive as their demand increases.

"To avoid losing sales of big-ticket purchases such as tractors and combines, implement and equipment dealers may soon offer credit for large dollar purchases in exchange for PIK certificates," says Stegelin. "The effect will be the same as using scale tickets at harvest for collateral."

While there are possible negative effects from PIK on farm supplies, USDA officials believe the long-term benefits to agriculture will outweigh the costs to individual agribusinessmen, says the economist.

WASHINGTON NOTES

TALKS STILL ALIVE

Jordan's King Hussein and Saudi Arabia's King Fahd have personally assured President Reagan that his Mideast peace initiative is still alive--despite the setback dealt by the Palestine Liberation Organization, the administration announced recently.

COURSES DECLINE

The average time spent on academic subjects has declined in American high schools since the late 1960s as enrollments have surged in "personal service and development" courses such as driver education, according to a new report.

TAX DODGING

The United States is trying to negotiate a tax treaty with the Netherlands Antilles that would close a giant loophole used mainly by residents of third countries to dodge U.S. taxes, the Treasury Department said recently.

MISSILE PLAN

After struggling for months to find a politically acceptable basing system for the MX missile, a special commission recommended to President Reagan recently a plan virtually identical to one already discarded by Congress.

Right now the Texas House of Representatives is considering the Ma Bell utility bill. It eliminates the existing statewide long distance price setting policy, and instead favors AT&T's so-called "market-by-market" regulation. The "market-by-market" scheme is designed by Ma Bell to eliminate consumers' alternatives in the long distance market in Texas, so that the telephone monopoly can again be the only phone company in Texas.

In a nutshell, it's a shell game.

Here's how it works. This summer, Ma Bell will formally request a massive rate increase. According to the Dallas Morning News (February 26, 1983), a former PUC employee said, "You're looking at almost a billion dollar rate case." If that happens, of course many poor and elderly people won't be able to afford the basic telephone service at all.

But the cruel hoax is that if the Legislature lets Ma Bell pass their special interest legislation (H.B. 2250 and the telephone section of S.B. 232), they'll use that massive rate hike to subsidize Ma Bell's phony long distance pricing schemes between the big cities in Texas.

Rural ratepayers will subsidize big city long distance pricing schemes.

Ratepayers in rural communities where no real long distance competition exists yet will be asked to pay exorbitant rates. Ma Bell will use the rural ratepayers to fund their big city long distance pricing game. Once Ma Bell has eliminated smaller long distance companies, they will once again be a total monopoly, thereby being able to raise the rates of all Texas ratepayers.

MRS. TOMMY KING

Creative Woman

By Sheryl Borden

Topics to be presented at "The Creative Woman" show on May 3 and 7 include information on hayfever, buttons and buttonholes and household cleaning products.

Dr. J.T. Olive, M.D. from Las Cruces, discusses hayfever and the irony of the name. As he explains, allergic rhinitis is not necessarily caused by hay, neither does it usually produce a fever. Dr. Olive will explain the complications of hayfever and talk about some of the causes of hayfever in the southwest and how to treat this and other allergies.

Kaye McCown, Sales Manager for Ann Silva's Bernina Sewing Center in Albuquerque will demonstrate how to get a professional looking buttonhole and how to sew on buttons by machine.

To conclude the show, Joy Best, Extension Home Economist from Portales will continue her discussion of homemade cleaning products. Mrs. Best will talk about reading labels on products, safety precautions of homemade products and the commercial ones and will inform viewers of the Poison Control Center telephone number.

On May 5, viewers will learn about community property and painting on leather. Community property is becoming such a familiar word to so many people, and it's important for everyone to have more knowledge about it and know how to use the knowledge. Guest Marcia Driggers an attorney from Las Cruces will discuss when and where the concept of community property originated and why it's a consideration in probate proceedings.

Another guest, Barbara Miller from Floyd, NM will demonstrate painting on leather. She'll talk about what types of leather to use, where to get patterns for this type of art work and will share ideas for framing the finished piece. This is a way to save money and be very creative at the same time.

When Pay and Save Grocery opened its doors in Muleshoe, the store was in a location on Highway 214 where First National Bank is presently located. Later, Roger Lowe of Littlefield, the owner of the Pay and Save Food Store chain, purchased the former Wagon Grocery on West American Boulevard and consolidated the two stores at the corner of West 6th Street and American Blvd.

Bob Donaldson, a former employee of the water department for the City of Muleshoe, took over as manager of the store six years ago.

After he assumed managership of the store, Bob Donaldson has seen it expand in size and has attributed the popularity of the store to the "fantastic people who shop in the store and make it what it is."

A strong supporter of school and youth activities, Donaldson said, "We believe in backing and supporting school activities 100 percent."

Some of his community minded activities were rewarded when he was named 'Merchant of the Year' for 1980-81 by the Muleshoe Jaycees.

Donaldson termed the store "Your friendly, every day low price grocery store" and also praised his employees, who he chooses to serve the shoppers who are packed in the store seven days a week.

Bob Donaldson and his wife, Maxine, are the parents of two sons, Billy, who is assistant manager of the Pay and Save Store, and Rob, a junior at Muleshoe High School.

Recycling Provides Benefits

Aluminum can recycling provides financial benefits, as well as ecological benefits, for the Panhandle area. Individuals and organizations that turn in cans at Budco Recycling Centers are paid for their cans and that puts money back into the Panhandle Community. Last year Budco Recycling in Amarillo paid out over $40,000.00, and Budco Recycling in Dimmitt paid out over $20,000.00. Thus, the two centers put over $60,000.00 back into the Panhandle Community.

For more information about recycling call or visit the Budco Recycling Center nearest you: Amarillo, Texas, 205 S. Philadelphia, 373-8517, Barry Pinkert, Recycling Manager. Dimmitt, Texas, 301 E. Etter, 647-3388, Desi Pesina, Recycling Manager.

The Budco Recycling Centers are operated as community services by Budco, Inc., the local Anheuser-Busch Distributor.
