AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By Omar Burleson, Member of Congress, 17th District

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- It was one of those evenings of gusty winds and intermittent downpours. A three-quarter moon seemed to enjoy dodging in and out of the clouds.

Inside the brightly lit Grocery Store six carts of groceries were lined up behind each of two opened check-out counters. Beside each cart stood people who looked tired and bored, waiting their turn.

First in line was a lady with two small children clinging to her side. Her accent suggested that she was Puerto Rican. Both she and the children watched attentively as each item was rung up on the register. After the obnoxious and repetitive clanging sound that cash registers make, it finally produced the final bill.

The woman took a final look at the white figures on the spinning wheels and then in her purse. In a soft voice she said to the checker, "I have got to take something back." The little girl at her side looked up at the others, not realizing their bored and impatient attitude.

Doubtless the checker had been through this before and tried to be helpful and even cheery.

"How much are you short," he asked the woman.

"It was the check," she said. "It wasn't as much this time."

With the checker's help they looked over her cart of groceries. There was a large bag of rice and about three pounds of cheap hamburger meat. There was a box of laundry powder and two loaves of yesterday's bread, which can be bought for 10c off the regular price.

Then there were some fresh vegetables, some toilet tissue and a quart of skim milk. Included were potatoes, wein-cers and a large box of cereal. There were several packs of soft drinks, some peanut butter and king sized cans of beans.

The eyes of the two, the checker and the woman, went over the items almost one by one.

Back to the shelves went a jar of red cherries, two or three oranges, some vanilla ice cream and a jar of jelly.

Back went about everything that makes things a little nicer—to improve one the plebian.

The woman was still a dollar short, so back went the peanut butter and one carton of Kool Aid, and maybe another little item.

Watching all this without doing anything is kinda difficult. Maybe some didn't care but there was the urge to step forward and pay this little bit for the woman because the children were watching. It wouldn't do—so nothing is said. The woman looked back at the rest of us and it seemed the most to be done was to smile and try to impart the thought, "don't be embarrassed, I've been caught short too."

Then she goes out into the

BAPTIST MEN RETURN FROM MEXICO

Six men left Fabiens, Texas last Friday at 8 p.m. to deliver the food and feed collected for the orphanage in Juarez, and the proposed orphanage in Guadalupe, Mexico. The six men were Bob Dodds, Crescencio Rodriguez, D. D. Garrett, Danny Slaughter, Tommy Roger and Andy Daniels.

The food that was donated will go to the orphanage in Juarez and the feed to the orphanage in Guadalupe.

These men arrived in Fabiens early Saturday morning and met John Shugart who showed the men the orphanages of Guadalupe and Juarez. While in the pastorate at Fabiens Shugart did much to help the orphanage that cares for 178 children. He has resigned the pastorate to start the orphanage in Guadalupe.

The Sterling Baptists arrived back home Saturday at 10:00 p.m.

rain with the children close beside her. At home she will cook the hamburger and the beans but there won't be any ice cream or red cherries or the jelly or the oranges.

There is a lurking guilt but a man in line shakes his head and mumbles, "those people never know what they want."

The woman would not be interested in the theories of inflation. There are a lot of them but you can't eat them. She would not be interested that food, as related to over-all living costs, is lower priced than other essentials. Washington thrives on statistics. People who have to put the nice little items back on the shelf and see the disappointment in their children's eyes can't live on these statistics which come from averages and generalities. Because we have to have it every day we are aware that food prices are high and that inflation continues to be one of the greatest problems of the Country.

A number of remedies have been applied and more are talked about, but relief is slow in coming. Those who have money can afford it; those with none can usually draw on programs of assistance; the larger number in between—those on fixed or modest incomes, which includes most of us—are feeling the pinch.

New Church of Christ Minister

THE CHALLENGE OF A NEW WORK:

(Views from Pat Brooks)

Pat Brooks, new preacher for Sterling's Church of Christ, is grateful to follow the much loved Marion Hays who recently moved to Sydney, Montana but knows from experience that trying to fill a former minister's shoes is an impossible task, and if it were possible it would probably not be the best thing for either himself, the church or community.

"I was privileged to meet Brother Hays here about a month ago," stated the new preacher, "and realized that here was a man dedicated to the word of God and work of the Lord. After moving here it did not take long to learn that the people of Sterling had grown to love and appreciate this family. After fourteen years of faithful service to the church and community, we all admire his decision to move into a mission field but know that his experience and dedication will be real assets wherever he goes." Brooks continued, "As the incoming minister we will do our best to faithfully represent the cause of Christ as Brother Hays has done although I am relieved to know that being one of the best gardeners in town was not part of the contract. We are trying to keep the grass watered real well though," he grinned. "After 'surviving' one Sunday here, I believe that by the time the family has a good West Texas tan we'll be fairly firm in the saddle."

The new minister, in addition to preaching and teaching responsibilities, enjoys working with young people. "We aren't quite over the hill ourselves," observed the thirty year old preacher. "So far the youngsters have really challenged and inspired us. Many times West Texas young people have a better opportunity for wholesome upbringing than those in the larger city environment. We have some real leaders developing here."

Along with his ministerial duties the new preacher also plans to do graduate work at Abilene Christian College this fall. "I am convinced that any Christian needs to grow and develop, but especially in our rapidly changing society a preacher really has to hustle to keep abreast of the times. We are grateful to the elders for this privilege and feel that it will not only benefit us but the church as well," observed Brooks who has a masters degree from N.S.T.U. and certificate of graduation from the Preston Road School of Preaching in Dallas.

"Of course we are looking forward to getting better acquainted in the community, but the two immediate challenges this summer are our rapidly approaching gospel meeting with Bill Young of Denver, Colorado, and the vacation Bible school set for the first week in August. I hope the meeting will afford an opportunity for me to meet many of the citizens of Sterling who do not regularly attend services at the Church of Christ. I can promise a warm and hospitable welcome," he concluded.

Fill Marion Hays' shoes?

Agricultural Workers Covered by SS

"Did you know that if you operate any type of agricultural business, the hired workers you have in that business may be covered by social security?" J. M. Talbot, social security manager, asks.

Any employee who works and earns $150 or more for one employer during any year or works at least 20 days on a time basis for an agriculture business, is covered by social security. Even part-time employees could meet the earnings or work test. You, as their employer, would be liable to withhold social security tax from the employee's check, match that tax yourself, and report the earnings at the end of the year. The report of agricultural employees must be filed with the Internal Revenue Service by January 31 of the following year. Reports should be on Internal Revenue Service Form 943—showing each employee's name, social security number, and amount paid. The report should be accompanied by tax withheld from employee's pay and matched by employer.

To be sure which employees to report, Mr. Talbot recommends keeping records on anyone working for you in your agricultural business.

"If you have any questions about farm wages," Mr. Talbot said, "please inquire at the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area."

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

An aged ram fleece entered in the thirty-third annual Sonora Wool Show by Allen Price was judged grand champion fleece of the adult show last week. The fleece was also champion range wool fleece of the show.

Twelve fleeces from the Price ranches were entered in the show with all fleeces placing. The fleeces won all four classes of the adult show—yearling, ewe, aged ewe, yearling ram and aged ram.

In the yearling ewe class, Allen had the first and third place fleeces with Frank showing the seventh place entry. Price fleeces won all seven places in the aged ewe class. Allen showed the first place yearling ram fleece as well as the first place aged ram fleece.

This is the second consecutive year that Allen has won the rotating trophy donated by the First National Bank of Sonora for the grand champion fleece. Price fleeces have won the trophy four of the last five years; they are due congratulations for the showing their fleeces have made in the years gone by no only at Sonora but at San Antonio and Denver as well.

Chlorosis is beginning to show up in many different type plants in this area again. The condition results from an iron deficiency. Ample iron may be available in the soil but the high lime content of the soil such as soils here have resulted in a chemical lock-up of the iron.

Chlorosis can be easily spotted. Leaves will turn yellow between the veins. The veins will usually remain green but in extreme cases the entire leaf turns yellow in spots or almost white in appearance. Grass tends to turn yellow in spots and close observation will reveal a striping with green veins and yellow between them.

The deficiency can be controlled by spraying with a solution of copperas (iron sulfate). For trees and shrubs, use one level teaspoon copperas per two gallons of water and include about one and one-half teaspoons liquid household detergent to insure even coverage. For grasses, increase the amount of copperas to three level teaspoons in the same mixture. Three or four applications at weekly intervals may be necessary for effective control. Spray late in the evening. Avoid getting the spray on masonry material as it will stain.

In addition to the foliage spray, a soil application is recommended for grasses. Use one pound of copperas per 100 square feet broadcast and water it in well. Around trees and shrubs, it may be placed in holes around the plant.

The American Rambouillet Association Ram Sale will be held next Friday, June 26, in the sheep barn at the San Angelo Livestock Show Grounds. Rams will be available in the barn for inspection on Thursday prior to the Friday sale which starts at 10:00 a.m. A number of Sterling County bred rams will be on sale.

The screwworm case confirmed in Crane County last week was the first confirmed case in that county since 1966. It was in cattle as have the majority of the cases this year.

Thus far, four samples have been submitted from Sterling County with all being identified as nonscrewworm. Even though the weather here has been dry, the humidity much of the time has been high and this is to the screwworm's benefit.

Most of the vegetation here is dry now and is in condition to burn. There have been several grass fires in town in the last week.

Everyone is urged to be careful with fire with the present dry conditions and high winds. Trash fires were responsible for some of the fires. Burn early in the morning when it is more likely to be still and the chance of wind blowing fire out of the barrel is less likely.

Red decals with the number to call in case of fire are available. If you haven't gotten one. These can be stuck to the telephone cradle and will always be handy. Get one from the fire department members, the sheriff's office, or the county agent's office.

Medicare Premiums Up on July 1

Premiums for the supplementary part of Medicare go up July 1, 1970. According to J. M. Talbot, social security manager, the new premium for most people will be $5.30 monthly, an increase of $1.30 over the current premium.

Mr. Talbot explained that the supplementary part of Medicare is the part which helps pay doctors bills. The program is financed by the premiums beneficiaries pay, matched dollar for dollar by the Federal Government.

Mr. Talbot said the premium increase is necessary because of rising medical costs. Each year, the financing is evaluated by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The law requires that premiums be raised each year the cost of the program indicates a need. The last premium increase was in January, 1968, when premiums were raised to $4 monthly.

Social Security beneficiaries receiving cash payments will have the additional premiums held out of their checks beginning with the check delivered about July 3, 1970. Those who pay premiums directly will be billed $5.30 a month or $15.90 per quarter. The relatively small group of people who now pay more than $4.00 per month, because they were late enrolling will pay proportionately higher under the new schedule.

More detailed information can be secured by contacting the Social Security Office at 3000 W. Harris Avenue, P. O. Box 3808 in San Angelo, Texas or see the representative when he is in your area.
