Again this year doe permits will be issued in Sterling County for the hunting season. Generally, the permits will be issued in the area south of the U.S. 87 and east of the Garden City highway.

Anyway, says Game Warden Wayne Posey, permits will be issued on October 28 here at the courthouse, and landowners may apply for them that day, as in the past.

In the second quarter Russell pushed over three yards for an Eaglet TD and Munoz ran the two extra points.

In the second half Munoz made two touchdowns and after the last one Russell Davis passed to Jeff Copeland for the two PAT's.

To Garden City Tonight at 7:30

The Sterling City Eagles dropped their first game of the season last Friday night when they lost to the Borden County Coyotes here 50 to 20. The game was Sterling City's homecoming game, as well as a conference game.

The Gail Coyotes were bigger and had the locals outclassed on experience, size and squad size.

In the first quarter, Ray Escobar, Eagle back, did get off on a long 42-yard run for an Eagle TD, but Gail's Chas. Billeck got loose for two Gail TD's and Rick Hendley added two points after touchdown following the second.

In the second quarter Tommy Bynum passed to David Gaston from the 28 yard line for an Eagle TD, but PAT failed. In that quarter, for the Coyotes added two touchdowns, Joe Harding one, and Geary Williams one (on a pass), and Hendley and Billeck each added two PAT's.

At halftime the score was 42 to 12 in favor of the Borden County boys.

In the third quarter Coyote Jimmy Hodge took a pass and racked up 6 points for Gail, and also took the pass for the 2 extra points.

In the fourth quarter Escobar got loose and ran 32 yards for a Sterling counter and Tim Petty covered a Gail ball getting a 2 point safety for the locals.

The score ended 50 to 20 in favor of the Coyotes, and Sterling City had lost its first ballgame (and first conference game).

The three ranking boys on defensive action last week were Ray Escobar and David Gaston with 34 points each, and Ken Peel with 21.

Escobar Out for Season

Ray Escobar, outstanding Eagle back on both offense and defense, is now out of the playing for this season. He underwent an appendicitis operation Wednesday of this week. His loss to the locals is quite a jolt.

TO GARDEN CITY TONIGHT

Coach Danny Slaughter's boys travel to Garden City tonight for a conference game there at 7:30. The Eagles have won a non-conference tilt with the Glasscock County boys earlier this season. But tonight it will be for real—in a conference game.

Homecoming Activities

Social Security DISABLED WIDOWS BENEFITS

"Two years have passed and many persons are still not aware of the change in the social security law which provides monthly benefits for disabled widows at age 50," said J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

Since the law became effective in February, 1968, more than 32,000 disabled widows have qualified for monthly payments, Mr. Talbot estimated however that another 30,000 widows who might qualify for these benefits have never applied.

"The requirements for disabled widows' benefits are apparently not as well known as those for the more familiar widows' benefits at age 62, or reduced widows' benefits at age 60," Mr. Talbot continued.

To qualify for benefits a widow, age 50 to 60, must have an impairment so severe that it keeps her from engaging in any work. The condition must also be expected to last for at least twelve months.

The widow's disability must have begun before her husband's death or not later than seven years after his death. A widow who has previously been entitled to benefits if she becomes disabled before payments to the children end or within seven years after they end.

Mr. Talbot encourages those who may qualify to call the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas or see the representative when he is in your area.

Are you a social security beneficiary receiving his monthly check a few days late? According to J.M. Talbot, social security manager, it may be because you did not report a change of address.

When a beneficiary changes his address, he should notify the social security office in writing or in person. Reports should include the name of the person or persons moving, the social security claim number, and the old and new address.

Mr. Talbot said that notifying the Post Office alone is not sufficient. Even if the Post Office has a current address a delay still occur because the check must be forwarded from one address to another.

Temporary financial hardship often results when checks are a few days late, particularly when social security benefits are the only source of income for a worker or his family. Beneficiaries can insure timely benefit payments only by keeping their address current.

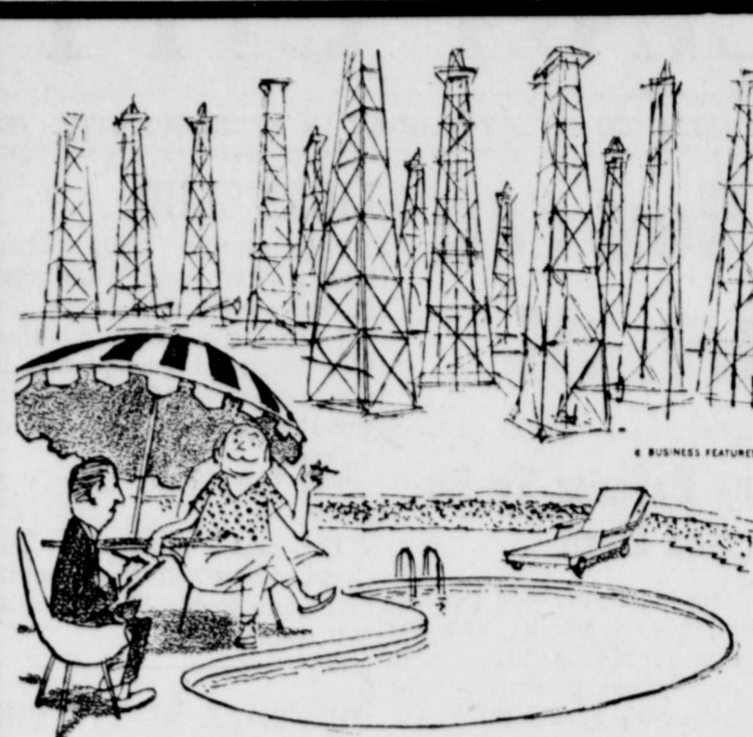

Changes of address which have not already been reported to the Social Security Administration should be reported without further delay. Beneficiaries may report changes of address to the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Ave. (P.O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area.

ATOMIC ENERGY GIVES US A PRESENT ON ITS 25TH BIRTHDAY

Thousands of Americans, who might not be alive today were it not for the beneficial medical uses of atomic energy, have good reason to say: "Happy Birthday."

For it was 25 years ago—in 1945—that the Atomic Age was born at Los Alamos, New Mexico. In the next 25 years, it is entirely possible that vastly more lives will be saved by atomic energy than have ever been lost to it.

Yet few people have any idea of how doctors today are working with atoms to give us that precious present, health.

Imagine a pitcher throwing baseballs over the fence of a baseball field, and you will have an idea of how a radioactive atom acts: an atom which from its very core is throwing off tiny particles.

Most atoms don't do this; they are stable. Atoms that do throw off particles are radioactive.

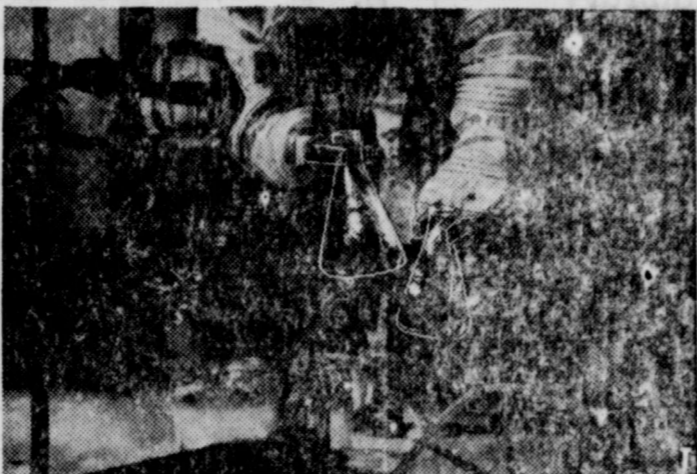

If you took an atom of iodine, and bombarded it with tiny particles in the special equipment scientists use, you could make that atom radioactive. It would start to throw off particles. The particles are so tiny that even if the atom were inside your body, some of the particles would go right through your body—without physically hurting you—and shoot into the air.

This happens all the time because some atoms in your body right now, even though they haven't been bombarded by scientists, are naturally radioactive. During the next 60 seconds, in fact, if you weigh 150 pounds, about 200,000 carbon atoms in your body will throw off particles. This "throwing off" is called radiation.

Medical Uses
 Your thyroid gland is located in the front of your neck. Its important function is to regulate the rate at which you burn up the food you eat. If you had some radioactive iodine in your thyroid gland, a doctor would be able to hold a Geiger Counter against your neck, count up how many particles were being radiated, and be able to tell how much radioactive iodine was in there.

This, for doctors, is a very good thing, for if a doctor wants to know how well your thyroid gland is working, he can give you a small dose of radioactive iodine, and then see how much and how soon the thyroid gland accumulates. The greater and faster the accumulation, the more active your thyroid gland is.

It's even better than that. For the doctor can measure not only the thyroid gland as a whole, but also see how active different parts of the gland are. If one part is too active, or not active enough, the doctor can take remedial action!

Shown here is an interior view of one of a battery of high-level radioactivity "caves" in Squibb's radiopharmaceutical manufacturing laboratory at New Brunswick, N.J. The cave, which permits preparation of highly radioactive materials through the use of remotely controlled manipulator arms is constructed of 22-inch thick concrete walls and leaded viewing glass.

Your liver can be tested in a similar way. So can your kidneys or your lungs, or your spleen, or your pancreas. And this is only the beginning.

Sometimes, odd as it may sound at first, doctors may want to modify the function of small quantities of perfectly healthy tissue. If you have an over-active thyroid, for instance—one that makes you burn up food too rapidly so that your heart has to work too hard—your doctor may decide to make the thyroid function more slowly. This can be done with a therapeutic dose of radioactive iodine.

Creating Radioactive Atoms
 The more particles a radioactive atom throws off, the weaker it gets. In fact, these atoms are so perishable that they are not normally stockpiled. Instead, they are created "on the spot," frequently in response to an urgent teletyped order.

But sometimes even telegraphic speed and the speed of jet planes isn't fast enough to keep up with the need for fresh, radioactive atoms. To help cope with this problem, scientists at E. R. Squibb & Sons, Inc., one of the leaders in this field, created the Technetium isotope generator. (Radioactive atoms are called isotopes.) It has created a revolution in nuclear medicine by offering an on-site method of preparation. This solved the problem of making a clinical radioactive drug available to a physician, half of which disappears every six hours.

With Technetium, it is now possible for a physician to prepare for himself, immediately, enough of an isotope called Technetium<sup>99m</sup> to carry out a crucial test for a brain tumor—even though Technetium<sup>99m</sup> loses its power very soon after it is created. If you had to ship it across the country, it would be too weak for the test.

Commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Atomic Age, Dr. Paul Numerof, director of Squibb's nuclear medicine division, has announced a new drug for radioisotopic detection of kidney disease. The diagnostic radiopharmaceutical, called Renotec, has the advantage of allowing more radioactivity to be administered to the patient for easier kidney scanning but with a lower radiation dose to the patient.

The future? Many doctors say that in spite of all the substantial achievements already made, we are still at the beginning. But for the thousands of patients who have received radioactive atoms for the diagnosis or treatment of their ills, this beginning may mean the avoidance of a premature end.

DISABLED WORKER NEWS

In most instances disability claims take a longer period to process than other social security claims. The extra processing time is due to additional documentation, such as medical reports and different procedures in the claims process.

By applying as early as possible, the complete processing of the claim can be finished before the six months waiting period has expired. If the claim for benefits is approved, you get a check at the earliest possible time.

File Early For Disability

What do you do if you get so sick or injured you can't work? One of the things you should do is see if you are eligible for disability payments under the social security law. Although there are no benefits payable during the first 6 months of a disability, J.M. Talbot, social security manager, urges everyone who believes he may be entitled to monthly benefits to apply for them as soon as possible after becoming disabled.

"Did you know that if you operate any type of agricultural business, the hired workers you have in that business may be covered by social security?" J. M. Talbot, social security manager, asks.

Any employee who works and earns $150 or more for one employer during any year or works at least 20 days on a time basis for an agriculture business, is covered by social security. Even part-time employees could meet the earnings or work test. You, as their employer, would be liable to withhold social security tax from the employee's check, match that tax yourself, and report the earnings at the end of the year.

The report of agricultural employees must be filed with the Internal Revenue Service by January 31 of the following year. Reports should be on Internal Revenue Service Form 943—showing each employee's name, social security number, and amount paid. The report should be accompanied by tax withheld from employee's pay and matched by employer.

To be sure which employees to report, Mr. Talbot recommends keeping records on anyone working for you in your agricultural business.

School Library Memorials

The Sterling High School Library gratefully acknowledges the following books placed as memorials by Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Alexander.

- In memory of Mrs. Mae Martin, mother of Mrs. Loyd Murrell, Muzzy—the story of a great lady whose exploits her son Charles Thayer recalls with affectionate wonder.
- In memory of Joe Seal, father of Mrs. Neal Reed, The Broken Seal—by Ladislav Fargo. This is a dramatic top-secret story of a hidden war—the war of wits between American and Japanese Code breakers, which reached its disastrous climax on December 4, 1941.
- In memory of Lester Foster, The Bronc Tattoo—by Leo R. Ellis. A mystery story full of thrills and intrigue, set in the heat and swirling dust of the rodeo arena. Here stark drama is played out almost daily as cowboys compete in one of the most active spectacles of modern sport. This is a book that teen-age boys will find enthralling—and one they will not soon forget.
- In memory of Lee Randolph, brother of Mrs. Virgie Garrett, Pursuit in the Wilderness—a story of adventure, individualism, and the kind of bravery that makes a man willing to pit himself against the unknown. Charles Rivett-Carancac's adventures carried him across three continents: as an ambulance driver at the age of sixteen in France during World War I; as a jungle manager of elephant camps in India; and as an immigrant to Canada where he joined the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

METHODIST YOUTH TO TRICK OR TREAT FOR C.R.O.P.

Too often, the destructive violent incidents, involving young people, are the ones which "hit the headlines." At the same time, there are creative constructive activities being done by teenagers all over the country and in our own midst.

Right here in our own community a group of young people are concerned enough about hunger in our world to do something about it.

The United Methodist Youth are going Trick or Treating for CROP Sunday afternoon, October 25, from 5:30 to :30.

CROP as the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service is sponsored in Texas by the Texas Conference of Churches and is the only statewide community food appeal in our state for the overseas program of our churches.

World hunger is a major crisis of our time. Surveys indicate that seven persons die each minute from hunger and malnutrition, and that one out of every three children now living will carry through life some of the irreversible effects of food deficiency.

If you are not contacted on October 25 and you wish to contribute to this cause, mark your gift for CROP and mail it in care of the United Methodist Youth treasurer, Steven Foster.

NOW IS THE TIME to see Mrs. Sallie Wallace for your Christmas cards and all occasion cards. Ph. 378-2372.

LIONS CRIPPLED CHILDRENS' CAMP

Members of Lions Clubs throughout Texas this month are pausing to pay recognition to their camp for crippled children which has given over 12 thousand handicapped youngsters a new dimension since it was opened in 1953. The camp, located at Kerrville in the Hill Country of Central Texas, is free to crippled, blind, deaf or mute children from the ages of seven through sixteen. The 17 permanent buildings and other improvements dotting the 504-hill-side acres represent an investment of more than $700,000.

At the camp, these youngsters who have been denied a normal childhood through no fault of their own learn to shed their shyness imposed by their handicaps. By mutual association with other handicapped children and by skillful and gentle counseling, these youngsters have found the freedom to grow, mentally and spiritually, into useful citizens of tomorrow. While the Lions are paying tribute to their camp, we would like to pay tribute to the Lions and their friends who have supported this great venture of the heart. We know a man never stands so straight as when he stoops to help a crippled child.
