Church of Christ Dedication Sunday

Open House Follows

The Sterling Church of Christ has announced its dedication service and open house Sunday, February 27, at 3:00 p.m. John C. Stevens, president of Abilene Christian College, and Marion H. Hays, who preached for the church over fourteen years and began the present building fund, will speak. The building can possibly pack 400, said Pat Brooks, present minister, "and from all indications there will be an overflow crowd."

Finished in January of this year, the brick structure includes a wedge-shaped auditorium for group assemblies and worship and a fiberglass baptistry with constantly heated recirculating water. Two overflow rooms also serve as classrooms at the auditorium rear. A modern preachers study, work room, audio-visual room, library and nursery compliment four large well-equipped classrooms. Underground sprinklers, a lighted marquee-type church sign, covered entrance and paved parking area provide convenient access and plant maintenance. The building is heated and air conditioned by two completely independent systems. The old building is currently undergoing remodeling for a fellowship hall including recreational space, a fully-equipped kitchen, and visiting evangelist's bedroom and bath.

"We feel especially fortunate in securing our two speakers," noted Pat Brooks, Marion Hays is well known here, coming in 1956. Born in Clyde, Texas, he was engaged in a retail business before deciding to enter full-time preaching. He attended Abilene Christian College and preached for the congregation in Dunn in Mitchell County before moving here. Bro. Hays now preaches for the church in Sydney, Montana.

John Stevens is professor of history and president of Abilene Christian College. Dr. Stevens completed the B. A. degree at ACC in 1938, the M. A. at the University of Arkansas in 1948 and the Ph. D. at the same institution in 1954. During World War II he attended the Chaplain's School of the U.S. Army at Harvard University, and he served as chaplain with the U.S. Army participating in the European campaigns of Normandy, Northern France, the Rhineland, the Ardennes and Central Europe with an infantry regiment. In 1948 Dr. Stevens joined the faculty of ACC as assistant professor of history, becoming Dean of Men in 1950 and Dean of Students in 1952. In 1956 he was appointed assistant president of the college and became president in September, 1969. Dr. Stevens has played a leading role in the development activities which have resulted in a large scale construction program on the campus. He is a member

SIX FLAGS OVER TEXAS SETS '72 OPENING DATE

Arlington, Texas—Six Flags Over Texas announced the earliest spring opening in its 11 year history. The big theme park will begin the 1972 season on March 25.

SIX FLAGS General Manager R. W. Freeman said the early opening date was chosen to give families a chance to visit the Park during the Easter vacation period. He said the Park will be open daily from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. from Mar. 25 until April 2. After that SIX FLAGS will be open on Saturdays and Sundays only until late May, when daily operations begins.

The entire facility is now getting its annual face-lifting. All of the rides are being overhauled and all rides and buildings are being repainted. Thousands of flowers have been planted during the winter months to provide a blaze of color for the opening week.

Since the Park opened in 1961, more than 18,000,000 persons have passed through the gates. Some 2,000,000 are expected this year.

of the American Historical Association. He has served on the governing board of many local civic organizations and as a member of the Abilene City Council.
The program will not be lengthy. Open house follows immediately with refreshments and fellowship in the community center.
Everyone is invited to join with the congregation in the day of gladness.

AROUND THE COUNTY

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

During the latter part of the San Antonio Livestock Exposition last week, one Sterling County 4-H Club member exhibited in the Charolais division of the Junior Breeding Beef Heifer Show, two sold lambs in the auction sale, and another was declared second place winner in the Herdsman's Award Program.

Charles Blaneck exhibited his Charolais heifer in that show on Thursday morning taking seventh place in a class of fourteen heifers. Charles' heifer was calved on March 20, 1971 and as such was shown in the Junior Heifer Calf Class. The heifer was bred by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gray of San Angelo.

Becky Hodges' seventh place heavyweight finewool lamb was sold in the auction Friday afternoon for 80c per pound. The lamb was bred by her father, Clinton Hodges.

The sixteenth place lightweight finewool crossbred lamb shown by Patti Bynum was sold in the auction for 60c per pound. The lamb was bred by I. W. Terry.

This year's sales in the San Antonio Show were all good. The floor price on the lambs as established by the sale committee was 46c per pound; packer bid was $30.71 per hundred and the show added 15 cents per pound to this to establish the floor price. From there on it was up to the buyers. The lowest price was 53c per pound. Each of the four breed champion lambs brought $1,000. Floor price on the steers was 49c per pound based on a packer bid of slightly over 38c with the show adding ten cents and setting the floor at 49c. A total of 264 lambs, 211 steers, and over 400 hogs were sold in the Friday sales.

Amy Hodges was awarded second place in the Herdsman's Award program for which she will receive $15 plus a red banner. This is based on cooperation with show officials, observance of the rules and regulations of the show, appearance of the exhibitor and helpers, arrangement of the animals, and overall appearance of the exhibit.

Nine 4-H Club members have entered fifteen market lambs, three steers, one Charolais heifer, and sixteen Rambouillets in the Junior Division of the Houston Livestock Show next week. There is a possibility that some of the exhibitors will not be going to Houston having sold animals at San Antonio.

Those with entries include Patti Bynum with two crossbred lambs; Scott Davis with two crossbred lambs and one finewool lamb; Charles Blaneck with one Charolais heifer; Amy Hodges with two finewool lambs, eight Rambouillets; Becky Hodges with two finewool lambs and eight Rambouillets; Larry Horwood one crossbred lamb and one Charolais cross steer; Lenard Horwood, one crossbred lamb; Lisa Horwood, one crossbred lamb, one Hereford steer and one Charolais cross steer; and Melinda Terry, three crossbred lambs. All these animals with the exception of the Rambouillets will be trucked to Houston next Monday morning.

The Rambouillets are being shown in the Open Rambouillet Show today-Friday—and will remain over for the Junior Show.
While this is not a lost and found ad column we need to advise that one lamb is lost. The Horwood's three lambs got out of their pen last Friday. Two of them were 'captured' but one made his escape in the vicinity of the old railroad depot. It is a crossbred lamb that has recently been trimmed. It has an aluminum eartag in the right ear with Sterling County 4-H Club on it and a number. If you know of the whereabouts of this lamb, please call Stan Horwood or me—he's about to miss his ride to the Astrodome.

For Social Security CHECK YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY RECORD

"How do I know my work under social security is being credited to my record, and how do I find out about it? This is one of the questions most frequently asked," says J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

In explaining the process involved in reporting social security, Mr. Talbot said, "When you work for wages, your employer deducts social security tax from your paycheck each pay day. At the end of each calendar quarter, he submits your name and number with payment for these taxes to Internal Revenue. Internal Revenue forwards copies to social security's main office in Baltimore, Maryland. Your wages are then posted to your record. The same process is followed for a self-employed person except that his earnings are recorded yearly."

Mr. Talbot states that the possibility of an error being made in the process does exist. He recommends that you request a statement of your earnings at least every three years.

All you have to do to secure the statement is to send a post card request available at your social security office to Baltimore, Maryland. If the reply you receive is incorrect in any way, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area.

Each calendar quarter, the Social Security Administration receives employer reports of earnings showing incorrect social security numbers of employees, according to J.M. Talbot, social security manager. These incorrect reports, in many cases, happen when a girl has married but does not have her name changed on social security records.

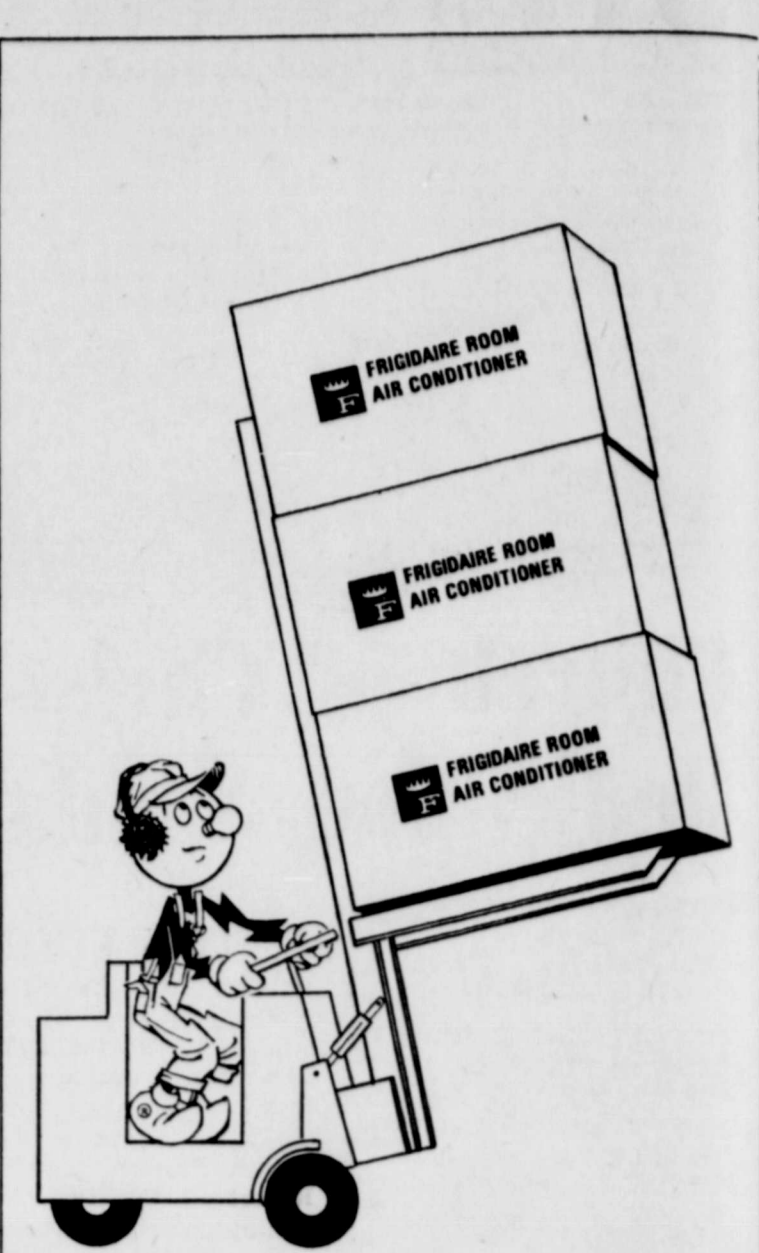

Mr. Talbot stated that when a girl marries, she should complete a 'Request for Change in Social Security Record' form. After completing the form and returning it to the social security office with her old card, she will be issued a new social security card with the same number but showing the new name.

If the name and number reported by an employer do not match the name and number on file with the Social Security Administration, the earnings might not get to the proper account. This could result in a later loss of social security benefits or in a smaller benefit being paid.

"Did you know that if you operate any type of agricultural business, the hired workers you have in that business may be covered by social security?" J. M. Talbot, social security manager, asks.

Any employee who works and earns $150 or more for one employer during any year or works at least 20 days on a time basis for an agriculture business, is covered by social security. Even part-time employees could meet the earnings or work test. You, as their employer, would be liable to withhold social security tax from the employee's check, match that tax yourself, and report the earnings at the end of the year.

NOTICE—COST OF ENGRAVINGS
 —Due the high cost of cuts or engravings of pictures, we are now forced to charge for all society type pictures run in the paper. The costs have always been an item to be considered, but now the cost makes a charge necessary. Cuts or engraving run from $1.95 for a one column cut to around $5 for a two column cut. Church of Christ Nears Milestone

By Pat Brooks, minister

(PART TWO)

Sunday mornings buzzed with activity. Teams had to be harnessed; large families dressed and fed before the ride to church. Nonetheless, few were ever late to the 10:00 a.m. Bible study. Usually, only sickness or bad weather (providential hinderings) kept these faithful Christians from the Sunday gathering. A towered bell announced the call to worship.

The one-room building served well. Four corners were ideally suited to four classes, which included adults, teenage, intermediates, and 'card class', perhaps reminiscent of the one-room school houses of the same period. The cards used by the youngest had a colored Bible picture, memory verse and lesson for the day on back. They were from the Firm Foundation publishing house in Austin. This journal was followed closely by Church of Christ members and is still the most prominent publication among the Texas churches. Yet everyone old enough studied directly from their Bibles, the ladies teaching the children, and a male member teaching the adult and teen classes. B. Allen, John Ray, Bro. Hooten, and other early 20th century leaders taught. Mrs. Lillian Reed and later Mrs. Nieta Reed and Cassie McCollum were among the many faithful teachers of the ladies and children through the years.

Worship service followed a brief intermission and usually turned out at 12:00 (if the preacher didn't go overtime). Riley King remembers Walter Churchill and Charley Whitt as among the earliest leaders of the congregational hymns. The Lord's Table had been prepared early. Every Sunday the observance of the supper was made by each baptized believer. Anyone who felt worthy to participate was welcomed, each person examining his own conscience. At first a weak wine and later grape juice was used. One of the ladies (for years Mrs. Lillian Reed) would bake and bring unleavened bread. A clean white cloth was carefully placed on the table. Then another, often beautifully embroidered, covered the emblems.

After singing (always a capella) and perhaps an opening prayer by one of the men the supper was served. Sometimes the communion was the last item of the service, following preaching. One or two goblets were carefully filled by the men serving and passed throughout the pews after thanksgiving. Then the loaf. A hat was passed with all the receipts going to the preacher. Since the church was established, virtually the same procedure has been followed in Bible study and worship. Evening services were added after transportation with lights was available.

If a baby fretted, it was taken outside to be nursed or quieted, perhaps sung to sleep. The older children were quieted in a somewhat more direct manner, but it was seldom necessary. However kids will be kids, and it was awfully hard for anyone to keep unhindered attention on the preacher, especially at evening tabernacle services where Jeff Davis reports Uncle Bob Foster often drifted off to sleep, sometimes giving the evangelist a little competition!

Baptisms were joyous occasions and required a trip to the river at a place close to where the bridge now crosses the Mertzon Highway just south of town. Sheets were spread over branches providing temporary dressing facilities. Riley King remembers his baptism there in 1915 by R. C. Bell, a visiting evangelist from ACC. Often these candidates got more than they expected in these immersing services. Poison oak lined the banks, and if a person had already made up his mind (before preaching and the invitation song), a few men rode down early to 'cut down' the possibilities of acquiring anything but membership in the congregation.

Preachers came and went. Times were hard, and many a preacher had to 'make tents'. Often they were more or less itinerant preachers, staying perhaps several days in one home, then traveling on. These hardy souls were usually self-taught or tutored by some seasoned evangelist. Formal education was a rare luxury, but these men studied their Bibles and preached from the heart. Sometimes the brethren received an added admonition as when Bro. Hooten gently reminded the church of a sack of flour on his pantry shelf which he had promised payment for but had not yet paid for.

Brother Black, from all accounts an Englishman trained in the British Isles and one of the first two graduates of A&M, was perhaps the most widely loved and respected preachers during the early 1900's. A Presbyterian by profession, he is said to have preached for all churches in Sterling even before the Presbyterian church was established. He left this life while sitting on one of the tabernacle benches one summer night during a revival, perhaps a fitting setting for the old preacher's passing.

Early records are scanty, but several men were employed by the church before its move to the corner of 5th and Church streets. In addition to Black and Hooten were a Bro. Schuly, Ross Whitmire (a well driller), C.C. Klingman (an evangelist who later preached for the Christian church), R.C. Bell who held several meetings, and a Bro. Smith, brother of a former ACC vice-president. Sometimes services were held without a preacher, but services were always held.

The later 20's saw the building of substantial houses of worship in Sterling. By this time, however, several families had moved away or been depleted by death, and there were few men to lead the affairs of the congregation. Mrs. Neal Reed and a few other ladies enlisted the help of Dr. W.B. Everett, a prominent Sterling Baptist, to aid in the subscription of funds for a new building across from her home. The four Reed boys, John, Lee, Bill and Nick, although not members at that time, contributed generously, along with other citizens of the community. By the fall of 1928 construction was begun on a one-room brick structure that has served until, January 31, 1972. Your writer had the pleasure of visiting with a Mr. King, who was a carpenter on that job in '29. He recalls that the crinkly opaque windows in the sides were shipped in by railroad and unloaded flat by the site one afternoon. That night several boys couldn't resist temptation. After the windows were re-ordered, bricks were fortunately used only for building purposes. Shorty Williams, who owned the State Hotel and later willed 1/2 section to the church, Sylvester King (Riley's dad) and Lee Reed served as the building committee.

Ted Norton, now of Wheeling, West Virginia, was the first preacher in the new building in 1929. When World War II came, preachers became very hard to find and again the women members were a great stabilizing and sustaining factor.

The post-war boom brought new families including the Orrie Deals, H. A. Chapples, and Chesley McDonalds. In 1947 an educational addition was made to the existing structure providing classroom space and later office and storage room. Deal, McDonald, and A.A. Berryman, who also preached, were appointed leaders of the congregation. In the late 50's an educational annex was completed just south of the building (1958), and the following men were appointed officers of the congregation (1957: Elders L. C. McDonald, D.D. Nichols; Deacons H. A. Chapple, H.S. Latham and J.H. Craig.

Most preachers served rather short tenures of 2-3 years. But following Wayne Zuck (who now preaches in Grandfield, Oklahoma) in 1956, Marion Hays preached for the congregation over fourteen years and personally started the new building fund. Hays moved to Sydney, Montana in May of 1971 and was followed by the present preacher, Pat Brooks.

In March, 1971, Equitable Church Builders of Nashville, Tennessee, were chosen to build a modern plant. George Woodward, father of Mrs. Jim Davis, was chosen to superintend the project. Selected by the congregation as the building committee were Riley King, Cotton Frizzell, and Danny Stewart who also now serve as deacons with elders L. C. McDonald, D. D. Nichols and K. L. Peel The property of Mrs. Sallie Wallace was purchased and developed for the new structure with major remodeling of the existing building now underway for fellowship purposes including kitchen, and a bedroom and bath for visiting evangelists. The new facility, costing some $141,000 has already nearly $94,000 contributed to its debt retirement.

The present congregation carries on a program if work annually exceeding $20,000 including foreign missions, benevolent institutions, emergency assistance, the local evangelistic, maintenance and teaching responsibilities. Current membership is 67. Annual activities include a two-Sunday evangelistic meeting in June, a shorter 4-day March meeting, an August Vacation Bible School, and October lecture-ship. This year an April youth rally is planned. Classes are provided for cradle roll through adult on Sunday mornings and Wednesday evenings. A youth class and chorus meets Sunday evenings. The ladies Bible class meets weekly and is active in benevolent and mission projects.

Much honor should go to the sturdy and uncompromising pioneers of the Church of Christ in Sterling City. Its most stalwart members, many of whom were dedicated women carrying the church through leaner years than many of us remember, have preserved a heritage for which all of us can be thankful and pardonably proud. We, as they, shoulder heavy responsibility as 'Christians only'. The heritage left by these 'people of the Book' is rich and colorful. Without their faith through the years, the present status of the Sterling Church of Christ would have never been realized.

REGISTER TO VOTE; IT'S NOT TOO LATE

Austin, Texas — There has been some confusion relating to registration deadlines under the new registration system imposed by S.B. 51. As all our former directives have pointed out, REGISTRATION NEVER CLOSES. It will NOT cease on January 31 as it has in past years. Those persons who have registered by that time will appear on the initial list of registered voters. Those persons registering after January 31 will appear on supplemental lists, which will be prepared 20 days prior to an election. Every person who submits an application to the Tax Assessor-Collector or a duly appointed deputy at least 30 days prior to an election will appear on either the original or supplemental lists which will be sent to the polls. ### Oil Production Significant Here

Petroleum production continues to play a significant role in the economy of Sterling County with a direct input of $7,377,608 last year.

According to the latest compilation of Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn., the county in 1970 produced 1,999,879 barrels of crude oil valued at $6,599,601 and 5,328,816 thousand cubic feet of natural gas valued at $788,007. It ranked 112th in value of petroleum produced.

In addition, the county received the stimulation of $922,201 in royalty payments to landowners and others with mineral interests.

"Sterling was one of 187 Texas counties that had petroleum production valued at more than $125,000", says Kenneth E. Montague, Texas Mid-Continent president.

Its ability to produce helped Texas meet a record demand with record production of both oil and gas in 1970. This demand has again diminished Texas petroleum reserves as additions failed to offset withdrawals. In Texas, we only drilled 8,114 wells, the smallest number since 1946.

Texas state government benefited from the county's petroleum, receiving $303,582 in production taxes on crude oil and $58,351 on natural gas.

Drilling expenditures in the county totaled $3,871,213 with $2,338,214 being lost on dry holes. Drillers completed 10 oil wells, 1 gas well and 17 dry holes. Eight wildcats were drilled with seven of them dry.

Texas oil and gas dollars paid for 22.7% of State cost of public education; 52.1% of State cost of teacher retirement.

WELCOME . . . . .

This congregation is a group of people drawn together by a common faith in Jesus Christ for worship and service. It is a free fellowship, in that only those are members of it who choose to be. Its members wear no name but that of Christian. Yet we do not claim to have attained to everything this name represents.

We are a free, independent, self-governing congregation under Christ alone as Head, with no denominational affiliation or earthly headquarters, though we recognize a particular closeness to other Churches of Christ. We are free to study, teach, and work as our conscience directed by the Bible leads us. We deplore the denominational divisions of today and pray for the time when all professed Christians shall divest themselves of all humanly devised barriers and come into the unity of the faith that is in Christ.

We carry on our work and worship as we understand the Scriptures to teach. According to apostolic precedent, we celebrate the Lord's Supper each Lord's day. Our music is the praise of our lips without mechanical accompaniment. Our prayers, largely spontaneous, are intended for power, and not just as a part of the program. The proclamation of the word of God is given a prominent place, for we believe that in Christian worship God always speaks, and that we must be attuned to hear. Our giving is liberal and proportionate, symbolic of the dedication of all that we have and are. The entire worship program is planned, but not rigid.

Acceptance into the congregation is by baptism or by transfer of membership of a baptized believer from another congregation. Those not Christians are taught to believe in Jesus Christ with the whole heart, to repent of their sins, confess their faith in the Lord, and be buried with Christ in baptism for the remission of their sins, just as men were taught to do in New Testament times. Baptizing believers alone, we do not practice infant baptism, And, as baptism instituted by Jesus and practiced by the early Church was immersion, symbolizing both the death burial, and resurrection of Christ, and the death of the believer to self and sin, his burial of the old man, and his resurrection to new life, that that is our practice also.

We do not exist merely for selfish purposes, but to follow Him who came to minister and to give His life a ransom for many. To the extent we can, we help in mission work and benevolence.

Our marching orders are the Lord's worldwide commission. Our hope is His everlasting Kingdom and the resurrection of the dead. Our message is 'Jesus Christ and Him crucified.' (1 Cor. 2:2)
