Briscoe and Fisher Heavy Favorites

In the general election here Tuesday Sterling voters favored Republican Richard M. Nixon for president, and John Tower for U.S. Senate over Democrat Barefoot Sanders. Democrat McGovern got 94 votes to 286 for Nixon. Tower got 228 to Sanders 151. Democratic Dolph Briscoe received 274 votes for governor while Republican Hank Grover got 101. For Congress, 21st district, incumbent Democrat O. C. Fisher received 292 votes to Republican Doug Haralan's 80. For state treasurer, incumbent Jesse James (Demo) got 190 votes to Republican Maurice Angly's 176. For railroad commissioner, incumbent Democrat Bryon Tunnell got 276 votes to Republican Jim Sequest's 77. Statewide, Texas voters went big for Nixon, big for Tower and just barely for Dolph Briscoe. Jesse James was almost edged out by the Republican contender, Angly, but not quite. Sterling voters approved 7 or half of the 14 constitutional amendments. Statewide voters passed all but three—they voted down letting the local district directors hold other offices; pay raises for members of the legislature and pay raises for the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the house. Sterling voters turned down the legislative pay raise from $4,800 to $8,400 by 182 to 98; they favored the abolishing of the Lamar Hospital District 146 to 125; they approved having all justices of the peace on a salary schedule rather than a fee schedule 247 to 75; they voted against the constitution revision commission 172 to 129; they voted for the veterans tax exemption set up 239 to 90; they approved the elderly tax exemption 196 to 122; they approved civic equality law 232 to 81; they approved the change that would have all office holders (now on 2-year) have four year terms 168 to 151; Sterling voters were against letting conservation directors serve in other public offices 168 to 145; they were against the proposed change in the way the present constitution is amended 151 to 126; they were strong against the raise in pay for lieutenant governor and speaker of the house salaries 227 to 81; they favored letting state office holders also serve on school boards 174 to 142; they were against raising the bond interest rate 165 to 126; and were against letting the counties do away with their permanent school funds and distributing it to the schools on a pro rata basis 183 to 127. In contested races in the district, incumbent Renal B. Rosson, Democrat, got 190 of Sterling's votes to Republican Rich Anderson 167. District-wide Rosson won over Anderson 10,729 to 9,435. Rosson won in four of the six counties in the district. He lost to Anderson in Borden and Howard Counties. In a write-in contest for Sterling County Commissioner, Prec. 1 incumbent Cledis W. THANKSGIVING SERVICE SET FOR NOVEMBER 19

A community Thanksgiving church service will be held at the First Baptist Church here at 7 p.m. on November 19, it has been announced. The Rev. Harold Orr, pastor of the First United Methodist Church will preach, it was said. A more complete program will be listed in next week's paper.

ducted a write-in campaign. Without opposition, Democrat W. E. (Pete) Snelson got 317 votes for state senator; Earl Smith got 305 for district judge, 51st district; Frank Dickey Jr. got 281 for district attorney; Roland Lowe got 350 for county judge; Jim Cantrell received 340 for sheriff, tax assessor-collector Worth Durham got 331 for county attorney; Betty Garrett got 355 for county treasurer and Billy Ralph Bynum received 35 for Sterling County Commissioner, Prec. 3. All were on the Democratic column. The ballots were large, and had columns for Democrats, Republicans, Socialist Workers Party, Raza Unida Party and a write-in column. Then, the fourteen state constitutional amendments on the bottom of the ballot made voting a job. But the real chore came when election officials and workers had to tally and count the results. In boxes where voting was heavy voting took a long time winding up results. A scattering of votes for the names on the Raza Unida and the Socialist Workers Parties took some extra time but did not even come close to amounting to a serious count in Sterling. Six was the most votes any one of them got—being Ramsey Muniz, the Raza Unida Party candidate for governor.

Social Security Tips

"Did you know that if you operate any type of agricultural business, the hired workers you have in that business may be covered by social security?" J. M. Talbot, social security manager, asks.

Any employee who works and earns $150 or more for one employer during any year or works at least 20 days on a time basis for an agriculture business, is covered by social security. Even part-time employees could meet the earnings or work test. You, as their employer, would be liable to withhold social security tax from the employee's check, match that tax yourself, and report the earnings at the end of the year.

Worried about proving your age? J. M. Talbot, social security manager, said the people at your social security office may be able to help you make your claim. There are some things you can do ahead of time. If you were born in a state that kept birth records when you were born, write for your birth certificate. If the state where you were born wasn't keeping birth records at the time, the next best thing is a baptismal record.

If you were baptized before age 5, you'll be asked to find out if there is a record. If there is, it is all the proof of your age you'll need.

If you have no birth or baptismal record, the people working in the social security office will be happy to suggest some other possibilities. Some examples are an old family Bible, school records, and federal census records.

You may not recall now, but when you bought your marriage license you gave your age. You may also have some old insurance policies about the house. The list of proofs to try is quite long. When you file your claim, it helps if you have already fund the oldest thing you can that shows your age. Usually, the older the record the better it is for proving your age. It will help the people at the social security office pay your benefits sooner if you think ahead on your age.

Many times a telephone call before you visit the social security office will help. You may be able to file your claim by phone. Contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo at 949-4608.

Nearly $7 Million in Oil - Gas Production

Sale of Sterling County oil and gas production accounted for $6,814,608 of the county's economic output for 1971, according to a study by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

In producing 1,718,825 barrels of crude oil and 5 billion cu. feet of natural gas, the county ranked 120 in Texas. Value of its crude oil was $6,050,264; natural gas value was $764,344.

The county is among 190 Texas counties with oil and gas production value topping $100,000, although 211 counties produce oil and gas.

Sterling County oil and gas wells made a significant contribution to Texas' share of the nation's energy needs last year, but growing demand is sapping reserves in Texas faster than they can be replaced, Robert A. Buschman, Association president said. As fewer new fields are discovered, due to less drilling, the continuing strong economy and tax base of many Texas counties may now depend on updating Texas oil conservation laws to encourage wider use of new recovery technology, he said.

The Association study showed that Sterling County farmers, ranchers, and other royalty owners received $851,826 as their share of production.

The county's wells generated $278,312 in crude oil production taxes for state government and $57,326 in state taxes on natural gas. Oil and gas producers spent $1,547,010 in drilling 11 wells in the county last year, $1,220,842 of which was lost in drilling 7 dry holes.

Texas Employment Commission figures showed 16 oil and gas industry employees in the county last year, with an annual payroll of $54,856.

College Students: Bored of Education?

To many concerned parents, today's college students seem much less impressed with the importance of their education than were students of years ago. Sometimes, the students even seem bored.

But educators and psychologists point out—seriously, yet sometimes with a smile—that many college students today are learning far more at school than their parents ever did.

Today education is different. Not only do new teaching methods make learning easier and lots more effective, but also college is seen as a place for social—as well as academic—instruction.

Which is as it should be, when you consider that college is a mini-model of the tough outside world students will soon enough have to cope with and function in. And adjusting properly to that world is just as important and just as difficult as any course a school has to offer.

That's why so many students are getting involved with the running of their schools. The actuality of practical campus politics is a good deal more enlightening and instructive than classroom theories.

That's also why students seem to take their competitive sports more seriously than ever before. Trying to do one's best is very much a part of the outside world and these kids are very much aware of it. They play hard and work hard at keeping themselves fit with effective medications like Tinactin cream; solution and powder, which fight most fungus to kill and help prevent athlete's foot, that old college locker room nemesis.

Unfortunately, these kids—the good kids who make up the majority of this nation's student body—rarely make news on radio or TV. But their abilities and straight thinking have not gone unnoticed.

Each year, more and more of these grade-A students are being recruited by business and industry before graduation.

Which would indicate that they were far from bored with their college education.

Doctor, looking over his patient's X-rays: "Between the big, happy family at your office and the big, happy family at home, you've got an ulcer."

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Even in their shoelessness, these Bombay kindergarten youngsters are luckier than most of their peers. Through American generosity, they are otherwise neatly clothed.

As recipients of gifts collected during the Catholic Relief Services Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign, they can attend school without suffering the humiliation of raggedness. Many parents in underdeveloped countries are too proud despite grinding poverty to send their children to school in tatters. Such youngsters' deprivation is compounded. They are robbed of the bodily protection and dignity that decent clothing gives . . . of even an elementary education . . . and of the chance in adulthood to make an adequate living — an opportunity linked directly to education.

By taking your usable surplus clothing to the nearest Catholic church in November, you can help to break this vicious circle that is closing in on millions of the world's poor.

4-H Club Gold Star Winners Named

Patti Bynum and Russell Davis were named the 1972 recipients of the 4-H Club Gold Star Award at the 4-H county awards banquet two weeks ago. Patti is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ralph Bynum while Russell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Davis.

The Gold Star Award is the highest award a club member can receive at the county level. To be considered for the award, a club member must have been active in club work for at least three years including the current year, have passed their thirteenth birthday by January 1 of the year they receive the award, and have participated in club work during the year the award is won. The award can be won only one time during a club member's career.

Patti and Russell received their Gold Star medals at a District Luncheon in San Angelo on Wednesday, November 8, along with the other honorees from the twenty counties that make up Extension Service District 7. The luncheon, held at the Rio Concho Manor at 11:30, is sponsored by the West Texas Utilities Company. Club leaders from each of the counties also attended. Those attending from Sterling County were Mr. and Mrs. Bynum and Mr. and Mrs. Davis, parents of the honorees.

Patti's projects have included foods and nutrition as well as feeding lambs and steers. She has been a member of various county teams including safety demonstration, Share-the-Fun, and livestock judging. She has completed five years of 4-H club work. Patti is presently serving as secretary-treasurer of the Sterling County club.

Russell has completed six years of 4-H club work. During that time, his projects have included feeding lambs and swine. He has been a member of different teams that participated in various district and state contests. Teams of which he has been a member include civil defense demonstration, beef cattle business symposium, grass identification and range judging. Russell is presently serving as president of the Sterling County 4-H Club and as such is also a member of the District 7 4-H Council. He attended the council meeting in Llano on September 30.

These two youngsters are active in school, church, and community activities in addition to their club work. They are to be commended for their achievements.

DISABLED WIDOWS BENEFITS

"Two years have passed and many persons are still not aware of the change in the social security law which provides monthly benefits for disabled widows at age 50," said J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

Since the law became effective in February, 1968, more than 32,000 disabled widows have qualified for monthly payments, Mr. Talbot estimated however that another 30,000 widows who might qualify for these benefits have never applied.

"The requirements for disabled widows' benefits are apparently not as well known as those for the more familiar widows' benefits at age 62, or reduced widows' benefits at age 60," Mr. Talbot continued.

To qualify for benefits a widow, age 50 to 60, must have an impairment so severe that it keeps her from engaging in any work. The condition must also be expected to last for at least twelve months.

The widow's disability must have begun before her husband's death or not later than seven years after his death. A widow who has previously been entitled to benefits if she becomes disabled before payments to the children end or within seven years after they end.

Rates on Home Insurance to be Cut

Area residents can expect a major reduction in the cost of extended coverage insurance on their homes by January 1, state Rep. Renal B. Rosson said today.

The announcement came after a day-long meeting Monday between State Insurance Commissioners and Rep. Rosson, chairman, and Rep. Joe C. Hanna, co-chairman, of the House Interim Committee studying extended coverage insurance in Texas.

The savings to area residents will be brought about by changing not only rates but territorial lines. Rep. Rosson believes that the changes will result in a 15 to 25% reduction to the people.

According to Rep. Rosson Insurance Commissioners-Durwood Manford and Ed Price agreed that extended coverage insurance was definitely excessive in this area, and that meaningful changes would be made, bringing about reduced rates to the people. Rates and territorial lines are scheduled to be changed effective January 1, according to the Commissioners.

GOOD SAMARITANS TAKE THE BITTERNESS OUT OF 'HOME SWEET HOME'

To this youngster growing up in a makeshift tent city, there's supreme irony in the romantic notion: "Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home." Americans who contribute every year to Catholic Relief Services Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign take a more realistic view of the poverty that plagues millions in underdeveloped countries. Taken to the nearest Catholic church in November, your gifts of clothing and blankets will lend a touch of sweetness to bleak and bitter lives.

Social Security Tips

"Did you know that if you operate any type of agricultural business, the hired workers you have in that business may be covered by social security?" J. M. Talbot, social security manager, asks.

Any employee who works and earns $150 or more for one employer during any year or works at least 20 days on a time basis for an agriculture business, is covered by social security. Even part-time employees could meet the earnings or work test. You, as their employer, would be liable to withhold social security tax from the employee's check, match that tax yourself, and report the earnings at the end of the year.

Worried about proving your age? J. M. Talbot, social security manager, said the people at your social security office may be able to help you make your claim. There are some things you can do ahead of time. If you were born in a state that kept birth records when you were born, write for your birth certificate. If the state where you were born wasn't keeping birth records at the time, the next best thing is a baptismal record.

If you were baptized before age 5, you'll be asked to find out if there is a record. If there is, it is all the proof of your age you'll need.

If you have no birth or baptismal record, the people working in the social security office will be happy to suggest some other possibilities. Some examples are an old family Bible, school records, and federal census records.

You may not recall now, but when you bought your marriage license you gave your age. You may also have some old insurance policies about the house. The list of proofs to try is quite long. When you file your claim, it helps if you have already found the oldest thing you can that shows your age. Usually, the older the record the better it is for proving your age. It will help the people at the social security office pay your benefits sooner if you think ahead on your age.

Many times a telephone call before you visit the social security office will help. You may be able to file your claim by phone. Contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo at 949-4608.

Nearly $7 Million in Oil -- Gas Production

Sale of Sterling County oil and gas production accounted for $6,814,608 of the county's economic output for 1971, according to a study by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

In producing 1,718,825 barrels of crude oil and 5 billion cu. feet of natural gas, the county ranked 120 in Texas. Value of its crude oil was $6,050,264; natural gas value was $764,344.

The county is among 190 Texas counties with oil and gas production value topping $100,000, although 211 counties produce oil and gas.

Sterling County oil and gas wells made a significant contribution to Texas' share of the nation's energy needs last year, but growing demand is sapping reserves in Texas faster than they can be replaced, Robert A. Buschman, Association president said. As fewer new fields are discovered, due to less drilling, the continuing strong economy and tax base of many Texas counties may now depend on updating Texas oil conservation laws to encourage wider use of new recovery technology, he said.

The Association study showed that Sterling County farmers, ranchers, and other royalty owners received $851,826 as their share of production.

The county's wells generated $278,312 in crude oil production taxes for state government and $57,326 in state taxes on natural gas. Oil and gas producers spent $1,547,010 in drilling 11 wells in the county last year, $1,220,842 of which was lost in drilling 7 dry holes.

Texas Employment Commission figures showed 16 oil and gas industry employees in the county last year, with an annual payroll of $54,856.

NEWS OF EDUCATION

College Students: Bored of Education?

To many concerned parents, today's college students seem much less impressed with the importance of their education than were students of years ago. Sometimes, the students even seem bored.

But educators and psychologists point out—seriously, yet sometimes with a smile—that many college students today are learning far more at school than their parents ever did.

Today education is different. Not only do new teaching methods make learning easier and lots more effective, but also college is seen as a place for social—as well as academic—instruction.

Which is as it should be, when you consider that college is a mini-model of the tough outside world students will soon enough have to cope with and function in. And adjusting properly to that world is just as important and just as difficult as any course a school has to offer.

That's why so many students are getting involved with the running of their schools. The actuality of practical campus politics is a good deal more enlightening and instructive than classroom theories.

That's also why students seem to take their competitive sports more seriously than ever before. Trying to do one's best is very much a part of the outside world and these kids are very much aware of it. They play hard and work hard at keeping themselves fit with effective medications like Tinactin cream; solution and powder, which fight most fungus to kill and help prevent athlete's foot, that old college locker room nemesis.

Unfortunately, these kids—the good kids who make up the majority of this nation's student body—rarely make news on radio or TV. But their abilities and straight thinking have not gone unnoticed.

Each year, more and more of these grade-A students are being recruited by business and industry before graduation.

Which would indicate that they were far from bored with their college education.

Doctor, looking over his patient's X-rays: "Between the big, happy family at your office and the big, happy family at home, you've got an ulcer."

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Even in their shoelessness, these Bombay kindergarten youngsters are luckier than most of their peers. Through American generosity, they are otherwise neatly clothed.

As recipients of gifts collected during the Catholic Relief Services Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign, they can attend school without suffering the humiliation of raggedness. Many parents in underdeveloped countries are too proud despite grinding poverty to send their children to school in tatters. Such youngsters' deprivation is compounded. They are robbed of the bodily protection and dignity that decent clothing gives . . . of even an elementary education . . . and of the chance in adulthood to make an adequate living — an opportunity linked directly to education.

By taking your usable surplus clothing to the nearest Catholic church in November, you can help to break this vicious circle that is closing in on millions of the world's poor.
