Home fireplaces may be both decorative and useful this year. For years, the fireplace was considered more of a decorative addition to the home rather than useful. In view of the current energy crisis, and recommended 60 degree thermostat settings, a fire may help raise the temperature a few degrees. There's plenty of wood available in this area with all the mesquite here. Too bad it's not near a metropolitan area where there is a big demand for firewood now.

To help make a colorful fire during the coming holiday season, you can make the newspaper LOGS that will produce a rainbow of colors. The logs are made of loosely rolled newspapers tied with heavy twine and soaked in a solution of four lbs. of copper sulfate and three lbs. of rock salt in one gallon of water.

The solution should be placed in a plastic or enameled container as it is very corrosive. The paper logs should be soaked several days in the solution; turning every couple of days is helpful. After soaking about a week, put the logs out to dry; this will take several days. After the logs are dry, simply place them on the fire and they will produce a rainbow of colors as they burn.

Shopping for meat should be a little less confusing in the coming months with the new Uniform Retail Meat Identity Standards, according to Dr. Frank Orts, meats specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Grocers and meat markets are joining together to adopt the new standards.

The new standards will do away with some of the fancy names for retail cuts. This new standard will reduce the number of names, many of them local or brand names, from about 1,000 to 325. In the case of rib-eye steak for example, the names of Delmonico, fillet, and beauty will no longer be used.

Why the change? According to Orts, the new labeling system should help shoppers moving from one part of the country to another and even within cities where names of cuts vary.

The new label will feature three main parts—the name of the animal specie from which the meat came (beef, pork, lamb, veal) the primal cut—rib, shoulder, loin, and the recommended name of the particular cut such as steak, roast. Porterhouse steak for example will be labeled—Beef Loin Porterhouse Steak.

Grocers and retailers will have the option of using such as the fancy names if this is widely used and shoppers are accustomed to them. But, the basic recommended name must appear on the price-weight label.

In conjunction with the new standards, ground meat labels will also get an overhauling. Ground beef will be labeled as such and the label will include the percentage of lean meat, which must be at least 70% to meet government standards.

If the ground meat actually comes from a particular part of an animal such as the round, chuck, sirloin or such it can be labeled Ground Beef Round, or whatever it is as long as the percentage of lean meat is noted. The new labeling will eliminate such names as Ground Chuck, Ground Round and Ground Sirloin.

Baptists Invite All To Film Sunday

Isn't It Good to Know, a new film that abandons traditional story lines to involve the viewer in the life-experience of real people, will be shown on Sunday, December 9, at the First Baptist Church. The latest film from World Wide Pictures, producers of Time to Run, will be shown at 7:30 p.m.

Isn't It Good to Know was edited by J. Michael Hooser, a young 26-year-old film maker who brings provocative new techniques to his first major film. Using a varying number of images on the same screen, Hooser creates a multi-media effect that draws the viewer into the picture. Included are scenes from the Dino De Laurentiis production of Barabbas through the courtesy of Columbia pictures.

By shifting the viewer's attention from the true stories of the people who lived them, to brief appearances by Billy Graham, to video-vignettes coupled with original new songs—Isn't It Good to Know and Gone Away by Tedd Smith and The Soap-Box Song by Judy McKenzie—Hooser created a film conveying ultimate drama—the drama of change. Purpose comes out of emptiness. Silence becomes communication. And from the disillusionment of drugs, violent protest, and witchcraft, there comes a new beginning—new life.

The First Baptist Church of Sterling City and pastor Andy Daniels, cordially invite everyone to see the film.

PARTY TO HONOR THE DANIELS FAMILY AFTER FILM SHOWING

Following the film refreshments will be served in the basement of the church and a going away party honoring the Andy Daniels family will be held.

Rev. Daniels is leaving to be the pastor of a Baptist Church in Caney, Kansas after the 16th of December.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend.

Comedy on at Midland Community Theatre

THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER, funniest Christmas houseguest of all time, arrives November 30th at Midland Community Theatre to close the 1973 season.

Thirty-five years ago the NY World Telegram's drama critic said of The Man Who Came To Dinner: It will remain longer than I dare to predict, for the fabulous George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart have once more drawn from the bottomless well spring of their wit the most dramatic concoction since YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU. The audience is dazed and almost suffocated in their own laughter.

That fellow was more right than even he anticipated. The play ran for 739 performances on Broadway (with Monty Woolley as Sheridan Whiteside, The Man), countless performances in road and stock companies, and has continued running successfully in amateur theatres over the globe ever since.

The team of Kaufman and Hart wrote eight fantastically successful plays together plus many

Firemen's Christmas Program Dec. 17

The annual Sterling Volunteer Fireman Christmas party or program will be held at the firehouse here on the night of December 17.

Old Santa Claus will show up with gifts for all the kids and every one in town has a cordial invitation to come out, said the organization.

Each member of the department is asked to bring two dozen cookies; cold drinks will be served to children of the county. Parents are asked to accompany their children. Sheriff Jim Cantrell was named to secure the Christmas tree.

ALLEN INSURANCE AGENCY MOVES

Mrs. Vera Dell Allen has moved her insurance agency to the Bailey Bros. building by the post office from the Sterling Butane building.

others individually and with co-authors. Among those now considered classics from Kaufman and Hart are: Once in a Lifetime, You Can't Take It with You, and George Washington Slept Here. During the golden years of Broadway theatre they held the enviable top honors.

Their hero and victim in The Man Who Came to Dinner was the eminent Alexander Woollcott, whom anybody who is anybody over a specific number of years remembers well. Woollcott possessed certain qualities of Sheridan Whiteside—a neat if nasty wit, sugary prose style, gargantuan selfishness, distinguished friends, vast radio audiences—practically everything but the beard. He was one of the famous Round Table of literary stars of the day whose every barb was quoted and re-quoted across America. Kaufman and Hart characterized him as a fare-thee-well and brought-down-the-house of American theatre with his scintillating wit as Whiteside in THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER.

Sheridan Whiteside, dinner guest of an average American family at Christmas-time, breaks a leg as he is leaving and has to stay on for nearly four weeks. His famous friends, some of questionable character, beat a path to the door and thereby and there-in lies this hilarious tale.

MCT's production of THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER, with an experienced cast, will open on November 30th and play through December 15. Reservations may be made by mail or phone. 1974 memberships, now on sale, are good for tickets to this last play of the 1973 series, as well as all six productions next year.

Winners Are Davis, Rodriguez and Barrett

The Sterling Golf Association held its first tournament here last weekend. Thirty four golfers entered and the affair was deemed a success by tournament officials.

The tournament was an ABC tourney and three players in each group. Tying for first places were Bobby Dodds, Dan Slaughter and Mickey Dodds—and Ruben Rodriguez. Dayton Barrett and Charlie Davis. On a playoff (sudden death) the team of Rodriguez, Barrett and Davis won. They got the three trophies. They had one over par.

The longest drive was made by Arthur Rodriguez. The most accurate shot was made by Dayton Barrett on hole 5.

Third in team placings were Jimmy Barton, Skeete Foster and Reynolds Foster.

Ruben Rodriguez made a hole in one on number 3.

President of the association James Thompson appointed a tournament committee to plan for future tournaments. He has named Jack Peel, chairman, Dan Slaughter, Rickey Hopkins and Ruben Rodriguez.

Lions to Have Bingo Party December 18

Guests at the Lions Club luncheon Wednesday were Mike Kissco, Lee Reed, Trinton Revell and Mrs. Barney Sisco.

President Ross Foster said the Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring had advised him of a program whereby speakers from the base would be available for program speakers. The program committee plans one using some of their speakers in the future.

The president announced that the club would have a bingo game night here at the community center. Prizes will be given. A drawing for a deer rifle, a 22.250 rifle will be held that night at the bingo party. The club is selling tickets on the gun over town at $1 a chance.

Named as a committee to pick up bingo prizes were Jack Peel, Charlie Davis and D. Kirk Hopkins.
