LIONS CLUB

The Sterling City Lions Club met at noon Wednesday in the community center. Guests present were George Garner and Ed Walker.

Engineer Dan Glass with the Department of Highways and Public Transportation told the members of the closing of the engineer's office here, that will occur about the first of the year. Eleven employees will be transferred or laid off or retired, said Glass.

The club voted to draft a letter to State Senator Pete Snelson and Representative Mike Ezzell urging an increase in the state gasoline tax for highway use.

Kirk Hopkins told of the American Legion sponsored golf tournament that would be held here next Sunday afternoon. All are invited to enter.

School principal Bobby Dodds told of a change in football districts for next year. Sterling will be in a district with 12 teams, but evenly divided with Sterling in the west zone. The zones will play an eleven man game at the end of the season for the district championship. Sterling is in a district zone with Garden City, Forsan, Jayton, Roby and Lorraine, said Dodds. This new arrangement was set up recently and no teams will play 8-man football in the future. If a high school has 75 or less enrollment, they will be allowed to play 6-man ball.

Next Meeting Will Be at the City Cafe

Next week's meeting, October 29, will be held at the City Cafe here, it was said. Mrs. Bessie Blagg, hostess, said she would be out of town next week and the club made arrangements to meet at the City Cafe.

The meeting will be at the 12 noon regular time, said secretary Jack Douthit.

Beat Hawley 23 to 0 Last Friday

The Sterling City Eagles got the upper hand from the Hawley footballers last Friday night here in the first half and never gave up a 23 to 0 lead that was held at the half. The last half produced no scores and no real plays by the boys.

At the half, Jeff Copeland was named football hero and Melinda Terry was crowned football sweetheart in homecoming activities. They are the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Copeland and Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Terry. Jeff is an outstanding player on the Eagle team and Melinda is one of the five cheerleaders.

Early in the game with the Hawley Bearcats, Copeland was able to push over from the one yard line for a TD and then he ran the ball over for two more extra points after touchdown.

In the second quarter, Copeland picked up two more touchdowns for the Eagles and Kenneth Gaston made two PAT's and Ross Hord kicked for one extra PAT.

The Eagles made 17 first downs to 8 for the Bearcats.

Reddy's helpful tips for your Home Laundry

Wash and dry a full load, but never overload... it is essential for each item to move freely for proper cleaning and drying. Choose the correct cycle for washing modern materials. Perhaps hot water isn't needed, and only a gentle drying temperature.

Too much detergent can clog machine and drains... always measure, don't guess! Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for your type equipment. Mixing brands of detergents can cause graying of clothes.

Many manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend machine washing and machine drying for best results. Following instructions on the garment tag can help preserve the life of your clothing and give you wrinkle-free clothes without need for ironing. A big savings!

NEWS OF ECOLOGY

ALUMINUM STRETCHES ENERGY RESOURCES

Now that pollution clean-up is underway, environmental concern seems to be shifting to energy supply. Some ecologists worry about America's accelerating use of fuels — coal, oil, gas and uranium.

These basic sources of energy, burned directly or transformed into electricity, propel all vehicles, heat and cool our homes, run appliances, cook and refrigerate foods and power our industries.

The use of aluminum, an environmentally thrifty metal, stretches fuels and energy, the people at Reynolds Aluminum point out.

"Aluminum does not deteriorate and is easily recycled with little expenditure of energy," said Dr. Robert F. Testin, director of environmental planning for Reynolds. "That makes it an energy bank that can be drawn upon again and again. When long-lasting aluminum products are finally discarded, melting them down for refashioning into new products takes less than 5 per cent of the energy used to make the aluminum originally."

Because it is so light — only one-third the weight of steel, copper or brass — aluminum provides a greater quantity of material per ton. "This phenomenon stretches the energy used in making aluminum products, as a ton of aluminum yields two to three times more items than are obtained from a ton of other materials," according to Dr. Earl E. Patterson, who heads up Reynolds metallurgical research.

An example of Dr. Patterson's point is beer and soft drink containers. A ton of steel produces 15,400 steel cans, and a ton of glass makes 5,000 bottles, but a ton of aluminum results in 32,680 all-aluminum cans.

An article in the Reynolds magazine reveals many other ways aluminum conserves energy.

Transportation of all kinds consumes 30 per cent of America's energy supply. The light metal cuts fuel consumption in all kinds of vehicles — aluminum highway trucks, automobiles with their aluminum parts, aluminum railroad cars, aluminum boats and ships with aluminum superstructures. The 1973 autos average about 78 pounds of aluminum per car.

In heating and air conditioning, which take 27 per cent of the energy supply, aluminum insulation and ducts, because of their high heat reflectivity, cut fuel consumption.

Durable aluminum siding, windows and other construction items greatly reduce use of resources and energy in maintenance, repair and replacement. The article points out that aluminum will not rot or warp, and is immune to red rust, mildew and termites.

In cooking, the rapid heat conductivity of aluminum pots and pans — six times faster than steel, for example — conserves electricity and gas. In the refrigerator, foods in aluminum foil chill or freeze quicker than when wrapped in paper or plastic film, saving electricity.

The public depends on aluminum electrical cable for low-cost delivery of electricity to the home. Replacing expensive copper, aluminum cable has lowered every body's electrical bills.

Thanks for you past patronage.

AROUND THE COUNTY

by ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

The Texas pecan crop, which accounts for about twenty-three percent of the total U.S. production, is forecast at 55 million pounds for this year. This is forty-five percent above the 1974 crop.

U.S. pecan production is forecast at 242.2 million pounds, up seventy-five percent from 1974. The national crop was cut some from the September forecast due to Hurricane Eloise which uprooted trees in several states and blew off nuts in other areas.

Most areas of Texas are expecting above normal crops this year. One of the few areas expecting a drop in production is our immediate area.

Tom Green County at the present is planning on holding a pecan show in the near future even though production there is about like here—very poor.

A research veterinarian has diagnosed swellhead among lambs grazing Kleingrass at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at San Angelo.

Dr. Charles W. Livingston of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station said he had diagnosed swellhead (photosensitization) among some lambs that had been grazing four days in a pasture of newly mown Kleingrass.

The mowing enabled technicians to see whether other plants more normally associated with swellhead were growing in the pasture. No such plants—goatheads for example—were found. An observation of swellhead in lambs grazing last July in another Kleingrass pasture at the Center were inconclusive because goathead plants were later found growing in the pasture.

Several West Central Texas ranchers have also reported cases of swellhead that they suspected had been caused by Kleingrass.

Livingston says although the total observations to date strongly incriminate Kleingrass as a cause of swellhead in sheep, the evidence is only circumstantial now. He has already started further testing.

In adult sheep, swellhead is rare. Livingston recommends watching very closely lambs on Klein. If any lambs show signs of photosensitization, all should be taken off the grass and the affected animals kept in the shade.

For all other classes of livestock, Klein appears to be an excellent forage. The adverse effect on lambs is itself described as a problem that management can overcome by using the grass only with other livestock.

The Texas State Department of Health has placed a man in Abilene who will be working in this area of the state on problems associated with public health. One of his primary concerns now is with rabies which have been widespread in the area around Snyder.

The person who is in charge of this section of the state is Ron Moellenberg. He visited in the office last week and also in the Sterling County Hospital to get acquainted with Dr. Swann.

Moellenberg has prepared some shipping cartons for getting heads of animals suspected of having rabies to the laboratory in Austin. He left several of the cartons in our office for this use. The carton consists of heavy plastic bags for the head, a styrofoam box and a corrugated box. If postage stamps are included with the shipment when a head is shipped to Austin, the cartons will be returned to our office for future use much

San Angelo—Parks and Wildlife Department biologists have finished their deer census work and antlerless deer permits for the upcoming hunting season will be available to landowners in Sterling County on November 6 at the county courthouse.

Wildlife officials at P&WD urge landowners to pick up their permits at the designated place and time since P&WD officials will be on hand to answer any questions they may have regarding the new permit system and issuance rate.

Permits this year are based on current deer censuses by designated compartments in the county. Maps outlining the compartments and rates of issuance will be available to the public at the county courthouse prior to the issuance dates.

Behind the 8-Ball

By the editor.

Woops, a mistake. Yeah. Last week in the story about Foster S. Price's sale in San Angelo, we had the wrong price on the 8 cows. They brought an average of $812.50 instead of $182.50. That old gremlin devil transposed those figures wrong on the linotype, and the proofreader failed to catch it.

8-BALL

Number two, same tune. We gave the new man at the First National Bank a wrong—and lower title than he has.

Hank Watson is an assistant vice-president, NOT an assistant cashier. Sorry about that.

8-BALL

While going to Lowake Tuesday afternoon to a director's meeting of the Upper Colorado River Authority, I saw lots of cotton being picked. By mechanical cotton pickers, that is. They defoliate the stalks and then get with it with the big picker.

But they are hoping it doesn't rain till they get through.

8-BALL

At a meeting of the San Angelo Press Club last week at the Ole Coach Motor Inn, the group gave some proposed skits for the Annual Gridiron Banquet and ROASTING. The dinner will be at either the San Angelo Country Club or the La Quinta Motel banquet room. Date is to be February 7. Tickets will be available to interested persons.

8-BALL

Two of the Sterling Eagles football backfield men will be out of action against Forsan tonight due to injuries. They are Kenneth Gaston and Benny Radde. Kinda hate that.

8-BALL

The closing of the engineer office of the Highway Department is going to hurt the economy in Sterling City. Some of the men can retire. Some can be transferred, like those with 20 years of service. Some can be laid off, and will be. The federal government is holding up a lot of the Interstate money, and the state is getting a little less on the gas tax—due to the 'shortage' and less travelling. Also the newest cars are smaller and will use less gas, so the income for the highway department is going to be limited in the future, if no new sources of revenue are opened up by the state.

Gas will cost around 80c a gallon. cars will use less gas, and a new tax might have to be brought up. Why not let the license money for cars and the 'rucks all go to the department in the future?

If you do not want to be an hour early for church next Sunday, turn your clock back 1 hour before you go to bed on Saturday night. Or, if you want to be real official about it, get up at 2 a.m. Sunday and run ALL your clock back an hour. Don't forget that one in the bedroom; or that one in the bathroom, or the kitchen. And, oh yes, your wrist watches.

And that one in the car, too. In case you got one there.

More rains. Well, it keeps on raining in West Texas. This has been a good year, rainwise. It is good for ranchers, which is what we are mostly out here.

All those broomweeds need a lot of moisture. Yessir.

Halloween is coming up and if the spooks are any worse that night, compared to some of the things that are going on now, it will be bad.
