John Henry Owens, 9 years of age, son of a sister of Smith and Burrell Jackson, was met in the road by Bob Olive, a cattle dealer, and carried to Olive's home without the knowledge of his parents. They becoming anxious, and finding no clue to trace the child, sent to Gonzales for one Sam Squirrellumter, a negro charse or headen doctor, who, on arriving, met Geo. Veal, Pryor Jones, bmith Jackson, Henry and Mary Ann Owens, and Elder Ridge, at Owens's house, where, after Elder Ridge had read the passage in the bible directing search to be made for the child, Jesus, the hoodes doctor, with a cup of codes grounds, a pack of cards, some water and much talk, pronounced that the child was dead, was killed by John Black's children; that they STATE NEWS. December by a reporter of the Express, in which I stated that I did not think the State which I stated that I did not think the State forces at El Paso were sufficient to maintain law and order, Howard, Attinson, MeBride, Ellis and Mortimer were publicly executed in the fields of Ban Elizario, and more than $30,000 worth of property taken from this to the other side of the Rio Grande, in Mexico. The Rangers were betrayed into a surrender, and all their arms and horses taken away from them. Governor Hubbard, in order to get the bottom facts, requested from the President that a commission of the United States and Texas be sent to El Paso

United States and Texas be sent to EI Paso to ascortain facts and causes. The President appointed Gen. King and Col. Lewis, since killed in an Indian fight, and the Governor appointed Major Jones. They met at EI Paso and took a great deal of testimony, and as not even now known. It will probably be called out by the present Congress.

However, before this commission organized, as extradition agent, I took evidence at various points in El Paso county, upon which to ground a showing for extradition under the treaty, knowing the great particularity that would be required by the Mexican authorities, and made two demands, one in February before court met, and one after court in March.

I appeared before the commission, at the II appeared before the commission, at the III appeared before the commission, at the III appeared before the commission of the United States of the Commission of the United States of the Commission of the United States and the Governor appointed Major Jones. recently, when, I understand, portions of the garrison have been withdrawn. It is an fe to say that if an Indian outbreak should occur in Gen. Pope's department, that the entire garrison would be withdrawn, and this portion of the country would be exposed to the rapacity of Mexican bandits, robbers and thieves, that infest the Mexican border. There would only be left on that distant frontier about twenty rangers to cope with lawless elements of both sides of the river, and the bloody scenes of last December would be re-enacted. I am satisfied the Representatives from Texas will call out this report of the joint commission at this session of Congress, and that some definite action will be taken.

In regard to the absolute necessity of maintaining a force of maintaining a force of maintaining a force of rangers in aid of the civil authorities, I regard the question as sottled so far as the fact is concerned. I have no doubt but that the reports in General Steele's office are sufficient of themselves to show this necessity. Gen. Steele has been active and energiet in his Ranger nolice. recently, when, I understand, portions of the garrison have been withdrawn. It is ported record safe to my that if an Indian outbreak should the corner.

Steele's office are sufficient of themselves to show this necessity. Gen. Steele has been active and emergetic in his Ranger policy, and the West owes him a debt of gratitude. The same may also be said of Major Jones, who has been acroit in the management of his forces, and always present at the point of danger and responsibility.

Aside from these reports, existing legislation show this necessity. There are four or

Aside from these reports, existing legislation show this necessity. There are four or five acts in the laws of 1876, and a joint resolution to Congress, which commits the Legislature to make a more liberal appropriation than it did in 1876. The change since that time has been from bad to worse. Martial faw was in effect proclaimed in New Mexico, in October last, and all of that lawless element have scattered and sought refuge in the counties of Presidio, Pecos and Tom Green, and it is said they are going to make their headquarters in the undirection of the City Engineer to examine weather.
