DAMAGING REPORTS FROM LOUIS

New Orleans. December 23.—The Picasynue says: "In West Feliciana parish a few days ago a negro named Cole disappeared and subsequently the headless body of a negro was found in a cistorn. No developments were made at the inquest respecting the parties who had committed the deed, nor was it proved that the body was that of Cole." The Times says: "Witnesses are coming every day from parishes to lay before the grand jury the story of their grievances. United States Supervisor of Registration and Election J. Ernest Breda, and his brother, a physician, A. Breda, who are residents of Katchitoches, have arrived in the city. They say that they were ordered to leave and did seave Natchitoches on September 22d last. Also, that the mayor of Natchitoches, uncle of J. Ernest Breda, came to them and asked them to surrender. They refused and were then given two hours to leave-town, being told that unless they went their dwellings would be attacked by four or five hundred men, and that they would not be spared. They concluded to leave and have not been these to Natchitoches since. Mr. Breda says that he is a native of the parish of Natchitoches. The above is about the substaince of the story which they will bell to the grand jury.

Bi. Mary's College Entertainment.

Before the hour of half-past seven, the advertised hour, the audience hall of the college was filled to overflowing by a highly appreciative audience, and the performers were loudly and frequently applauded.

The entertainment began with music by the orchestra, followed by a song, "Greeting Gilee," by the college choir. Then followed declamations, songs, dialogues, duets, etc., and several farces—"Escaping the Draft," "A Debate," and "The Photographer," the latter being particularly laughable, and was loudly applanded. "The Invisible Haud," a drama, was finely rendered, and reflected great credit on the youthful actors. The minstrels at the last would have done credit to many oldes persons.

Altogether, the entertainment was a success, and as the objects to which the pro-

For coming Christmas, the choirs of the different Catholic and Episcopal churches are putting forth extra efforts to celebrate this greatest of holidays in the Christian world with becoming solemnity. They have increased forces and fine selections of music. At St. Mark's cathedral the choir re-enforced by some of the best amateur talent of the city, has been rehearing for weeks past under the direction of Mr. Kreutner, organist of that church. We give the programme here: Opening sentence, Hallesome 300, and are now on their way to this city.

—A ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery would be an excellent Christmas or New Year's gift to any one. The capital prize in the January drawing is $30,000. For information inquire of U. W. Howard, southeast corner Main plaza.

—On Christmas night the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School will give a free entertainment at the Alamo Literary Hall. The parade of the Fairy Queen promises to be one of the grandest affairs of the kind ever witnessed in this city. Bring the little tolks and make them happy.

—From the noise made on the streets last night by a few perambulating mobs, one would naturally conclude that certain representatives of that class who have but one idea in connection with Christmas, and that is proper occasion to show how big fools they really are, had made a mistake of a day in the time.

Dallas Herald 20th: W. Stevens, deputy sheriff of Atascoso county, passed down on the Central last evening, having in charge a Mexican named Jaquez Juarez, whom he had captured in Bell Plain, Sumner county, Kansas, charged with the murder of a stockman named James Cateswood, in Atascoso county, in August, 1876. He was in the employ of Cateswood at the time of the alemploy of Cateswood at the time of the al man named James Cateswood, in Atsscool county, in August, 1876. He was in the employ of Cateswood at the time of the alleged murder. Cateswood became intimate with a Mexican woman with whom Juares was living, and to wreak his jealous vengeance he brained Cateswood with an axe while he was asleep, splitting his skull. He field, and his whereabouts was not known until a few weeks since. The relatives of Cateswood offered a thousand dollars reward for his capture. After killing his man he robbed him of three hundred dollars which, it is thought, was as much an incentive to the crime as his jealousy. The prisoner was shackled both hands and feet. In appearance he is about twenty-seven years oid.
