Washington, April 18.—Scoretary Sherman this afternoon issued a circular rescinding his circular of the 16th instant giving the terms under which the four per cents, would be sold. The sale of refunding certificates will, however, be continued by the bonded officers for that purpose, and by the assistant treasurer. No refunding certificate of national bank depositors. The bond call this evening was made partly upon the large subscriptions of the syndicate, and partly upon the large amount subscribed previously. The sunct amount which the sindicate will get upon; its subscription could not now be given. Secretary Sherman was, at a late hour this afternoon, arranging this matter, and also the question of making calls for ten-forties upon subscriptions to the four per cent, refunding certificates.

Lest by Neglect.

Mr. R. J. Carr, of this city, has received a letter from his brother, J. A. Carr, from his rench, near Laredo, stating that he had lost 6,000 sheep since last fall on account of improper care that had been given them. They have had good rains in Webb county, and the grass is as fine as it was ever known to be. From what information that is obtained from other sources, it is judged that nearly all the extraordinary losses of sheep the past winter may be attributed to neglect. Because of the mildness of the winters for the sheep opuld permanently exist on baild prairies where no shelter was afforded, and when the change came there was no preparation for it. Hence the losses.

Capt. R. W. Peay, last Tuesday evening, left the city for his home in the country about fourteen miles to the southeast. Then a door opened in the left side of the garden house, and there entered first an old, gaunt, beardless man—the chief eunuch—closely followed by the king, otherwise unattended. He came on with a quick step, and sat down, resting his right arm on the crimson cushion on the ledge in the centre of the railing. He wore a white silk jacket and loonght, or petticoat robe, of rich yellow and green silk. His only ornaments were his diamond ear jewels. As he entered all bent low, and when he had seated himself a herald, lying on his stomach, read aloud The case of A. Snyder Pellegreni vs. A. Sapervisie was settled in the district courty yesterday.

There had been pauses, more or less long between each of these questions, the king obviously reflecting what he should ask next: then there was a longer and, indeed, a wearisome pause. Then the king spoke again.
"Where is the Kingwoon Menghy?"
"In court, your Majesty," replied Pio Nono. "It is a court day,"
"It is well. I wish the minister to make every day a court day, and to labor hard to give prompt justice to suitors, so that there be no complaint of arrears."
With this laudable in junction his Majesty rose and walked away, and the audience was

The king of Burmah is little over 20, and he has been barely four months on the throne. He is a tall, well-built, personable young man. He is very fair in complexion, has a good forehead, clear, steady eyes and a firm but pleasant mouth. His chin is full and somewhat sensual-looking, but withal he is said to have gained self-possession, and lost the early nervous awkwardness of his new position with great rapidity. Of his charse-ter little has yet developed, but circumstances have occurred to prove that he is own, and that he has no fondness for any diminution of the royal prerogative. As we passed out of the palace after the interview a house in the palace grounds was pointed out to me within which have been imprisoned in squalid missis on the term of the late of the late king, some twenty male members of the blood royal, who were regarded as likely if left at be large to use efforts for the hindrance of the accession of the lad who now sits on the late throne, and who, among the youngest of the later, was selected to succeed. punishment for his rescention.

The case was presented to the judge, who sustained defendant's demurer, deciding that plaintiff take nothing by his suit and that defendant go hence without day and have and recover all costs for which execution
