A BIT OF HISTORY--Last Sunday morning, a line of people estimated to be in the hundreds watched the Olympic Torch Bearer run through Muleshoe. This is expected to be the only time, possibly in history, for the torch bearer to ever come through this part of the country. It was also reported that people lined Highway 84 all the way to Clovis to watch the Torch Bearer on his way to Los Angeles.

Torch Bearer Leaves 'A Bit Of History'

It was church time on Sunday, and it was Father's Day, 1984--but that didn't deter the hundreds of people who lined the streets in Muleshoe Sunday morning to view history in the making.

At 11:30 a.m., right on time, the Olympic Torch Bearer ran through Muleshoe. In fact, just west of the Muleshoe Mule on American Boulevard, the torch changes hands to the delight of the hundreds who gathered to witness the torch's passing in this small city.

At mid-morning people began lining American Boulevard, from the east city limits to the west city limits, and patiently waited for the torch bearer to get into town.

Various vehicles connected with the cross-country relay trip were back and forth, adding to the excitement. An official of the AT&T sponsored trip rambled among the crowd giving out magazines, which are the 1984 Olympics Guide, a special edition of Runner's World.

The official explained that all of the 10,000 runners for the several thousand mile trip are volunteers. The runners for the several thousand mile trip are volunteers. The runners take one week of their vacation from their jobs, run with the group for a week, then return to the job where they started out.

Lions, Rotary War Slated Saturday

There seems to be one major stumbling block, which will surely be resolved before the Lions and Rotary Clubs' basketball game Saturday night. Frank Ellis and Jess Winn have been named as the centers for the two teams, and that's where the trouble begins. They are having trouble finding a big enough circle for the duo to tilt off from. However, as we said, it will surely be resolved before Saturday night.

In attempting to solve the 'circle' problem, Ellis and Winn are taking pot shots at each other and the other ability on the basketball court.

It seems that Winn says Ellis has a yellow streak down his back and will never show up even though he, Ellis, will be there. "I am not sure Winn will ever be able to maneuver his wheel chair through the doors," said Ellis, during an interview with The Journal on Monday.

Both men say they will be appearing in trunks for the game, that is, Ellis says he will wear trunks, and Winn says he will wear trunks, but it is very doubtful the other will have the courage to show up in trunks to play.

Rumors have it that there are other private vendettas among the various members of the civic clubs, and that perhaps it will be erupting to a certain degree on the basketball courts Saturday night.

At any rate, plan to be at the Muleshoe Junior High School gym on Saturday at 8 p.m. for the tilt off and be assured of an evening of fun and entertainment.

Gametime is 8 p.m. and a

New Process Creates Local Hay Market

Local buyers and sellers of hay soon will access to a new regional hay market via their own telephone.

A new electronic hay marketing system, National Hay Exchange, Inc., will be introduced in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado began June 15.

Based in San Antonio, National Hay Exchange is the first marketing service to match buyers with sellers via a toll free telephone number 800-428-2002, trained operators and a central computer. With instant access to a broad, consistent hay market, callers to the Exchange may list hay to sell or place orders to buy hay.

"Our service provides hay producers and users with a system that is simple, fast, accurate and economical," says Bert Morris, president of the National Hay Exchange. "Our descriptive process is thorough, and our payment guarantee eliminates any worries a seller might have of receiving a bad check."

Before buyers or sellers can use the National Hay Exchange, an application for membership must be submitted. There is no charge or obligation for membership. Applications may be obtained by calling the National Hay Exchange toll free number 800-428-2002.

A typical National Hay Exchange transaction begins with a seller phoning the toll free number to list at least one truckload of hay.

A specially trained operator will ask the seller for an accurate description of the concession stand will be available for your pleasure.

Proceeds from the basketball game will go to the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

A challenge has been made by the Muleshoe Rotary Club. The losing team will make a $50 donation to the CoFC in the name of the winning team and the team which has the largest percentage of their club participating in the game will be honored by the opposing team. The team with the least number of members participating will also donate a $50 check to the CoFC in the name of the team with the most participants.

Tickets are available from the CoFC located at the Muleshoe City Hall. Tickets are $2 each or three for $5.

Chase Pilot

In Alaska

Billy Bob Wimberly plays a cat-and-mouse game, a deadly serious game, from Elemendorf Air Force Base in Alaska. The 30-year old Muleshoe native is a fighter pilot, who tracks Soviet fliers over arctic waters.

Captain Wimberly graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1973, and was a 1977 graduate of Texas A&M University. He is the son of Bill Wimberly who is a supervisor at Galante Manufacturing and Bobby Free Farms.

His day to day existence includes screaming off the runway in his F-15 fighter jet and being in eye to eye contact with a Soviet military pilot within minutes.

He has intercepted Soviet aircraft heading toward Alaska three times in the last 13 months as the U.S. pilots and the Soviet pilots play their potentially deadly game of cat-and-mouse.

The air force captain says he finds his daily routine exciting, "the culmination of all our training."

Rain Amounts Vary; Three To Five Inches

And, the rains came! For all this year, Bailey County, along with most of the South Plains had missed out on moisture. Up to the general rains that started last Wednesday in the area, Muleshoe had officially recorded a total of 1.63 in moisture, which includes snow earlier in the year.

Now, however, with the rain that started a week ago, rain in the area reaches to the three to five inch mark, leaving farmers smiling.

Areas which had remained 'bone dry' during the rain last week now have received moisture. Around the Needmore, Circleback, Fairview and Y-L communities, rain totals are adding up, with more showers predicted for the rest of this week.

Jack Bates at Fairview, who had received little moisture for the year said he has received three and a half inches during the past several days. "The rain fell just right, nice and gentle," he commented.

At the Circleback Gin, another location with little to no moisture, has now recorded 1.1 inches of rain for Monday and Tuesday of this week, with about two to two and a half inches to date.

Roy Atchison in the Y-L community northeast of the city received one and one half inches since last Saturday, and added to the more than three inches already received during the past week, has seen their rain total move toward the five inch mark. "The rain is just what we have been wishing for," said Mrs. Atchison.

The 1984 - 85 American Cancer Crusade for Bailey County has been scheduled for June 24-June 30, according to local chairman Jackie Johnson of the Muleshoe State Bank.

Mrs. Johnson said volunteers are "preparing to bring life-saving information to Muleshoe residents during the annual campaign which will take place this week."

with little to no moisture, said they have now received around four inches of "crop-saving" rain.

At Lazbuddie, Foster Fertilizer, located three miles east of Lazbuddie, has recorded around 3.2 inches of rain since last Wednesday. No hail has been recorded and areas around them have received from one and a quarter inches to more than three inches.

Northwest of Lazbuddie, Harrol Redwine said he has received three and a half inches of rain, and no hail since the rains started last week.

At Coyote Lake Feed Yard the amounts have varied, although one and one half inches of rain were reported to have fallen since Monday.

Bud Street, who lives to the south of Coyote Lake said he has received just over four inches since the rains started last week.

At Bula, Bennie Claunch of Claunch Gin, said the total rainfall there has now reached a little over three

Teenager

Cut, Robbed

Saturday

A 16 year old Muleshoe girl was taken to West Plains Medical Center for emergency treatment early Sunday Morning following a stabbing/robbery around midnight on Saturday.

Muleshoe City Police Chief Les Irvin said the teenager was walking near King Grain around midnight Saturday when she was accosted by a Mexican male.

According to the girl's report to police, the male cut her on the face with a knife, hit and kicked her several times and robbed her. She also told police she had been raped.

Chief Irvin said they have a suspect in the case which is still under investigation at this time. Charges were expected to be filed within the district attorney's office on Monday afternoon.

The teenager was treated at the hospital and released to her parents.

FORTUNATELY, IT WASN'T A HOUSE FIRE--Sunday morning, immediately after the Olympic Torch Bearer passed through Muleshoe a house fire was reported at the Wendell Speck home northeast of Muleshoe. However, members of the Muleshoe Fire Department found a haystack burning. Most of the haystack was destroyed.

A RASH OF WRECKS—Around 8:30 a.m. Monday, this small car skidded off Highway 84 in light rain and overturned into the median, four and a half miles east of Muleshoe. Two persons, Lila Sinclair and Jodi Rierson, both of Clovis, were taken by ambulance to West Plains Medical Center, where they were treated for minor injuries and released. This was the third of four accidents around Muleshoe since early Sunday morning. All resulted in minor injuries.

Young Homemakers Hosts Membership Tea

The Lazbuddie Young Homemakers will soon be holding a membership tea as part of their annual membership drive. Anyone interested in becoming a member is urged to contact any of the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers at this time.

The Lazbuddie Young Homemakers organization has been active for over two decades. This service organization seeks to strengthen the family and community and to provide assistance to community members in need.

Through the years, the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers have donated winter coats and eyeglasses to needy children, provided for the school playground equipment, a television and video recorder, elementary track meet ribbons, and other needed items.

Area senior citizens are a special concern to the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers. Members visit, correspond with and give gifts to these special citizens. Although the main purpose of the Young Homemakers organization is to strengthen and preserve the family, the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers organize and conduct worthwhile projects which are designed to serve the community.

They have held free blood pressure and fingerprinting clinics, style shows, and children's art and poster competitions and awards. In addition, they arrange and preside over an annual Christmas Bazaar which promotes area artists and craftsmen.

In the past, the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers have organized a school-wide reunion. They have collected recipes and created a Lazbuddie Community cookbook.

The main money-making project of the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers is the sale of pecans in September and October. This money is fed back into the community.

The Lazbuddie Young Homemakers hold meetings the first Thursday of every month, September through May. Each month they have a program which is directly related to the family and homemaking. They have doo prizes, secret pals, and family get-togethers.

A spokesperson for the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers said, "We really want to encourage membership in this club. Many area Young Homemaker clubs have folded from lack of interest. The Lazbuddie organization is a vital contributor to the strength of this community. It will be tragic for this area if our club is not kept strong with active members."

She also stated, "This is the club for anyone who is interested in a fulfilling and worthwhile service to and participation in the community, which in turn, benefits her own family. It is also the place to build life-long friendships and

Unrestrained Tots Hurt, Die In Wrecks

In Texas last year, 78 children aged 0-4 died as passengers in motor vehicle accidents. Another 6,603 were injured—many seriously.

Texas leads the nation with these grim statistics. Yet in some areas of the state, as few as 4 per cent of children ride in car safety seats.

National studies indicate that the death and injury rate for children in motor vehicle accidents would be 70 to 90 per cent less if all children were properly restrained in safety seats.

Because so many Texas children are killed or hurt in motor vehicle accidents, and because so few parents take advantage of the protection offered by car safety seats, the Texas Department of Health, in cooperation with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, is starting a statewide campaign to promote the use of safety seats.

The TDH's Child Paddenger Safety Program is providing general information about the seats as well as educational materials explaining how to buy or borrow child safety seats and how to properly install and use them.

John Snider, coordinator of the program at TDH headquarters in Austin, said, "We are just beginning to gear-up this program statewide. If our model program in the Dallas-Fort Worth area is as successful as we expect, our statewide campaign will be intensified. The model program in the Dallas-Fort Worth area is meant to demonstrate that the deaths and injuries of children in motor vehicle accidents will decrease with better availability and wider use of child safety seats, Snider said.

The statewide program includes a telephone hotline. Information, in English and Spanish, on projects which loan or sell safety seats at reduced prices is available through the hotline. In addition, callers may order educational materials, also in

Sorghum Worth More Says Kansas Scientist

New test results show grain sorghum has an 11% higher feeding value than the old National Research Council feed composition tables indicate. Cattle feeders who feed sorghum have realized they are getting better performance than the 83% value those tables placed on milo.

Beef cattle specialist, John R. Brethour said, by taking advantage of new management skills in processing, he found the feed value of dry rolled grain sorghum to be about 94% of that of dry rolled corn. Brethour is a beef scientist at the Hays Branch Agricultural Experiment Station of Kansas State University. The research at Hays shows that considerable improvement can be made in dry processing grain sorghums.

Brethour said, "The main purpose of grain processing is to rupture the kernel, reduce the particle size and increase the surface area so digestion can occur more rapidly and thoroughly. The feedlot with a roller mill would want to go to a fine roll to reduce the particle size of the kernel. That, in itself, will improve the value about 5%." Feedlot operators who have been concerned that finely rolled grain might cause bloat and acidosis probably can alleviate those concerns by feeding Rumensin or Bovatec, adding buffers and keeping feed in front of cattle at all times.

A summary of eight experiments at the Hays Branch Station using rolled corn and finely rolled milo showed there was very little difference in average dressing percentages, quality grade or carcass cutability. In those trials, partially funded by Kansas Grain Sorghum Commission, the indicated net energy (for gain) content of finely rolled milo was 1.39 Mcal/kg dry matter (55 Mcal/100 lb. air dry) compared to 1.48 Mcal/kg dry matter for dry rolled corn. Brethour summarized, "The value of grain for feeding cattle is closely associated with net energy content, so in those tests, finely rolled milo was worth 94% as much as corn."

Brethour went on to say, "That may even underestimate the true value of grain sorghum because many cattle feeders use steam flaking or high moisture processing. It seems grain sorghum is much more responsive to the more sophisticated processing procedures and, consequently, under those procedures the energy value of grain sorghum is probably equal to that of corn."

"Because computer linear programming is often used in ration formulation, net energy coefficients often determine feed ingredient prices. These coefficients should take into account the manner in which the grain is processed to be accurate in the value of sorghum. As the upward coefficients of sorghum grains are figured into the computer linear programming," Brethour concluded, "then this should enhance the relative price of grain sorghum." More information on these trials may be obtained by contacting John R. Brethour, Fort Hays Branch, Agricultural Experiment Station, Hays, Kansas 67601.

THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Lower Tap Temperature Reduces Burns

Of the approximately 112,000 people admitted to U.S. hospital emergency rooms with scald burns each year, more than 2,600 of these are caused by hot tap water. Scald burns from hot tap water tend to be more severe than other scald burns, with about 25 percent of these patients requiring hospitalization, says the Texas Medical Association.

The problem is that many water heaters have been pre-set at the factory at dangerously high temperatures and remain that way in many households. This poses a particular hazard for children, the elderly, and the physically and mentally disabled.

Most electric water heaters now in operation have been pre-set at 150 degrees Fahrenheit, and most gas heaters at 140. A study has shown that serious burns of adult skin can result from 2 seconds of exposure to 150-degree water and from 5 seconds with 140-degree water.

In contrast, it takes 30 seconds of 130-degree water to produce a serious burn. This generally allows enough time for most people to react and withdraw before suffering a burn. At 120 degrees, 10 minutes of exposure would be required to seriously burn an adult.

Since no household needs require tap-water temperatures greater than 120 degrees, it is wise to adjust thermostats on residential hot-water heaters to that maximum.

The temperature can be measured with a candy thermometer in bathtubs and sinks.

DPS Urges Safe Driving For Summer

The summer season is approaching fast. The Department of Public Safety reminds Texas motorists that the most wonderful part of the year is upon us and hopes all Texas drivers will be driving next fall.

Texans will be traveling to various parts of our state to enjoy the hospitality and sunshine. According to Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Department of Public Safety, "We want the summer of 1984 to be the safest yet for the Texas motoring public."

He noted that summer brings out the best and the worst driving habits of Texans because alcohol consumption will be on the increase during the summer months. Major Cawthon stated, "Traffic increases on summer days and with added tourism, our highways can become more dangerous if alcohol is consumed." He reminds motorists that Texans will be leaving on vacation trips and need to obey the 55 mph speed limit and wear their seat belts for a safe trip.

He emphasized the vehicle needs to be checked, especially the cooling system, tires, and belts to prevent unnecessary and unwanted breakdowns during our extremely warm weather ahead.

Major Cawthon reminds drivers that summer temperatures can increase a driver's temperament, so be patient, courteous, and friendly to make Texas, summer 1984 a season to remember.

Torch

In a zig, zag fashion, the runners are traversing the United States, in order to afford the most people possible an opportunity to view the torch in a lifetime event. Entering Texas several days ago, the runners came through Lubbock on Saturday, and spent the night at Littlefield before coming to Muleshoe on Sunday morning.

As the Olympics runner came into view, noted running alongside, and just inside the curb, were the members of the Muleshoe Cross Country Team, who were state champions for the past two years. The Muleshoe High School Cross Country Team accompanied the Olympic runners through Muleshoe.

As the runner headed west, and appeared, the crowd burst into cheers and applause and youngsters watched with wide eyes, not realizing yet they were witnesses to what will probably be a once in a lifetime event in their young lives.

When the Olympic group reached the Texas-New Mexico state line, they were at the mid-point of the journey which will end in Los Angeles, Calif. on July 28 to begin the Olympics.

To commemorate the event, members of the Muleshoe Kiwanis Club had lined the route with American flags; and members of the Muleshoe Junior High School cheerleaders gave out red and blue Olympic balloons and small American flags.

Varied amounts from one and a half to two inches of additional moisture have also been reported in the Lariat, West Camp and Progress areas.

National Weather Service said the rains would continue during the week, most of it being in the form of scattered late afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

Several of the farmers say they could now use about 10 days of hot, sunny weather to get young cotton into a healthy growing stage. But no farmer was complaining about the moisture they have received.

trols, or how to build electric motors. They also were taught how electricity is made, and first aid and safety tips.

Five area vocational agriculture teachers paid by SPS taught the three courses. They were assisted by 10 adult FFA advisors and by SPS personnel.

The "Farm Wiring" course emphasized safe and efficient wiring of two- and three-way switches, proper wire splicing, and how to make a meter loop. The skills can be used in homes, barns, sheds, or other places electricity is needed.

Students in the "Electric Controls" course learned how to tie in three- and four-way switches, how to set up photoelectric cells for automatic lighting, and how to set up two- and three-pole relays.

The "Farm Motors" course taught students how to operate, repair and build small electric motors.

On the second day of the workshop, the students toured SPS' Harrington Station, the coal-fueled power plant northeast of Amarillo. The station has a generating capacity of 1,122,000 kilowatts.

Wimberly and his fellow pilots are among two dozen F-15 pilots who rotate in pairs between Galena Air Force Base in Alaska and Elemendorf AFB. They draw seven-day stints in their tiny quarters 100 yards from the Galena Air Force Station runway.

They watch television, read, study, eat and sleep and wait for the claxon to sound an alert that radar has picked up air craft heading east toward Alaska in the direction of the Soviet Union mainland, a mere 450 miles from Galena.

According to the Galena fighter pilot, when the horn blares, they scramble into their flight suits, slide down a fireman's pole and sprint for their slate-gray airplanes, housed next door in hangars.

It is known that F-15s can fly more than 1,800 miles an hour, so it need only be a matter of minutes until the planes can reach their targets.

When the pilots, working in pairs, intercept Soviet planes, one stays back to provide cover, while the other moves to within 500 feet of the Soviet craft. "Some of the pilots wave. I don't," stated Wimberly.

They take pictures with hand-held cameras, talk into tape-recorders to describe the Soviet aircraft and take in any other details that might prove useful to military intelligence. They look for numbers on the planes, or anything at all that might be interesting to the people in intelligence, added Wimberly.

The Air Force says it has intercepted 120 Soviet aircraft in 78 sorties from 1976 through mid-May of this year, and the aircraft are said to usually be bombers and reconnaissance planes.

Although it is not known for sure why Soviet planes head for Alaska, it is believed that the Soviets are wanting closer looks and pictures of the F-15 aircraft.

Captain Wimberly, his wife, Connie and sons, Billy and Timothy, will be returning to the United States late in September. He will be stationed at Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, as a flight instructor.

health market, he feels proper attention could not be given to protecting the Clinic's interest.

Jim Mace, manager of the Clinic, a resident of Farwell, stated that the venture would be a cooperative effort between the physicians and Allied Pharmacy, and the public should experience very little inconvenience with the change. He further stated that as the confusion lessens and the details are worked out, he feels the change will improve public relations and a better understanding of the costs of health care.

Mace stated that West Plains Clinic would remain in the same location but would be separate from the hospital in terms of personnel and management no charges for listing or ordering hay. Listings and orders can be changed or cancelled at no cost.

The National Hay Exchange also provides an arbitrator for any dispute in which the buyer contests the quality of the hay delivered, saying it was not as described by the seller.

"We offer sellers a better chance of finding buyers wanting a particular quality of hay who are willing to pay the asking price," Morris says. "We also offer them a better chance of selling all of their hay, even that of lesser quality, as long as it is fairly described and priced accordingly. For the buyer, we offer more choices of quality and prices and a better chance of locating specific quantities."

philosophy.

Another announcement by West Plains Medical Center was that they had completed all licensing requirements for a hospital-based Home Health Care Agency. Haralson, administrator for the facility, stated that the Agency was notified last Thursday that Medicare had completed the survey and could begin full operations. Haralson stated this was the final step in a process which began three months ago.

Judy Jacobs, R. N., Nursing Director of the Agency, stated that Home Health Care will be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Admission to Home Health Care must be on a physician's orders, she said.

Ms. Jacobs added that care will be monitored by a physician, but will take place in the patient's home.

In addition to skilled nursing care, she said, the Agency can provide physical therapy, respiratory therapy, catheter care, injections, laboratory tests and diabetic management.

Haralson concluded by saying this Agency, coupled with swing-bed care due to go into effect in August, will enable West Plains Medical Center to provide quality care at a reasonable cost despite the loss of revenue created by the budget-cutting efforts of Medicare and Washington bureaucracy.

Haralson also said West Plains Medical Center had entered into a contractual agreement to prepare meals for the Meals on Wheels food program which gets underway here this week.

He said the facility will be preparing the food, and will have no other participation in the program.

Vocalist Of The Year Sets Fair Performance

Lee Greenwood, the Country Music Association's male vocalist of the year in 1983 and again this year, has been signed to appear at the 67th annual Panhandle-South Plains Fair on Sept. 25, general manager Steve L. Lewis has announced. Greenwood will be on stage in Fair Park Coliseum for one show only-at 7 p.m. Lewis said. He captured his second straight vocalist of the year honor last week in Nashville.

He follows by one day the appearance of George Strait. Other stars already booked for the Jubilee 75 edition include Ricky Skaggs, Sept. 27; the Statler Brothers, Sept. 28 and David Frizzell and Shelly West, Sept. 29.

The son of half-Cherokee parents who split up when he was just a year old, Greenwood was reared by his grandparents on a chicken farm near Sacramento, Calif. There he acquired a love of the outdoors, athletics and music. At 15, he had his own television program as a country/gospel entertainer in the Modesto/Fresno area. Later, he joined Chester Smith's band.

An accomplished songwriter, Greenwood has toured extensively in recent months with the Oak Ridge Boys, Alabama, Barbara Mandrell, Don Williams, Conway Twitty, Ronnie Milsap and Loretta Lynn. His distinctive voice also can be heard for several nationwide television commercials.

In the past several months, he has guested on numerous television shows. His first single, "It Turns Me Inside Out," holds the distinction of remaining on the Billboard country music charter for a record-breaking 22 weeks in 1981.

His second album, produced by Jerry Crutchfield, "Somebody's Gonna Love You," also was a big hit. Tickets for the Strait, Greenwood, Skaggs and Frizzell-West shows are $7 and $9. Tickets for the Statlers are $8 and $10.

Mail order requests for tickets may be sent to Show Tickets, P.O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408 and must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Requests will be processed in the order in which received but tickets will not be mailed until after August 1, Lewis said.

The trouble with most minds is that they are unused.

People who talk fast and much often outrun their facts.

To be able to read is not the same as to know what to read.

Even a conscientious worker sometimes gets fed-up on the job.

Too much time is wasted in trying to get something for nothing.

Be assured that politics will improve as fast as the people who vote.

Few of us know our real friends until we meet with misfortune of difficulty.

Over-cautious people are almost as worthless as those who are too careless.

Our idea of a pleasant life is to have more income than expense, and little or no work to do.

The lazy man never works; the average man works all the time; and the brainy man gets all the dough.

Police may be unnecessary in the perfect world but in the meantime law and order depend upon police.

Jack and Ann Lacey came to Muleshoe approximately two years ago from Maryland, when they purchased the Dinner Bell Cafe.
After two years they still think the people are the greatest they've ever met.

The Laceys continue to serve excellent food and offer good, fast service. They invite you to come out on Fridays for their fish and chicken buffet and also to their buffets on Sunday. "Why go home and cook after church when you can eat with us?" Lacey commented.

If you haven't eaten with the Laceys, go by and enjoy food from their fresh salad bar to their piping hot food from the kitchen, we believe you will like what you find at the Dinner Bell Cafe.
