A Tedious Litigation Ended.

Richmond, July 8.—The long contested case known as the George case which has been in litigation here since 1869, terminated to day in a compromise and decree in the chancery court. The controversy related to the title to the property of William O. George, a wealthy citizen of Richmond, who died intestate in 1869, leaving a brother, as Ler, nephese, and neices. The estate was chained by a mulation named Lee George, of Philadelphia, on behalf of his mother, sister and himself, all of whom had been slaves of William O. George before the war. The ground of the claim was the alleged marriage of the latter shortly before his death to Lee George's mother. After three trials without result, the court in lite decision set aside its long, and has now decided the case without the private of the latter shortly before his death to Lee George's mother. After three trials without the trial that the Richmond claimants are legal heirs, but decreaing with latter's consent that the Fhiladelphia claimants shall receive one-quarter of the net proceeds of the extate.

Now York, July 8.—A stormy scene took place in the board of Aldermen to-day, during which Alderman Saur openly and repeatedly charged Alderman Houghton with having been bribed to support Vanderbill's rapid transit schemes. Houghton denied the charge. A committee for investigation wancalled for and appointed.

New York, July 8.—The board of aldermen to-day, by a vote of sixteen to fire, rejected the seport of the rapid transit sommission favoring the Vanderbill's scheme for an elevated rallwad or fourth avenue.

The Irrepressible Tramp Heard from Arkin.

Greenfield, Mass., July 8.—Great excitement prevails over the supposed murder of Miss Dooley, by a tramp, who, was entertained by the young lady's pokents and stopped af the house all night. Miss Dooley was found dead in her bed with evidences of foul play. The girl's parents deny hat she was murdered, and claim that deat was caused by heart disease. A medical examination will be held.

Senator Beek, of Kentucky, has offered in the senate a resolution for the appointment of a joint committee to take into consideration the existing revenue laws and report what changes are needed to make the system to be costly. The investigation proposed is to embrace both the custom house and the internal revenue system. It is the belief that help cost a great deal of money that might be mived under a more commical and not less efficient scheme of collection. For example, there are thirty-odd custom houses that do not take in shough revenue to defray their expenses. Then, there has been licented and opened in the last two years two hundred and fifty distilleries, many of them mall, which do not pay the expenses of the gatgers and storekeepers appointed to watch them. When a distillery quite rouning in mail, which do not pay the expenses of the gategers and storekeepers appointed to watch them. The annual report of the New York board of health for the past year shows that two native Chinames married Irish women in that city during the year, and three were united to women born in the United Sales.

The total number of marriage during year the was 7629, and of this assales 7465 were white makes and 7447 femines, and 151 solored makes and 182 colored females. This shows that 12 white females married colored men; 71 makes and 35 females were married between 70 and 30 years, 3569 marriages to show so feel the figure of the sound of the sales and 10 makes and 10 makes for a fourth time; 10 makes and 30 females were married between 70 and 30 years, 3569 marriages to sales of the sole of the Detroit Free Press To refer to Hayes as president by fraud is regarded, it seems, by the stalwart press as an improvement in the wrong direction on the Mexican system. It should be remembered, however, that Hayes' presidency is an improvement, also in the wrong direction, on the Mexican system. Mexico has had several rulers with as little title to the officers of the Mexican base to the best to the control of the control of the second of sue omce by force and held it as forig as force sufficed. The courage they displayed may not have been of the highest order, but it was courage, and as such ranks higher than fraud.

and wealthy American people paying all the expenses of these peripatetic patriots, not omitting, of course, the little items of champagne and twenty-five cent eigars. This is as it should be. There is nothing that gives the citizens of our republic so much pleasure as to toil themselves through the oppressive bot months to make money for their statemen to spend in the cool mountain glens and in the fresh breezes that sweep along the shore of the much sounding sea.

The Graphic's cartoon represents Genera Grant tossed upon the quill lances of a num ber of leading editors in America, while abroad both hands are pressed in friendly greeting by royality. That is pretty goo proof that royality doesn't know so much about him as American editors do.

The San Diego Messenger says: Two gentlemen just in from Laredo, give a bad account of a ranch about 20 or 25 miles from here on the Laredo road. They stopped to remain over night, and about 10 or 11 o'clock four Mexicaus, two of whom are said to live there came there from a fandand of Fiedras Fintas, pretty drunk. They szamited the trayelers' horses closely, one of them making the remark: 'that those

The details of the hanging of Jose Cor-lova, published in yesterday's Expanse, didited no little comment from the common names. The confusion made to the priest seemed to be regarded as of some weight, specially by members of the Catholic church, tho were loth to believe that there was A BLACK SHEEP IN THEIR PLOCE-

a mas who had lied at the last moment. Of course, the Express reporter considered fully the responsibility of one who might make confession, and who at the final hour might deny all manner of sin, yet, at the same time, the scriptural proposition that "all men are born in sin," could not be wiped from memory. Bo it was possible that the man Cordova died as he had lived—a villain in every sense. But, under circumstances such as the present, more than mere assertion is requisite to change the minds of men. Did Cordova kill Trimble, then? that's the question. Let us reason together in a dispassionate manner and see. Trimble is dead—Cordova has died upon the gallows for being accessory to his murder. But, -A great reduction in rates to the east via the I. & G. N. Lone Star route.

Can we find out who did? Let us see! Yes-Can we find out who did? Let us see! Yesterday, as Expanse reporter visited the home of seventeed man by the name of Heary Rucker, at a pisele known as the "long house," west of the San Pedro. Upon reaching the piace, above the door was observed a yellow flag, with the word small-pox inscribed or painted upon it. The reporter passed the door of the domicil, peeped in, and there saw a mulatto woman with scarred face fanning a small child which was your baby?" Inquired the reporter, "Just sorter so-and-so," replied the woman, and therebyon an interesting conversalities apruing up, which terminated just ar the newsgatherer wanted it to.

"Didn't you formerly live on the Alaxan?" propounded the news man.

"Yes, I did," replied the speckied-faced aunty, who said she had only been to bed a day or two with the varioudd.

"Do you know anything about the Cordovas?" further inquired the Express man.
The colored woman therupon opened her broad jaws and began a free conversation. She said that "while she lived on the Alaxan of a Saturday night, just about two years ago, the Cordovas had a big time and a general going on: "The woman also said that

REE SAW A WAGON standing near their house, for old man Cor-dova was her neighbor, and when she and her family want to sleep the wagon was observed standing there. Nover before had she seen such a time at the home of the Corane seen such a time at the home of the Cor-dovas, and hence the attenties that was attracted. The Saturday night when all this demonstration was in progress, was the night following the day upon which Bobert Trim-ble's soul passed into an eternal sphere. The Cordovas, says the solored woman, reached their home after dark, but they were very joily about something. After they left, but it must have been away along towards morning. When the colored woman aroused herself bright and early, she found no one present—none of the Cordova family remained at their humble dominicil. This wagon, which had never been seen about the premises before, was gone, also—whither, no one knew—and as the supposition that the Cordovas had murdered and robbed Trimble had not yet been transmitted to the people along the Alazan, there was no particular suspicion after the demonstration of the previous night, and the disappearance of the vehicle. But there is little doubt that led to San Antonio, and that the murderers came to our city after having sent poor Trimble's soul into another world. Dave M. Trimble's soul into another world. Dave M. Young, of Atsacose county, and others, followed the trail from the place where the murder was committed, to the very gates of our city, and dropped it only after hearing by telegraph that the murderers had reached Uraide and there been captured. What did the marderers of Trimble come to San Autonio for, unless it was to accurs their parents, conceding that the men who killed. Tricable have, already been property accused? They came to the home of their parents on the Alaxan creek, man where the road crosses going to the Catholic graveyard. Here they brought Trimble's wagon after they had murdered him.

is also of some weight, especially when it is considered that it was made on the dring couch. What Jake Jackson said, is referred to. He lived near where the Cordovas camped or stopped the night after Trimble was killed, and remarked during his last moments that they had spent lots of money on this night and had a regular fundango.
