baum, and is carrying is into affect killed Cornelin and otherparties. An attempt was made to show that on the uight after the burial of Juo. W. Gully, a meeting of the conspirators was held, at the house of John Gully to mature plans for carrying the conspiracy into effect, but the state's own witnesses proved the sub-ject of that meeting to be nothing more than to discuss the practicability of a body of citizens going to Detroit on the following day to assist in the arrest of Chisholm and others, charged with the murder of John W. Gully. On this point the state gained no strength. Among the declarations made after the killing of Chisholm, going to show the conspiracy, was a declaration by the defendant that, "We have done what we came to do, and if there is any hanging to be done, here is my neek." The testimony of the defense has tended to contradict some of the material statements of witnesses for the prosecution, as to firing in jail; who shot Cornelir and Judge Chisholm; what parties in the crowd had guns; action of defendants in jail during the firing, and the relative position of all the parties. One juryman, C. C. Stewart, has been ill since adjournment last night, and on his account it has been impossible to proceed with the trial. It is hoped he will recover sufficiently this afternoon to allow the case to proceed. The designed has a number of witnesses to testify on other points brought out by the prosecution. Argument will probably begin to-more.

Helvetians. It is still a marvel. Very few cases at all like it are recorded in history. Gromwell, indeed, was it's years old when he became a soldier; and Mariborough was 52 when he first commanded a large army. But Cromwell was three years in growing up to leadlership, and never once had to wrestle with a really able captain; while Mariborough was aided in his opening campaigns by the abundant experience and brilliant talents of Prince Eugene. Here, moreover, our list of parallels with Cassa in this particular must end. All other eminent generals have neen much military service in early life, and the majority of the most enclinent have come early to compand. Yet hogs is a novice in the majority of the most enthent have come early to compand. Yet here is a novice in warfare, wellon toward suppliable and cau-tious saides age who exhibits every military quality. How could it be se? Of course he had drawn some soldierly education, both moral and intellectual, from the circumstanies of his time and race. The human breeor of mix time and race. The numan breed of which he speang was eminently martial in history and character. Nearly every young Homan felt bound to be more or less of a soldier, and nearly every young gentleman of Home sought to fit himself for an officer. Cresar, like Lucullus, had no doubt studied Cosar, like Legalits, had no doubt studied the campaigns of great commanders, and had also, no doubt, learned something from his intimacy with military leaders. But for all that, when he entered upon his life as a general he was liftle mope than a civilian. Fillow at Fort Donals on and Butlet at Fort Fisher had seen at least as much of war as the greatest of Fosana when he set forth to arrest the Helvetic syslanche. How is it that he was instantly able to show himself a mightler chief than the world had seen since the days of Hannibal, or than the world was destined again to see until the days of Napoleon? The only possible reply is that every now and then nature makes a man who is a marvel and can do anything.

The Boston Advertiser, of the 5th inst., publishes the following review of the Boston wood market for the week ending on that date:

The total receipts of wool at this port advance in metals, hides, leather and many raw materials should lead to an anticipation advance in metals, hides, leather and many advance in should lead to an anticipation of higher prices for wool, especially as manufacturers are doing better to day than at an anticipation of higher prices for wool, especially as manufacturers are doing better to day than at an anticipation of higher prices for wool, especially as manufacturers are doing better to day than at an anticipation and seven years. The public sales in London are doing as well as was anticipated, and it is only now and then as small lot can be bought at a price low chough to compete with domestic wool. There is a stronger market for fine fleece and prices are fully 40. per pound dearer than last week, while holders are stronger at the advance than they were at the rates current a week ago. Thore have been sales of choice?

This is the way the Corpus Christi Free Press summarizes the news: High tide in the hay, popopoises aporting, saw weed regal at 380, 390, and a choice X has been in brisk request and sells at 400,42c. There is no fittioned lots of Ohio and Pennsylvania is firm the hay, popopoises aporting, saw weed regal at 380, 390, and a choice X has prices and above at ticky wools, as there is a light stock here. Territory and Oregon wools have ruled steady, but good lots of medium are held druly. There has not been much done in fine Texas and the inquiry is light. Pulled wouls are eagerly sought for and full prices are obtained. Supers are sold up closely, and everything is sold almost as soon as it touches the floor of the warehouse. Sheep Inspector Appointed,

Mr. John Wickland was yesterday appointed by the county commissioners' court as sheep inspector for Bexar county, and gave the required bond of $1,000. The office given Mr. Wickland was created by the late legislature upon the demand of the sheep men of the state, and the chief duty devolving upon the appointee is to see to the enforcement of the scab law. Though the law has existed for some time, there has been no one whose special duty it was to look after its respect and enforcement, and so the scab has been spread among uninfected flocks, occasioning great losses. Mr. Wickland will be pleased to receive any information regarding the prevalence of scab in this county. He will make an efficient officer indeed, there could have been no better appointment.

We have received a copy of the "Western wilds," a book of 624 pages, beautifully bound and illustrated, just issued. The taiblot, J. H. Beadle, after apending seven pears in traveling through the country west of the Mississippi, has undertaken, in this cook, and with the most pleasing success, to narrate his experience and observations. Of Triviourse, our own state and section have also seen paid attention to, and in a manner that relil inferest avery one who reads the book to be brief, the work is expansive in its ichilis of the customs and character of the coople, its history of places and points of sleevest, and of the general nature of maters and things in the vast region traversed Ary its author.
