was nominated for governor by acclamation.

Boston, October 7.—The state convention called by the regular democratic state central committee met at Fannell hall to day. The delegates were admitted by tickets which they had to procure in advance from the state central committee and surrender to a policeman stationed at the untrance.

Rev. Beu. Noble, of Westfield, called the convention to order. He congratulated the delegates that the party had met in Fannell hall; that the party was not dead and proposed to make itself felt throughout the state and nation. Resolved, That in the nomines of this conwastion for governor, Hos. John Quiney Adams, we recognize a stateman whose patriotism, ability and devotion to democratic principles, make him a worthy standard-bearer of the party, and we heartily recommend him and his associates on the state ticket to the Massachunetts democracy.
The recolutions were adopted was as follows.
Lieut. Gov., Geo. W. Plunkett, Pittafield, secretary of state, Gen. M. T. Donohue, Sumerville; treasurer, David. N. Stillings,
Winchester staffier, Wm. R. Frield, Green. On motion of Chas. Levy, of Woodbary, Leverett Saltonstall was elected temporary chairman. Mr. Saltonstall was introduced, and as he took the chair was greeted with three cheers. He thanked the convention for the honor. He doubted if history could show more glaring outrages than was perpetrated by the republican party in 1877. Let republicans say what they please of instances of wrong-doing by democrats, nothing could atone for the foisting of a president into office against a clear majority of 100,000 by the people. Decisions of courts and acts of legislature had been set saids, and the great wrong could never be forgotten. He wished Graham, October 6.—Last night a very worthy young man of this county was returning from camp-meeting, near Donnell's mill, in a buggy. A man on horseback balted him and asked him if he was Ben Peeveler. Upon replying "yes," his assailant said he was going to kill him, and placed a Winohester rifle against him and fired, wounding him in the arm; the next shot powder-burnt his arm. By chance, Peeveler had a six-shooter in the buggy and opened on the assassin.

Washington, October 2.—The history of the government's treatment of the Ute In-dians is the old story of violation of faith on the government's part. In 1871, when the San Juan fever broke out and there was a rush for the mining regions of southwest Colorado, the billion and a stein of the state extending from the southern the northern boundary, and making in a about one-fifth of the state. Since that treaty was made not a dollar habeen paid of the $600,000 and their rightful lands have been freely occupied by whites While the immediate cause of !Theraburgh' fight was about a bit of plowed land, slit the real provocation was in the mining expeditions into their reservations a few mouth are which worked the Indians up to retain peditions into their reservations a few months ago which worked the Indians up to retaliation and raised bad blood on both sides. The Utes heretofore have joined the whites in fighting hostiles. The chief, Ouray, lives in the southern part of the reservation, but he has sub-chiefs in the northern country where the fighting has occurred. Ouray was educated in a Mexican monastery and speaks several languages. As a general thing, how ever, the Utes do so take to civilizing influences, merely desiring to live their own kind of life, free from medding interference.

Tits figures of the postal sayings banks of Great Britain for the year enting December 31, 1878, afford some interesting engrestions. From the establishment of those banks to that date the deposits foot up $555,000,000. 000, leaving on hand a balance of $152,000,-000, and interest due depositors. During the years 1877-1878 the deposits amounted to $185,000,000, of which $65,000,000 were drawn out again. Another item of interest in the report of the British postoffice is that referring to telegrams. Apart from the regular newspaper dispatches the government forwarded within the year 24,459,513 telegrams, being $17,517$ more than were forwarded last year.

IMMIGRATION

Open Letter to the San Anton Immigration Aid Association and Citizens of Sea

GENTLANDS: I desire to call your spectrention to the following important fa-First. The bringing of capital and labor an Antonio and western Texas, and the ablishment of manufacturing industries a levelopment of our agricultural resources.

Pablo Flores asked permission to erect a butcher stall on south Laredo street. Granted.

Oharles Zoeller asked permission to establish a telephone exchange and fire alarm, asking, as a reward the simple sum of $25 per month. The engine houses, mayor's office and central police station are to be commettee. It referred to fire committee, in conjunction with the finance committee, with authority to have the work office.

A petition from citizens owning property on Alamo plaza, relative to straightening the committee on popular, relative to straightening the presidents to be appointed from the board of the committee, and popular to the relative to the repairing of heir hall and referred to fire committee, with authority to have the work of the committee, with authority to have the work of substantial and attractive immigrants' home in the state of Texas.

Ninth. During the past thirty days immigrants, of which we have knowledge, have arrived in San Antonio as follow: Thirty-nine heads of familier from England, Scotland, France, eastern and northern states, numbering men, wousen and children over two hundred people; also twenty-aeven single men from different states of the Union. Of two hundred people; also twenty-seven single men from different states of the Union. Of these people sity-seven have been pleasantily located in and about San Antonio, and afe now actively at work. To our shame and disgrace six able, hardworking families have returned to their former bones to remain a standing advertisement against our country, while a few kind words and some attention at the hands of our citizens through a well-conducted immigrants home world have settled them satisfactorily, and in one year's time made them consumers of San Antonio inserchandies to the amount of from $2,000 to $3,000, and probable producers of from 76 to 100 bake of cotton esch, or its equivalent, thereby actually bringing additional wealth out of our soil. Home thirteen remain to be located, and the balance have dirited out into the surrounding counties.

Tenth. Immigrants are arriving daily and walk out streets day after day whhout a single word of velcome from our people of the accessary information to make them satisfied and contented. Our people pay no attention to them unless to sell their merchandies and task their momey. This is all wrong, and should be remedied at once by the erection of a fine immigrants' home to be put in charge of a suitable person.

Very respectfully,

A. W. Giffrond
