Calvert, October 29.—F. H. Prendegast, this conference is involved; the charch of this acction, of the whole south, is looking with interest for this verdict. Betthren, go to the bottom of this case, and if the brother is guilty, say so, and if he is innocent let your verdict be not guilty. A. Davis, of Fairfield, presides at the trial. The charges are gross immorality, and adultery in two cases, and a verdict is not expected for a day or two.

A REMARKABLETHASE.

"We have," answered the foreman.
At this moment twelve men in the andience rose, and pulled out their shooting irons and covered each man in the hox.

There was an ominous effected in the court, broken at length by the voice of the judge from behind the deak where he had dropped.

"Gentlemen the dignity of the law must be respected. The first great principle of justice and jurisprudenes must and shall be maintained at all hazards. Do you find the prisoner at the bar gully or sot guilty?"

The foreman locked at his fellow pures. They glassed as words as the fellow pures. They glassed his hours they explain the foreman spoke up like a little man:

"Not guilty, your boner."

And thus dat they explaines the fundamental principle of jury's prodence.
