THE BELL-PUNCH LAW.

There can be no doubt that the bell-punch law is being daily and openly violated, and these violations, aside from the grave offense of bringing the laws of the country into open contempt, are as great injuries to the community at large. Certain revenues for the state and county must be raised, and certain laws are passed for that purpose, and where one class of citizens put a defiance to the law affecting them, a greater burden must necessarily fall upon other classes affected by other laws enacted for raising revenues. Some saloon keepers observe the law rigorously, and they cannot but feel that the community impose upon them by allowing a discrimination against them through leniency towards others in the same line of business. A good many merchants are opposed to the occupation tax; claim that it is in some respects onerous and unjust; but what would be the result if a large portion of them should follow the example of many saloon keepers and desire they will not observe the law? What the saloon keepers do not pay, as their proportion of the revenue as provided by law, must be paid by other classes of people; and those who are found in daily open violation of the laws of the land will find it difficult to convince the people that they are entitled to be recognized as a favored class.

The people have a pecuniary interest in the enforcement of this bell-punch law, and the saloon keepers who violate it will find that they will receive little sympathy when they are called to account for their transgressions. They will find that the friendship of the people will not extend to putting their hands into their own pockets to pay additional taxes to make up a deficiency they feel is the result of violation of the law by one class of tax-payers. And the people will also hold to a strict account the officers whose duty it is to enforce this law. The duty of the officers is made as plain as the duty of the saloon keepers, and no evasion will be tolerated.

For the benefit of saloon keepers, officers of the law and others interested, we reproduce the following sections of the bell-punch acts:

Sec. 11. That if any lawyer, dealer, his clerk or employee, shall, on the sale, barter or give away any property, or shall, in any manner, fail to turn the crank of the proper register, as hereinafter required, the person so doing, or the person to whom such property shall be given, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not less than fifty dollars, and any person who shall pay for or receive any property, or shall give away any property, and any person who shall be registered, shall be fined in any sum not less than five dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

Sec. 12. It shall be the duty of the judge of the district court, to give that act in charge of the grand jury, and the regular grand jury, term of their respective courts.

Sec. 13. Any person who shall sell spirituous, malt liquors, beer, wine, or any other intoxicating drink, and without having conspicuously with their premises, herself, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not less than fifty dollars, and any person who shall pay for or receive any property, or shall give away any property, and any person who shall be registered, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

Sec. 14. That all fees collected under the provisions of this act, shall be paid into the treasury of the state, and all expenses incurred in the enforcement of this act, shall stand committed to the treasury, and no costs are paid, any day to the contrary.

We believe there are many imperfections in the law in question as it now stands; much that is useless and annoying, and it may be that the tax imposed is very burdensome. But to set it at defiance is not the way to remedy the matter; especially as its enforcement or non-enforcement so seriously affects the people through one of the most vital departments of our government—the revenue. Our advice to the saloon keepers is this: Observe the law, and appeal to the legislature for the redress of grievances which will have shown you are entitled to. If the tax is higher than is justified under your present way of doing business, do as other business men would do; raise the price of your goods proportionate to your increased expenses. If you believe the law is unconstitutional, let all pay their tax under protest, except one, and make a test case of that. If the case should be decided in your favor, your money will be refunded, and if otherwise, you will be subjected to the cost and annoyance of one case only, instead of perhaps one hundred. By doing this you can maintain your reputation as law-abiding citizens and secure friends in the legislature, but if such contempt: for law as has been already displayed, is persisted in, you will create an issue and a prejudice against your class that will result at least in your offending address, if not in causing the screws to be tightened. With the taxes already high upon all classes, the people will not submit to one class escaping the payment of the share allotted them, by open and contemptuous violations of the laws.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The national democratic executive committee will meet in Washington in February next, to select a time and place for holding the national convention, and the question of selecting the delegates to represent this state is being agitated. Texas being entitled to six representatives. We believe it is generally understood that the state central committee chooses the delegates. We have no doubt the committee would select honorable, capable and representative delegates, but notwithstanding this fact, we do not believe such a course would give general satisfaction. In a matter of such vast importance it would be best to not confine the selection to a few persons. A proportion to call a special state convention for the purpose of selecting these delegates is objected to on the score that such a course would not assure a full representation of the democracy of the state; that nothing like a full delegation could be secured for this one purpose.

We consider the greatest objection to this plan would consist in the fact that it would entail a vast amount of trouble and loss of time to the people in holding township and county conventions to select delegates, to say nothing of the expense to the delegates chosen. One state convention during the year is certainly a sufficient tax upon the people. We believe the best plan to adopt, would be to hold the state convention for the election of a state ticket early enough to allow it to select the delegates to the state convention. The objection against a long continued canvass would be untenable in this connection, for the candidates nominated need not rush to the stump as soon as their nominations were announced, but could remain at home until a reasonable time before the day of election. The state executive committee could announce the time for the opening of the campaign, and candidates not be expected to begin the canvas before that time. We can select just as good candidates in May or June as we can in July, August or September, and by the time we propose but one convention would be necessary to do the work. We do not believe the selection of delegates to the national convention save by representatives direct from the people would result in giving general satisfaction.

THE TEXAS WESTERN NARROW GAUGE.

During the previous week the committee of the board of trade have furnished for publication replies to letters addressed to managers of the various railways projected to San Antonio. In this issue we present the letter of Mr. J. C. Tracy, who was, until recently, supervisor of the Texas Western railway. What he says about the cost of the 41 miles of road already completed to Pecos from Houston is important and interesting to our people, who are now deliberating the question of a narrow gauge road to tide water. The assurance that even that small fraction of a road pays well, although it has not yet reached the Brazos and the rich section of country between the Brazos and Colorado, speaks well for a narrow gauge and affords great encouragement to our enterprise. This line extended westward has already headwayed far, and San Antonio is the important point of the line. The counties hence to the Brazos are also heavily producing grain lands, and with the road completed to that point, should seasons be the best, one crop again we would not have to send to Kansas City and Louis for corn, oats and wheat. The grand point aimed at by the board of trade, however, is to offer to our business men a plan to secure as speedily as practicable low freight rates upon goods brought here, and produce, wool, hides, pots, cotton and cattle sent off. It may, therefore, be well to give some consideration to this road. Our only chance of getting a cheap and abundant supply of timber from the north, grain from the south, and lumber from the west, would be to strike off the commercial shackles with which we are bound. We are now bound to the supplies of the capitalists of the north, and grain mills are our surest and best hope.

Because some "weak-minded brother," suggests some "weak-minded Hayes" as Thurnam's successor in the senate, the St. Louis Republican wants to know what the country is coming to. Why not? Hayes is one of Ohio's greatest and greatest republicans, and as he has never been elected to a higher office than governor, why not give him a boost into the Senate? High places conferred by a people are vastly more enjoyable than those obtained by fraud, and Hayes would no doubt like to be a senator.

Ir is believed the governor of Florida will call an extra session of the legislature for the purpose of submitting the proposition of the proprietors of the Florida ship canal. These men, it is said, have agreed to comply with the conditions prescribed by Governor Dow, and to deposit $15,000 to cover the expenses of the extra session. It is expected that this will be called at an early day, and the canal scheme given the final seal of ratification by the legislature.

The Dallas Herald says: "The army in fact is too large for any just and rational purpose. If the Indian policy of the government towards the Indians was wise, just and humane, there would be no Indian forays, no use of frontier protection, and then of what we would have far more than a mere nominal standing army?" We must keep up coast fortifications, and have in them small garrisons, but five thousand men are enough for this, and with no danger of Indian outbreaks, we would need no larger force than this." There is an "if" with a vengeance. Why not work the problem out entirely and say that if we had no coast fortifications and no use for them, we would not need any army at all. But the coast fortifications are necessary, and the Indians will go on the war path, and no army is a necessity, and it should be had, enough to do the duty expected of it. Let the necessity for an army be done away with, and the canal scheme gives all the seal of ratification to the "entitlement."

This institution was recently incorporated by the Legislature of the State for Educational and Charitable purposes in 1861, with a capital of $250,000.
