In a private letter received here from Franklin, Texas, the writer these briefly inview the troubles at Chihushas, Mexico. "Heft the city of Chihushus on the third of December for this point, and at the time of my departure everything was quiet. When I left, General Trevino and staff were there with about four hundred federal troops. A clique from the state congress and met and declared Trias resignation as governor accepted. They thereupon considered the matter of some one to succeed him, and elected Terazzs, to whom they gare powers extraordinary—shat is, privileg to do as be pleases. After this arrangement Trias was released and sent back to the city a man again in private life. Governor Terazza diacharged all of the old state complexes, removed the prefect of the city and appointed other individuals in their places. Governor Trias had about 500 armed supporters in the city and shout 500 armed supporters in the city and the previous has had so fit up things so as to please and intronous all the conflicting factions. Commandanta Diran has come down from the mountains with 300 men, taken possession of the town of Guerrero and declared himself in favor of Trias for governor. There is No Death.

There is no death? The stars go down To rise upon some fairer shore: And bright in heaven's Jewelled crown They shine for evermore.

There is no death! The dust we tread shall change beneath the summer at To golden grain or yellow fruit, Or rathbow-tinted flowers.

The granite rocks disorganize
To leed the hungry moss they bear:
The forest leaves drink daily life
From out the viewloss air.

There is no death! The leaves may full The flowers may fade and pass away— They only wait, through wintry hours, The coming of the May.

There is no death! An angel form Walks o'er the earth with silent tread; He bears our best loved things away, And then we call him "dead."

He leaves our hearts all desolate; He plucks our fairest, awestest flowers; Transplanted Into blies, they now Adora immortal bowers.

The hird-like voice, whose joyous tones
Made giad the scene of sin and strife
Sings now in evertasting song
Amid the tree of tife.

And where he sees a smile too bright. Or hearts too pure for tains and vice He hears it so that world of light, To dwell in Paradise.

Born into that undying life, They tears us but to come again; With Joy we welcome them, the same, Except in ain and pain.

And ever men'r ns, though unseen.
The dear immortal spirits trend;
For all the boundless universe
la life; there are no dead.

There will be no ecown of pointing. There will be no ecown of pointing. There will be no ecown of pointing. There will be no glittering crown upon their brows. Why? Became they haven't worked for it. We get miration, as a gift. It is just a gift, but. After I get salvation I am to work it out. If I get a capwa I haven to work for it. I don't get it by getting into the charch, getting into Dr. Ganse's or Dr. Marquis' or Dr. Felton's or Dr. Post's and getting a good, nice pew, the best pew in the church, and paying $150 a year for it, perhaps, and just ecoming out once a Sunday to hear Dr. Post presch, and fold my arms to sleep all the rest of the week. I am not going to get a crown that way.

Now, Fruil wrote a great many espisiles, but that is the last he ever penned; he was in prison at Rome, and he took up his pen and wrote a letter to his friend Timothy, and he said. "The time of my departure is at hand." In another place he said, "I am in a strait betwirt two," some time age he wanted to be with his Manter; and there is a sort of joy in this epistic where he says. "The time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith," Thank God, he never broke away from the faith; he didn't sant to get the appiause of the world, but he just presched the gospel of Christ; not to get the appiause of the world, but he just presched the gospel of Christ; not to get the had anany a hard fight; he had met Setan on a good many hattle fleids, and he had overcome him and got the crown—the crown, the sign of victory; the time had come; you know they get the crown at the end of the route, at the sud of the Journey, and see what he
