At the solicitation of Messrs. Botts and Laury we attended a picnic and barbecue given at their new and commodious gin house but recently completed near the village of Wrightsboro, in the soutwestern portion of Gonzales county, and being the special great of these continuous our visit was tion of Generales county, and being the special guest of these gentlemen our visit was indeed a most agreeatic one. On Thursday evening we inspected the entire outfit of these conterprising merchants, including boiler, press, condensors, tank, and all, and must say that they will in a few weeks have up one of the most perfect and convenient steam gin and grist mills we have ever seen, the dimensions of which, to be brief, are as follows: The building is twenty-two by xix, feet in the clear, has sixteen large stalls for cotton, the wagon can drive up and each individual unload in his respective stalls after first weighing on a large Thornton cotton scale—Fairbanks improved patent. The belier, forty horse power, and Brown's improved cotton gin with content. The boiler, forty horse power, and Brown's improved cotton gin with condoner and feeders attached together with Simmons' largest size cotton press, are entirely now, and cost laid down at Harwood, freight included, about two thousand dollars, the building costing some two thousand additional. The grist mill, with meal boiler stacked, being included, is the Bradford additional. The grist mill, with meal boiler attached being included, is the Bradford Patent. The boiler and other machinery was purchased from Mesers. McElrain & Spigel and J. & E. Grenwald, Cincinnati, Ohio, and appears to be complete in every particular. Mr. Robt. Scales, an experienced machinist, will have sole charge of the machinery, and is now engaged in putting it in ship shape. The average number of bales this gin expects to bale up is fourteen daily. In connection with this splendid piece of machinery, Mesers. Botts & Laury also run secount of the death of John Zeller has arrived here, and excites much comments, as the account is garbled and the truth perverted with the lotention of injuring Mr. Beacom, the deputy sheriff in question.

Mr. Beacom, in the letter in question, is grossly adsrepresented, and as regards the popular feeling, while the public regard the shooting as unfortunate, he has their entire sympathy. The comments on the sfair in The Expense of the 7th inst. show the character of the deceased at he was known in San Antonie, and tunfortunately his conduct had not changed since his arrival on the frontier. If Mr. Pessman, or any one else, whiles to give the facts of the ease, would it not be much more just to wait until they are elicited before a proper tribunal, or at least state the evidence as produced before the coroner's jury? As regards "B" of Fort Clark, his comments in the case are considered to be in very bad taste, as this is neither the time or place to give vent to any personal feeling in the matter. Yours,
