WONDERFUL MARKSMANSHIP.

Perces Indian.

A correspondent of the San Francisco Goldon Era says it has more than probably remained for this side of the continent to have produced for the world the greatest shot of the age in the person of Otto, the son of the New Person ofher, Joseph, aged 15 yearse. This youth has already by his marvellous skill in the handling of arms forestalled fortune by securing an enviable fame before commencing his professional career.

His wonderful prowess is already known to bundreds of the leading people of that section, which the world at large will seen be able to take cognizance of, as he will soon make his formal professional debut. He was recently, under the auspices of his teacher and protector, Capt. C. R. S. McDonald, given a special interview, at the hands of Secretary Carl Schurz. This was a distinguished compilment.

isting visibled compliment.

The secretary was very much impressed with his young guest's comelluses, his incligence and superb physique, and maniested marked interest in him during the reat his command, and which have been witnessed by many of our leading citizens, as well as weterans of the army and many, and which have excited wonder and amazement, we can call to mind the following:

The First Shot.—A five cent piece is placed at the top of the head of the figure of a man, the head being covered.
Otto takes his position twenty paces from the object with a rifle without a sight—then blindfolded—gives a somerset, firee and hite the five cent piece, from his power of location.
