All doubts about the Morey letter are now removed. It is a forgery—or it is not.

The Dan family are already coming to the front. One of them is arranged for illegal registration in New York.

Grant says New York will go republican but as Grant has proven his ability to lie about the south, he may 'err in his judgment' concerning New York.

Chicago and its immediate suburbs have 5,752 manufacturers, which employ 112,507 persons, and require a capital of $80,602,102. The product for the year ending with May was $1,000,000.

Gov. Edwards wants to have captured Long by his recent speech in this city, as the address is to be printed by the latter and circulated as an immigration document. The old slave appalled to have joined in the march of progress.

In our ministered the gospel will go out into the wilderness and byways and preach political firesides will make large and attractive congregations. Few men, with a deep interest in politics, can patiently and attentively listen to an ordinary sermon at the stage of the political game.

The Grand Democratic says the "bloody shirt" should be entirely folded and laid away after Tuesday next, and preserved for future use that it is good for three or four more presidential elections. Gov. Foster, however, says the "bloody shirt" was of no use to the republicans in Ohio at the recent election.

Col. Brown's was called, in the Episcopal Church of Bishop the other day, the blacksmiths of the west, who comes nearer to anti-slavery than any other man on earth. The Detroit Free Press says after Bob goes through stamping for a Campbellite Baptist he will turn his attention to the Episcopalian.

And Weaver, too, is trying to make capital of an alleged forged letter published in the New York Times of the 24th last; purporting to have been written by him to Hon. E. H. Gillett. Gillett denies it, and Weaver also, supporting his denial with a notary's seal, evidently realizing the fact that a presidential candidate's plain word of honor is not always acceptable to the American people. The whole affair, however, reminds us of a tempest in a teapot.

At the writer's (yesterday noon) the condemned condemned in a few hours ahead in the Times of the 25th. The demand made by the defense lawyers the trial pushed so as to introduce their testimony to prove the genuineness of the letter and the damage that testimony going to the country before election day will convince many that the letter is genuine, notwithstanding the evidence of the experts, who in every case on record, as far as we can remember, where political questions or influences were involved, have been found incapable to the republicans.

The Chicago Times says one of the Washington correspondents here had, with the exception of Devens, every member of the Hayes cabinet will be retained by Garfield in the new administration, to the president. Devens, it is said, is to be provided with a place on the supreme bench if a vacancy can be created. That John Sherman expects to remain in the treasury department is indicated by the fact that he is not among the applicants for the secretaryship in the event of there being a vacancy by reason of Garfield's appointment in the white house.

Each cabinet minister, following custom will endeavor to be given to the incoming administration, and it is to be expected that Sherman will be re-appointed, but the 74 or 75 thinks very seriously that neither Edward nor Devens will be requested to remain.

He writes on Texas cattle fever and the increase in native cattle breeding in Illinois, the Illinoian, City Daily Journal, says: "Ranchmen, even as far south as the Panhandle, have rapidly breeding up their herds and handing over western cattle to gray men." The trade in blooded bulls with western ranchmen the past few years has been very active. The Hamiltons alone have sold in the market, the past three years probably not less than 2,500 head, the larger per cent. of which were bulls and taken by western ranchmen. The difference in the market value of half-bloods and pure Texas has been so great this season as to attract universal attention, and cannot fail to stimulate the demand for short-horned cattle for the past, and give a new stimulus to the market for the best blooded heads. As the number of half-bloods increases the demand for southern cattle must diminish."

GREELEY NO. 2.
What He Knows About the Cultivation of Small Grains.

SATURDAY, Oct. 28, 1860.

Editor San Antonio Express.

Gents—If you can spare the space, I want to have a little to say to our new comers and farmers about small grain. Will small grain grow in western Texas? I say "Yes." I go further and say that when grown it is to be raised for the market. Every man in Texas, (whatever country (everything considered) as I know of in the state. I do not mean by that to say that we can raise as much sugar cane, corn or cotton as can be raised in the South or in Europe. I mean say, take the climate, people, land, soil, water, with the advantages of our market all into consideration, give me west Texas all the time. I know of no southern state that will compare to Texas. I was raised in Georgia, and have been in Texas, and New York and have been in several other states.

It has been proven in Bexar county this year that the long John White, St. Charles, German yellow, Company's yellow, and Bunt grass, all grow in Bexar county in from 40 to 90 days' time. Planted the first of February it will be ripe by the first or middle of May, before the summer or drought has had time to affect your crop. But it is all that you can do to get a good crop. The soil and well broken up before Christmas. Plant early and cultivate well and shallow with good seed there is no excuse for failure to make a crop of corn. Now as to oats, the early round variety, plant them early and paying crop when it is sown are good and sown on good black land. Last year on the Olmos creek ten acres yielded over 1,000 bushels. This year we had frost and took care of the crop, and it was sown in the spring instead of fall. McKey selected in the fall and he made a fine crop; so this year also Miller and Branan, of the Gibolo. It is a good plan to seek all small grain in blue stone and the previous sowing of oats. It would be easier to plant after the oats are harvested and harrowing to roll the land. This is however seldom done here. It is an advantage. I think it best to send to Dallas for the best seed for oats, and good standard weight. I regard this as one of our best paying crops.

As to barley it is not certain, but if it should grow well, it should yield good for two or three bushels to the acre. It makes the best winter pasture of any of our small grain. The six-rowed Canada is probably the best variety. Some save as oats and pasture it until March or until it begins to joint on the stalks. Then it is safe to run on the small grain in wet weather. Barley is considered equal, if not superior, to oats for stock.

The best wheat for one country is the hard wheat. In this country it is almost a sure crop—and for growing and will make from 30 to forty bushels to the acre. It is said to be the best shipping wheat in the United States. Coming earlier by the time than the wheats of the north, the wheat will still command a high price. Plant or sow in November. Said W. W. Hornsby, living some ten miles below Austin, has raised wheat for 25 years and never made a failure. His postscript.

Gov. Edwards wants to have captured Long by his recent speech in this city, as the address is to be printed by the latter and circulated as an immigration document. The old slave appalled to have joined in the march of progress.

In our ministered the gospel will go out into the wilderness and byways and preach political firesides will make large and attractive congregations. Few men, with a deep interest in politics, can patiently and attentively listen to an ordinary sermon at the stage of the political game.

MINISTERS Looking for a Court in Which They May Appeal Against the Unjust Censures of Their Superiors.

New York Herald.

The subject of greatest importance before the convention of the Protestant Episcopal church will be the question of the right of appeal to an ecclesiastical court for the church. As at present constituted the several dioceses have their own ecclesiastical courts, which are independent of each other. There is an article in the constitution (xxv) of the church, which provides that the episcopal conferences shall have power to establish a court of bishops only, but that every diocese can establish a court of presbyters and deacons, but that no presbyter or deacon shall pronounce sentence of deposition or excommunication, unless he is a member of another diocese.

Another defect is that they injure the episcopal conferences.

To invent a machine which would not injure the machine which would not injure the machine which he himself had invented is extremely simple. The principle of the old gin is to pull the cotton from the seed. All the cotton is to be pulled from the seed. At the first attempt the principle and the most perfect of them is necessarily imperfect, for they have large quantities of cotton clinging to the seed. An examination of seed from any ordinary gin will show that the cotton is not pulled off the seed.

It is impossible to find a gin which does not more or less cut the seed.
