Washington, November 8.—The navy department has already, it is said, been disposed of y Mr. Garriedd, who is under an engagement to tender it to Paymaster John A. Stevenson, a most active and earmest friend of Gen. Grant. The Grant men make no secret of this here, and as Paymaster Stevenson is at least familiar with navai affairs, they claim that it proves Grant's intention of making Garfield's administration a stricty business administration—in fact, a sort of civil-service reform government.

**A E W ROYANEA**

We are not among those who believe that all the capabilities of the soit and climate of western Teras have been discovered and developed. Indeed, we believe that sach year sees the development of new sources of wealth in our wonder-land of the great southwest. It must be remembered that the school books of seventy-five years ago taught the boys and girls of that day that the eastern portion of the state was a howling wilderness, only fit for the home of the wild beaste that inhabited it. Yet to-day the wealth of the great state of New York is largely due to the agricultural richness of the co, challenge, change coloths, Continge and Virton, Ridging and Strains, horse rugs, saddle cloths, carriage cities, and willow, Ridging and Strains, horse rugs, saddle cloths, carriage cities, and willow, Ridging a wealth of the great state of New York is largely due to the agricultural richness of he middle and western portions of the state. May it not be also true that the people of to day are as far "off" in their estimate of the gricultural espabilities of western Texas as her grandfathers were of the agricultural apabilities of western New York?

These thoughts were caused by soking through the newly constructed green houses of a florist in this city. A few years ago house plants were rare here, and our citizens said that the delicate plants so common in the cold north would not thrive here because of our flerce sun during the summer months. But last year Mr. L. W. Madarasz erected a small greenbouse, and although many people laughed at him as a visionary youth, be mut to northers florists and procured a full stock of rare plants. The record of his first year's work shows that he paid all his regular expenses, and guided by the experience thus obtained, he has erected another greenhouse and has ad-ded largely to his stock of plants.

Ameng other things, he has discovered that flowers that were bitherto unknown here, will not only live, but are posuliarly adapted to our climate, and that a good payess can be done in raising rare plants for the northern market. This is not all that has been done; a love of beauall that has been done; a love of beau-tiful flowers has been created and many beautiful flower gardens have been planted, and the spassions grounds around many of our private residences have been beautified and adorned by many-hued and perfume-bearing flowers that add greatly to the attractiveness of our historic city. Greenhouses afe joinmen in the north; of the porth use them to force their early pair of Berkshires, one year old, worth twen vegetables as well as to protect their flowers. They are cheaply constructed, no large oadlay of capital is required to build or to 313 manage them, and when properly managed on a farm they will pay for themselves in the first year. They will lead to the introduction of new and rare fruits, flowers and vegchables, and will cause still greater discov introduction will give rise to new sources of wealth, add to the attractiveness of this acc tion of the country, and furnish a pleasant

Diamend Cutting In New York.

Among the curious and interesting industrial acts brought to light during the census inquiries, not the least is the fact that the recently introduced art of diamond-cutting has been so admirably developed here that diamonds cut in Aristerdam are now eact to this eity for recuting. Hitherto Amsterdam has monopolized the work of diamond-cutting, and the aim there has been to remove in cutting the least possible weight of the gen.

The American plan is to cut mathematically, according to recognized laws of light, so as to seeme the utmost britiancy for the finished stone. The greater loss in weight, as compared with the Amsterdam cutting, is thus more than made good by the superior britiancy of the product. From the inquiries made by Chief special Census Agent Charles E. Hill it appears that by the energy increase of value given to diamonds by the superior britiancy of the product. OFFICE Of DAILY AND WEEKLY EXPRESS, | Thursday, Nov. 11, 1880. Receipts from the country by wagon are fair fields, but the demand for all kinds of country produce far exceeds the supply. The freight receipts by 'rail to-day included twenty-seven as loads. General business continues good. Grain is in better receipt but this market is very strong and excited, and the demand far exceeds the supply. Eighty cents per bushel was paid this morning for corn in bulk from wagons, and a large lot was punchased at this price. From seventy-five to eighty cents per bushel can be realized for every bushel of corn that is brought to this city now. How long these prices will continue we cannot say but well to bring their grain to market as soon as possible. Oats are very firm and in good demand at our figures.

Corn fodder is in active demand at full prices, but the receipts are very light.

Fuel is in fair receipt, but the prices remain very high, and the half-rotten or green wood cannot be had at a less figure. It would pay the citizens of San Anhonio to form a co-operative wood aed coal yard here, or better yet to assist some energetic man to start a yard-a here fuel could be obtained at uniform prices no matter what was the state of the roads or the degree of temperature.
