Philadelphia Bulletin Letter.

During the last year I was in Paris I heard a very northy story. A party of merry, brighteyed American girls were at a window looking on to a court yard. Soon a seemingly old man crassed the yard. "That's the Marquis of X," said one of the girls. "He lives in a garred the house and lives by giving French leasons." "I'li begin leasons with him to-morrow," then said one of the youngest girls. And she did so. She soon perceived that her master was one of the most polished men she had ever met. He was not over thirty. Want and grief alone had lent him into premature old age, for he had so aged and sick mother to keep, which his earn-longs could not always do. What did our little American girl do? She quietly proposed to marry the marquis. I need not tell you how readily he accepted. This is the happiest marriace between a poor French nobleman, and a rich American girl do? But in what was this worse han the ceaseless r-petition of violent calmunies and meanest asperaious of character to which democracy resorted? That miserable assertion that Garfield was bought for $329; that DeGolyer beight him for $5,400; that he wrote the abourd and unscholarly letter in behalf of chinese immigration. The very use of such pitiable and vulgar means of triumph properly insured Garfield's election. An honest, intelligent gentleman, knowing Garfield's personal character, was ashaust to vote against him. It might be said that such a voter was influenced by these stupid, vicelus calumnies. One who had been forced by Garfield's learning and genius and public and private virtues to respect and honer him, though differing widely from him on political questions, could not afford to become Garfield's political enemy when these enemies made this disgraceful war sgainst a man who deserves personally any honor or office the country can beslow. COUNTY COMMISSIONERS COURT PAYMANTER TERRELL'S REPORT.

With the report of Gen. Ord, from which lengthy extracts were made yesterday, is embraced the annual report of Gen. C. M. Terreit, naymaster, showing the fiscal operations of his branch of the department up to June 50, 1889.

Total amount of momey paid to troops, $1,595.

The fotal amount of money pead to troops, $1,595.

The stoll amount of money accounted for and to be accounted for last $1,604,596.51.

To Terreit remarks:

Notwithstanding the abcommand to reach by mounting the second has been made by either officers or men serving on the frontier of Texas. The stoll amount of mose accounted in this account has been made by either officers or men serving on the frontier of Texas. The stoll missing the year, on official business, has been 57,519.

I have the honor, very respectfully, to recommend that the general commanding use his official indinence to secure such congressional legi-lation as may be necessary.

First To abolish the tax of twelve and one-half cents per month, now deducted from the pay of all end is red men in the army, for the support of the Soldiers' Home, at Washington.

It must be manifest, to those who are practically acquainted with the service, that not one man out of a hundred, who pays this tax, derives any personal benefit or advantage thereform. The United States makes ample provision for the confortable support of the seed and broken down officers of the service; why not, then, make provision at the Soldiers' Home for private soldiers laboring under like infirmities, without shifting the responsibility for the cost of their maintenance to the shoulders of their comrades in arms?

Second. To secure to the cultive men of the arms an issue of one pound of tobacco per shifting the responsibility for the cont of their maintenance to the shoulders of their contrades in arms?

Second. To secure to the enlitted men of the arms?

Second. To secure to the enlitted men of the arms?

Second. To secure to the enlitted men of the arms an issue of one pound of tobacco per mouth as a part of the established ration. The stoppages on the pay-rolls show that almost very-man in service uses tobacco,—a gravier, per centage, I doubt not, than use the ration of coffee. The most experienced of our officers agree in the opinion that the use of t-bacco in the army is highly beneficial to total at among securing a greater degree thous frontier service. This, a past in paying interest on scidiers' deposits, authority be given to calculate and pay such interest to actual date of payment, instead, as now, to date of discharge only. A man discharged on the frontier may be a month or six weeks in reaching a paymaster; or should he re-entist, in waiting for the bi-mouthly visit of the paymaster to cash his accounts. In the latter case, he may want to deposit his savings, and yet he is deprived of eny claim for interest during such interval, a though the money is, for the time, in the possession of the agents of the government.
