Another democratic victory - an admission made in Dallas. While there's life there's hope.

The Iowa republicans will meet in convention June 10, to nominate a state ticket. They are somewhat hopeful of electing it in the fall.

KANSAS CITY has a small pop source. After all, however, it may be only one of the numerous advertising agencies of that hazy-caroling Illinois. He's bound to be talked about.

A St. Louis man has been declared insane because he wrote bad poetry. If the writing of bad poetry is evidence of insanity, there is a pressing need of an insane asylum in this vicinity.

Does farming pay in western Texas? A farmer from Yorktown, De Witt county, brought in one hundred bushels of new potatoes the other day, and sold them for two hundred and twenty-five dollars.

PAT BREWSTER desires that negotiations be pending for the purchase of the House East and West road, by the Palmer-Sullivan combination. As Brewster owns the road named, he ought to know.

A LITHUANIAN named John Krovon, commenced a fast in New York Saturday, which is to last, it is believed, forty-five days. He is in no way discouraged by the failure of his fast in the morning.

Mr. ROTHS has given the assurance that within thirty days the International will have a station fifty miles southwest of San Antonio, and Laredo will be reached some time in October. This looks like business.

It is said that Cadé-Whittaker, if vindicated, will retire from the army to private life, and exhibit his earnings to the public from the lecture platform. This statement is calculated to cause a general demand for Whittaker's conviction.

The Lockhart Register is not doing much in railroad way, but is fairly splitting time on a boom for a wagon road from its town to Kyle. And the Register is right; the proposed road is an important one to the people of Lockhart and vicinity.

THE NEW YORK Times takes the monthly view of the pending senatorial contest in that state that an appeal to the people in the election of the legislature this fall would have some meaning, and that Cokking himself ought to decline an election by the present body.

If we get through the fine of the present administration all right, it will be fully demonstrated that friendship between the president and vice-president is not essential to our existence. Garfield and Arthur each turn over with late at the mention of the other's name.

WOMAN! It is an act of ordinary courtesy for one to get up - Hayes - to be president of the United States - what he thinks of the Cokking business - Nobody seems to know; nobody seems to care; but courtesy, my boy, courtesy is due to an ex-president.

It is now rather freely intimated that the new version of the bible published in the Chicago Times recently was peculiarly a new one - in fact, to a considerable extent a version by the Times itself, and will not, as a whole, do to swear by. That Times is an enterprising paper, though.

THIS is a free country. If vice-president Arthur desires to lower the dignity of a dignified high office by acting as a political henchman, especially to a man who is using every reason to break down and destroy the machinery of an administration of which he (Arthur) is a part, we presume there is no way to prevent it.

In response to the question of the Governor "Why not F. B. Stockdale for next term?" The Victoria Advocate says: "If you want a man with no sham pretensions, no degenerated traits and practices, no fence straddler, no persistent rewarder of political strikers, for your next chief executive, you do well to name that true and loyal son you have."

Our census at San Antonio has at last been able to arrive at the exact losses from the earthquake. The number of persons killed was 5,000 and the loss of property $12,000,000. The earthquake, it is now learned, was felt on the mainland, killing a number of persons there, and extending as far as Smyrna, where, however, no serious damage was done.

This building boom in New York City is one of the remarkable things of the year. The building permits issued since the first of January last contemplate a cost of $20,000,000. We would be admirably well satisfied with enough of that to build a $250,000 hotel in San Antonio this year. It would have more effect on our property than the $20,000,000 will have on that of New York.

The governor of Texas should see that the man Thomas, who committed the triple murder in Cook county, Monday, is caught if it takes the last dollar of the "cash balance" and runs the state in debt. Texas cannot afford to let him escape, no matter what the cost. To say nothing about duty in the matter, his prompt capture and punishment would be worth one hundred thousand dollars each to the state.

Boo, Pease made the press the special subject of prayer at his gospel evening Tuesday evening. While we are filled with a high sense of gratitude for our share of the consolation of the christian crusade, we cannot conscientiously impose upon the good man's time and effort, he should devote his prayers to the behalf of those who need them. We cheerfully yield our share to our contemporaries. Goodness knows they need it had enough.

So rapidly has the business between New York and San Francisco, by way of Panama, increased in the past two years that the Pacific mail steamship company has been obliged to buy two new steamers, and is preparing to have three more built. It is proposed that when the Southern Pacific railroad shall be completed, as it will be in a couple of years hence, some of this business will be done by rail to New Orleans. That is what is being said now about the California grain export to Europe.

"MARRIAGE" was the subject of the 19th issue, and an aged colored individual who appears to have a fine realization of the situation was heard by a Victoria to keep his promises perfectly clean and neat if his neighbor on either side, and only a few feet away, allows his place to remain filthy with health destroying filth. Let the feet go forth that every yard, back and front, shall be cleaned at once, and kept in that condition. Then those who are naturally of a cleanly disposition about their premises will be encouraged to greater exertions than at present.

Let a sanitary officer, person whose no one can expect of persons in the discharge of a duty, and who will be active and vigilant, and keep him constantly on duty until the unhealthy season is passed. With our naturally healthy city, if an epidemic of any kind, especially malarial, should break out, the city authorities could very justly be held responsible for it if they fail to take the steps we have here pointed out, and which, all must regard as one of their most important duties. We cannot be too careful of the city's health. We cannot be too severe in enforcing sanitary regulations. An excursion on the river through the city, by the council, might have the effect of causing much alarm.

NEW BRITAIN alleges himself with the stars, in so far as the present contest is concerned, and has a very lengthy opinion on the subject. He says Cokking was badly treated and could not do otherwise than resign; and as far as we can see, however, Butler presents nothing particularly new; does not show that Cokking had anything in his favor for resigning that he took leave with the president in regard to a certain nomination; and because the president would not yield him, "got mad and quit."

As an exchange, says the example of Tom Scott should stimulate the poorest to exertion. Tom Scott sacrificed many years of life to greed or ambition. For years his life was one of constant toil and care, and anxiety, and he had not time or opportunity to enjoy the wealth he amassed. He was stricken down while struggling for more; and to-day we would rather be the monarch of a barn-yard, gaily singing "Fair thee well, my old Mary Ann," while we pushed aside the obstructive dog to reach with a placid hand for the dark and treacherous morsel, than in Tom Scott's place. Scott's example falls to stimulate us.

THE ST. LOUIS St. Louis narrow gauge railway Co. propose to extend their line from Waco to the Rio Grande as rapidly as it can be built. A straight line drawn from Waco to Laredo would nearly touch San Antonio. The object of the road is to connect with the Palmer-Sullivan system and get a through connection to the City of Mexico, and the probabilities are great that the line will run through this city. It can scarcely be expected that the road, if built, will connect with the Palmer-Sullivan line, which will doubtless be made east of this city instead of at Laredo.

The probabilities are now that there will not be much time lost at the next session of congress on schemes to place General Grant on the pension list. With a gift of a quarter of a million, with $50,000 invested in the house of Grant & Ward, with an interest in several mines, with his St. Louis farm and real property in other places, with a good house on the city of New York, with a bank, and with good money and good health, and with good prospects, one does not see how much as lead of the railroad enterprise he resigned, the rest will be at the disposal of his family.

The Houston Post intimated that the Texas Express has been undermining the sanitary condition of Houston at the expense of its own locality. The office of this paper is in the city of Houston, and the intimation is a gross insult to the citizens of Houston who are engaged in the location of the medical department of the state university at that place. Now, Texas Express has no particular desire concerning the medical department of the university - would just as soon it was located at Houston as at any other place. San Antonio is entirely too healthy to make it a desirable location for an administration of subjects for the students to operate upon; and not expediting its location here, our interest in the matter ceases; but please do not run to us for quoting the words of the advocates of any city or town for the place.

The following statement, which is going the rounds, will interest some of our property owners, even if it does not have an effect upon the great short-sighted who think it a waste of money to build sidewalks. A few years ago, a man or two went up at Washington City from real-estate owners, that the street and pavement improvements were ruining them by the additional tax they must pay for them. It is a beautiful sight a century in advance of the time and requires money. This was the same state, stereotyped expression that we have heard personally in other cities. Well, to-day those improved streets in Washington are being lined with elegant brick and marble roadways, and millions of dollars are being invested on those blocks, and the identical property owners who complained of the "damnable tax" of $10 per foot, are now being readily sold at $100 to $175 per foot. This is the history of all such things; it will repeat itself. One hundred thousand dollars will be added to the value of Main street property by the completion of the new sidewalks.

A report has been started in Washington, to the effect that John G. Thompson, and a gang-of-arms of the senate since 1874, is behind in his money accounts with members of congress. The regular way for congressmen to get their money is from the United States treasury on certificates signed by the speaker of the house. For convenience, a custom has grown up for the sergeant-at-arms to draw the money from the treasurer on those certificates, and then the congressmen draw on the sergeant-at-arms as they need money. The office of sergeant-at-arms is conducted in the order of a bank of deposit for members. Thompson, as did his predecessors, would draw large sums of money, keep it on hand and cash the checks for members of congress when presented to him. It is said he kept his own pay and accounts along with all others, and in using money he had on hand he went beyond his own funds and is unable to meet the checks of congressmen who did not draw their pay up to the time. Thompson, however, who is in Cincinnati, Italy denies the statement, declaring no congressmen's draft was ever presented during his term without being promptly paid; that the whole report, in fact, is without any foundation.

The unusually large number of deaths in this city the past week or two treat will give the "thinking eye" on the city council, and that the result of their cogitations will be a peremptory demand that the sanitary condition of the city be put, at once, in the very best condition possible. There is very little encouragement, on the score of health preservation, for one man to keep his promises perfectly clean and neat if his neighbor on either side, and only a few feet away, allows his place to remain filthy with health destroying filth. Let the feet go forth that every yard, back and front, shall be cleaned at once, and kept in that condition. Then those who are naturally of a cleanly disposition about their premises will be encouraged to greater exertions than at present.

Let a sanitary officer, person whose no one can expect of persons in the discharge of a duty, and who will be active and vigilant, and keep him constantly on duty until the unhealthy season is passed. As an exchange, says the example of Tom Scott should stimulate the poorest to exertion. Tom Scott sacrificed many years of life to greed or ambition. For years his life was one of constant toil and care, and anxiety, and he had not time or opportunity to enjoy the wealth he amassed. He was stricken down while struggling for more; and to-day we would rather be the monarch of a barn-yard, gaily singing "Fair thee well, my old Mary Ann," while we pushed aside the obstructive dog to reach with a placid hand for the dark and treacherous morsel, than in Tom Scott's place. Scott's example falls to stimulate us.

THE ST. LOUIS St. Louis narrow gauge railway Co. propose to extend their line from Waco to the Rio Grande as rapidly as it can be built. A straight line drawn from Waco to Laredo would nearly touch San Antonio. The object of the road is to connect with the Palmer-Sullivan system and get a through connection to the City of Mexico, and the probabilities are great that the line will run through this city. It can scarcely be expected that the road, if built, will connect with the Palmer-Sullivan line, which will doubtless be made east of this city instead of at Laredo.

The probabilities are now that there will not be much time lost at the next session of congress on schemes to place General Grant on the pension list. With a gift of a quarter of a million, with $50,000 invested in the house of Grant & Ward, with an interest in several mines, with his St. Louis farm and real property in other places, with a good house on the city of New York, with a bank, and with good money and good health, and with good prospects, one does not see how much as lead of the railroad enterprise he resigned, the rest will be at the disposal of his family.

The Houston Post intimated that the Texas Express has been undermining the sanitary condition of Houston at the expense of its own locality. The office of this paper is in the city of Houston, and the intimation is a gross insult to the citizens of Houston who are engaged in the location of the medical department of the state university at that place. Now, Texas Express has no particular desire concerning the medical department of the university - would just as soon it was located at Houston as at any other place. San Antonio is entirely too healthy to make it a desirable location for an administration of subjects for the students to operate upon; and not expediting its location here, our interest in the matter ceases; but please do not run to us for quoting the words of the advocates of any city or town for the place.

The following statement, which is going the rounds, will interest some of our property owners, even if it does not have an effect upon the great short-sighted who think it a waste of money to build sidewalks. A few years ago, a man or two went up at Washington City from real-estate owners, that the street and pavement improvements were ruining them by the additional tax they must pay for them. It is a beautiful sight a century in advance of the time and requires money. This was the same state, stereotyped expression that we have heard personally in other cities. Well, to-day those improved streets in Washington are being lined with elegant brick and marble roadways, and millions of dollars are being invested on those blocks, and the identical property owners who complained of the "damnable tax" of $10 per foot, are now being readily sold at $100 to $175 per foot. This is the history of all such things; it will repeat itself. One hundred thousand dollars will be added to the value of Main street property by the completion of the new sidewalks.

A report has been started in Washington, to the effect that John G. Thompson, and a gang-of-arms of the senate since 1874, is behind in his money accounts with members of congress. The regular way for congressmen to get their money is from the United States treasury on certificates signed by the speaker of the house. For convenience, a custom has grown up for the sergeant-at-arms to draw the money from the treasurer on those certificates, and then the congressmen draw on the sergeant-at-arms as they need money. The office of sergeant-at-arms is conducted in the order of a bank of deposit for members. Thompson, as did his predecessors, would draw large sums of money, keep it on hand and cash the checks for members of congress when presented to him. It is said he kept his own pay and accounts along with all others, and in using money he had on hand he went beyond his own funds and is unable to meet the checks of congressmen who did not draw their pay up to the time. Thompson, however, who is in Cincinnati, Italy denies the statement, declaring no congressmen's draft was ever presented during his term without being promptly paid; that the whole report, in fact, is without any foundation.

The unusually large number of deaths in this city the past week or two treat will give the "thinking eye" on the city council, and that the result of their cogitations will be a peremptory demand that the sanitary condition of the city be put, at once, in the very best condition possible. There is very little encouragement, on the score of health preservation, for one man

EARNEST THOUGHTS

"Bill Kye" Talks to Young Men in regard to a Career

Young men, what are you living for? Have you an object in view as to life, and what are the means which you are using to attain it?
