Wheat Late Freeze Damage Mounts

"Bailey County farmers, along with a large number of farmers across the state, are finding major losses to their winter wheat," says Bailey County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley.

For the past week, research-

L.T. Johnson has announced the re-opening of the x-ray department at West Plains Medical Center.

Johnson said he has rolled the prices back to what was charged in 1980.

will be open 8-12 and 1-5, Monday - Saturday.

Thursday night, the youth of the First United Methodist Church invite everyone to an annual Maundy-Thursday celebration at the church.

The youth will utilize lighted candles, and one by one, extinguish the candles, until the entire sanctuary is in total darkness for a few seconds, signifying the darkness that came over the world with the death of Christ.

Myrtle Creamer is still a patient at South Plains Hospital in Amherst, in Room 214. She is expected to be hospitalized for several more days.

Visitors are asked to please limit their stay to only a few minutes, as she tires easily and rapidly.

Marine Cpl. Lincoln W. Snell, son of Gene A. and Janice L. Snell, Muleshoe, recently returned from a deployment to Camp Fuji, Japan, with 2nd Battalion, 8th training, Camp Lejune, NC.

The month long deployment was designed to train Marines

ers, along with county agents have been out in the fields, checking for damage. Damage to young wheat may not, and usually is not, apparent to the naked eye," he added.

This Friday, tomorrow, at 9:30 a.m., producers are asked to bring samples of their wheat to King Grain for analysis by the several county agents who will be there to check the wheat for freeze damage.

In order to have enough wheat brought in by each producer, Tanksley suggests that 25-50 plants per field should be brought in for analysis to help determine what Is dead or alive wheat.

During the morning, the visiting county agents will be on hand to check the wheat, and to answer questions concerning the potential for a crop.

In the first few days following nearly 24 hours of below freezing temperature, and with the low dipping to 7 degrees, it was thought that most of the damage would be to the tallest

Tanksley said research during recent days has disproved that fact, as even wheat grazed to March has been found with the tiny heads inside the stem had been killed by the low tempera-

It was pointed out that the degree of injury to wheat from spring freezes depends on the low temperature, the duration of the low temperature, and the growth stage of the wheat. In addition, plant moisture content and differences in elevation and topography within and between fields can influence the extent of injury. Wheat has little resistance to freeze injury once regrowth begins in the spring.

Temperatures of 24 F for two hours at the jointing stage can cause death of the growing point with moderate to severe

Man Injured In Pickup, Train Crash

You just don't race a train and wir, that is. Euladio Rodriguez Viorquiz, 28, who resides at the Labor Housing Complex really learned that the hard way late Monday night.

Viorquiz was the driver and sole occupant of a pickup southbound on Ithaca Street at the Muleshoe City limits shortly after 11 p.m. Monday night. He apparently failed to see a westbound AT&SF train and drove over the tracks in front of it.

The train's engine slammed into the pickup just behind the cab, ripping of a portion of the pickup and carrying it on down the

After the pickup was hit, it spun off to the deep ditch just to the south of the track and to the west of Ithaca

Several EMT's and a paramedic responded with an ambulance, along with city police, and several fire trucks operated by the Muleshoe Fire Department, the fire department washed down spilling gasoline from the smashed pickup.

Following emergency treatment of the accident victim who ended up lying on the side of the railroad embankment, Bailey County Ambulance Service transported him to Roosevelt General Hospital at Portales.

Viorquiz underwent emergency surgery late Monday night for treatment of lacerations to his liver, and other internal injuries.

Sgt. Richard Bonham said charges would possibly be filed pending further investithe meet, the Muleshoe High School Mulettes won second place with 128 points, but produced two district champs, and broke a school record along the way.

One dozen Mulettes also advanced to the upcoming regional meet in Odessa.

Qualifying for regional competition were Brenna Matthews, district champ in the shot put; and Amy Bean, who was district champion in triple jump. Amy also qualified in the high jump.

Other regional qualifiers were Debbie Isaac, high jump; Norma Castorena, 3200 meter run: Mary Lou Bastardo, 400 meter relay, hurdles and 800 meter relay; and Carissa Sanderson, 400 meter relay.

Also, Michelle Cox, 400 meter relay and 400 meter dash; Lisa Noble, 400 meter relay, 800 meter relay and 100 yard dash; Jennifer Green, 800 meter dash; Amber Green, hurdles; Letty Barron 800 meter relay and Amy Harrison, 800 meter relay.

Coach Jerry Johnson said the Floydada track team was first in the Tulia meet, and the Mulettes placed second.

Brenna Matthews was first in shot put at 33 feet, four and one half inches; Debbie Isaac set a new school record, and gained a second place with her five foot, two inch high jump.

Amy Bean tied for third in high jump at five feet and was first in the triple jump with 32 feet, eight and three fourths inches. Michelle Finney placed fifth in triple jump at 31 feet, one and one half inches. Norma Castorena was third in the 3200 run at 13:59 and JoAnn Gutierrez placed fourth in the event with a time of 14:23.

Mary Lou Bastardo, Carissa Sanderson, Michelle Cox and Lisa Noble had a second place in the 400 meter relay at 53:05. Jennifer Green was third in the 800 meter dash at 2:39.11 and Amy Alvarado was fifth in the event with 2:43.85.

Mary Lou Bastardo placed second in the 100 meter hurdles at 18.3 and Amber Green was third at 18.31. Lisa Noble was second in the 100 meter dash with a time of 13.49 and Carissa

Wheat .....

age to lower stems is common during the jointing stage. Frozen stems are shrunken and soft. Heads may develop normally in spite of stem damage. However, wind and rain can easily lodge plants with weak stems, decreasing yield and slowing harvest.

Head Damage: Injury to the developing head is most serious. This injury can occur even in plants that otherwise appear normal because the growing point (wheat head) is more sensitive to cold than any other Tanksley says to locate the growing point by splitting stems near the upper most node with a razor blade. A normal, uninjured head is bright yellow-green and turgid (swollen with water). Dead heads are shrunken and brown or discolored. As healthy heads continue to grow following a freeze, they become larger and more easily distinguished from dead heads. It may be necessary to examine the tiny heads under a microscope to be able to determine the condition of the growing point.

Nitrate Warning: Even with the growing point killed, the wheat plant will live and increase in height as stems elongate. Nitrate levels may increase to toxic levels as plants continue to absorb nitrate from the soil, but do not have developing grain to use the nitrogen. And, freeze damaged wheat used for grazing, hay or silage should be tested to determine the nitrate level and to avoid toxicity to livestock.

Seafood A Spring Food Feature

Excellent supplies of farmraised catfish, gulf coast sea-food and canned fish are coming in just in time to match Texans' yearning for seafood as the weather begins to warm.

According to reports from Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service marine and fisheries specialists, con-sumers will find the following fresh seafood available:

Texas grown crawfish are in good supply. Retail prices range from about $1.50 to $2.70 per pound, depending upon location in the state.

Farm-raised catfish supplies are excellent and should hit their peak in April. Regular prices range from about $2.20 $2.50 per pound for dressed whole catfish and $3.50 - $4.00 per pound for catfish filets. However, some stores have been running specials due to the heavy supplies, with prices as low as $1.79 per pound for dressed whole catfish and $2.25 per pound for filets. Of the gulf coast seafood, blue crab is in good supply. Blue crab is selling at 50 cents each live, $6 per pound for claw meat and $9 per pound for prime lump meat. casseroles, salads and other dishes where the crab is mixed with other ingredients the least expensive form will be the best

Other gulf coast fish available in the stores include snapper, grouper, fresh tune and shark? Shark fillets, in particular, can be an economical dish and have a firm texture well-suited for grilling outdoors.

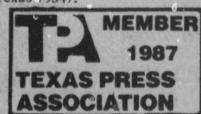

Extension nutrition specialist Marilyn Haggard says that when buying fresh fish fillets, look for firm flesh without signs of browning or drying around the edges, and a fresh and mild odor. Whole fish should have bright clear, full eyes and shiny

Fresh fish should, of course, be kept refrigerated, and can be frozen in moisture-vapor proof material for months, she adds.

"All crab meat is cooked before it is packaged and can be used without further prepara-tion," Haggard says, "but crab meat must be kept refrigerated. It keeps well up to a week in the refrigerator, but does not freeze well. If freezing is

At a somewhat lower cost, the specialist says you can also find a growing number of surimibased products, such as imitation crab and shrimp.

Made from a ground mixture of whitefish, surimi is sold in sticks, or in flaked or formed products that more closely resemble the seafood products they imitate. Check the label so you know when you are getting a regular product or a surimi based imitation, suggests Hag-

"Canned tuna supplies are especially good and many are featuring specials," she notes. "Tuna, along with salmon, are both good sources of Omega-3, fatty acids, the substances associated with a lower risk of heart disease. Haggard explains that all seafood is high in nutrition. A four-ounce serving of fish yields roughly one-third of an adult's daily requirement for protein, while contributing only about 110 to 130 calories.

It is also a good source of niacin, riboflavin and vitamins B6 and B12 says the nutritionist. Canned sardines and salmon, eaten with bones, provide calcium--as do ovsters and shrimp. Flouride, important for strong teeth and bones, is found in quality in seafood

Ten-Calorie Rule; More Permanent WeightLoss

A 140-pound woman will lose more weight and keep it off on 1,400 daily calories than she will on 700 to 1,000 calories according to a leading obesity expert.

Outlining a new concept in weight management at an American Dietetic Association new conference, C. Wayne Callaway, M.D., said the key if for women to consume no fewer than 10 calories per pound of body weight each day.

"While it's true the low calorie diets popular today will result in initially greater weight loss, much of it is water and in the long run that kind of severe regime predisposes you to binging. Most women end up going off the diet and gaining back more weight than they lost," said Callaway, who runs the obesity clinic at George Washington University Medical

'Using the 10-calorie rule you will lose more gradually, about a half pound of fat per week, which is just about right," said the physician. "Exercise and a balanced diet without depriving yourself of the foods you like is the best way to keep weight at reasonable levels.'

In following the 10-calorie rule, women should eat three meals a day, choosing from a wide variety of foods, including () vegetables, fruits, breads, cereals, low fat meat and meat

They should also consume three to four servings a day of calcium-rich foods, such as milk, yogurt, lowfat cheeses and dark green leafy vegetables to reduce the risk for osteoporosis.

Extremely low calorie diets fail because they cause a person's metabolic rate to drop 10 to 30 percent, which in turn causes the body to burn calories more slowly, Callaway said. Studies in both humans and animals show the metabolic rate drop is an adaptive reaction that probably evolved as the body's innate way of surviving famine. "There's more and more evidence that extremely low calorie diets lead to eating disorders such as anorexia nervosa and bulimia. They also appear to predispose women to further weight gain because the body becomes more efficient at adapting to low calorie intake each time you diet," Callaway said. "Every time you diet you lose less and gain back more."

Before beginning a weight reduction plan, women today should first determine if they even need to diet, Callaway, nothing that cultural expectations have put unrealistic pressure on women to be

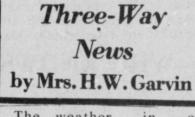

"Our cultural definitions of what is an appropriate weight for women are grossly distorted on the low side," he said. "If you look back 20 years ago, professional models and Miss America contestants were five to ten percent below average weight for women their height. Now they're twenty to twentyfive percent below average

That has been reflected in the recommended weight tables, which over the years have dropped for women but remained fairly constant for men. The Metropolitan Life Insurance tables were revised upward slightly in 1983.

'Yet it's men, not women, who are dying in the greatest number from weight-related diseases," Callaway said.

Women whose weight is in their hips or thighs -- the location most females carry extra pounds -- do not run as much of a health risk as those who have excess weight around their abdomens.

A.P. Sutton Funeral Services Held Monday

Services for A.P. Sutton Jr., 58, of the Oklahoma Lane community were held at 2 p.m. Monday, April 13 in Ellis Funeral Home Chapel of the Chimes with pastor Mac Bearss, of St. Jonn's Lutheran Church of Lariat, officiating.

Burial was in Oklahoma Lane Cemetery under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home of Muleshoe. Sutton died at 6:10 a.m. Saturday in St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock.

A native of Okema, Okla., Sutton was born Aug. 20, 1928, and moved to the Oklahoma Lane community 31 years ago

Local Man's Sister Dies At Lubbock

Funeral services for Elsie James Smith, 65, of Lubbock were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday, April in St. Luke's United Methodist Church with the Rev. R.L. Kirk, pastor and the Rev. Elton Wyatt, a retired Methodist minister, officiating.

Interment was in the City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of Sanders Funeral Home. Mrs. Smith died at 3 Sunday in St. Mary's Hospital following a brief illness.

Born in Josephine, she moved to Lubbock in 1935. She married James E. Smith on July 3, 1946, in Lubbock. She had been president of the Bayless Elementary School Parents-Teachers Association (PTA), the Lubbock City Council PTA and the 14th District PTA. She was the State PTA cultural arts chairman and a life member of the National and Texas PTA.

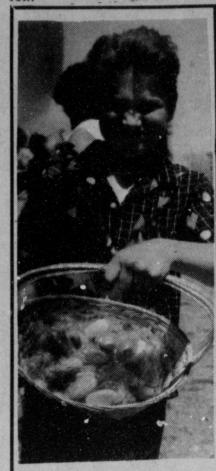

She was past president of the Altrusa Club of Lubbock. She was also the District Nine Outstanding Altrusa president and was nominated Woman of the Year. She was a member of the Lubbock Women's Club and the Lubbock Christian Women's Club.

Survivors include her husband, James E. Smith; two daughters, Saundra Overman of Enid, Okla., and Tami Satterfield of Lubbock; a sister, Jo Anderson of Lubbock; two brothers, Macon James of Lubbock and Willis James of Muleshoe; and two grandchild-

COLLEGE STATION - The Texas coast possesses a firm hold on the state's history. It's been home for cannibal tribes and home for condos (symbol of

"Cannibals and Condos: Texans and Texas Along the Gulf Coast" from the Texas A&M University Press is described by author Robert Lee Maril as a personal exploration of the coastline and the people who call it home.

Maril, a sociologist at Texas Southmost College in Brownsville and author of another Texas A&M-published work on the state's shrimpers, admits to being reared an Oklahoma landlubber who fell in love with the beach on trips to

Arguing that the Texas coast impresses and astounds the visitor with its immensity and vistas unbroken by manmade structures, Maril launches into a series of essays on people, places and

His book takes its title from the Karankawa Indians, often reputed to be cannibals but who Maril says lived in harmony with the land, and from the condominiums that have sprung up along the coast as a sign of a healthy business climate — elsewhere.

In Fashion

Very good and very strong for spring are drab green and olive green. Most attractive is an olive green dress with a full skirt and topped with a boxy, drab green jacket.

Cotton chambray separates are seen in cool blue. One features a shortsleeved, padded shoulder shirt, button-tab skirt with an added flair, the lace flounced petticoat in white.

Some designers are showing bathing suits for those who don't care for the very brief suit. These suits are seen in solid and varigated colors.
