Master of Ceremonies Kerry Moore introduced special guests including school board members and their spouses, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. The Muleshoe Rotary Club has made arrangements to present "The Elegant Magic of Fred Story" in Muleshoe. Bill Liles, president, said the performance will be presented on June 20 at 2 p.m. in the Muleshoe High School auditorium.

"The Elegant Magic of Fred Story" is a 90-minute program featuring traditional feats of magic.

Fourth Grade Class Clean-Up Volunteer

Fred Clements, chairman of the Clean-up and Beautification Committee, stated this week, "Friday will be a big day in Muleshoe in regards to the clean-up efforts that started last week by the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture."

During the past week, the Chamber office received a call from the fourth grade classes of DeShazo, offering their assistance with the efforts.

The students secured permission to help with this civic project as a field trip for their class. They will begin Friday, May 15, at 9:30 a.m. and work through 2:30 that afternoon.

Country Caravan Schedules Free Concert

"Country Caravan" the 1987 edition of South Plains College's travelling country music show, comes to Muleshoe on Saturday, May 30.

Showtime for "Country Caravan" is 8:30 p.m. in the new City Park. Admission is free and the performance is being sponsored by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

The 90-minute show of more than 30 country music hits is a program guaranteed to entertain the entire family, according to John Hartin, general director for "Country Caravan" and instructional coordinator of SPC's program in country and bluegrass music.

"We have a foot-stompin', hand-clappin' entertainment package in store for our fans, no matter if their toddlers or senior citizens," Hartin says.

"Country Caravan" is a product of South Plains College's unique two-year program in country and bluegrass music. Cast members include students in the program and faculty members who pick, sing and dance with a country flair.

"We aim, number one, for dynamic entertainment and showmanship in a high energy show," says Hartin.

"And, dynamic it is. Like a patchwork quilt, "Country Caravan" incorporates all the colorful nuances of country music, touching on the rockabilly style of Elvis Presley, to the western swing of Bob Wills, to the fiddle and banjo licks of Appalachian bluegrass, to country jazz, to country Gospels, to the contemporary hits of performers like Reba McEntire, Holly Dunn, Dwight Yoakum, Ricky Skaggs, and Alabama.

Highlights will include performances by the Caravan Brass, Caravan Cloggers, Caravan Band, and a team of talented young vocalists from throughout Texas.

"Our student talent is exceptional," says Hartin. "The success of our show lies with this talent, and we think audiences will not be disappointed in the music quality this year."

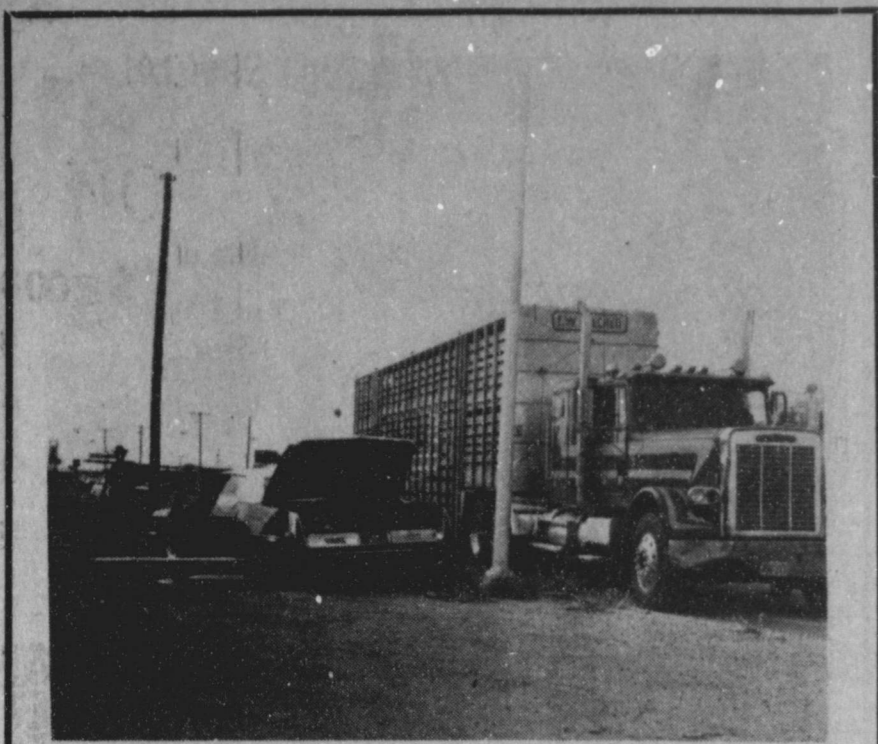

This summer marks the 11th year South Plains College has produced its country music road show. Through the years, the shows have played to more than 90,000 persons have logged more than 75,000 miles, spreading a country music theme from Amarillo to Harlingen, and from Orlando, FLA to San Diego, Calif.

In addition to its stop in Muleshoe, "Country Caravan" will be performed throughout West Texas and Eastern New Mexico this summer.

"We invite you to make plans to attend this performance and enjoy some of that good old country music," says Hartin.

May Is Electrical 'Safety Awareness'

May is Electrical Safety Awareness Month and Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) is reminding its customers to be especially careful around outdoor power lines and electrical facilities.

"In the spring, people spend more time outdoors," says Bill Greaser, SPS safety manager. "They're trimming trees, putting antennas on roofs, and moving ladders around. Any of these activities could cause a serious injury or death if a person should happen to come in contact with a power line."

Installing an evaporative cooler-- a common springtime task -- also is a potential hazard, Greaser says. "By the time you get your metal cooler up, you're usually standing in a puddle of water. But metal and water are both good conductors of electricity, so make sure your unit is grounded, like your washing machine is. And, don't plug the cooler in until everything is hooked up. If you have to make any last-minute adjustments, be sure to unplug the unit first."

Setting up summer irrigation systems can be hazardous as well, Greaser says.

"Metal irrigation pipe is an excellent conductor of electricity," Greaser says. "Moving a tall section of irrigation pipe or trying to dislodge an animal inside it could be fatal if there's a power line above you. That's why SPS urges farmers, ranchers, and anyone who works around electrical facilities to look up for safety. Be sure there's no power line above you before lifting any tall object into the air."

Springtime also is a good time to teach children how to be safe around electrical facilities, Greaser says. "School is almost out and the kids are spending more time outdoors. Teach them to stay away from utility substations and poles. Even if a kite or model airplane should get tangled in a power line, they should never climb the pole or try to get the toy down by themselves. And be sure they know to look up for safety before climbing in any tree if there's a power line in that tree, they need to get down immediately. That's not a safe place to play."

SPS offers a variety of electrical safety programs and materials to the general public, schools, employers, and civic groups. Your local SPS office can tell you all about these items.

Southwestern Public Service Company provides electric service to a population of about one million in a 52,000-square-mile area of eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the south plains and Panhandle of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas.

The voting will be done Tuesday, June 15. Citizens of the county have had two previous elections on county seat moving, each failing to order the change.

Amherst was located years ago near the center of that county so as to be able to control such a question on majority vote, while moving the County Capitol to Littlefield, outside the five mile center radius, requires a two third vote for favorable decision.

When operating full blast, officials said, the plant will use more natural gas than all the rest of Muleshoe put together, and will use more electricity than all other users combined.

She will prepare for her future through career exploration, community service, and skill-building and strengthen her understanding of herself and the world around her through the Girl Scout Pledge and Law.

Troop leaders and assistants will also be needed. If you enjoy working with girls-whether you have a daughter or not you are encouraged to get involved with the scouting program.

The Girl Scout Little Hut is available for meetings if you wish. There's training and books for everyone.

Troop activity is at a minimum during the summer, but fun days are being planned. A trip to the Muleshoe Wildlife Refuge is planned for June 6.

There's many areas to help with the Girl Scouting Program, leader, assistant, service projects, transportation, telephoning, camping, program consultant, refreshments, or share.

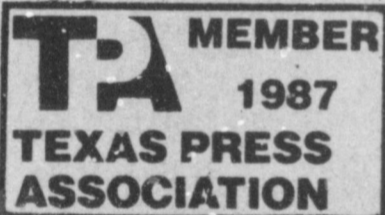

Those who make promises and keep them are worth watching.

It's time to finish plans for a summer vacation, hot weather isn't far off.

Texas 4-H'ers Plan To Travel Abroad

Three Texas 4-H members will be embarking in early June for six months of international living.

The activity will be part of the International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) Program.

Participating will be Dana Pendland of McKinney, Sam Waller of Breckenridge and Nola Jones of Poolville.

Dana will be traveling to Sweden, Sam will visit Portugal and Nola will spend her time in the United Kingdom.

As IFYE representatives, these young people will be living with host families and will be working with youth programs to improve language skills and pursue special interests, points out Dan James, 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

According to James, the program offers a unique opportunity for 4-H'ers to travel and live abroad and to gain a better understanding of customs and languages in other countries. After they return, the youths will relate their experiences to help bring about a better understanding of different cultures.

Dana is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. J.L. Pendland. The Collin County 4-H member is currently a sophomore at Eastern Oklahoma State Junior College. She was an IFYE ambassador to Australia in 1984 and has been active in 4-H activities at the club, county and district level.

Sam, a Stephens County 4-H member, is the son of Weldon and Barbara Waller and is a junior at West Texas State University. His 4-H activities have included feeding and showing livestock and public speaking. He also has taken part in the National 4-H Citizenship Shortcourse of Heritage Tour to Washington, D.C.

A Parker County 4-H member, Nola is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Jones and is currently attending Weatherford College. She has held every club office in 4-H and has been a teen leader for several project areas.

The IFYE Program is conducted by the National 4-H Council and is supported by the Cooperative Extension Service in each state, James points out.

Her books are Confessions of an Organized Housewife and Confessions of a Happily Organized Family.

Area Producers Invited To Insect Scouting Meeting

Cotton, corn and sorghum producers in the Panhandle and South Plains are again receiving a special invitation to take part in the annual High Plains Insect Scout Training Workshop to increase the effectiveness of their pest management programs.

The first of two workshop sessions will focus on early and mid-season pests and will be held Tuesday, June 2, at the Hale County Agricultural Center in Plainview. The center is on U.S. 87 Business Route south of the city.

The second workshop is scheduled for July 7 in Plainview and will cover mid to late-season crop pests.

The workshop conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, was first held in 1973 to train scouts in the pest management programs conducted by Extension, part of the Texas A&M University System. In subsequent years, it has expanded to include scouts employed by consultants, aerial applicators and others, as well as producers who want to learn how to scout their own fields for insects. The workshop focuses on perfecting skills in identifying crop pests and making timely pest management decisions which can protect investments and yield, and hold down production costs.

The workshop will begin at 8:30 a.m. with Dr. James Leser, Extension entomologist, outlining scope of the training. General concepts of pest management and sampling will be discussed by Dr. William P. Morrison, Extension entomologist. Aspects of pesticide safety will also be presented.

Leser will open the cotton pest section with information on thrips and the growth and development of cotton plants. Cotton fleahoppers will be discussed by Mark Brown, Extension Agent - Entomology headquartered at Crosbyton.

Greg Cronholm and Allen Knutson, Extension Agents - Entomology in Plainview and Dimmitt, will provide information on early and mid-season pests of sorghum and corn.

The workshop will conclude at noon with a hands-on session in which participants will learn how to determine the percent square set on potted cotton plants and will identify insect specimens. Handouts will be available.

Joey Heathington for the girls and Johnny Bevers for the boys.

Sharing top honors in cross country for the girls were Michelle Cox and Norma Castorena while Norman Perez added yet another certificate as Most Valuable Cross Country runner for the boys.

Presenting brief remarks to the assembled group was Muleshoe Superintendent of Schools, H. John Fuller.

He congratulated the Athletic Booster Club "for a great job this year."

The superintendent also told the young athletes, "Young people, we're here to celebrate with you. You have earned the title 'Young Men and Women' and the coaches, and your parents are proud of you."

"You've learned and you've grown, and in years to come, we're looking forward to what you've started this year."

He reminded the young people that "You Have To Dare To Risk -- Everytime You Dare, You Run The Risk Of Losing - But, You're Learning All The While."

MC Moore brought out many laughs with a reading about 'Recruiting Football Players,' as the group waited for the Senior Spotlight to line up.

One of the highlights of the evening was a video presentation, presented by Joella Flowers and Dale Hughes.

The duo had compiled a video on "Athletic Memories," which had nostalgia, humor and fun, all built into the same video.

rain?" which was the most popular question asked. He explained 'El Nino' the warm water current that moves into the Pacific every four to seven years, and said it is playing around in the Pacific again, and affects weather here until it affects weather across the United States.

He said El Nino will be affecting weather here until it slips back to the coast of South America for a few years.

The meteorologist also spoke of the semi-arid country we live in, and said rainfall for the year normally is around 17-18 inches, although it has been over 20 inches annually for the past few years.

Morelli also told the Rotarians how to spot potential trouble clouds, and how to predict more accurately what is going on in the immediate area. "The eye is still the most accurate fore-caster," he said. "What you see is what is happening at the time."

Reporting on the Rotary Conference at the Inn of the Mountain Gods near Ruidoso, N.M. last weekend was J.D. Cage, Rotary Governor-elect. He extolled the beauty of the location and the meeting, which was attended by approximately 200 Rotarians.

Rotary President Bi' Liles reminded the Rotary Club to participate in the current Clean-up and Beautification program and said Mike Chisum, representative of the upcoming Magic Show, is in Muleshoe contacting business and professional people to purchase advance tickets for children.

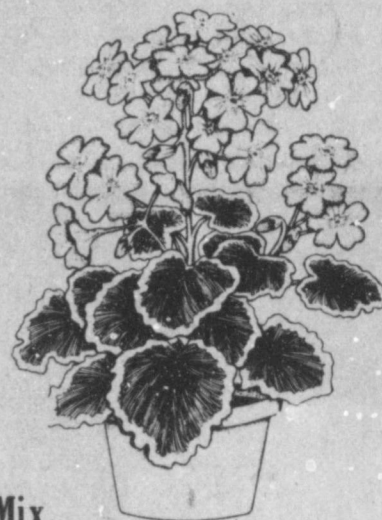

Guests at the meeting included Doug Poyner, Portales, N.M. and Clea Williams.

SPS Survey: 5,253,976 Cattle Fed In The Panhandle

In 1986 more than 5.2 million cattle moved through the feedlots, and 5 million were slaughtered in the packing plants located in Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) service territory, reports the electric utility's most recent annual Fed Cattle Survey.

SPS serves a 52,000-square-mile area in parts of the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, eastern and Southeastern New Mexico, the Panhandle of Oklahoma, and southwestern Kansas. The feedlots in the territory fed 5,253,976 head last year, a 3.5% increase over 1985, but slightly below the record 5,259,779 fed during 1984.

"This year is the third in a row that the number of cattle fed has exceeded five million," said Seth Thomason, SPS manager of agricultural and industrial power. "That's a good indication that the cattle-feeding business is here to stay."

Total one-time capacity of the feedlots surveyed in 1986 was 2,594,975 head, down from the total capacity of 2,619,775 head in 1985.

The annual stockholders meeting of Farmers Cooperative Gin Association of Sudan was April 30 at the Sudan school. A fish and chicken meal was catered.

Calvin Vernon gave the invocation. Following the meal, Gary Pickrell, president, introduced guests. A financial report was made by David Suddeth of Sudduth-Field & Co. of Muleshoe. Edward Fisher read minutes of the 1986 annual meeting.

An election was held for two directors to the association's board. Incumbent Bobby Carson was re-elected. Jerry Damron was also elected. A drawing was held with winning ticket holders receiving hanging plants, towel sets, a drill, fertilizer, oil and various other items.

Patronage stockholders then received checks on 1973 and dividend checks of the current year.

Public Comments On Draft Wild Horse And Burro Policy Sought

A draft program policy that would guide management of wild horses and burros has been released for public view and comment by the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Land Management (BLM). The policy statement covers all aspects of the program from management on public lands to removal and disposition of excess animals.

"We have recognized for some time that changes need to be made in the wild horse and burro program," said BLM Director Robert F. Burford. "Our emphasis must remain on humane treatment of the animals, but we also must consider their impact upon the public land resources that we are required to protect, upon other public land users, and upon neighboring private landowners, as well as the cost effectiveness of the program."

"Disposition of excess wild horses and burros is a key segment of the draft policy statement," Burford continued. "We have incorporated the Wild Horse and Burro Advisory Board's five-step process, which provides a wide range of options for placing the animals in the private sector."

The first four steps of the process are (1) the Adopt-A-Horse Program as it exists today, with adoption fees of $125 per horse and $75 per burro; (2) special adoptions at altered fees; (3) training of horses by prison inmates prior to adoption; and (4) adoption and placement of horses on privately funded sanctuaries located on private lands.

Under the fifth step, the Advisory Board recommended implementation of the provision of the Wild Free-Roaming

Horse and Burro Act requiring the destruction of unadopted animals. If an animal remains unadopted after it has been available for 90 days, it will be considered unadoptable and destroyed humanely.

"I voluntarily placed a moratorium on the destruction of healthy excess animals in January 1982," explained Burford. "However, we now have as many as 10,000 excess wild horses in holding facilities, which costs the Federal taxpayer about $25,500 per day or $9.3 million per year. It's difficult to justify these expenses when the law requires us to destroy unadoptable animals."

To recognize the wild horses and burros as a significant resource on public lands, the draft policy statement requires that they be considered comparably with other resource values during development of resource management plans covering herd areas. After appropriate management levels are identified in the plans, BLM will attempt to reach and maintain those levels within 2 years.

The draft policy also requires that management of wild free-roaming horses and burros be at the minimum level possible to attain the resource objectives stated in the land use plans, and, where private lands are intermingled with public lands, cooperative agreements with private landowners be sought before a herd management area is established.

A three-state priority for removing wild horses and burros is outlined in the draft policy: (1) removal from private lands upon the request of the landowner, (2) removal from public lands where resource damage is occurring or imminent; and (3) removal from public lands as necessary to maintain appropriate management levels.

The need for safe transportation of captured animals that minimizes stress and risk of injury to the animals is emphasized in the draft policy. A preference for using straight-deck trailers to transport wild horses is established.

The draft policy also encourages the involvement of humane organizations in monitoring the adoption program and inspecting adopted animals, and proposes to expedite transfer of title to adopters who have humanely maintained their wild horses and burros for a period of 1 year.

The draft policy statement is based on recommendations submitted to the Secretaries of the Interior and Agriculture by the National Wild Horse and Burro Advisory Board in December 1986. The Board, which held meetings across the United States to solicit public comments, is comprised of nine members representing various interests related to wild horse and burro management and the general public. Public comments on the draft policy statement will be accepted until May 22, 1987, and should be addressed to the Director (250), Bureau of Land Management, 909 Premier Building, Washington, D.C. 20240. Approximately 44,800 wild horses and burros currently roam public lands in 10 western States. Although planning is still incomplete, BLM estimates about 30,000 animals will be maintained on public lands. Most of the wild horses are found in Nevada and Wyoming; most wild burros are located in California and Arizona. Approximately 90,000 excess animals have been removed from public lands since 1973, and more than 70,000 wild horses and burros have been placed in private maintenance through the Adopt-A-Horse Program.

Great American Race Creates Much Interest

The INTERSTATE BATTERIES GREAT AMERICAN RACE is the world's pre-eminent precision-driving, controlled-speed, endurance race for antique vehicles manufactured before Model Year 1937. The field is limited to 120 vehicles and entries close May 1, 1987. Private entry - $5,500. Major-sponsored entry - $7,500.

This year's race will be contested over a 3,660 mile course, passing through 10 Sunbelt states for 11 days enroute to a July 10 finish at Walt Disney World, in Florida, after starting June 30th at Disneyland, in California. A record $265,000 purse is at stake.

There are 10 qualifying races, one each day, with daily winners paid cash prizes. Cars which finish at least nine of the ten qualifying races qualify for the Grand Championship Race July 10 from Tallahassee to Walt Disney World. The bulk of the prize money ($190,000) is at stake on that day.

Stops for food, fuel and rest will be made at about 42 cities enroute. Major overnight stops are San Diego, Phoenix, Albuquerque, Lubbock, Arlington/Dallas/Fort Worth, Houston, New Orleans, Birmingham, Atlanta and Tallahassee. Chattanooga is the northernmost part of the race and Tampa, Florida is at the southern extremity.

Competitors are given detailed instructions 30 minutes before the start of each day's race. These instructions tell them how to proceed to the day's finish point. Written with the assistance of state-of-the-art computers, they contain every speed and direction change and other detailed instructions. The intense concentration that they require must be achieved while driving antique vehicles at least 51 years of age-machines not equipped with power assists, modern braking and transmission systems or suspensions.

Contestants attempt to match the computer-scheduled time (not available to them), using only an analog stop watch, an analog time of day watch, the vehicle speedometer (its odometer is removed or covered) and a tablet and pens.

Contestants must also pass a series of unannounced check points during the day to certify their eligibility to be scored. Missing a checkpoint subjects the contestant to disqualification for the day.

Each second the contestant finishes off computer-scheduled-time for the day counts a point. As in golf and cross country, low score wins.

FFA STUDENT WINS TWO AWARDS--Brent Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Black, and a senior at Muleshoe High School, won district honors in Public Speaking in April, and followed this up with an Area I win in Amarillo this month. He will now advance to state competition to be held in July.
