Crude To Be 84c Bbl. Under Price Fixing Order

Government's Effort Effective December 1st—Will Add Nine Cents to Eastern New Mexico Crude—Gas Price Also Changed.

Oil men here believe the price fixing order of Secretary Ickes, issued Monday will give eastern New Mexico operators a price of 84 cents per barrel. The order effective December 1st, will give Lea and Eddy county operators an increase of approximately nine cents per barrel. The price announced for part of west Texas in the Permian basin and Lea county, New Mexico, was 84 cents. Since Eddy and Lea operators have received the same price schedule, it is assumed that Eddy county operators will get the increase also.

Gasoline Price

The following price schedule on gasoline will apply in New Mexico, it was understood here:

For New Mexico and other states in which the general schedule for differential does not apply, the following was adopted: To base tank car prices on 60-70 Octane, added:

For wholesale deliveries into tank trucks and/or trailers, 1 cent.

Deliveries into customers' storage by tank truck, 3 1/2 cents.

Retail deliveries through service stations, garages, etc., 6 1/2 cents.

Dealers handling gasoline of one company exclusively to receive 1-cent allowance from tank truck prices.

To base tank car prices on 50-59.9 Octane, added:

For wholesale deliveries into tank trucks and/or trailers, 1 cent.

Deliveries into customers' storage by tank truck, 3 1/2 cents.

Retail deliveries through service stations, garages, etc., 5 1/2 cents.

Exclusive dealers, 1 cent allowance off tank truck prices.

WASHINGTON—In the first government effort at pegging prices under the NRA program Secretary Ickes Monday night ordered minimum levels fixed for oil and its products, effective as of December 1, to prevent "competitive abuses."

Ickes, the oil administrator, approved recommendations of the industry's planning and coordination committee in his order, but provided that hearings would be held at the request of objectors.

The base level of 35 gravity mid-continent crude, in which class falls the bulk of the domestic production, was set at $1.11 a barrel, while the prices of other classes ranged up and down according to their quality, with a base of $2.15 for Pennsylvania crude of the Eureka grade.

Prices for these base grades have risen in recent weeks to slightly more than $1 and $2, respectively, as the result of federal regulation of production and sharp curtailment of the flow of oil to market.

The price schedules for crude oil at the following points are: West Texas and Lea county, New Mexico, 40 gravity or above, $84; Florence, Colorado, $99; Hog Back, New Mexico, $115; Isles, heavy, Colorado, $92; Isles light, Colorado, $107.

Red Bluff Dam Project Is Oked

An appropriation of $2,600,000 has been made by the federal public works commission for the building of the Red Bluff dam, situated just below the Texas-New Mexico line, it was announced last week. Work on the project is to be started soon and will employ between 500 and 600 men.

Specifications for construction of the dam have been prepared by Vernon L. Sullivan of El Paso, a former resident of the Pecos valley. The dam will impound 300,000 acre feet of water and forms a short line of fifty miles. The project is expected to stabilize the water supply for 140,000 acres.

It will take about two years to complete the project, it was said.

M. E. Baish was a business visitor at Albuquerque the first of the week.

CAPTAIN McDONALD IS HERE THIS WEEK

Captain H. W. Macdonald, world traveler and missionary, who has spent the past ten days here, Saturday held a story hour for the children at the Presbyterian church. Sunday morning he occupied the pulpit at the church.

In the afternoon, he accompanied the Rev. W. B. McCrory to Hobbs, where in the evening he spoke in the Hobbs high school gymnasium. It was a community gathering and there was not enough seats to accommodate the crowd.

Monday morning he addressed the entire Hobbs school group returning to Artesia with the Rev. McCrory, Monday evening. Yesterday morning he spoke at the Central school and in the evening he addressed a gathering of the general public at the Legion hut.

Next Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock he will speak at all services at the Methodist church. The public is cordially invited to all of these services.

EDDY FARMERS GET $48,202 IN COTTON CHECKS--44 FOR HERE

Growers to Get $54,786.50 on 112 Checks Yet to be Mailed—Checks Received Total 212—North Eddy Men Get Share.

Government checks for $48,202 were received Monday morning by W. A. Wunsch, county farm agent, for distribution to Eddy county farmers who plowed under cotton last summer in accordance with government cotton control plans.

This brings the total amount of checks received for that activity so far to $68,304.50, Wunsch said.

There has been 212 checks received so far and 112 are still out, which total 54,786.50.

These checks will go to pay off government farm production loans, Wunsch said, except in the case of farmers who did not borrow money for seed and other production needs last spring.

Forty-four checks for north Eddy county farmers were being distributed yesterday through G. V. Clayton, supervisor for this district at the office of M. W. Evans.

One hundred thirteen checks were received at this office.

RECENT RULING ON BEER LICENSES IS RECEIVED HERE

Late instructions received by the City Clerk from the State Board of Liquor Control supercedes all former rules. Clerks of cities, towns and villages are to issue individual purchasers license for beer at $1.00. This will go into the general fund to be used in general expenses. Clerks cannot issue license to those out of the limits of the municipality. In other words, except non-residents of New Mexico, those living outside the city limits of Artesia will have to get their purchaser's license from the county clerk. Those in the limits will get them from the city clerk.

No license will be needed to drink beer served with meals in places licensed to serve beer. Two cafes have made application for special license to dispense beer with meals. No regular dispenser's license have been applied for as yet.

THREE LIQUOR BOARD INSPECTORS ON JOB

The three inspectors appointed by the state liquor board to enforce the Lane liquor law on the job, having gone to Raton Saturday to get the cars purchased for them by the board.

Alfonso Baca has headquarters at Santa Fe; W. P. Cornell at Gallup, and Bill Robinson will have his headquarters either at Roswell or Carlsbad.

PLAYERS TIE FOR 2ND TWO FLIGHTS GOLF TOURNAMENT

Artesia and Roswell were the only two golf clubs represented at the annual golf tournament here Sunday, eight players from Roswell coming down to participate. Carlsbad had no representation. Carl Jones of Roswell won the first flight with a score of 110. Par on the twenty-seven holes was 108. J. Clark Bruce and T. C. Bird tied for second place with a score of 111 each. Mr. Jones was presented with a leather golf bag and the other winners with golf balls. Another Roswell player, Raymond Cornell, won the second flight with a score of 122. W. E. Kerr and J. K. Wallingford tied for second place with a score of 132. Winner of first place in this flight was presented with a stayless golf bag and the other winners with golf balls.

FIRE AT WAREHOUSE

The fire department was called to extinguish a fire at the warehouse of the Pecos Valley Gas Co., on east Main street, Monday afternoon when an acetylene welding machine caught on fire. Only a slight damage was done to the machine.

State and National Briefs of the News

May Have Inflation

WASHINGTON—The American government, it was learned Saturday on high authority, does not yet consider prices high enough to warrant stabilization of the dollar.

Although in many other respects the currency program remains in the "when, as and if" category, it was learned that present administration thought inclines to these beliefs:

That issuance of small bonds, definitely retirable out of the budget, for the purpose of retiring interest-bearing government bonds, would not constitute "greenback" inflation.

That it would be absurd to attempt in present circumstances to stabilize the dollar against foreign exchange.

Germany Withdraws from League

BERLIN—Germany boldly announced her withdrawal Saturday from the League of Nations and the world disarmament conference.

This she did because she refused to be a nation "of second class rights," Chancellor Hitler declared, and wants "equality and honor."

Hitler told the world the German government and people are "animated by no other wish than to help end the human epoch of tragic error, regrettable quarrel, and fight."

WASHINGTON — Government and banking officials hurried to translate into actual dollars and cents for depositors Monday President Roosevelt's plan for advancing approximately $1,000,000,000 on the assets of closed National and State banks.

The immediate federal job was completing organization of the deposit liquidation division of the reconstruction corporation which was designed by President Roosevelt to stimulate the distribution (Continued on last page, column 5)

U. S. COTTON MAY BE PEGGED AT 10 CTS

WASHINGTON—The Roosevelt administration Tuesday arranged for the purchase of approximately 1,000,000 bushels of wheat and completed its cotton loan program in moves calculated to prove resistance to recent falling prices of the two commodities.

Henry Montenthau, Jr., governor of the farm credit administration, announced purchase of the wheat at six markets through the farmers national grain corporation for the account of the federal emergency relief administration which will distribute it to the needy.

At the same time came announcement that the organization of the commodity credit corporation had been completed and would be ready by the end of the week to make available the first of its loans to cotton producers.

Loans of eight and ten cents a pound depending on the type of cotton, will be offered to producers of the unsold portion of this year's crop provided they join in the acreage reduction control program for next year.

JUMPING GRASS SEED FOUND AND IS DISPLAYED HERE

The sight of the so-called jumping bean is nothing unusual, but jumping grass seed is something new. W. Leslie Martin, had on display here Tuesday a jar of jumping grass seed. The seed were found near the Cap Rock by Mr. Martin and were such a curiosity he gathered a few and placed them on exhibit. The movement of the seed is constant. Heat seems to stimulate the movement, although the seed can be made to jump by shaking the jar. The movement is less noticeable when placed in a cool spot.

WILL ASK FEDERAL FUNDS TO BUILD A $20,000 HOSPITAL

Hospital Project Okeyed and Two Plans Drawn—Building Will Accomodate 15 to 20 Patients and Will be Modern.

Citizens of Artesia will ask for the construction of a $20,000 hospital under the United States Public Works program. Two plans have been drawn up for the proposed building. One plan is to be selected and submitted through the City Council, together with such other information as may be needed by the public works board.

The hospital building will be modern in every respect and will be large enough to accommodate fifteen or twenty patients.

Thirty percent of the cost of the hospital will be supplied by the federal government, the remainder of the cost will be supplied by city bonds to be purchased by the government at four percent. If the present plans are approved, sponsors of the project hope to lease the building and equipment for enough money to retire the bonds each year.

LATE RUN ON ADS MAKE CHANGES IN ORDER THIS WEEK

Due to the fact that we were late in getting in the usual advertisements for our first run this week, we found it necessary to make a switch, to get out at the appointed hour today. We call your attention to the advertisement of the Peoples Mercantile Co. dry goods department, appearing on page 3. Ads are news when they tell you what is new and that these news articles can be obtained at special prices. Peoples are featuring special prices on sport coats, swagger suits, black kid and suede slippers and children's boots. Turn to this page now and read the featured articles along with some other community news, bordering on the "sensational."

Inasmuch as cooler weather is here and hunting season not far away, another interesting announcement is that of Joyce-Pruit Co., page four. This firm can supply your hunting trip from guns to groceries.

THREE ARTESIAN WELLS HAVE BEEN PLUGGED

Three artesian wells have been plugged under the contract by E. B. Guess of Albuquerque with the Pecos Valley Artesian Conservancy board, and the equipment is now being moved to a location about three quarters of a mile further on where two more wells are to be plugged.

The three wells plugged are in the north part of the basin.

STILL BACK FIRE IS CAUSE OF BAD FIRE AT DAYTON REFINERY

The refinery of the New Mexico Road Oil Co., at Dayton, was completely demolished by fire at an early hour Monday morning. The blaze is believed to have started from a back fire in a still and quickly spread over the entire plant. The flames were so hot, volunteer firemen could not get close enough for effective fire fighting.

Col. A. T. Woods, a company official, estimates the actual loss between $10,000 and $15,000. There was no insurance. Col. Woods said plans had been made to rebuild the plant on the potash spur of the Santa Fe railroad, near the Getty pool.

900 REGISTERED

Approximately 900 unemployed of Eddy county have been registered with the U. S. Reemployment Service, O. H. Brown, manager, stated recently. Forty men have been given jobs in the county work, according to Mr. Brown. An office is maintained at Carlsbad in the court house with Dr. O. E. Puckett, county health officer.

Tentative Project For Paving Set Up Lately

City Council Approves Tentative Set Up to be Placed Before Public Works Commission—Project Includes 66 1/2 Blocks.

BULLDOGS KEEP A CLEAN RECORD BY DEFEATING HOBBS

The Artesia high school football squad was able to maintain a clean record playing against the Hobbs eleven at Hobbs Friday, emerging with a 26 to 0 victory. Thus far Artesia has not been scored on, but probably the hardest game of the season faces the boys when they go to Clovis Friday. In Friday's game, Hobbs took the offensive from the start and maintained it throughout the quarter, but lacked the punch to score.

The remainder of the game was Artesia's. Two touchdowns were made in the second quarter, the first on straight line plays and the second on a long forward pass from Champion to Rowley. In the beginning of the third quarter Champion went forty yards for a touchdown, but Artesia was penalized for clipping. In the last of the third quarter, Artesia again scored a touchdown on line plays and Chambers kicked the extra point. At this point Hobbs chose to receive and Corner kicked the ball over the goal line and another player fell on the ball to get the fourth touchdown.

It is proposed to use Santa Rosa asphalt on this project. The districts to be included from east to west are: Chisum street, 4th to Roselawn. Texas, 4th to 1st street. Quay and Richardson, 11th to 1st street. Grand, 10th to 8th street and Roselawn to 1st. Missouri, 6th to 1st street. Dallas, 6th to 1st street. Washington, Roselawn to 1st. Districts north and south, 10th street, Main to Grand. 9th street, Texas to Main and Grand to Ray. 8th street, Texas to Main. 6th street, Grand to Missouri. 5th street, Quay to Missouri. 4th street, Chisum to Texas. Alleys, both sides of Main street, 5th to 1st.

All of the 100 permits authorized by the state game department to be issued for the special elk season have been issued already, said State Game Warden Elliott Barker Friday. The season opens November 6. Hunting is to be restricted to the upper Pecos where it is reported the elk are getting too numerous.

ELK PERMITS ISSUED

4,550 POUNDS OF MEAT

The Artesia welfare board has been notified of the shipment to Clovis of 4,550 pounds of federal processed meat to be used in distributing to the needy this winter. More meat will be sent later. Facilities for distributing this meat will be quiet a problem for the local board.

TEACHERS MEET POSTPONED

The meeting of the rural teachers scheduled to have occurred at Carlsbad October 28th has been postponed according to County Superintendent H. R. Rodgers. The meeting was put off due to the state teachers meeting which convenes at Albuquerque November 1 to 4.

Messrs. H. S. Williams and D. I. Clowe were guests of the Carlsbad Rotary club at luncheon yesterday noon.

The order was issued shortly after Chairman Wagner of the national labor board had announced that he had received "assurance by telegram from the Ford company in Dearborn that the company is prepared to meet authorized representatives of their employees."

Secretary Perkins announced that more than 820,000 workers found jobs during September in the seventeen industrial and business groups reporting to the bureau of labor statistics.

The employment estimates for last month had placed the number of persons re-employed this year at 3,000,000 or more.

BEER FLOWING NOW

Only one Artesia cafe was selling beer this morning, the Folkner's cafe. Blatz draught beer was added to the list of drinks there late yesterday afternoon. One other local cafe has received its special license but has not stocked beer yet. So far only two places in two have applied for licenses to retail beer and no one has applied for a wholesale permit.

The Deer Season Opens Oct. 25th

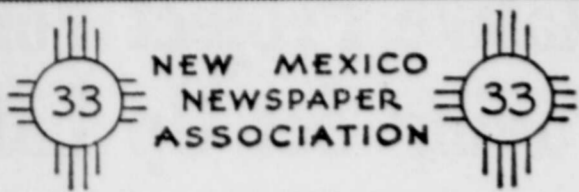

Duck season which opened Monday in the northern part of the state found many hunters in the field. It will run until December 15th. In the southern portion of the state, in this section, the season will open November 16th and will close January 15. The bag limit restrictions have been modified slightly this year. It will be twelve instead of fifteen and no snow geese will be killed. Other birds on the restricted list are ruddy ducks, buff heads and wood ducks. The goose limit is four. The season opened a week earlier than last year. The jack snipe season opened on the 16th, but the red jeltter day for the New Mexico hunters will be October 25th, when the deer season opens. The limit is one buck, with horns six inches or more. The turkey limit is two to the season. The squirrel limit is five.

CLIMBING OUT

Remedies have been applied the past eighteen months to bring us out of four unsatisfactory years that our grandfathers would never have listened to. Probably if the same kind of a period was experienced fifty years hence, new and unheard of radical ideas would be advanced. Remedies applied to bring about better times since 1929 have smacked strongly with socialism, but this was because of our complex civilization.

Forty years ago, the last major depression, there was still lots of free land left for the asking and the movement from the city back to the farm was a simplified matter. Today with all of the skilled laborers living in the cities and with scientific farming in effect, the problem of beating back to better times is a complex one. We have tried a new method of borrowing ourselves out of the difficulty, which ordinarily is a bad one, but so far nobody has suggested a better remedy and the one applied appears to be getting results.

A GOOD WILL TRIP

Fred Brainard, manager of the Chamber of Commerce has suggested this organization may sponsor a good will trip to the mine of the Potash Company of America over the new road. The suggestion of Mr. Brainard is a feasible one and one Artesia business men should cooperate with. Results of the proposed project may be difficult to measure in dollars and cents at the present moment, but a financial view is not the only one to be taken.

While results of our efforts in the construction of a highway connecting the potash mine with this point have been negligible thus far, the initial outlay has been small and now that we have a fairly good road, further effort expended in getting acquainted with the officials and workers will not be amiss and will take only a few hours time.

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE PROCESS OR EXCISE

Here's another view of the excise tax as expressed in the news sheet of the Consolidated Flour Mills Co., of Wichita, Kansas:
The excise on the people's bread now being collected by the federal government for the benefit of a small group of producers whose distress is less than that of millions who are forced to pay toll is inequitable, unfair and a gross abuse of the taxing power granted to the federal government by the states. It is a heavy addition to the cost of existence of those who pay and of doubtful or negative value to those few whom it is proposed to benefit. It should be repealed.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN

Editors of the western range states have just made a discovery, a discovery of who really is the forgotten man. Look at the cattle market and compare it with even a year ago and you won't have to guess. Not only is the cattle market lower, but the cattleman is faced with another problem brought about by the new deal, which may be new, but raw and that's this federal fence removal order.
While the government has been lading out aid to nearly every other class, the cattleman has been left out of the picture. Perhaps it's because he hasn't made enough noise.

VIRTUAL DICTATOR

Not all of the program of the present national administration has suited us, but we are still privileged to express our opinion about it. Over in Germany where a real dictator under the Hitler regime presides, no newspaper dares print an article derogatory to the government. They say Roosevelt is virtually a dictator, but he isn't a real dictator for when this time arrives, you as a citizen and this newspaper will accept the kind of government a dictator may see fit to give and like it. Dictatorship means the end of free speech and the free press.

Senator Watson, republican of Indiana has fired the opening gun on Roosevelt, making the claim he hasn't fulfilled his pledges to the people. Rather early in the game to make such a charge, when it required four years of Hoover's mistakes to get us in the shape we are in.—Tucumcari News.

The Tucumcari News remarks: "You'll not be hearing much about the nudist colonies for the remainder of the year." Yet, it looks like the boys and girls of the colonies will have to put on some of those hated clothes and join the NRA on the cotton and wool consumption.

The chap who asked for exemption from paying an income tax because he had fallen arches reminds us of the fellow who stopped going to church because the electric lights were taken off the wall and suspended from the ceiling.

It is said that members of the senate consumed 500 aspirin tablets at the expense of the taxpayers during the past year. But just think how many aspirin tablets the taxpayers had to consume because of the senate.

The author of the Lane liquor bill evidently did not intend for a rolling stone to dispense liquor or beer and made the selling requirement three years of continuous operation for any selling establishment.

Many people admit that honest is the best policy but the sad commentary is that it often takes an inquiry to make them realize it.

Most people are very pleasant as long as you don't try to collect.

Twins Are Out for Doctors' Degrees

University graduates at fifteen, star reporters at seventeen, and now candidates for doctors' degrees at twenty-one. These are just a few of the accomplishments of Helen and Olive Parish, pretty brunette twins who are enrolled at the University of Southern California as candidates for the degree of doctor of philosophy. They have already received their bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees and have spent six colorful years as "by-line" writers for Atlanta and New York newspapers.

STATE BAPTIST CONVENTION SUCCESS

The State Baptist convention which met at Las Cruces October 9-12 was well attended, there being 158 messengers registered the first day. Some of the out-of-state speakers were Miss Kathleen Mallory, Dr. Geagle and Noble Van Ness, all of Nashville, Tennessee; Dr. J. D. Sandifer of Abilene, Texas; Dr. Yearby of El Paso, Texas, and Dr. J. L. Henderson of Knoxville, Tennessee. Among the order of business attended to was the authorization of the reopening of Montezuma College at Las Vegas on a conservative basis as a junior college. Exceptional good financial reports with no recently accumulated debts were reported from every department of the work. During the revival season of this year 550 members were added to the churches of the state, 395 of these being by baptism.

Messengers sent to represent the local Baptist church were: Mrs. C. M. Cole, Mrs. W. A. Beard, and the Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Rowland. There is a possibility of Artesia being host of the 1934 convention to meet October 9-12 next year.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men
Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, dimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.
But don't take salts, mineral waters, pills, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.
Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decayed poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25¢ at drug stores.

HEALTH COLUMN

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

Neurosyphilis
The early symptoms of neurosyphilis are so insidious in onset, so varied in their appearance, that the disease often goes unrecognized for years.

Often the first thing noticed is a disturbance of vision, a car approaching from the right is inexplicably invisible to the afflicted driver; accidents have been caused on the railroads by the sudden inability of an engine driver to distinguish his signals.

Sometimes there are shooting pains which are called "neuralgia" or if they occur in the abdomen may be labeled "indigestion" or even "appendicitis." There may be numbness or a burning sensation. Sometimes the first thing noticed is loss of muscular coordination; the patient stubs his toes, falls over the carpet, or bumps into other people on the sidewalk.

These are a few of the early symptoms. Little things they may be, but they sometimes lead to big accidents, and are the forerunners of that dread insanity which is the last and most horrible phase of syphilis.

In neurosyphilis the blood Wassermann reaction is frequently negative. Fluid obtained by puncture of the spinal canal usually reveals the true state of things.

Until recently syphilis of the nervous system was considered incurable. Then a doctor in Vienna discovered that some cases were cured by fever and began to give malaria to cure syphilis. Now an artificial fever can be induced by an electrical apparatus. Cure cannot be guaranteed, but in many cases there is apparent recovery. Better, however, is the discovery of syphilis in its early stages before the nervous system is affected. Better still is the prevention of syphilis through education.

LAME DUCK AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON—The twentieth amendment to the constitution abolishing the so-called lame duck session of congress became effective Monday with two unique records in American history.
Besides changing the date for the inauguration of the president and the beginning of congressional sessions, it establishes a record for being the only change in the constitution that had the unanimous approval of the 48 states. Speed set another mark. Sponsored by Senator Norris, Nebraska, republican-independent, it was passed by the senate six times before the house had a chance to vote on it. For a decade, republican house leaders blocked a vote because it provided for two indeterminate sessions of congress each two years, but after the democrats took over that branch in December, 1931, it was approved.

DR. MAYO PREDICTS LIFE TO PROLONGED BY DEATH RAY

CHICAGO—A death ray, not to destroy life, but to prolong it, was visualized by Dr. Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Minnesota.

"After the war," he said, "we read a great deal about the death ray which in future conflicts would destroy armies and sink battle-ships. Of course, that is one of those things we shan't believe until we see it. But we will soon make greater use of the knowledge we now have of the electrical activity of bacteria, by learning to destroy them with opposing death dealing wave lengths of radium, X-rays or various forms of electric waves developed for this purpose."

Dr. Mayo spoke last week before a community health meeting arranged by the American College of Surgeons.

Another speaker—Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, said man may expect that science "will reveal the nature of life and with it the physical nature of mind and personality."

"These expectations," he asserted, "are based on the achievements of chemistry and physics. The biochemist has been able to construct many of the compounds of which the body is made, and surely the end is not yet."

CHAMBER COMMERCE CONDEMNS STREET FAIRS--CARNIVALS

The board of directors of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce in session Monday evening, unanimously passed a resolution, condemning street fairs and street carnivals. The text of the resolution addressed to the Mayor and City Council follows:

WHEREAS, the Artesia Welfare committee is a committee appointed by and is responsible to the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, and

WHEREAS, the Artesia Welfare committee, by its work in the past, is recognized as one of the outstanding welfare committees in the state of New Mexico, and

WHEREAS, the Artesia Welfare committee has disbursed during the past year between ten and twelve thousand dollars to our indigents, and

WHEREAS, they are in constant touch with the needs of the indigents of our community, and

WHEREAS, street carnivals and fairs attract those same people whom the Artesia Welfare committee has attempted to help, and

WHEREAS, the Artesia Welfare committee has recommended to the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, in strenuous terms, that street fairs and street carnivals are a detriment and a liability to the City of Artesia inasmuch as it effects the labors of the Artesia Welfare committee directly, and

WHEREAS, in their opinion the benefits to be derived from a street fair or carnival are negligible, compared to the suffering that will be caused to some indigent families, and the work of the Welfare committee that will be undone, now,

THEREFORE, the Artesia Chamber of Commerce wishes to go on record as condemning any and all street fairs and street carnivals in the City of Artesia until such time as the present emergency may be passed.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Mayor and to the City Council.

Love and Salesmanship

By FRANCES COWLES

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNSU Service

JUSTINE CARR was certainly not made of the stuff whereof good salesmanship is compounded. But it was absolutely necessary for her to work that summer, and the only job available that promised more than a bare living was this job of taking orders for women's gingham dresses. It was in the real country where she got most orders, but there she had to walk endlessly to get to the next house. Really, she ought to have had a flyer.

One very hot day in June she was "doing" the country section near Melrose. She had spent a day and a half without a single order and she had to pay for a night's lodging in Melrose besides. Justine wore a fresh pink frock herself. One of the sort that sold for $2.98. She looked so fresh and pretty in that inexpensive dress that women seemed to want to buy one like it.

But the woman at the last farmhouse had slammed the door in her face, and she had walked a good half mile to the next house. She rang an old-fashioned doorbell. After waiting quite a while the door was opened and there appeared a very warm-looking young man, holding a frying pan in one hand and a broom under his arm.

"Good morning," said Justine, using the most ingratiating tone of voice. "May I have just a word with your wife?"

"You could if I had one," said the young man bluntly.

"I should have known," said Justine—"then the lady of the house."

"The lady of the house, if that's what you call her, has gone to Europe. Personally, I think she was no lady."

"Maybe there's some other lady here," purred Justine. "You see, I'm taking orders for gingham dresses. This is one I'm wearing—it costs only $2.98."

The young man whistled. "Gee," he said, "it looks like a hundred dollars to me. But I'm sorry there isn't a lady or a woman in the whole house."

"Well, I'm sorry," said Justine, throwing aside her suave manner. "About how far is it to the next house in that direction?" She waved her hand toward the dusty road beyond. Meanwhile she sat down her portmanteau and mopped her brow with a dainty handkerchief.

"About a mile," said the young man. "You don't mean you're taking it on foot! Great Scott!"

"Oh, I don't mind the walk—only no one seems to want to order any dresses."

"That certainly is a fine dress you're wearing," he said, and then: "Say, it occurs to me that maybe I might order some—I know my sister would like them. You come on in and get a drink of ice water."

"You see, my sister wanted to go abroad with her husband," the young man called from the kitchen while he was getting the water, and then resumed as he came in the living room, "and she asked me to come out and hold the house down. She had a cook and another girl—said they had promised to stay. You see, there are three children. Well, I was going to spend three months writing a survey of an expedition I took in South America last winter. I thought I could do my work here as well as anywhere. Well, I managed all right until last week. Then the girls had a row with each other and it ended by their both leaving. They hate it off here in the country. I can't get anyone to come out and help me for love or money. I'm doing all the work."

There was a pause and then the young man and Justine spoke at once, and each said, "I was thinking—"

Peter said that he was thinking that he could get away long enough to drive Justine up to the next farm house. It was a shame to think of her walking on such a day; and Justine said with some confusion that she was thinking that if Peter really did need a woman to work for him she would be willing to take the position. "I can cook and wash dishes and look after the children," she said.

So Justine stayed. She just took off her hat and went out into the kitchen, found an apron and began washing dishes. Later she sent home for a few belongings. Peter insisted on paying her the salary that had been left for the two maids who had departed—because as a matter of fact she was doing as much as they both had done—and Peter was left undisturbed to work on his survey. Only sometimes he chose to go into the kitchen and dry dishes for Justine. One day he told her he loved her. He finished drying a plate and then said he wanted to marry her. Justine went on washing dishes. Then he put down the dish and pulled her away with his hands all covered with soapuds and dripping with water, and held her in his arms.

"But just think what a shock it would be to your sister to come home and find that you'd got engaged to the cook."

"Well, then, let's spare their feelings. Let's get married—and when they get home I'll just say that I got married and my wife came home to help hold the house down."

Birds' Busy Courtship
An elaborate display of plumage is used by some birds in courtship. The peacock is a well known example of this. The male turkey is seen "strutting" in the barnyard, and in the fields are the Ruffed Grouse, the Pheasant, and the Nut-hatch, displaying their finest colorations to the females of their kind. The Woodcock and the Horned Lark supplement these displays with various other antics such as dances and aerial evolutions in order to attract the females. After the females have been won, the pairs settle down to home building. Most birds live in pairs. The English sparrow is polygamous, however, and mates with many females. Certain birds seem to mate for life, while others seem to select new mates each year.—Missouri Farmer.

Peculiarities of Sheep
Domesticated sheep do not revert to wildness if offered the chance. They will always return to the pens in which they were born. A young ewe, thrilled with new motherhood, sometimes will starve her baby to death—will not allow him to suck her milk—in her ecstasy over it. She simply will not cease licking it and will not allow it out of her sight. It is almost impossible to make any sheep take a step backward. A flock of sheep descending a hill will not go straight down, but always take a diagonal course. They prefer to drink from a tiny stream of running water rather than from a big tank of still water or from a generous stream.—Los Angeles Times.

Honor Swedenborg
The Swedenborgians follow the religious precepts of Emanuel Swedenborg, a renowned Swedish mystic, scientist, philosopher and theologian who lived, studied and preached two centuries ago. They do honor to his mechanical inventions, which included plans for submarines and arguments to his scientific works, which were essentially concerned with mining; and to his political theories which led him as a member of the Swedish House of Nobles to support the right and the useful in opposition to the anarchic and the despotic.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The Woman's club met in regular session at the Central school building Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Martin Yates, president, presiding.

Following a business session in which reports were made, delegates to the state convention at Albuquerque last week gave briefs on the high spots in the convention. Mrs. Corbin, state chairman of music, was very enthusiastic in her report on national and international subjects discussed by women and the Navajo Indian demonstration. Mrs. Willis Morgan, delegate, told of new life in the club which is being brought in by the organization of junior clubs. Mrs. Brainard, state chairman of the Harriet Donahue student loan, reported on the publicity dinner and welfare work of the federation. Mrs. W. E. Flint, delegate, gave a general report of the convention as a whole and concluded with the remark that the keynote theme of the entire convention was the N. R. A.

Fred Brainard, president of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the ladies and appealed to the women of the community to do their part in the N. R. A. program. He stressed the fact that if the plan works, the consumer must do his part. Mr. Brainard also urged that women neither hand out food nor clothing to those who ask for it at their doors. When that is done, you are doing your part to make professional beggars. Send them to the welfare department of the chamber of commerce, every need will be taken care of, however, if they are able-bodied they must work for the necessities received.

With only a few minutes of time left, just a few of the high spots were given in the program on a "Century of Progress," by a number of those who had attended.

A fair sum was netted for the church treasury, and a general good time had by the entire group. At a late hour a delicious refreshment plate was served from quarter tables.

11:00 a. m. Sunday service.
"Probation After Death" is the subject of the lesson-sermon on Sunday, October 22nd, at Christian Science Society, this city. The golden text is from Revelations: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them."
One of the scriptural selections in the lesson-sermon is from 12th chapter of Daniel, 10th verse: "Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried; but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand."
A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook states: "Progress is born of experience. It is the ripening of mortal man, through which the mortal is dropped for the immortal. Either here or hereafter, suffering or Science must destroy all illusions regarding life and mind, and regenerate material sense and self."

AN OPEN LETTER

To The American Legion, Artesia, New Mexico.

This letter is prompted by the presence of the carnival in our town last week—an organization which was presented and sponsored by the local Legion.

"To err is human" and the Legion has proven its humanity in this instance. But often when no voice of protest is raised, an order feels that the public does not care, or reads in their silence, approbation. In this case there is no approbation. A decided protest is in order. A serious mistake has been made.

We now know that women and children are to suffer as a result of the carnival being here. The Community chest will have added burdens laid upon it. The loss of confidence in man, on the part of some, is a disillusionment that needed not to have come at this time and in this way.

No doubt the Legion had in mind only the clearance of debt and never anticipated the ugly details that developed. The full responsibility for the blunder does not rest with the Legion but must be equally shared with the City Council who issued the permit and thus, became identified with the nefarious gang in the practices which obtained.

Now it is argued that the carnival would have come to town anyway and the Legion might just as well get a certain percent of the profits as not for some one or some order would.

Again it is said that the carnival would have come to the edge of town if the Council had not permitted them the right to come inside. But that is not true. The last legislature imposed a license fee of $200.00 per day for such a privilege outside a city limit.

Now the American Legion is a fine organization. It has a great challenge before it for future service. It can be a great and positive force for good in any community but to do so it must think clearly, reason logically and act courageously. It must place public interest ahead of its own private interest. And when it does that the public will welcome it with open arms and follow willingly in its lead.

We believe that the Legion recognizes that a mistake was made and that it will do all in its power to see that such a thing is impossible in the future and that they will join hands with other local moral forces to work for the good of all the people all the time. So, on that basis let's forget the past and strive for a nobler future.

Sincerely,
W. B. McCrory.

Victim Of A Great Wrong

The child who is subjected to eye-strain by poor lighting at home is the victim of a great wrong.

During the first seven or eight years a child's eyes are in state of development. If they are overstrained during this formulative period an impairment of vision is likely to result that will handicap the child throughout life.

Nearsightedness, squinting, undue fatigue, bad posture, are often due to eye-strain in childhood, and poor light is one of the most common causes of eye-strain.

If you have children in your home, guard their eyes by providing good lighting, electricity and lamps are so inexpensive that impairing eyesight by trying to get along with less light than is needed is a tragic mistake.

Have your electric dealer explain good lighting, and protect that school boy's or girl's eyes.

Fear Criminals May Escape Justice If New Law Enforced

It's possible for a criminal to escape trial altogether in New Mexico, filing affidavits alleging prejudice on the part of one after another of the nine district judges, under Chapter 184, laws of 1933, the constitutionality of which has just been upheld by the supreme court, in the opinion of many outstanding lawyers.

There are others who view it differently. This law, passed by the recent legislature, provides that any party to a criminal or civil action may disqualify a judge simply by filing an affidavit that he believes the judge cannot give him a fair trial. No allegation of facts to support the affidavit is required; all the party has to do is say he believes the judge cannot give him an impartial trial.

When a judge is thus disqualified, the law provides, the chief justice of the supreme court shall designate another district judge to act in his place if counsel cannot agree upon one. Many able attorneys contend there is nothing to prevent a party's filing another affidavit against the judge designated in the first place, another against the next judge named and so on until he has rendered all nine ineligible.

It is said, however, that former Governor A. T. Hannett contends this cannot be done. He is said to have admitted paternity for the new law which was introduced in the senate by Senator Clarence F. Vogel of McKinley county.

There is a provision in the law that such an affidavit has to be filed 10 days before the term of court. It would appear that this would bar the filing of an affidavit against a judge designated by the chief justice. However, many lawyers take the view that the spirit of the law is so strong that it may overcome this provision. They say the supreme court may hold, if the question is brought up again, that the 10 days' notice is not required.

In the case in which the supreme court upheld the validity of the law it was argued that it would be possible to render all nine of the state's district judges ineligible to try a case. The court, however, did not rule on this point.

It has been pointed out also that a man might evade trial for a long time in a county that is financially able to hold a term only once every two or three years. He could file an affidavit 10 days before the opening of the term; then take the same action against each of the judges designated to act in his place, if the procedure is held to be permissible.

District Judge James B. McGhee ordered the matter turned over to the state board of public welfare which will report back to the district court.

THE COTTON GRADE AND STAPLE REPORT

The feature this week of the cotton classes from Arizona, New Mexico, California and Texas District 1, is the sharp drop in percent of good middling extra white, and the increase in strict middling and middling extra white and in spotted cotton. More than 90 per cent has been classed as good middling and strict middling extra white, with less than 10% middling extra white and spotted. Staple lengths as a whole declined slightly over last week, especially in the lengths 1-1/16 inches and longer. California and New Mexico showed some improvement.

Of the cotton classed this week, strict middling extra white and better accounted for 77 per cent of the receipts from Arizona, 92 per cent from New Mexico, 91 per cent from California, and 95 per cent from Texas, district 1.

Spotted cotton accounted for 16 per cent from Arizona, 7 per cent from New Mexico, 9 per cent from California and 5 per cent from Texas, district 1.

The report on staple lengths for Arizona this week shows 98 per cent of the cotton was 1 inch and longer, for New Mexico 92 per cent, for California 94 per cent, and from Texas, district 1, 94 per cent. The predominating staple lengths were 1-1/16 and 1-3/32 inches in all of the states except Texas, where 1 inch and 1-1/32 accounted for the largest percentage. Cotton 1-1/8 inches and longer increased over last week in New Mexico only. The other states showed a decrease in per cent of these lengths.

WANT $5,000,000 APPROPRIATION

Five million dollars over and above previous appropriations is to be asked of the government for the relief of needy people in New Mexico through a third class highway program, which will improve roads in the back counties and prevent a "dole" for the poor country people, according to an announcement made at Santa Fe last week.

The idea is supported by a number of the public works board, the state highway department, the governor, U. S. Senators Cutting and Hatch, Congressman Dennis Chavez.

The highway commission passed a resolution approving the plan, submitted by Cyrus McCormick, and Governor Hockenbush said he would make the application. The recovery legislation leaves the way open for the president in his discretion to authorize additional highway appropriations. The program includes some work already considered in the secondary highway program.

Trade for New Orleans Was Completed in 1804

When Robert R. Livingston approached France to negotiate for west Florida, and if possible the island of Orleans on which New Orleans stands, his instructions mentioned no land west of the Mississippi river. However, Napoleon, who needed money to advance his continental schemes and was unable to protect his Colonial empire in America, offered the entire colony of Louisiana to the United States for 600,000,000 francs and an agreement that the latter would assume whatever claims American citizens held against France. The transfer was completed in 1804, and one hundred years later the event was celebrated by an exposition at St. Louis, where the transfer of upper Louisiana had been consummated.

A postage stamp issue was authorized, and early suggestions for portraits to adorn the issue included those of Louis XIV, after whom the colony was named, and Napoleon, who transferred it to the United States, but it was decided to limit the portraits to Americans who took part in the transfer, with the addition of that of McKinley, who signed the bill creating the exposition.—Chicago Tribune.

Pipe Organ Builders Do Not Hurry Manufacture

Few persons who listen to pipe organs realize the vast amount of hand labor required to construct the intricate mechanism. The manufacture of organs is one of the few industries which have not succumbed to the machine age. Highly skilled workmen are required to produce the instruments. Example of the care which is taken with each organ is shown in the fact that one company has turned out only 1,500 organs in 78 years of existence.

Organ manufacture is a long, slow process, during which each of the more than 3,000 pipes, ranging in length from 1/2 inch to 64 feet and in diameter from 1/4 inch to 3 feet, must be tested for tonal qualities. Then there is the matter of fitting together the thousands of pieces which go to make up the console, which operates the pipes. Practically the only change in organ manufacture in the last 500 years has been the application of electricity to the mechanism.

Diamonds

The diamond is the hardest and most brilliant of precious stones. It is composed of pure carbon and unlike most minerals occurs in single crystals. The rarest are colorless but diamonds also occur in yellow, gray, blue, green, red and black. Impure crystals and fragments are called bort and are used for polishing and cutting the stones. Before they are polished they look like gray stones. In addition to their use in jewelry, diamonds are used for engraving, in mining drills, and watch bearings. On account of their rarity, diamonds have played a large part in the romance of precious stones. The largest diamonds are Koh-i-noor, Star of the South, found in Brazil; and the greatest of all, the Cullinan, among the British crown jewels.

SPORTSMEN URGED TO RECOVER DUCKS

Pointing out the tremendous annual wastage in ducks and geese crippled or killed during the open shooting seasons and never recovered, W. C. Henderson, associate chief of the bureau of biological survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in a statement issued Saturday, on behalf of both the advisory board, migratory bird treaty act, and the bureau, urged American sportsmen to unite in a campaign to reduce these losses. The statement follows: "Authorities estimate that for every two ducks killed and brought to bag, at least one bird is crippled and probably lost. This becomes appalling when it is realized that probably 15,000,000 ducks are counted into the bags of American gunners each season. It means that at last 7,500,000 birds are crippled and lost. They are not included in the gunner's bag, and they are not included in the number of birds that return north to rear young. In such cases the stock of breeding birds is thus seriously decreased without any resulting benefit, except to the creatures that prey on the unfortunate cripples. "Every gunner should make conscientious efforts to recover his wounded birds. Those acquainted with the wildfowl situation are genuinely concerned over the relative scarcity of these birds, caused by overshooting and by a series of disastrous breeding seasons due to long-continued droughts. Every sign plainly indicates that the future of the sport of duck shooting depends entirely upon our ability to protect now the diminishing supply of breeding birds. Federal and state conservation authorities are applying emergency measures by restricting open seasons and reducing bag limits. It is strange that, with these evidences before their eyes, so many individual gunners make only half-hearted efforts to find and retrieve their crippled game. If, on the other hand, every gunner will do his utmost—will in fact make it the first rule of sportsmanship to recover his wounded birds—the number of breeding birds going north in spring will be larger by several millions than will be the case if this appeal is ignored."

How to Store Vegetables

The condition and quality of vegetables harvested for storage are of utmost importance. They should be ripe, but not old. The fall planted garden makes ideal vegetables for storage, according to W. A. Wunsch, county extension agent. The vegetables intended for storage should be left in the garden as long as possible in the fall, at least until after a killing frost. The first frost generally kills the tops and checks the growth of the plant. This is normally followed by ten days to two weeks of nice weather, which should allow the vegetables to ripen in good condition for storage. Be sure to harvest before severe freezing. It is best to harvest when the ground is dry, so that the vegetables will be dry and free from dirt. Be as careful as possible in harvesting, that is, do not bruise, and select for storage only those that are of medium size, smooth and free from bruises or blemishes. Those vegetables that are extra large, under sized, broken, cracked, or with branched roots should be used immediately as they will not keep in storage. Do not injure the crown when topping. Leave at least one-half inch of top, so that there are no fresh cuts or scars when ready for storage. This is important, as the organisms that cause decay enter the vegetables thru scars. Careful handling at all times will help to cut down storage losses.

Beets, carrots, rutabagas and turnips—Select and sort the medium sized roots. The roots should be pulled before severe frosts, and medium sized roots used. Cut off all but one inch of the tops. Allow them to dry in the shade for several hours or half a day, and then store immediately. Cabbage—Cabbage may be stored in several different ways, depending on the amount to be stored and the storing equipment available. A good way to store in New Mexico is to pull the heads with roots intact and place them head down in trenches or furrows which are eight to ten inches deep. Fill the furrows or trench, leaving only a short portion of the root projecting. If the weather later on becomes abnormally severe, more dirt should be piled over the furrows or trench. If drainage is not good, it is well to dig a shallow trench beside the stored cabbage, to carry away excess water. A moderate amount of frost will not injure cabbage in storage. It should not be removed while frozen.

Onions—Onions should not be pulled until the top becomes yellow and dry, or until you are sure that the bulbs are entirely mature. After pulling, they may be left for several days in the shade to dry. Be sure that the tops are perfectly dry before the onions are put in storage. Cut the tops off and examine the necks closely to see that they are entirely dry. Be sure there are no green sprouts. A sprout that is not completely dry will allow the organisms that cause neck rot to enter, and the bulb will rot in storage. Onions should be placed in some thoroughly dry ventilated room, cellar, attic, or out building, where the temperature will be cool and the atmosphere dry. Do not store the onions

BUY COTTON SEED NOW TO PLANT IN SPRING

Farmers should avail themselves now of some of the large supply of pure and high class certified Acala cotton seed that is being offered for sale by growers at a reasonable price, says G. R. Quisenberry of the New Mexico State College. It is certain to be higher next spring.

Last season very little seed was bought by the farmers in the fall and, as a result, a large quantity of good seed went to the oil mills. This, together with the extremely bad growing weather at planting time, caused many poor stands. Inferior seed was brought into the state for emergency planting and farmers are now reaping the harvest.

The recent grade and staple estimate by the Department of Agriculture shows New Mexico producing the poorest staple for many years, largely due to carelessness in the selection of planting seed. Instead of leading southwestern states as we have in the past, we are trailing behind. We used the poorest seed available. This condition may be avoided this season if farmers will lay in a good supply of planting seed now. It is cheap at present and will probably cost less than ordinary gin run seed will next spring. Names of growers of certified seed may be gotten by consulting your local county agent or writing to the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association at State College, New Mexico.

in deep boxes, as they are better if spread out in single layers.

Parsnips—Parsnips may be left in the ground all winter as they are improved by freezing. The only disadvantage is that in some parts of the state they are hard to dig after the ground is frozen. They may be stored the same as turnips and other root crops if desired. In some parts of the state carrots are left in the open as are parsnips. It is not generally agreed, however, that their quality is improved by freezing.

HOPE SCHOOL NEWS

Teachers of the Hope school system are making definite plans for attending the New Mexico Educational Association, November 2, 3 and 4. The board of education also plans to send delegates.

The salary schedule which allocates salary according to experience and training as adopted last spring by the Hope Board of Education was put into effect October 12 when teachers' salaries for the present year were finally computed.

Mr. P. V. Thorson, Scout executive of the Eastern New Mexico Area Council, visited in Hope last Friday night in the interest of helping with the organization of a cub pack, a "C" Scout patrol auxiliary to the regular Troop 33. Scoutmaster Murphy will have charge of Scouts "C"; Assistant Scout Executive R. T. Bonar, regular Scout Troop 33; Rev. J. Klassen, the Cub Pack.

The boys present indicated their intention of attending the Camporal on horseback.

How well water may be lifted to an elevated storage tank and thus distributed to the various school buildings was considered by the Board of Education in its last meeting. District 8's dependence for drinking water has been placed upon cisterns fed by irrigation ditches.

With a well already having been drilled the board contemplates the installation of a motor for placing this water in the storage tank. Definite plans have not been made.

President L. P. Glasscock will have charge of an investigation to determine the amount of water available before any further expenditure is made. It is anticipated that the entire program can be carried to completion with many points available in the direct charge fund from last year.

IZZY EINSTEIN ENDS HIS CAREER AS A U. S. PROHI. OFFICER

NEW YORK—A short, fat man, smoking a huge cigar, leaned over the bar.

"Have you heard the latest story?" he whispered to the aproned bartender.

"No—go ahead," said the bartender.

"You're pinched," said the short, fat man. Multiply that little tete-a-tete by 4,932 and you have the exact number of bartenders, bootleggers and speakeasy proprietors who expected an amusing story from Izzy Einstein and who landed in jail instead.

For eight years, from 1920 through 1928, Izzy Einstein, prohibition agent number one, ran riot through the ranks of the liquor men and the front pages of most of the world. Izzy, who never carried a revolver, arrested more prohibition violators and shut up more speakeasies and liquor "drips" than half a dozen other agents together.

Like a character out of Gilbert and Sullivan, he provided daily comic relief for prohibition enforcement. In the midst of bribery, hijacking, shooting and the then newly-invented "ride," Izzy would whisper in his victim's ear and take him to headquarters in a taxicab.

Izzy was ingenious. While others smashed down doors and arrested violators at pistol point, Izzy dressed as a Polish laborer or a street car conductor and got his evidence that way. Some of his disguises made him a fiddler, grave digger, German immigrant, farmer, fisherman, iceman, white-winger, and once he even became an opera singer to successfully "pull" luxurious Chicago speakeasies where others had failed.

Izzy had a new disguise for every day in the year. Once he recruited 10 fellow agents dressed the group in football uniforms, and smeared their faces with mud. Then the "team" whooped into a speakeasy near one of New York's parks that featured football fields.

"Season's over, we can drink," shouted Izzy. The drinks came, whereupon another bartender heard "the latest story."

Another time he paraded a college campus in plus fours and a football sweater. Bootlegging on the campus ceased. He worked in Mobile, Alabama, unloading bananas from ships until he dried up the liquor supply along the waterfront. Dressed as a white-winger, he raided 71 New York speakeasies one Sunday just to show church-goers he was on the job. Everywhere he went, from Portland, Maine, to New Orleans and Detroit, he provided first page news for newspapers and anguish for bootleggers.

In the summer of 1932, Izzy wrote his autobiography. In the preface, Izzy said, "What particularly stirred me to write it was all this talk that's going on nowadays about repeal being just around the corner. In my humble opinion, such predictors are guessing wild. The day when prohibition is repealed will not be in our lifetime. And I'm not looking forward to dying soon."

Now Izzy says: "I guess I didn't reckon on President Roosevelt and Mr. Farley."

He's not a prohibitionist himself, however. He says he simply doesn't like liquor but he has no objection to others taking it—now that he no longer has a professional interest in it.

"A lot of people don't know the difference between ginger pop and dynamite," he once said. Now he feels that enough know the difference to predict that the nation will stick to beer and let the hard stuff alone. He doesn't base his assertion on anything—he just feels that's the way it will be.

Izzy's in the life insurance business now. He says he used to receive many offers to join bootleggers he had arrested, but he turned them down.

"It was eight years of fun for me," he says of his enforcement work. "I've met many of the men I pinched and they're all friends of mine. I'd probably have stayed in the work if they'd let me really loose."

State Officially Wet
SANTA FE—With New Mexico declared officially wet by the state canvassing board Monday morning, which formally certified the results of the special election September 19, questions concerning various phases of the Lane liquor law are being received by the state liquor control board.

New Mexico may now legally quaff 3.2, but is still barred legal consumption of wines and whiskey until the 18th amendment is repealed, probably early in December.

Medicinal liquor also became available legally, since the Lane liquor law enacted this year provides it shall conform to federal laws and the federal constitution. Drug stores are not required to have licenses to sell medicinal liquor, nor is the purchaser required to have a permit to buy it.

Two Coleman county, Texas, farmers, Cass Coleman and Will Casey, were sentenced at San Angelo, Texas, Tuesday in the Urschel kidnaping case. Coleman was sentenced to a year and a day and Casey was sentenced to two years.

Not Satisfied With NRA
WASHINGTON—Administration circles, continuing yesterday a check-up to ascertain how the recovery program is proceeding, said they were pleased but not satisfied.

President Roosevelt feels that although farm prices have increased 32 percent up to September, over the average for the year that ended in March, they are not high enough and the ad-

Cotton was adversely affected by the government's refinancing plan for liberties now maturing, and by the Germany situation. These two factors drove speculators away and caused an avalanche of selling, which with the heavy hedge selling plunged prices below the nine cent level during the week under review.

The sober second thought resulted in rallies Tuesday and Wednesday morning but at this writing the rally is not holding, and with the federal government's repeated attempts to interpose artificial support to the market no very radical upturn may be expected. After the hedges are out of the way, and a settled workable plan of reduction has been evolved higher prices may result. We do not consider the present plan of reduction for the coming year practical and fear the cotton trade already senses the same thing.
