Oil Activity Is On Upgrade With Many New Wells Starting

Jal Area Continues To Hold Center of Interest; Getty Well May Open New Structure in Eddy County.

Oil activity continues to increase in Lea and Eddy counties with the greatest number of drilling wells seen in the area for several months. Six new tests will be under way in the Lea county sector within the next few days, one of which was started last week. The Phillips Petroleum Co. has undertaken an intensive drilling campaign in the Jal district with four wells either spudded or ready to spud. These include the Woolworth No. 1 of the Phillips Petroleum Co., in sec. 23-24-36, the Woolworth No. 2 in the SW sec. 23-24-36, the Woolworth No. 3 in the SW sec. 23-24-36, and the Woolworth No. 4 in the SW sec. 23-24-36. Other locations staked include the A. H. Myers No. 2 of the Continental Oil Co. in the SW sec. 8-21-36, the Ohio Oil Co., State-McDonald No. 1 in the SW sec. 14-22-36.

Getty Gets Show
Field reports say an eight barrel oil showing has been developed in the Cook and Ironsides No. 2 of the Getty Oil Co., in the SW corner of the N¹/₄ sec. 8-20-29 at 1100 feet. This test is located about three miles northwest of the old Cook and Ironsides well, which was a dry hole. The oil encountered is 27 gravity, or about 8 higher than the oil in the Getty pool. Many operators believe the new Getty well is located on a structure.

A new test has been obtained on the Cushing No. 1 of the General Crude Oil Co., in sec. 23-24-36. After treatment with 1,000 gallons of acid the Cushing is said to have made a flow of 100 barrels per hour, flowing open and was later pinched to 9 barrels. The gas flow measured 3,900,000 feet open.

Several wells in Lea county have been drilled in awaiting a proration gauge. Among these are the Gypsy Oil Co., West Grimes sec. 32-18-38, drilled to 4199 feet and estimated good for at least 1200 barrels. The Shell Petroleum Co., State No. 2-B, sec. 33-18-38, has been treated with acid, but a report is not available. A swabbing test is under way in the Turner No. 2 of the Skelly Oil Co., sec. 24-18-38, at a depth of 4203 feet, but authentic information could not be secured on the results. Drilling is under way on the Lee No. 1 of the Texas Company in sec. 14-20-34 below 3635 feet, the well is swabbing 80 barrels daily.

Etz Brothers have built a road to their well, six miles north of the Jackson pool and are moving in material to acidize the well. Last week, the rig partly burned down, the blaze originating from a smoldering band wheel.

Favor Late Primary
The convention passed a resolution favoring a late primary, so that the general election registration lists might be used in the primary. A resolution was also adopted favoring the amendment of rules and regulations to the effect that only members of the committee can hold a proxy and that no one member can hold more than two proxies.

Praise Officers' Work
Work of the retiring democratic officers of Eddy county was praised in a resolution, particularly that of J. L. Truett, retiring chairman, J. R. Attebery, retiring secretary-treasurer, and Ray Soliday of Carlsbad, retiring vice-chairman. These officers have given much time to the cause of the democratic party and it is generally conceded that the affairs of the party are in the best condition in the history of the organization as result of the efforts of these officers. Party patronage has also been distributed more generously over the county due to the activity of the retiring officers. H. R. Rodgers, newly elected chairman, promised to devote as much time as possible to the duties of his office.

The state administration and state legislature were commended for passage of the emergency legislation for the schools. The work of Senator J. H. Jackson, E. K. Neumann, attorney general and George Harris, representative from Lovington was also commended as was the national administration and the work of the New Mexico national representatives.

Forty-three members of the democratic central committee were present in person, thirteen by proxy and twelve were absent.

TO DISCUSS THE HOSPITAL BUILDING

Citizens of Artesia are invited to the Chamber of Commerce office in the Artesia hotel this evening to hear a proposal to build a city hospital by H. D. Huycke of Gallup, national representative of the Lincoln Life Insurance Co. This company has a plan to finance public buildings in the nature of hospitals, which will be of interest to the public. In a recent letter to Dr. C. L. Womack, Mr. Huycke stated he would be here this evening and would be glad to explain the plan under which a hospital might be financed.

Mrs. Lulu Riley of Hope dislocated a wrist in a fall on the 13th.

ADULT ASSEMBLY TO OPEN ON ASSEMBLY SITE ON JUNE 25TH

The Adult and Intermediate Methodist Assembly will convene at Sacramento, New Mexico, next Monday, June 25th. A large attendance is expected as both adults and intermediates are included in the age group.

The new presiding bishop of this territory, Bishop H. A. Boaz of Fort Worth, Texas, will be present on Monday and Tuesday. A faculty of ten men and women has been provided with platform speakers each noon and night throughout the week.

The first assembly was held last week which was for young people between the ages of 16 and 23 years. There were 162 registered at that time and it is expected that about 225 will attend next week.

GINNERS FAIL TO FIX DEFINITE RATE SEASON THIS FALL

West Texas-New Mexico ginnners failed to take action on a ginning rate for next season at a meeting called at El Paso Thursday and attended by about four ginnners from over the El Paso-New Mexico district. W. R. Hornbaker of the Alfalfa Association who attended the meeting, stated the ginnners agreed to abide by the ginnners code in the matter of making rates, which has been tentatively approved. The ginnners he reports had only a one-day session, while the hearing was continued Friday.

C. W. Beeman of Loving, president of the West Texas-New Mexico Ginnners association, is quoted as saying the reason the association took no definite action in the matter of making rates was on account of the attitude of the government in adopting the Darrow report on the NRA wherein the government decided to withdraw its decision to maintain a standard ginning rate in a given state. He stated the ginnners decided to take the stand of being unwilling to collect the tax provided under the Bankhead bill unless forced to do so by the government or unless the government rescinds its decision to enforce only a maximum ginning rate. Mr. Beeman left Friday night for Washington to confer with other heads of associations and with the department of agriculture.

"The Texas State Ginnners association at Dallas took the same stand that we have taken," Beeman said. "We intend to live up to our agreement with the government made by gin association leaders in Washington several weeks ago, and we expect the government to do the same." Beeman added.

The resolution adopted by the ginnners is as follows: Whereas, certain material changes in the proposed marketing agreement as provided and agreed to by national ginnners association in a meeting and hearing at Washington on May 18, 1934, has, in our judgment, rendered the said agreement inoperative as to the enforcement in the industry.

And, whereas the ginnners of this association are not asking an exorbitant and unfair ginning rate at the expense of the producers but are more concerned with the elimination of unfair and unethical competition.

Therefore, be it resolved that the New Mexico Irrigated Cotton Ginnners association go on record as not caring to subscribe to the proposed code or marketing agreement docketed No. 184A and 194L but prefer that the AAA assume the responsibility of fixing such rates and charges and regulations as in their opinion are necessary for the mutual protection and benefit of the industry and producer, and

Be it further resolved that agreement docketed No. 184 as subscribed to by the national ginnners association.

Attending from the valley included: John Tweedy and Mr. Gifford, Roswell; W. D. Bales, Carlsbad; C. W. Beeman and Chas. Pardue, Loving, and W. R. Hornbaker, Artesia.

FIVE FERA PROJECTS LAUNCHED IN EDDY MONDAY--TUESDAY

New Drouth Relief Program Causes Change in Set-up; Projects Under Way Expected to Care for All Needy.

To meet a new set-up under the drought relief program, four new FERA projects were started Monday and a fifth got under way Tuesday, all under the emergency relief administration of Eddy county, with M. W. Evans as project director. Two projects at Hope are employing 160 men. One a road building project to a point seven miles south of Hope and the other is doubling the capacity of the Hope community ditch. A second project in the Rocky Arroyo community will employ forty men on road work from the Rocky Arroyo school to the junction of the road at the intersection of highway 2. A third project has employed fifteen men near Lakewood in cleaning out a reservoir and a fourth is a road project at Otis employing fourteen men, while a fifth project got under way Tuesday, employing fifteen men in cleaning out a reservoir south of Carlsbad.

With the projects previously under way and with the labor on the farms, the additional projects are expected to take up about all the surplus labor among the needy classes.

HARVESTING OF OATS IS PRACTICALLY OVER

The oat crop of this section is practically harvested. The yield this year was good and according to reports averaged from 60 to 80 bushels, but the acreage was below normal. Growers have had little difficulty in disposing of their crop, as most of it has been sold direct to the government relief agency, it is understood.

Mmes. H. S. Quimby and D. W. Brown of El Dorado, Arkansas, are spending a few days here visiting their sister Mrs. C. L. Womack, Dr. Womack and family.

OVERTURNS TRUCK

A Ford truck of the State Oil Service Co., driven by W. E. Flint, salesman, was overturned Tuesday about noon near the Midvale Service Station on the north highway. Mr. Flint was testing the truck with John Young, mechanic for the Artesia Auto Co., when the accident happened. A car coming out of the Midvale Service Station caused Mr. Flint to have to swerve too quickly with the result the truck was turned on its top. Fortunately neither occupants of the truck were hurt.

Phillip Smith, employed on the Prude ranch near Hope, happened to the misfortune of severing two of his toes on his right foot with an ax while cutting wood Thursday.

FOREST STOCKMEN FORM GRAZING ASSOCIATION AT CARLSBAD MONDAY

Several stockmen who hold grazing permits in the Lincoln National Forest in Eddy and Otero counties met at Carlsbad Monday and made plans to form an association to protect interests of the stockmen when the ten year permits are granted next year. Contracts with the forest officials will be maintained as a means of protecting members of the association in connection with the changing size of the present allotment and reducing the number of livestock allowed each permit holder. Permits have been operated by the same owner for several years in many cases and these permits have established an economic unit, capable of carrying a certain number of stock.

Many of the present permittees have spent years in studying the various phases of forest permits and with an organization they will feel better able to protect their own interests. Officers of the association will be elected at a meeting to be held in Carlsbad probably within the next two weeks.

C. J. Doyle of Sacramento, California, arrived Monday for a visit with his uncle C. J. Dexter and Mrs. Dexter. Incidentally it might be interesting to mention that Mr. Doyle is one Californian who did not make a derogatory remark about our recent weather.

P. V. CONSERVANCY BOARD DISCUSSES A $75,000 PWA LOAN SAT.

The Pecos Valley Artesian Conservancy District board of directors met at Roswell Saturday and discussed ways and means of proceeding in the event their request for $75,000 from PWA for well-plugging is granted.

Dr. A. D. Crile, chairman of the board, who had returned from Santa Fe, lead the discussions, as he had been assured that the granting of the funds is imminent. Nothing definite was decided from the talks, the principal part of the discussion being whether or not the conservancy group would contract for the plugging of the wells, or endeavor to direct the work themselves, it was said.

The members attending were: Dr. Crile and J. H. Mullis of Roswell, M. Y. Monical of Dexter, Jesse I. Funk of Cottonwood, George Frisch, local board member, is out of the state at the present time.

OIL MEN ASK FOR A BLACK TOP ROAD TO LEA COUNTY SEAT

The Texas-New Mexico Highway 83 association, headed by Hugh Burch, has prepared a petition which will go to the department of interior at Washington asking for public land money to black top the road from Artesia to Lovington. It was said this morning that the petition has been signed by practically every operating oil company in the state. The petition will be presented to the New Mexico highway department next week with the request that the petition be forwarded to the proper authority in the department of interior.

In the petition some interesting facts and figures are set forth showing the amount of money expended by operating oil companies and the amount of royalties paid the government by companies operating on federal lands.

Over 221,000 Pounds Wool Moved From Local Point

Most of Present Clip Sold On Consignment, But Few Cash Sales Made As Market Becomes More Active.

Under a more active market, the wool clip is beginning to move to market. Until recently, all wool moved to the Boston market had been consigned, but a few cash sales were made this week. Approximately 75,000 pounds of the present clip was loaded out of the Bullock warehouse Tuesday on consignment to Sheldon and Company of Boston, Massachusetts. During the week over 100,000 pounds have been loaded out.

The fleeces sold at cash sales here recently have brought from 18 to 19 cents per pound. The wool movement to date from the Bullock warehouse has totaled 221,194 pounds with about 150,000 in storage and two of the largest clips to come. Growers are reported to be well up on the shearing operations with about two-thirds of the present clip sheared. The crop will be moved to market or to storage within the next few weeks.

A total of 76,000 pounds of wool has been shipped from Lovington on consignment to Sheldon and Company of Boston. Clips are moving to storage rapidly from the various points over the state and with a more active market, cash sales are expected to increase.

CANNING SCHOOL INTERESTING AFFAIR

The Ball Brothers Canning School held at the Artesia Hotel Roof Garden Wednesday evening proved a very interesting affair.

Miss Opal L. Wood, demonstrator, presented practical methods which may be practiced in every home. The round table discussions by those in attendance solved many canning problems. Miss Wood hopes to return next fall and give a thorough demonstration in meat canning, including beef, pork, chicken and turkey. Delicious ice cream was served by Miss Wood's assistant, a compliment of the Roswell Creamery Company of Roswell.

WHEN REGULATIONS WON'T REGULATE

The public has nonchalantly looked on efforts to enforce the provisions of Lane liquor law, which is supposed to regulate the liquor traffic in such a manner to prevent the return of the open saloon and to provide us enough revenue to enable the state to keep its head above the water financially speaking, but so far about all those who have honestly tried to enforce the law have gotten out of their efforts has been a headache.

We have all heard of these so-called laws with teeth. Well, the public has waited several months for that Lane liquor baby to cut teeth but thus far its daddies have never been able to get it out of the infant stage. It has no teeth and the only protection a town or community has against the open saloon is to place the sale by drink license so high that a prospective dealer cannot afford to buy them. The Artesia city council has availed itself of this protection, which in our estimation is a commendable action. So did Eddy county.

If reports be true, up in Santa Fe we have the brains of the present law, Mrs. Lane, fighting for more selling places to beat the bootlegger. And Santa Fe ought to beat the bootlegger because it is reputed to have more liquor selling dives per square inch than any city in the state. In Santa Fe the city council has let the bars down by lowering the liquor license fees allegedly to give the legalized dealer an advantage over the bootlegger.

Under repeal we were promised the bootlegger would be wiped out, but from all information we are of the opinion that it was just another political promise gone hay-wire. We still have the bootlegger and the police are not having any more luck in nabbing him than under the prohibition era.

Nobody wanted the open saloon during the campaign to repeal the Volstead act, but we don't know under the present conditions and especially if they grow worse, if the open saloon won't be a credit to the dives operated in some cities. At least the open saloon was rarely frequented by the women and children, but propriety won't prohibit the children and the younger set from going into the drug stores, the candy kitchens and the what-nots which are permitted to sell liquor by the drink. The present trend is to cut out the illegal traffic, even though children are taught the drink habit in the meantime.

The memory of man is short. Lots of those who want their drink have forgotten it was the identical condition described above that brought about national prohibition. The liquor inspectors might try stricter supervision of the various districts for a change if they do not want to point the way back to the open saloon, rather than giving so many helpful suggestions about building our highway.

SALES TAX CAMPAIGN FODDER

It looks now as though the sales tax will become a campaign issue. We have been an interesting observer of the sales tax arguments pro and con and have heard the sales tax system bitterly assailed for political reasons, but so far the critics have not been able to offer a workable substitute as a revenue producer. In the meantime the state has added many taxpayers to its list, who never paid a penny tax before unless it was gasoline tax and also in the meantime the politicians continue to hold up the sales tax as the oppressor of the poor. About the only way we can figure to get by under some of the radical proposals is for the minimum to arrive and everybody be fed manna from heaven, but in a case of that sort, what use'll we have of the politicians.

The way the political horizon is shaping up, it appears there is small chance for a display of constructive statesmanship and we will likely be fed the same old political buncum during the fall campaign.

Some of the newspapers located up in the stronghold of the farm holiday association continue to rant about this, that and the other and have apparently centered their spite on the present governor because he did not veto the sales tax, which of course is their privilege. But we'd like to see anything that bunch could agree on.

APPRECIATION OF TREES

Better knowledge and appreciation of trees is not the least of the lessons that may be expected to come from the depression. Charles Lahrop Pack has it figured out that the 300,000 men in civilian conservation corps will put in a combined total time of 1,000 years in their study of forestry under the plan now in force, by which educational advisers have been stationed in the 1,500 camps, says the Times at Geneva, New York.

Figuring one hour per night for instruction for each man, six nights a week one may arrive at a total of 90,000,000 hours of study a year, which brought to a six-day basis is equivalent, says Mr. Pack, to "approximately 1,025 man years devoted to education in the civilian conservation corps camp."

All this time devoted to study of trees must have its effect on the public. "As never before," Mr. Pack is convinced, "the American people are fast becoming forestry minded." The view of millions, he thinks, will be readjusted as to the value of natural resources.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

We received through the mail recently a platform of a candidate for governor. Perhaps the hot weather has something to do with this platform, but the whole thing appears so thin that this candidate will have difficulty in spreading it on among the intelligent people. This candidate would repeal all tax laws including the sales tax, repeal the present method of collecting taxes, and is in favor of less deputy sheriffs over the county on account of the fact that deputies are prone to create disturbances at dances, employing a good lawyer at the state's expense for the benefit of the poor and paying said lawyer a salary of $5,000 per year, so that a good lawyer will aspire for this position, also repealing capital punishment and every Saturday pardoning at least one prisoner from the state penitentiary.

PUBLIC DEBT TO NEW HIGH POINT OF 27 BILLIONS

WASHINGTON—A new peak for the nation's gross public debt—$27,005,438,125—was recorded Monday at the treasury.

Mid-month financing helped boost the figure to a new high, as shown on Monday's treasury statement covering all dealings up to June 15th. The former peak was reached on August 31, 1919, when a gross of $26,596,701,648 was written down.

The final shove to a new height came with a financing operation amounting to $2,759,605,523.25 in its coffers, whereas it had only $1,118,109,534.76 in cash balance when the former peak was reached.

The day's treasury statement also revealed extraordinarily heavy receipts. This was due to an inflow of $1,351,480,090 from the second installment of income taxes.

NEWS BRIEFS OF THE CHAMBER COMMERCE

"As Your Chamber of Commerce Is So Is Your City"

Our state highway engineer, G. D. Macy, promises that work on highway 83 will get under way in time to complete the Hope section by September 15th. This section is to get a "black-top" improvement. The Hobbs-Lovington division will also be completed this fall.

One never knows what the week will bring forth. Since the last column was written, the FERA is functioning along new lines in our county. Several hundred new men are employed under the new drouth relief program, seventy-six being started to work Monday at Hope and a small crew at Lakewood.

It is said that the Penasco is entirely dry at the YO Crossing and many of the ranchers are hauling water for stock and domestic purposes.

The drouth has so affected the country in general that the relief office will receive no more flour or wheat products for distribution. We will have smoked pork and canned beef perhaps for an indefinite period.

J. R. Ward, the newly appointed safety engineer for the FERA made a check-up of our projects last week and found them in order.

Ardmore, Oklahoma, had a representative in our office last week looking for ideas in Chamber of Commerce advertising and publicity.

We would be glad to furnish any of our residents leaving on a vacation with some of our recent literature for publicity purposes and also supply them with Artesia "auto stickers."

Our sub-relief office at Hope received 115 applications for aid in a three-day period over the week end. Many of those applying for aid, however, did not understand all that was involved and consequently some will be refused assistance. Aid can only be granted to those who are in actual need for food for themselves or stock and who have no funds or credit with which to supply such subsistence.

Our local relief roll dropped to 58 families last week. This is due to the work now available and the checks that are now arriving for labor performed.

GAINES-YOAKUM COUNTIES TO HAVE NEXT OIL PLAY

Considerable interest in oil circles is now being centered in Gaines and Yoakum counties, Texas, just across the state line east of Lea county. Practically the whole of these two counties is being leased by the major oil companies.

The most favored spots seem to be somewhere near the west center of Gaines and the eastern side of Yoakum. Geophysical tests and surveys seem to indicate that there is a possibility of two distinct oil trends in Gaines—one of them extending in a northwest-southeast course from the Andrews county field and crossing the state line at or near the northwest corner of the county, and the other extending in a northeast-southwest course from the Hobbs field. Where the two trends cross is the favored location for leases, some of them being reported as selling as high as $25.00 an acre. Prices offered for leases in Yoakum county range from $1.00 to $1.50 per acre, with the most favored location being along the eastern side of the county near the center from north to south.

There is a reflection of the interest on the Texas side of the line in the recent scramble for leases on the New Mexico side. During the present week oil scouts have been making inquiries for leases along the Texas border. While the price offered at the present time is not very large, it is considerably above offerings of a short time ago. In fact it has been only a short time since a considerable amount of acreage in this territory was relinquished by various oil companies.—Lovington Leader.

HEALTH COLUMN

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

How We Get Tuberculosis

How do people get tuberculosis? This question was asked of hundreds of people interviewed during the recent health survey. When the final report of the survey is presented we shall be told how much the people of New Mexico know about this important question.

The survey doctor tells an interesting story about an argument between a graduate of one of our institutions of higher learning and her mother who could speak no English. The "educated" daughter held that tuberculosis is hereditary. Her mother said (in Spanish): no, it is caught from other people who have tuberculosis.

The mother is right. Tuberculosis is due to a bacillus which is found in the sputum and in the droplets that are coughed or spoken into the air by those who have tuberculosis of the lungs. There is a cow tubercle bacillus, too, which will infect children. It is found in the milk of tuberculous cows.

During the survey it sometimes happened that several children in one family were shown to be infected (by the skin test). Generally there had been a parent or a grandparent or perhaps some other relative with tuberculosis living in the house with them.

But in some cases no record of this kind appears and on the other hand it was found that the family milk came from a family cow that never had a tuberculin test. It will not be surprising if, in the follow-up work of the survey, some of these one family cows are found to be giving tubercle bacilli in their milk.

Tuberculosis comes from tuberculosis. That is why it is so important to discover all the cases, and to discover them early before bacilli appear in the sputum, and to have plenty of public health nurses who can help to make these discoveries and to restore the patients to health or if that is impossible to teach them how to avoid spreading the infection.

We study about Christ's kingdom. Scripture lesson Micah 4:1-5. Golden text Luke 1:33, "Of his kingdom there shall be no end." The kingdoms of this world have their symbols in the lion, the bear, the leopard. By a law universally proved their passions and discord shall precipitate their own destruction. But Christ's kingdom has not one element of decay. His kingdom is to come, and of his kingdom there shall be no end.

Other delegates from New Mexico named with Mrs. Ferree are: Howard Roosa and Mrs. George D. Ruoff, Albuquerque; Mrs. J. E. Staley, Clayton; Mrs. W. A. Spence, Deming; Mrs. C. C. Brooks, Farmington; Mrs. Adlaide E. Chambers, Gallup; Mrs. O. H. Brown, Las Cruces; Mrs. Judd Detterick, Las Vegas; Mrs. Claude Fuller, Lordsburg; Mrs. Frank Gumm and Mrs. J. K. Hunt, Raton; Mrs. Clark A. Baker, Roswell; Mrs. J. O. Seth, Mrs. Paul A. F. Walter and Miss Martha Cochran, Santa Fe; Mrs. Cora Holland, Silver City; Mrs. Myrtle Forrester, Springer; Mrs. Lile Savage, Tucumcari; Mrs. Fred Dennis, Clovis, and Mrs. J. C. Compton, Portales.

"Charting the course for libraries" is the theme of the conference which is expected to attract 2,500 librarians, library trustees and other friends of libraries to the Canadian city to consider the place of the library in the light of rapidly changing trends in government, social conditions and education. The question of federal aid to libraries; the state's responsibilities for library service; improvements in book selection, in library buildings, in personnel and library training; "talking books" for the blind; important religious books of the day; government policies in relation to agriculture as reflected in library work, inter-library libraries and university libraries of the future—these are a few of the many topics to be considered in the six-day meeting of librarians from all types of libraries: public, college and university, school, law, business, hospital, prison, reference and other special libraries.

Six English librarians will attend the conference as special guests of the Carnegie Corporation. The Newbery medal will be awarded for the most distinguished children's book of the year selected by a committee of librarians from the A. L. A. section on library work with children. A one-day pre-conference meeting on June 23 will be devoted to reports on library planning by states. Twenty seven states have committees actively engaged in state planning for libraries and others are being appointed.

God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him." (I Cor. 8:6).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple." (Psalms 119:130).
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Through divine science, spirit, God, unites understanding to eternal harmony. The calm and exalted thought or spiritual apprehension is at peace. This the dawn of ideas goes on, forming each successive stage of progress."

Hints for the Household

Most of us take forks quite for granted when they are placed before us at the table but should one be missing or should the wrong one be used then the pronged implements become of great import.
The most imposing member of the fork family is the dinner fork which is used only for the meat course. The most important member is the luncheon fork which is used at all meals in some way. The tea fork is another useful one for, although small, the hostess can find infinite use for it.

to travel what could be nicer than one of the new writing portfolios. Or a pair of binoculars. Or a key holder.
For he who is starting out in business what could be more useful than a fountain pen and pencil set?
Or a dependable watch.
For the miss who is soon to become a matron wouldn't you like to have a lovely linen towel?
Or six tiny silver salt and pepper shakers?
Or a bright kitchen clock?

Displaying the Flag
There is no federal law laying down hard and fast rules for civilians as to displaying or saluting the flag. There are, however, certain fundamentals of good taste which make the matter very simple. The national flag represents the living country and is itself regarded as a living thing. The union of the stars of the flag is the honor point. The honor point, therefore, should always be uppermost or occupy the place of honor, the right.
When you face the flag the honor point of the flag should be at the flag's right, your left.
The flag is not to be regarded as so much material but a living thing with its own face and its own right and left. Therefore, when the flag is displayed from a window facing the street the union of stars should be to the flag's right, to the observer's left as viewed from the street. The same rule obtains when displayed from a building.
The flag is always raised briskly and lowered slowly and ceremoniously.
When carried in a procession with another flag or flags the flag of the United States should always be at the right (the flag's right) or when there are a number of flags in the line the flag of the United States may be in front of the center of the flags.
International usage forbids that one nation's flag be flown above another in times of peace, therefore when the flags of two or more nations are flown at the same time they should be flown from separate staffs of equal height.
When two flags are displayed from crossed staffs the flag of the United States should be at the flag's right and the staff should be in front of the other staff.
When a number of flags are displayed the flag of the United States should be at the peak or

RELIEF LEGISLATION BIG APPROPRIATION IS PEACE TIME RECORD

WASHINGTON — The second largest appropriation bill in peace time history, carrying more than $2,000,000,000 for relief and public works, was sent to the White House Monday by congress.
Congressional action was completed when the senate adopted the conference report which had been approved Saturday night by the house.
The only large appropriation bill passed by congress during peace times was the deficiency measure put through in the closing days of the last session, carrying a little more than $3,000,000,000.
The bill approved Monday authorized new appropriations of somewhat less than $2,000,000,000 and carried authority for President Roosevelt to use $500,000,000 of Reconstruction Corporation funds for relief and public works.
This item, incidentally, was the biggest controversy in the bill. The house gave the president a free hand to use all unobligated RFC funds if necessary, but the senate limited this to $500,000,000, and the conferees agreed to the limitation.
Including this fund, congressional leaders estimated President Roosevelt will have $1,200,000,000 available for public works and about a similar sum for relief, including both general unemployment and drouth aid.
A drouth relief fund of $525,000,000, the amount recommended by President Roosevelt, was provided in the bill.
With other relief expenditures now running about $110,000,000 a month, leaders estimated the bill

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT MORNING BRIDGE HERE

Very lovely was the morning bridge given last Thursday by Mrs. R. D. Compton at the attractive Compton home on West Main street when the announcement was made of the approaching marriage of their daughter Miss Louise Compton to Lemuel Duffield of Roswell. The wedding date is set for July 14.

The spacious living rooms where the sessions of auction bridge were played were beautifully decorated with bowls of summer flowers. At the close of the five rounds the lovely prizes were presented to Miss Corrine McAdoo who held high score and consolation to Miss LaRue Mann.

At eleven o'clock the young ladies were ushered to the sun porch where a table, exquisitely laid, centered with a large bouquet of pink and white sweet peas, with a smaller bouquet on either side at the end of the long table.

At each of the four corners were attractive cupid dolls which held pink and white streamers leading to smaller cupids at the center, nut shells, decorated in silver, holding a scroll which read: "All in a nut shell, Louise and Lemuel, July 14" were part of the center decoration and were fastened to pink and white streamers drawn by each of the guests. Seated for the delightful two-course luncheon which also reflected the pink and white color scheme in the delicious menu served were:

ROOSEVELT SIGNS $522,000,000 BILL

WASHINGTON — Continuation of the federal government's emergency road building program at the present rate through the coming year was assured Monday. President Roosevelt signed a bill authorizing expenditure of $522,000,000 over a period of three years, $200,000,000 to be spent in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Approximately 5,000 projects now are under way employing directly 240,000 men. They continue on the job, bureau of public roads officials said. The bill signed provides about half as much money as was made available in the emergency act of 1933 and makes allotments of funds to carry part of that to be begun under the new authorization is financed entirely by the federal government with states not required to match federal funds.

Upon the conclusion of this program, however, road building will revert to the plan under way in 1931, 1932 and 1933, with states and the federal government sharing equally the cost. Funds made available Monday were distributed as follows: $200,000,000 for continuation of the emergency road building program, not less than 25 per cent of which may be applied to secondary or "feeder" roads. $24,000,000 for immediate work on national park roads. $10,000,000 to be spent as relief funds for repairing or restoring roads damaged by floods or storms. $10,000,000 for forest highways. $125,000,000 for emergency highway construction in each of the fiscal years 1936 and 1937, these funds to be matched by states. $6,500,000 for building roads on public lands and Indian reservations during each of the fiscal years 1936 and 1937. $7,500,000 for building national park roads during each of the fiscal years 1936 and 1937.

The new act provides that states which divert gasoline tax revenue to purposes other than for roads may be penalized to the extent of one-third of their apportionment of federal funds from 1936 and 1937 or succeeding years. It also lifts previous limitations on the use of federal funds for road construction in cities. The bureau was formerly limited to expenditures of $15,000 per mile, making it impossible to aid in building roads in cities where construction costs were higher.

STIPULATIONS AVAILABLE

William Dooley, secretary of the New Mexico Petroleum Association, has notified members of the association that a copy of the "stipulations" is available to holders of federal oil and gas permits. These "stipulations" set forth the requirements of the interior department to holders of prospecting oil and gas permits. Holders of prospecting permits may want to know what to do in making application for an extension of a permit and the stipulations contain the necessary information. Copies will be mailed to members on request.

WASHINGTON—Legislative action was completed Saturday on the Taylor grazing bill to establish interior department control over the hitherto unregulated public domain, consisting of 173,000,000 acres of range lands in eleven western states. A conference between house and senate managers of the bill reported modifications of two provisions in the act which had been found objectionable by the president. The report was accepted by the senate and then by the house without debate. The bill, written by Representative Taylor (D-Colo) would permit the secretary of the interior to establish grazing districts with an area of 80,000,000 acres and to issue permits for a limited number of head of livestock to range within them. In this manner overgrazing and erosion resulting from abuse of the range would be prevented. Range improvements would be carried on under the bill out of funds obtained from grazing fees. Opposition to the legislation developed in the western states affected, where there was strong demand for state ownership of the public domain. Two amendments, offered by Senator McCarran (D-Nev) and written into the bill by the senate, came under the fire after the house had once approved them. The bill was recalled from the enrolling clerk and revised. One amendment would permit the continuation of the power of public land states to police the public health laws applicable to it. This provision was modified by a provision stating that it should not be interpreted as infringing in any way upon the federal government's authority over the public domain. The other provided renewal of a grazing permit could not be denied if its denial would impair the value of the permittee's livestock unit and that livestock unit was pledged as security for a bona fide loan. The modification of this provision provided that renewal of the permit could be denied for non-compliance with grazing district regulations. (SEAL)

PREVENTION OF HAY FEVER

Inasmuch as hay fever occurs in the late summer and early fall, and since any preventive measures to be effective must be started six to eight weeks before the date of onset of the disease, it follows that June is the month to start the prophylactic campaign.

Who Has Hay Fever?

In a locality where certain weeds abound about one per cent of the population has hay fever. The other ninety-nine per cent, albeit they inhale the pollen of these same weeds, go unaffected. Why? For no other reason than that they are not susceptible.

What makes the unfortunate one per cent susceptible? First, they inherit a tendency to spontaneous sensitization to certain pollen. Second, they are of a certain neurotic type which causes them to react to this particular irritant in a characteristic manner. Third, they possess certain structural defects of the nose or enternal infection of the nasal passages and sinuses, either of which make for a situation that favors the action of the pollen.

The Specific Cause of Hay Fever

Hay fever is caused specifically by the pollen of certain plants. Whatever be the predisposing causes, that is the exciting factor. The disease occurs only in a locality where plants rich in pollen abound, during the season when the pollen is broadcast. The disease disappears when the patient removes from such a locality or when the pollen has been destroyed.

The pollen comes from weeds that are naturally mean and coarse—a statement with which hay fever patients will agree most heartily. Nor am I speaking figuratively. The plants that cause hay fever are that literally—they have no beautiful flowers and no delightful perfume. It is moreover the male pollen which causes all the trouble, the female being entirely inoffensive.

General Preventive Measures

There is only one unerring prophylactic—keeping away from the pollen. Unfortunately very few are able to spend two or three months of each year away from home. So it becomes necessary for them to fight the pollen right on the home grounds by rendering themselves as little susceptible as possible to the attack when it comes.

Let me enumerate the most valuable of these measures:

1. Have the nose, throat and sinuses examined by a specialist and all abnormalities corrected.
2. Regulate the diet: cut out meat, spices and condiments, tea, coffee and alcohol. Confine the diet to fruits and vegetables.
3. Keep the bowels open to do away with toxins in the blood from this source.
4. Keep the system alkaline by one or two daily doses of an alkali.

COTTON PROGRAM CHECKS TOTAL OVER 11 MILLION

New Mexico cotton farmers, who are cooperating in the voluntary cotton adjustment program, had received, up to June 7, 1442 checks totaling $158,911.45 according to information issued on that date by Cully A. Cobb, chief of the cotton section. It is probable that more checks have been received by New Mexico farmers since that date.

These 1442 checks are only a small part of the 318,665 rental payment checks totaling $11,836,344.59 that have been mailed out by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to cooperating farmers.

It is estimated that $100,000,000 will be sent cooperating farmers as rental payments for the approximately 15,000,000 acres taken out of cotton production this season.

This money will be sent out in two installments totaling $50,000,000 each. The first installment is now in process of payment; the second installment will be distributed between August 1 and September 30. In addition to rental payments, cotton growers will also receive a parity payment of $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 next December.

As we understand the ruling, cafes and restaurants must charge a tax of two percent. These establishments are permitted to buy supplies from wholesalers with a one-eighth of one percent tax.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS MONDAY EVENING

WASHINGTON—Congress finally quit Monday night, with party independents in command and its program a little more than complete.

That little more was the price of adjournment exacted by the insurgents in a bold last minute drive which crushed the opposition of the democratic leadership.

It consisted of the Dill railway labor disputes adjustment act, pushed through to enactment even over the decision of President Roosevelt to let it go over to the next congress.

Officially, the congress which concluded its work Monday began its labors five days after the inauguration of President Roosevelt, called into special session to deal with the banking crisis.

Since then, it has enacted laws vitally affecting the economic life of the nation and made a beginning on extensive social reforms, for which President Roosevelt has asked action at the next session.

Its enactments greatly altered the banking and currency systems, brought forth the NRA and the AAA, placed the government in control of the stock exchanges and the country's communications systems, in fact, gave statutory validity to the new deal.

President Roosevelt applauded the accomplishment of the session in a letter in which he expressed a "spirit" of "deep satisfaction" at the cooperation between legislative and executive branches of the government to which he attributed the success of the session.

Then the membership of the senate, party lines forgotten, joined in a standing tribute to Vice-President Garner in appreciation of the "fairness, impartiality and ability" with which he had presided over the session's proceedings.

Borah of Idaho made this statement and then introduced a resolution embodying those sentiments. Quickly Robinson was on his feet and asked that the measure be adopted by a rising vote. All stood.

Garner replied briefly. He said he had come to the senate from the house with misgivings as to whether he could "perform" successfully.

73rd Congress One of Most Productive in Nation's History

WASHINGTON—The session of congress that drew to a close Monday convened January 3.

Thousands of bills—the exact number will not be known for days—were passed what leaders called one of the most productive peacetime sessions in history. More than two dozen were of the major variety.

Leaders also estimated more than $6,800,000,000 was appropriated, the more than $2,000,000,000 deficiency bill alone carrying more funds than any peace-time measure except the $3,300,000,000 public works law of last session.

The Atoka Woman's club met at 2:30 Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Paul Terry. The subject of the meeting was "Cheese Making." Mrs. C. C. Lewis of the Otis Woman's club gave a demonstration in the making of farm process cheese (recipe is printed below). This cheese has proven very popular among the women as it is quickly and easily made and can be used in the same manner as any other cheese. Mrs. Lewis also demonstrated the making of this cheese with pimento. This variation is especially tasty and 1 tsp. of chopped pimento is added to each cup of the cheese, before it is allowed to set. Fifteen members were present. After the demonstration the women enjoyed a social hour and delightful refreshments were served.

The Peppy Cooking club met at the home of Mrs. Paul Terry on Tuesday, June 19. This is a 4-H club and 16 members were present. The meeting was called to order by President Florence Muncy, and plans for the ensuing year were made. Due to the absence of the local leader, Mrs. Rogers, who is ill, Miss Castle of Carlsbad attended the meeting. At this time the girls made plans and organized a 4-H Sewing club, which will meet alternate weeks with the cooking club. Eight charter members were present but any other girls in the community who are interested are invited to join at the next meeting which will be held on Friday, June 29, at the home of Vivian Haldeman. After the business meeting the group played games and ice cream and cake were served by the hostess Mamie Belle Terry.

Eddy county has been appointed as an emergency drought relief county. As yet final papers have not been received by County Agent W. A. Wunsch, but they are expected in today. Plans have been made and the committeemen are ready to start work as soon as final instructions are received. Tex Polk and L. Williams have been appointed as committeemen in the northern section of the county and E. S. Shattuck and Joe Lusk in the southern part. Elmo Bales has been appointed as secretary. This project is meant to help all ranchmen and any men who have cattle they would like to sell should see one of the above named men or W. A. Wunsch, county agent, Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Ingredients in proportion. Usually at least six quarts of milk must be clabbered to furnish one quart of curd.

6. Heat slowly and stir constantly until a smooth, homogeneous mass free from lumps of curd is secured.

7. Remove from heat and add one pint of rich, sour cream. Thoroughly mix by stirring. A smoother product will be secured if the stirring is continued during cooling. Reducing the amount of cream will tend to increase the firmness of the cheese. If the amount of sour cream is reduced, less soda should be used, unless a mild flavor is desired.

8. Transfer to paper cartons or any convenient containers available. A buttered bowl allows the cheese to be turned out when cool. The cheese is ready to eat as soon as cool.

Farm Process Cheese

There is no better way for the farmer to reduce his cost of living than by consuming home produced foods. One of the most nutritious foods that can be made on the farm is cheese.

The making of American cheese on the farm is a tedious process and great care is necessary to secure a satisfactory and uniform product. A satisfactory substitute for American cheese is a product that we have chosen to call farm process cheese. When properly made, this cheese is palatable and very similar in composition to the whole milk American cheese purchased at stores. It is rich in butterfat, proteins, minerals, and vitamins.

Method of Making

1. Sour available fresh skim milk of clean flavor until it has clabbered firmly as in making cottage cheese. If it is found that the milk does not sour readily in from 12 to 18 hours, the temperature may be too low. About 75 degrees Fahrenheit is a desirable souring temperature. Adding starter or clean flavored sour milk or buttermilk will hasten souring.

2. Cook the clabbered milk as for making cottage cheese until it has become somewhat firm and elastic.

3. Drain the curd in a cloth bag, a colander, or by any convenient method.

4. It may be necessary to squeeze or press the moisture from the curd. A fairly dry curd is desirable. A curd that is high in moisture will make a soft cheese, while a curd that is extremely dry will not dissolve readily when heated in step No. 5.

5. Place a full quart of curd in a double boiler, add one teaspoonful of soda, two teaspoonfuls of salt, and one-half pound of butter. Less butter may be used, but the cheese will be less nutritious and usually less palatable. If color is desired, one-fourth teaspoonful of liquid cheese color or one-fourth tablet of dry color will usually give satisfactory results; but the amount of color should vary with personal preference and the natural color of the ingredients used. The dry tablet may be crushed and dissolved in the cream. Butter color may be used if cheese color is not available.

If a more acid flavor is desired in the cheese, use only three-fourths teaspoonful of soda or a cream that is higher in acidity. When less than one quart of curd is used, reduce the other

October cotton has worked within a range of thirty points now for two weeks falling to break 12.10 on the down side or 12.40 on the up side. At this writing October stands at 12.25 and apparently well supported.

With congress through and considering the immense sum of additional money to be pumped into circulation in one way or another, and considering the not altogether favorable crop outlook, we must still favor the constructive side of this market. Occasional declines can now only prove temporary as the season is here for crop scares and this year seems to have started off with a full itinerary of unwanted weather.

Generally too wet in the eastern portions of the belt and too dry west with little prospects for sufficient rain judging from the outlook now. Not too much time west of the Fort Worth-Oklahoma City north-south line for rain to fall now and save the crop, already beginning to suffer. This is a vast area and could easily reduce this controlled crop to unwanted meagerness.

We hear a great deal about money exchange conditions with Germany and its bearing on the market but we had rather keep a close eye on prospective supply just now in trying to determine which way we go from here. The demand will become keen enough if the supply is seriously threatened. Again, we say, watch the weather.

SILVER BILL IS NOW LAW OF THE LAND

WASHINGTON—The Roosevelt administration Tuesday night extended its new monetary policy into another field with the signature by the president of the Pittman silver purchase bill.

The measure directs buying of the metal by the treasury until it comprises 25 per cent of the nation's metallic monetary stocks.

Mr. Roosevelt invited Senator Pittman (D-NeV) whose name the bill bears; Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) of the house ways and means committee; Senator King (D-Utah), Representative Dies (D-Texas) and others active in drafting the legislation to witness his signature of the bill.

The chief executive delayed signing until the exchanges were closed.

Treasury experts have estimated that the purchase of approximately 1,300,000,000 ounces of silver will be required to reach the 25-75 ratio with gold.

The department estimates its present stocks of silver bullion and the silver coin in circulation are about 700,000,000 ounces, 12 per cent of the metallic monetary stocks.

The bill has inflationary possibilities. The treasury is directed to issue silver certificates equal to the money spent in the purchase program.

site and after the inspection was concluded, the visitors were invited to the assembly hall, where the young people were concluding their morning service. Governor Hockenull made an interesting address on the opportunities and problems of the modern age. Senator J. H. Jackson followed with a talk on highway 83, telling what had been accomplished toward building good roads to the assembly site. H. G. Watson spoke briefly as a representative of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, stating the Chamber of Commerce would see to it that the assembly articles of incorporation were filed in order to give the incorporators a clear title to the site.

After lunching with the young people, the governor was taken for a sight seeing tour of the immediate area, including the Boy Scout camp and back around to Weed and to Clouderoft and to Artesia over highway 83.

The young people assembly was concluded Friday. The registration numbered 162 and with the adults the attendance was brought to over 200.
