LOSING BENEFITS FROM OIL DEVELOPMENT

Since 1929, southeastern New Mexico citizens have stood by and watched west Texas gradually take away the benefits of the oil play from New Mexico. And west Texas, knowing the profit to be gained in catering to the oil trade, has never hesitated in putting forth an effort to provide an outlet to the towns along the Texas and Pacific railroad. And while Pecos valley towns were quarreling to see which town got a decent road into Lea county and at a time when we really could have accomplished something, Midland and the adjoining communities were building paved roads to Lea county.

An oil operator here, recently, who says he would like to live here, points to two distinct disadvantages any Pecos valley or Lea county town would have over Midland. The first and foremost, of course, is the roads and the next is our mail service. This oil man, who operates properties in western Lea county, possibly not over sixty miles in an airplane from Artesia, says he can drive from Midland in about a third of the time it takes him to drive from Artesia and he can drive from Midland in much more comfort.

As we see the situation, it behooves every citizen of southeastern New Mexico to make a demand in no uncertain terms that this situation be remedied. And it's up to the citizens of Lea county the same as it is any other citizen farther up state, because regardless of where the operators and workers locate, the benefits to be derived therefrom will be more nearly mutual if residence is established in New Mexico rather than Texas and the farther in New Mexico the greater will be the advantages, particularly the revenue to be derived from the gasoline tax, which goes back to the highways. We are interested in seeing Lea county get a connected road from Lovington and Hobbs to the Jal, Lea and Eunice districts.

Naturally we believe highway 83 offers the most logical outlet to the oil territory since it bisects a greater part of the Eddy county developments and offers easy access to the various districts in Lea county. Here at the intersection of highway 83 and 2, the travel has the advantage of a hard surfaced road either to the north or the south.

The importance of keeping the benefits of a state industry in the state which provides a monthly payroll to its employes in excess of $100,000 monthly cannot be minimized. Responsibility of making a decision in the matter rests with the new state officials, who are familiar with the problems of oil development in this section. And we want this to serve as a reminder that we shall expect some constructive accomplishments in providing a connection with the various oil fields before the close of another year.

EAST SIDE STILL APATHETIC

The apathy or the fact that the citizens of eastern New Mexico and Eddy county show little concern in any sort of a state election has been one of the enigmas unsolved since 1912. Some say the unconcern is due to an overwhelming one party sentiment. The chief obstacle in getting out the vote seems to be that a state election is devoid of local issues and two parties would help in this respect.

Some also say they won't vote because they don't like the candidates on either side, or because of too much mud slinging or because of dirty politics. These charges have been brought for the last hundred and fifty years and many unpleasantly just naturally creep in, regardless of efforts to keep them out. If you abhor these things, the chances are you'll never get the opportunity of casting your vote. If you expect to have a part in the operation of your local, state and national government, it's up to you to participate and lend your influence toward cleansing the odoriferous practices.

On last November 6th, Eddy county cast only about fifty-five percent of the registration total. The Artesia precinct voted in approximately the same proportion. If the number of delegates to the state convention is based on the 1934 vote for governor, neither party would have much of a voice in the convention affairs. By the public unconcern manifested in this and other elections, the Eddy county citizens virtually hand other parts of the state the balance of power and tell them to run the affairs of government to suit themselves. How long are we willing to do this?

THERE IS GOING TO BE AN UPSWING, YOU KNOW

Some of your neighbors will tell you that there never will be another boom. But think back. Weren't these same people saying in 1929 that there never would be another depression, that we were in a New Era?

But think of this!
1. In 1932 and '33, we produced only 1,700,000 cars a year; in 1934, only 2,500,000 (at the present rate). Compare these figures with the very conservative estimate of replacements needed—3,000,000 a year!

2. The other day, the president of a locomotive concern said that when the railroads start buying again, his concern will be busy for twenty years to come just replacing worn-out engines, not to mention the requirements of ordinary railroad expansion!

3. And think of the death of home-building in the United States—practically no real building for five long years! Are people in America never going to replace houses?

No matter what some people may say, you can expect an up-swing.—Nation's Business.

MURDERS GROWING

Census Bureau figures show that 12,123 murders were committed in the United States in 1933. Fewer than 4,000 people were sentenced as homicides, and only 153 were executed.

You need study those figures only for a moment to see what a comparatively small risk a killer actually runs. His chance of paying any kind of penalty at all for his crime is only about one in three; and there is just one chance in 80 that he will be executed.

More startling than this, however—though doubtless in some way related to it—is the fact that the 1933 record is a new high for the United States; furthermore, the total has risen by more than 4,000 in the last ten years, fewer than 8,000 homicides having been recorded in 1923.

Chislings

This is confidential. It is rumored the administration is going to start a reduction program on the republicans, something on the order of the crop reduction program. This may explain why Squire Ferree and C. J. Dexter have been so nervous lately. And for fear the republicans may turn tables on us in 1936, we are going to stop raising democrats (that is we think we are going to stop).

And Huey Long says he is in favor of Louisiana seceding from the union. Since Huey has got the state pretty well under his thumb, we don't know what that it would be a good idea.

The fire department worked unhampered at the fire about two weeks ago. Nobody ran over a hose and nobody got in the way during the time the boys were fighting the fire. However, it looks like the boys made too good a job of putting out the fire at Main and Third, since the building is still standing.

Jellybean: "Old man, I understand you are courting a widow. Has she given you any encouragement?"

Shiek: "I'll say she has! Last night she asked me if I snored."

Fair Maid: "Oh, sir, what kind of an officer are you?"

Officer: "I'm a naval surgeon."

Fair Maid: "My goodness! How you doctors do specialize."

A local minister thinks bridge is harmful just because he happened upon a bridge game in time to hear a player remark that he guessed he'd have to take his partner out and his partner happened to be a married woman.

A Scotchman of my acquaintance explains the origin of a jig saw puzzle. He said one day a Scotchman dropped a dollar bill in a sausage mill.

Albert Blake probably has the long time voting record in the Artesia precinct. He has cast his ballot in every election held here since 1903. Last week he arrived from Scipio, Indiana, just in time to vote. He got in a real hurry when he got word that some of the democrats were off the reservation, so he rushed in and with the aid of Mrs. Blake killed at least two votes.

And this reminds me. You fellows who work at the job of exercising your franchise as a citizen, do you think it is worthwhile to go out here every election and beg and plead and haul people to the polls to get them to vote? We don't. Of course there are exceptions where a voter is really incapacitated and wants to vote, transportation should be provided, but the idea of combing the district for a voter who does not care how he votes, will be stopped as far as we are concerned. And we don't want to hear people belly-aching who refused to go to the polls last November 6th. The chances are they'll be the first to holler.

Brown had been in the habit of borrowing books from his neighbor. This had gone on for years, but the books were never returned.

One day Green appeared at Brown's door carrying a large book-case. "I seem to have no further use for this," he said, "and I am quite distressed in case you have no place to store my books conveniently."

These weather bureau fellers are certainly a conservative lot. Every day we get a card which says, "fair, today and tomorrow." Once or twice the guy got reckless and predicted, "unsettled today and tomorrow." Maybe we ought to call for a new weather bureau under the new deal. We'd like to see a prediction occasionally which says, "It's going to rain like hell tomorrow, where's your raincoat?"

You cotton growers know, of course, that we are facing an epidemic of fan dancers, which means less clothes, but I wouldn't let that worry me. I'd go to raising peacocks or pin tail grouse.

Woman (to tramp): "Go away, or I'll call my husband."

Tramp: "Oh, I know 'im. 'E's the little fellow who told me to clear out yesterday or 'e'd call 'is wife."

One of the recent high school graduates tells this on herself: "And you are secretly married to her?"

"No, she knows it."

HEALTH COLUMN

Mary Jane

In a recently published novel, "The Man With Bated Breath," two chapters are devoted to the physical and mental effects of smoking marijuana. Making due allowance for the requirements of the plot, the description is no doubt accurate enough and one feels that the average reader coming to the close of Mr. J. B. Carr's sin party may well ask himself: why should anyone wish to submit to such a horrible experience as this?

It is probable that no person with a really healthy mind would want to smoke marijuana. If such a person tried it once, to get material for a novel let us say, then probably he would feel no desire to smoke it again. There are two types of mind that fall for Mary Jane. One is the mind without purpose, in other words, the pincushion personality. These people make no impression on the world and only live in so far as the world makes impressions on them. The nearest thing to an objective in their lives is to find a new kind of pin with which they may be stuck. Drug addiction opens up a whole vista of such pins. The second type is the mind with conflicting purposes, in other words, the man who is trying to serve two (or more) masters. Only one master can rule at a time but there is always civil war brewing within the personality. It may be that the forces of rebellion will find in marijuana a precious ally to dethrone for some moments at least the tyrant of the hour.

Left to themselves both types are fairly harmless, the one from inertia, the other from indecision. But marijuana may make dangerous madmen out of either. The drug must therefore be kept away from such and from all unhealthy personalities for their sakes as well as for our own.

We should not forget, however, that there will no longer be a drug problem when the schools find out how to build character as well as to train intellect. It is more important that a man should live in singleness of heart and with integrity than that he should be able to solve problems in trigonometry.

POSTMASTERS WILL CASH BOND INTEREST COUPONS

Postmasters everywhere throughout the United States will cash without charge the interest-bearing coupons of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, according to an announcement to holders of these bonds from W. I. Myers, governor of the Farm Credit Administration at Washington. These coupons ordinarily may also be cashed at banks.

FFMC bonds that have been issued in registered form are payable only to the person in whose name the bond is registered in the division of loans and currency of the treasury department at Washington. Checks covering the amount of interest on these bonds will be mailed by the treasury to the registered holders promptly after November 15th.

ARMISTICE GAME IS WON BY CARLSBAD SCORE OF 26 TO 0

The Carlsbad Cavemen came and conquered their ancient foe here Armistice day by a count of 26 to 0 for the first victory in several seasons. The Cavemen won chiefly because the squad had a formidable forward wall that Artesia failed to break in several tries. The local squad presented a weak defense thru which Carlsbad gained an average of five or six yards each try, but when the Bulldogs needed a score in the last half they found an immovable wall.

The visitors started the fire-works in the second quarter when they scored on a reverse play, Oden going over for the touch-down. Another threatened touch-down for Carlsbad did not materialize in the second quarter. In the third quarter Artesia came back fighting and with the aid of a pretty lateral pass got within about six yards of the goal line, when a pass was changed to an end run and Champion carrying the ball was downed behind the line with a loss of ten yards. Two more plays placed the Bulldogs within four yards of a goal, but the ball when over and Carlsbad punted out of danger.

Carlsbad scored a second touch-down in the third quarter on a punt recovered by the Cavemen, but failed for the extra point. Up to this time the Bulldogs had fair success in knocking down Carlsbad's forward passes and an intercepted pass by Champion netted a gain of twenty yards, but the Cavemen finally connected with a pass and scored the third touchdown, passing for the extra point.

Champion and Conner played well for Artesia and Champion carried the burden of the defensive work throughout the game. Oden starred for Carlsbad, aided by the defensive work of the backs and a bunch of hard tacklers. Coach Barton sent in a number of his reserves during the last quarter in an effort to score but the hard-hitting Cavemen were not stopped. They scored another touchdown and made the extra point in the last few minutes of play.

The Bulldogs say they will wipe out Monday's defeat when they meet the Cavemen Thanksgiving. Friday the Bulldogs play Portales here.

MAGNOLIA USING NEW OIL REFINING PROCESS

DALLAS, Texas — Fred M. Lege, Jr., vice-president and director of sales promotion of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, announced recently that after long experiments and tests Socony-Vacuum and Magnolia have developed a new method of making motor oils by washing crude petroleum. The new process is very much like the method a woman uses to take stains out of fabrics. Instead of stains, crude petroleum contains sulphurs, gums, sludges, tars that must be refined out to produce lubricating oil.

Mr. Lege said this new method of refining motor oil would doubtlessly alter the entire method of present day refining as it produced "an oil so superior as to save millions of dollars for motorists."

These savings include less oil consumption, less carbon deposit, more gasoline mileage. This new type of oil virtually eliminates carbon in the cylinders as shown by 86,000 miles of test running. At the conclusion of these tests, the pistons of the test cars were clean of carbon.

TAXPAYERS URGED TO PAY TAXES BY DEC. 1

Property owners owing taxes for 1933, 1932, and 1931 are urged by the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico to pay such taxes before the first Monday of next month, that is December 3, 1934. Attention is called to this matter because of Section 3, Chapter 27 of the Laws of 1934 (Special Session) as follows:

"On the first Monday in December of each year, the treasurers of the several counties of this state shall offer for sale and sell at public vendue the real property which shall also include severed rights of timber, minerals, or other severed interests situate in their respective counties upon which taxes are delinquent for the preceding year or years as shown by the tax rolls of the county. Such sales shall be held at the front door of the court house or of the building in which the district court is regularly held in the county commencing at 10 A. M., on the first Monday in December and continuing from 10 A. M., to 4 P. M., each day for five consecutive days unless all of the property so offered for sale for taxes, penalties, interest and costs due thereon shall sooner be sold by purchasers other than the state."

In Section 4, Chapter 27 of the Laws of 1934 (Special Session) each county treasurer is required not less than 21 days prior to the date of sale to give notice to each delinquent taxpayer and/or mortgagee by mailing same to his last known address.

Property sold as provided in the act may be redeemed by the owner or by any person having a legal or equitable right therein at any time within two years from the date of sale. In the meantime the property will continue to be assessed to the former owner. It should be understood that the purchaser of the tax sale certificate shall not be entitled to the possession of the property until the period of redemption has expired and a deed has been executed therefor.

Every owner of real estate who owes taxes for 1933, 1932 and 1931 is urged to check his delinquent taxes with the county treasurer. If he owes for 1931 and prior years he should take up the matter with the state tax commission, because taxes delinquent for 1930 and prior years are collected under a law of 1929 and suits are pending for the collection of taxes for those years.

It should be understood that the taxes for the current year of 1934 are now due and payable and that the first half becomes delinquent December first, 1934. If not so paid, such first half will bear interest at the rate of 1% per month. The second half of the 1934 taxes becomes delinquent on May first, and if not paid before that date will bear interest at the rate of 1% per month.

MARLAND HITS AT FEDERAL OIL CONTROL

OKLAHOMA CITY—E. W. Marland, governor-elect and former president of the Marland Oil Co., Monday declared against federal regulation of the oil industry.

Marland, with oil men of Oklahoma, appeared before the national house investigating committee headed by William P. Cole, Jr., of Maryland, and his testimony was somewhat in contrast to that of Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Producers' Association.

Marland would control production of oil in the southwestern field through interstate pacts, with approval of congress. Marland did not go into details of the state compact plan but announced he would go to Texas in a few days to discuss it with Governor-elect James V. Allred of that state.

Reford Bond, member of the Oklahoma corporation commission, and Franklin also were friendly toward such a pact, but the latter two witnesses would accept the compact with the proviso that a federal law be enacted to control the national industry, which would supervise the compact rulings only when the state failed to abide by agreements.

Fires on Morro Castle and At Nome Alaska, Received Help of Red Cross Workers

A number of tragic and unusual disasters have recently called for Red Cross relief.

Included in them have been a flood in Kentucky, following a series of cloudbursts in August; epidemics of disease which threatened several sections, including some caused by drought conditions. Red Cross workers found much to do for the survivors of the Morro Castle fire and for those engaged in rescue work; and Red Cross relief went by airplane to Alaska when the famous old gold camp, Nome, burned in September.

They carry on civic and service programs in their own communities which each year bring comfort and pleasure to thousands of needy and unfortunate people. An international friendship is built up through correspondence with Junior Red Cross members in foreign countries.

WANTED—Clean Cotton Rags at The Advocate.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON
Again, I'm frank to say I wouldn't like to be a policeman. There were 214 jobless men. They had assembled in West side court to hear the case of an employment agent who had collected from them $10 to $12 each—where do jobless men get money they pay to gyp employment agents?—on the assurance that they would be given work. They got neither the work nor their money back. The employment agent pleaded guilty and was fined $25. That was all the magistrate could do—the law setting a limitation on the punishment of an offense of that nature. True, the agent could have been tried on 213 other charges with fines of $25 in each instance. But the $25 or any part of it would not go to the jobless men, most of whom had given that agent every cent they could scrape up. So there were mutterings among the 214 and the agent, perspiration starting from his forehead, looked about for protection.

That's why I repeated a statement made herein previously—possibly several times previously—for all I know. In the court were many police with prisoners. Court attaches made a call on them for assistance. So they had to accompany that shrinking gyp agent down the stairway and out into the street where there were 214 angry men waiting for him. I saw the police go into action. They didn't use their usual tactics in dealing with a riot. But when the rush came, they did their duty. Taking it all in all, they were gentle, remarkably gentle, though they were far outnumbered and one policeman was injured. But they knew more about such things than jobless men and by and by the gyp agent got into a taxi and escaped. And I'm willing to wager that every policeman that took part in that combat wished that, for a minute or so at least, he could forget all about duty.

Along those same lines, though the police had no work to do, was the case of that man—a respected business man for 20 years—who was accused of swindling charwomen, scrubwomen, maids, chauffeurs, and others out of their life savings—a total that may reach a million dollars. I didn't see that court room scene but a friend told me about it. The room was crowded with men and women who had laid away their savings penny by penny and then had invested them with the prisoner in the hope of providing for old age. Humble people they were all of them, my friend said, humble and grief laden because of the betrayal of their trust.

In this instance the prisoner was in no physical danger. But the feelings of those present were expressed when the court set the alleged swindler's bail at $100,000. Cheers and clapping of hands followed! I wonder what swindlers do with money they obtain from charwomen, scrub women and others of the humble and lowly?

New York's greed for minutes is always being exhibited in the subway. Rushes for trains cause mob scenes and there is continued pushing and jostling in order to get to the forefront. But what I started to say was that the other morning at Ninety-sixth street, most of the passengers comfortably seated in a local train got off and forced their way into an overcrowded express train in the hope of saving three or four minutes on the journey to Times square. Some way or other, it gave me a slight feeling of superiority, when the express train, delayed by line congestion, pulled into the station several seconds after the local.

(W. R. Hornbaker in Cotton Trade Journal)

The writer of these notes was strongly opposed to the farm board's "plow up every third row" program and at that time advocated an inverted tariff (or subsidy) for farmers producing exportable surpluses or commodities.

Now since crop reduction has gotten us into such a mess and it becomes absolutely necessary to do something to get us out the Department of Agriculture is asking for constructive suggestions from farmers and others of the south as to methods of procedure.

First we want to say that wealth does not result from crop reductions nor from crop destruction. Temporarily such a procedure may bring more money into the hands of a given section but money is not wealth. If the government must make payments to farmers let it be done for producing instead of non-production and idleness of lands and peoples.

A guarantee to the American farmer of an American (parity) price on American used cotton is all that is asked and this is asked only to offset tariff benefits received by industry and industrial labor.

Therefore our program is as follows: Repeal the Bankhead law and cancel all acreage reduction contracts and acreage control measures. This will permit unlimited production. The repeal of the Bankhead law should be accompanied by the enactment of legislation that will pay each cotton farmer at the close of the cotton season a subsidy on his portion of the American used percentage of the total crop.

Unlimited production of cotton will re-employ several million people now idle in the south—and on the government relief rolls. It will recapture our lost foreign cotton trade at a supply-and-demand price level regardless of how low that price may be. The subsidy paid our cotton farmers at the close of each cotton season on the domestically consumed portion of their crop will permanently establish and keep them in world competition, not only regaining lost markets but establishing new markets as the world's needs develop. And such a plan will remove all red tape, coupon-clipping, and dissatisfaction arising from unfair allotments under the present law. It will also permit of the free and fast movement of the crop into world trade, or permit the farmer to withhold his crop from market for possibly higher prices if desired, without government liens or buying coupons. It will place a premium on industry and thrift as there should always be and allow those who wish to do so to grow cotton in competition with anybody anywhere. As our present high protective tariff is lowered the subsidy can be reduced, if the tariff is raised the subsidy should also be raised to compensate, thus keeping American-used cotton on a parity with the things which the American farmer must buy. Like all tariffs, whether direct or indirect, all of the people pay the bills, hence a processing tax on the commodity would be used to produce the necessary revenue to pay the subsidy and the government itself would not be out anything.

Jack Staggs, former employe of the Artesia hotel, returned last week from an extended visit to eastern points on the Atlantic seaboard.

Mrs. Roy Phillips is substituting for Ray Zumwalt at the Cottonwood school. Mr. and Mrs. Zumwalt are each reported ill with scarlet fever. They are in Carlsbad.

A letter from Lewis Rowland, former resident of the Dayton community, who is operating the Rowland cash store a Cassville, Missouri, says his section experienced a bad drought the past summer, but has had fall rains and moisture sufficient to raise good fall gardens and a late feed crop.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 18th. The golden text is: "The creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God." (Rom. 8:21).

"For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality." (I Cor. 15:53).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook:

"Christian Science takes naught from the perfection of God, but ascribes to Him the entire glory. By putting 'off the old man with his deeds,' mortals 'put on immortality.'"

Williams and the Rev. W. L. Grubon of Hobbs, the Rev. H. M. Weldon, pastor at Carlsbad, the Rev. W. C. Garrett, pastor of Lake Arthur and Hagerman churches, D. J. Schreckingost of Roswell.

The W. M. S. organizations of the two associations had a joint meeting at the same hour. In this combined session of the two boards definite action was taken in regard to placing a missionary on these needy fields to look after the destitute rural districts.

The Rev. J. W. Williams invited the boards to meet with the Hobbs church on December 11th, for another joint session and all-day meeting, which invitations was accepted. At this meeting it is hoped that final plans will be made to put a missionary on the field by the first of the year.

MURDER AND SUICIDE OCCURS NEAR LOVING ON FRIDAY MORNING

Two were dead Saturday as a result of what officers said was a murder and a suicide, says the Carlsbad Current-Argus.

Lito Urquidez, 20 years old, a young farmer living near Loving, shot and killed his sweetheart, Callatana Rubio, 17 years old, at the home of her parents, three miles northeast of Loving, on the Acala chicken farm shortly after 10 o'clock Friday night.

He then turned the gun, a .32 caliber revolver, on himself and died instantly from a bullet wound in his chest near his heart.

Urquidez had sought to marry the girl, officers said they were told. Her parents had objected and planned to take her to Presidio, Texas, Saturday to get her away from Urquidez.

Urquidez came to the Rubio home late Friday after the girl had retired. He knocked at the door and when it was opened asked for the girl's brother. When he was told that the brother was asleep in a nearby building, he asked for the girl.

A member of the family invited him into the house and he walked through the door into the room in which the girl's bed was located. He turned, officers said members of the family told them, and shot, the bullet entering her abdomen.

Before he could be reached, he turned in the still open door and placed the gun against his chest, fired.

The girl was brought to a Carlsbad hospital but died about 2:00 o'clock Saturday morning.

A coroner's jury held that Urquidez had come to his death as a result of gunshot wounds, self-inflicted. No inquest was held over the girl's body.

Urquidez was buried Saturday afternoon at Loving. The girl was buried Sunday.

Paul Zeleny underwent an emergency appendicitis operation at the St. Francis hospital in Carlsbad Sunday. At the time his condition was critical, but satisfactory at the present.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCann, her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Brown, and her sister, Mrs. Charles Tetts and family of Coleman, Texas, drove up to Cloudcroft, Armistice day, returning by way of the Indian reservation.

SUGAR BEET SEED CAN BE GROWN IN N. M.

Beet seed has been given quite a lot of publicity in the last few years according to J. C. Overpeck, of the New Mexico State College, in discussing this subject at a recent meeting of the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association. Sugar beets cannot replace other field crops, yet, for seed purposes, they have a place in southern New Mexico agriculture.

It was learned some ten years ago, accidentally, that sugar beet seed planted in the fall would develop a crop that would seed the following spring. Thru this method the sugar beet seed industry has been developed on a small scale in southern New Mexico.

Approximately $100,000 worth of seed was shipped out of the Mesilla Valley in 1934. This fall, there were approximately 1,000 acres planted for harvest in 1935. This indicates that this crop will become of considerable importance in the near future in this valley.

The consumption of beet seed in the United States is approximately twelve million pounds and by assuming that each acre in southern New Mexico planted to this crop will produce two thousand pounds, it will readily be seen the acreage that will be needed to produce this crop.

Sugar beet seed grown in and around Las Cruces has proved equally as viable and suited to northern planting as the ordinary German seed which has been imported in recent years.

CANVASS VOTES

The Eddy county commissioner's court met at Carlsbad Saturday and canvassed the returns of the November 6th election, which included tabulating forty-two absentee ballots cast in the county. The canvass made no material difference in the tabulations as announced last week. With the absentee and the Queen precinct tabulations completed, Dennis Chavez, candidate for the United States senate, long term, emerged with a plurality of 1,425 votes.

Eye Strain--

Young students often find arithmetic and geography a rather irksome task. Study becomes even more difficult with unnecessary eye-strain. In the school room, teachers try to see that their pupils all have sufficient light.

At home parents should also make sure that their children have the right amount of shaded light when they do their home work. Light is inexpensive but children's eyesight is priceless. Let Mazda lamps protect their eyes.

A very interesting meeting of the Atoka Woman's club was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Bradshaw. Miss Veda Strong, state home agent, held a demonstration on "Better Buying of Foods." In this demonstration she had presented a number of different varieties of canned vegetables and fruits, and discussed the variation in amount in the various sized cans and brands, comparing quality with labels. She also held a discussion on the comparison of different brands of extracts, and showed the difference in labels.

A similar meeting was held on Thursday afternoon for the Cottonwood Woman's club at the home of Mrs. R. H. Rambo at 9 o'clock. A meeting of the Rural Woman's Council of the county, which was composed of representatives from the four Woman's clubs in the county, was held at the home of Mrs. E. P. Malone. 2,500 LAMBS SHIPPED OKLA. WHEAT FIELDS

Twenty-five hundred spring lambs were loaded out of the local pens this week, purchased by Fred Heep of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, representing the National Commission Co., of Oklahoma City. The last of the seven car shipment, consigned to Oklahoma wheat fields yesterday, netted the growers four cents per pound. The lambs are about ten pounds per head lighter than at the corresponding period of last year, due to the poor local range. Mr. Heep stated the wheat fields in Oklahoma are exceptionally fine at this particular time and that wheat farmers are needing stock to pasture the fields. He recently completed a swing down thru Texas where he purchased several hundred head of lambs, but has found the offering inadequate to supply the present market demand at this late season.

Included in the shipment were small numbers from the flocks of H. A. Hamil, Bill and Cy Bunting, E. P. Cox, George Teel, Lee Glasscock, E. F. Harris, John Teel, Fred Brainard and John Plowman, Henry Russell and J. W. Bowman.

PEACE OUTLOOK NOT BRIGHT IN EUROPE AT PRESENT TIME

Major J. R. Kelly of the New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell was the chief speaker at the luncheon program of the Artesia Rotary club and gave an interesting talk on the peace outlook in Europe. This subject was especially timely since it followed Armistice day and showed the influence of the World war upon the various nations of central Europe.

The prospects for peace in central Europe are not encouraging and war is not an impossibility at any time. The peace treaty following the World war, at which time the maps of many nations were re-made, has created a tension among several of the leading nations, which may breed war on the least provocation, according to Mr. Kelly.

Among the problems confronting the nations at this time is one seven centuries old and known as the Polish court, which represents a German colony situated in Poland. "Unredeemed Hungary" is another problem brought forward by the map makers, which created the new nation of Hungary surrounded by hostile nations fully armed. The Adriatic sea is another problem with Italy looking with longing eyes across the sea to territory she would like to possess and a territory she was promised in a secret treaty if she would join hands with the allies. There is an enmity existing between Italy and Yugoslavia that may not subside until the feeling is settled by war.

Bulgaria is another new nation carved at the peace treaty, which feels that she has been misused. The nation of Austria presents possibly the most dangerous menace to peace and only recently war was narrowly averted when in July of this year, Chancellor Dolphus was murdered. Major Kelly said the murder of Dolphus might have made the world safe from war for a time at least and it also showed the power of Hitler in Germany was waning. The Saar basin, formerly the great coal district of Germany, now in possession of France, may cause more friction when this district on January 13 and 14 votes to determine whether it will remain under the League of Nations, whether it will become a part of France or go back to Germany.

Out-of-town visitors at the club luncheon Tuesday included: Herb Smyrl, Col. D. C. Pearson, Major J. R. Kelly of Roswell; J. R. Ogden of Loving, and Ed Stewart of El Paso, Texas.

JOYCE-PRUIT CO.'S XMAS GIFT CONTEST

Three young women—one from Carlsbad, one from Artesia and one from Pecos—will be sent for a week's vacation trip with all expenses paid to Mexico City during the Christmas holidays by the Joyce-Pruit company stores of these towns.

The announcement was made today by S. A. Taylor, general manager of the three stores.

The young women will be selected by an election conducted by customers of the store. Votes will be given for each 25-cent purchase or for each 25 cents paid on account.

The election will start Thursday, this week, and will continue until the day before Christmas.

Mexico City is known as a winter playground and recreation city for the United States. Recently, it has made a strong bid for tourists and it is established as a winter resort.

It is the capital of the "land of romance."

The trips the young women will take will be given added interest because of the history of the city which they will visit.

Nominations for the election can be made by any customer or individuals can enter their names by calling at the stores in the three towns.

The Joyce-Pruit company recently attracted attention with an election in which a young woman was selected to attend the World's Fair at Chicago.

Anyone is eligible except employees of Joyce-Pruit or their families.

how fate may shape the destinies of man. A disagreeable dust storm was blowing and he had packed up ready to catch the next train out when he met two early-day residents who persuaded him to stay on a while longer.

Like other pioneers, Mr. Jackson had his disappointments, and lived to see many of his business ventures turn into a loss instead of a profit. His unswerving loyalty to his community and to the section in which he lived is a courageous example he left for others to follow. This loyalty was often maintained at a personal sacrifice and expense to him, at home and in the state legislative halls, where he served as a state senator from the 19th district for two years.

During his twenty-five years of residence here he was active in community affairs, serving as president of the Chamber of Commerce, as a member of the City Council, City Attorney, a member of the Artesia school board and president of the First National Bank, where he at one time was the largest stockholder of this institution.
