CHINCH BUGS STOP STREET CAR SERVICE

Millions of tiny chinch bugs, swarming on the rails in Phoenix, Arizona, Monday, halted street car service in two sections of the city.

The pests, covering the rails for a stretch almost a block long, caused the tram wheels to spin, and it was necessary for motormen to sweep the bugs from the tracks before the cars could gain enough traction to travel.

In some sections of the city residents notified city authorities that the bugs may force them to leave their homes.

Artesia Business Men To Make Goodwill Trip On July 10 and 11

The trippers will spend the first day visiting the communities of Hope, Dunken, Pinon, Avis, Weed and Cloudercroft, and will spend the night in Cloudercroft, returning July 11th down highway 83.

Heavy Rains On Cottonwood Wash Up Cotton Plants

Heavy rains falling in the foothills above the Cottonwood community on the night of the 12th inundated sections of farms along the Cottonwood creek, the flood waters of which reached a peak of the past ten or twelve years. The Cottonwood community was in the edge of the heaviest rain of the year. According to reports, five to six inches of rain fell in the hills to the west, causing Cottonwood creek to go out of banks and spread over parts of several farms. Estimates say that from 100 to 200 acres of cotton was washed up. The Upper Cottonwood section received from an inch and a half to two inches of rain, but no particular damage was done outside of the creek bottom. The wind and rain storm disrupted telephonic communication, making it impossible to obtain any report before going to press last Thursday morning.

New Artesian Well On Flint Ranch Is One of Best Drilled In Area

One of the strongest and best artesian wells ever drilled in this section was completed last week by Pearson Brothers on the Flint ranch southeast of Artesia. The well, located west of the ranch house, was drilled to a depth of 885 feet and flowed twenty-seven inches over a ten-inch casing protruding a height of five feet from the ground level. While no official gauge has been taken of the flow, Clifford Smith, artesian well inspector, estimates the flow at 2,600 gallons per minute or better. A test of the flow is will be made at an early date.

SANDIA CONFERENCE ENDED

The annual Sandia Conference, sponsored by the Presbyterian churches and located in the Sandia mountains near Albuquerque, ended a week's session Monday. A motion picture of every feature of the conference was taken, including interesting spots of the conference grounds and will be shown here later.

The Rev. W. B. McCrory, local Presbyterian minister, reports the conference just closed was the best in history. Plans are being made to care for a hundred percent increase in attendance next year. Snowdrifts often measuring six feet was one of the unusual sights conference visitors saw this year in and near the conference grounds.

Mrs. Alton Partee returned Monday from Springer where she visited home folks for the past week. Mrs. Partee was accompanied home by her sister, Miss Nedra Diver.

Fire Follows Explosion In Oil Refinery; Muncy Lives of Workers; Is Injured Trying To Save Praised For Bravery.

Roy Muncy, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Muncy, was badly burned in an oil explosion at an oil refinery at San Pedro, California Tuesday afternoon, according to a telegram received here Tuesday night. Details of the accident are not fully known, but it was said Mr. Muncy rushed into the fire to cut off gas, which threatened to explode and endangered the lives of several workers.

Three trucks were burned in the fire which followed the explosion. Mr. Muncy was burned about the face and hands. While his condition is regarded as serious, the burns will not prove fatal unless complications set in. A telegram received this morning stated the condition of Mr. Muncy was considered splendid and that he was out of danger. His eyes have not been injured as was at first feared and physicians state the burns, tho severe will leave no scars.

California papers have praised Muncy for his bravery and quick thinking in trying to save the life of a truck driver. The driver, however died last night.

Farmers Asked To Sign 1935 Cotton Papers

All Applications Should Be In June 22; Growers In National Pool May Transfer Certificates Or Get New Papers.

Applications for Bankhead cotton certificates are now being taken, and all producers who have not done so should contact their committeemen immediately and sign these application forms. Applications are to be completed by June 22nd. No applications will be held; therefore, every producer should make it a point to contact the committeemen. The applications for the producers who have contracts have been completed and all the producer needs to do is to check the form and sign. For the producers who did not sign a contract, they must prepare a special application form. Delay in signing means a loss of certificates to the county and various producers; therefore, all producers should contact their committeemen immediately.

All producers holding surplus tax exemption certificates for 1934 should send them or bring them into County Agent Wunsch's office and sign proper forms to secure new certificates for 1935. This should be done before July 1st, as these should be sent in.

Those farmers having tax exemption certificates in the National Pool can either transfer these to a new pool which is being formed, or secure new certificates. The second payment and receipt forms on these certificates should be received at County Agent Wunsch's office most any day, according to information from E. L. Deal, who is in charge of the surplus tax exemption certificate pool. Upon receipt of these checks and forms all producers will be immediately notified.

According to present estimates, approximately 31,000,000 acres of cotton have been planted with an estimated production of 11,400,000 bales.

Ten farmers from Eddy county attended the Farm Credit conference held at Roswell on June 13th. Ralph Snyder, president of the bank for cooperatives and P. H. Stevens, statistician of the farm credit administration of Wichita, were present and explained various loan agencies under the farm credit administration. One of the most important points of information was that the interest rates had been reduced on all loans beginning July 1st, to 3 1/2 percent for one year and 4 percent for the next two years.

L. E. Freudenthal, president of the New Mexico State Farm Bureau, emphasized the fact that the national farm organizations were very active in the passage through congress of the Wheeler amendment which made this reduction possible.

Christian Church Anniversary Week Is Well Attended

The First Christian church of Artesia will close their thirty-first anniversary celebration today. The celebration opened Sunday as the services centered around the theme "Remembrance." Other services were held Monday, Wednesday and today.

Anniversary Night
A large group of members and friends of the First Christian church attended the thirty-first anniversary celebration at the church on Monday evening. A fellowship supper was served at 7 o'clock, which was followed by an interesting program planned around the idea of a "memory train." The Conductor, Carroll Graham, asked the audience to board the "memory train" for a trip into the past. The brakeman, Ben Dunn, called the "stations." Stopping at "Churchville," Mrs. J. B. Atkeson, a charter member of the church, gave an account of the church's founding and history. As the train moved along toward "Sunday School Land," Mrs. Ira Reser posed as motherhood while Ruby Rowland stood beside her and gave an appropriate reading. Other stops brought reviews of the Sunday school by C. O. Brown; of the women's work by Mrs. C. Bert Smith and Mrs. F. A. Mandia, and of experiences by some of the early members. The program was concluded with a hymn, "The Church's One Foundation."

Suit Filed Thursday Seeks To Enjoin the Carlsbad Liquor Law

A suit asking that the city of Carlsbad be enjoined from enforcing its new liquor ordinance, was filed in district court Tuesday by Fred Tipton, Carlsbad liquor dealer.

Lack of a quorum when the ordinance was passed, unjust and arbitrary discrimination, absence of the right of the city to limit sale of liquor to certain districts, failure to establish a graduated license fee for the sale of different types of liquor, and the denial of equal rights of ownership and property under the state and federal constitution are allegations on which Tipton's suit is based. Tipton is owner of the Cactus gardens near the north city limits of Carlsbad.

The show featuring "Sequoia," will start promptly at 2:00 p. m. The feature picture was taken in Sequoia National Park, California, and shows the love existing between two wild animals, a deer and a mountain lion. These animals are ordinarily considered to be natural enemies, but in this picture the two animals are very much attached to each other. The purpose of the free show at the expense of the Rotary and Woman's club is to teach children to be kind to animals.

REWARD IS OFFERED BY GOV. OF ILL.

Gov. Horner Offers $500 Reward For Couples Missing A Month; State Officers Tracking Down Clues.

SPRINGFIELD, Illinois—A reward of $500 was offered by Governor Henry Horner yesterday for the apprehension of the persons responsible for the disappearance of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Lorius of East St. Louis and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heberer of Du Quoin, who are believed to have been robbed and slain in New Mexico a month ago.

The two couples, motoring to California, were last seen May 22 in Albuquerque, their automobile was later found abandoned in Dallas, and forged travelers checks have been cashed in Texas.

Governor Horner notified Governors Alfred of Texas and Tingley of New Mexico of the reward and asked that the investigation be continued.

Information tending to show the missing Illinois tourists did not pass thru Albuquerque or spend the night in the city was gathered at Albuquerque yesterday afternoon in an investigation of various clues available at Albuquerque under the personal direction of Gov. Clyde Tingley.

Coming to Albuquerque from Santa Fe shortly after noon yesterday the governor after a lengthy session with Chief of Police Pat O'Grady and Assistant Chief P. J. Dugan announced they had virtually disproved every clue which had heretofore indicated that the four persons had traveled through or stopped at Albuquerque overnight.

GOVERNMENT BY BLUDGEON

The threat of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to call a nation-wide strike unless the demands of his group are strictly adhered to by congress has done more than anything else possibly could to injure the cause of those for whom he pretends to speak. For in trying to bludgeon congress and the country into line behind this legislative program, which includes the Wagner Labor Disputes bill, Green has alienated thousands upon thousands of persons who might be sympathetic to some of his programs.

The country was sick enough already of the pressure exerted at Washington by selfish blocs, such as the veterans' bloc, the Townsend pension bloc, the Coughlin bloc, and the share-our-wealth bloc. Each of these groups is intent on carrying out its own purposes, irrespective of the effect which the achievement might have on the country as a whole. Now comes the labor bloc with a threat to stop the wheels of industry throughout America—and thereby to sabotage economic recovery—unless it has its way.

Green himself has given substance to statements of those who have warned that in enacting legislation which would make the government a recruiting sergeant for organized labor power was being handed to labor leaders who would use it in an irresponsible manner.

The Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch, in a pointed editorial, remarks that "if the president of the American Federation of Labor is under the delusion that this country is going to take such an ultimatum as that lying down, then he had better think again."

Continuing, the paper inquires what the A. F. of L. would think if the employers of the national announced that they would discharge 25 per cent of their workers unless congress enacted certain legislation.

"We all know perfectly well what it would think. Yet the president of that organization appears to regard it as proper for organized labor to put a pistol to the nation's head, and to threaten to wreck recovery, unless it gets the legislation it wants."

YOU CAN'T WIN

The reckless driver, like the habitual criminal, can't win. Every newspaper carries the evidence of that, in accounts of those whose lives have been sacrificed to speed, to incompetence, and to carelessness at the wheel.

The tragic end to the great career of T. E. Shaw, the famed "Lawrence of Arabia," was headlined in the papers of the world a few weeks ago. Not yet 40, Shaw had done service whose value to the English cause was so great as to make it almost unappraisable. He had distinguished himself as a translator of Greek classics. He was one of the most brilliant of living archaeologists. He was a military and mechanical genius of the first rank. It was certain that his period of greatest achievement still lay in the years ahead.

Shaw's "hobby" was to drive automobiles and motorcycles at incredibly high speeds on country roads. According to news accounts, his cycle was going at around eighty miles an hour when he was forced to deliberately crash to avoid striking a boy on a bicycle. A few days later he died, without regaining consciousness. His doctor said that it was best that he did not live, because of the terrible injuries his brain had sustained in the accident. Congenital recklessness had robbed the world of one of its gifted minds.

Every year in this country alone, some 35,000 people die—victims to improperly-driven motor vehicles. Among them are the famous and the obscure, the brilliant and the mediocre. Each life lost means that the nation's resources have been sapped—each death means misery and unhappiness to others. Reckless driving is an unbeatable game, at which the player always loses—and which likewise penalizes and robs the innocent.

FIRST READER LESSON

Six little boys met on a highway and began throwing rocks at each other.

Each had his pockets full of stones. Each little boy was hurt. Everyone was soon bleeding. So they quit for awhile.

But the sixth little boy wouldn't throw away his stones because the fifth one wouldn't.

And the fifth little boy wouldn't throw away his stones because the fourth one wouldn't.

The fourth little boy wouldn't throw his stones away because the third one wouldn't.

The third little boy wouldn't throw his stones away because the second one wouldn't.

The second little boy wouldn't throw away his stones because the first one wouldn't, and the first one wouldn't throw his stones away because the sixth one wouldn't.

So all kept stones in pocket. Whenever they met, a fight generally always occurred. The little boys had such names as France, Germany, England, America, Japan, and Italy.—Journal, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

COST OF ADMINISTERING NRA ABOVE 93 MILLIONS

What cost NRA is revealed in a startling manner by a recent survey of the National Industrial Conference Board placing the expenses of administering the 578 codes during the two year period at $93 million. This includes $71,704,406 for code authority expenses, $18,110,000 for the Recovery Administration, $1,214,000 for the National Labor Board, and the other expenses.

In addition there are other millions, untold, of code authorities such as those for steel and the automobile industry, which assumed the burden of administration with their already existent facilities and did not file budgets with the NRA.

On the same day as the NRA decision, the supreme court handed down another opinion which, while not so well publicized, is of equal importance.

The Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium law provided that when a farmer was threatened with foreclosure he could apply to a federal court for aid. The court was empowered to issue a stay against the foreclosure and have the property revalued by local appraisers. Thereafter, the law provided, the farmer could remain

(Contributed by Salguod)
We recently noticed in one of our dailies a remark by the editor to the effect that Japan is nervy to demand a navy as large as that of a christian nation like ours!

It is reported a Pecos valley woman advertised for a man to do odd jobs about the house and the following day an applicant appeared. "I want a man to do odd jobs run errands, one who never answers back and is always ready to do my biddings," explained the woman to the applicant.

"I understand," replied the applicant. "You're looking for a husband, ma'am, not a servant."

According to information reaching us while in St. Louis, Missouri, Editor Walt Martin rode a crowded street car in which several ladies were standing. Walt is a chivalrous newspaper man as everyone in Artesia knows. He therefore rose from his seat and gave it to one of the ladies standing.

"Thank you so much," said she. "That was very kind of you."
"Not at all, ma'am, not at all," protested Walt. "I know some men don't give up their seats to anyone except pretty girls, but looks don't mean any difference to me."

"Women became nags because their husbands behave so like mules," some wise or otherwise one has said.

Speaking of mules reminds us of a certain negro's donkey.

"Rastus, I see your mule has 'U. S.' branded on his hind-quarters. Was he in the army?" inquired a stranger.
"Naw, sir boss, dat 'U. S.' don't stand for no Uncle Sam. Dat means Unsafe."

A local amateur on the golf course was receiving instruction on driving.
"My advice to you is to go through the movements of driving without using the ball," said the instructor.

"My dear sir," replied the exasperated amateur, "that's precisely the trouble I'm wanting to overcome."

One of our local citizens coming from Abilene, Texas, recently, reports that he found the editor of this paper with a troubled look standing beside his car several miles west of Odessa, and on stopping he asked: "Why, Walt, what is the trouble? Can I be of any help?" "It's the gasoline indicator," he replied. "It's past the halfway mark, but for the life of me I can't remember whether it's half full or half empty."

Blowfish—So you went after that job, did you? I thought you believed that the office should seek the man.
Rinsewater—I do. But this is an on the property for five years for a small annual rental. At any time during that period he could again regain title to the property by paying the appraised value—which, as the appraisal was made on the basis of depression values, was bound to be much less than the original mortgage.

The supreme court, in a unanimous decision read by famed liberal Justice Brandeis, declared this law unconstitutional, as it deprived a mortgage holder of property without just compensation as provided for in the constitution.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

Here is an interesting comparison, taken from recently published figures:

In 1913, the cost of government—federal, state and local—was less than $3,000,000,000. In 1934, it was $15,500,000,000—a gain of 431 per cent.

In 1913, the cost of domestic electricity averaged 8.7 cents per kilowatt hour. In 1934, it was 5.3 cents—a reduction of 39 per cent.

The same politicians who were responsible for quadrupling the cost of government in a generation, are lamenting the "high cost" of electricity—which amounts to only one or two per cent of the average family budget—and are asking the taxpayers to let them run the power industry.

Is this concern over power designed to divert attention from the quadrupled cost of government, for which they are largely responsible?

Would the politicians who ran the cost of government up over 400 per cent in 20 years be good managers to reduce the cost of electricity or anything else?

BETTER BOYS

Visits to the CCC camps are most encouraging, and put at rest the published stories of widespread dissatisfaction among the boys. The camps continue to be helpful in making "better boys" of those who have become discouraged with continued "runs of bad luck." What is called "dissatisfaction" is merely the American spirit manifesting itself among the boys who are anxious to get back into the regular methods of their lives, and push ahead of their own initiative. The camps represent one of the finest movements there is for human betterment.

HOMEMAKING LOST ART

Lamenting the fact that the home-maker of today is of a lost generation, Mrs. Charles E. Gregory of the New York City Federation of Womens Clubs, declares: "We have outgrown the traditions of our grandmothers who learned from their mothers and passed on to their children the arts of home-making as they were practiced in their generation. The women of today belong to a new era for which they have not been prepared."

LYMPHATICS

The human body has three lines of defense against infection. The first is the envelope of skin which surrounds us and is continuous with the mucous membrane that covers all the channels that pass into or through us. The second line of defense is the lymphatic system. This system is like a lot of irrigation ditches that run backwards to a reservoir called a lymphatic gland. Infection that gets past the first line of defense is caught up in the lymphatic canals and carried to the nearest group of glands. When tonsils are infected the glands in the neck will swell. Therefore, when a doctor is making the decision as to whether or not tonsils should come out, one place he always looks at is the neck to see whether there are enlarged glands.

A cut or sore place on the hand may allow infection to get past the first line of defense there. The infection passes up the arm and sometimes is so bad that you can see the red lines under the skin which mark the inflamed lymphatic canals. There is a gland inside the bend of the elbow which will try to stop the infection. If that fails the infection goes on to the glands in the arm pit which will swell up in the course of their fight with the infection.

Infections of the leg lead to swelling of the glands in the groin. It is important to remember that lymphatic canals also run to the groin from the region between the legs where the external genitals are found. Thus a swollen gland in the groin may come from a sore place on the toe, but it may also come from a venereal infection. If

CROP REPORTS SHOW SIGNS OF DROUGHT RELIEF

The state shows signs of recovering from the effects of the drought that has spread over the state for two years, but damage is done beyond recovery to winter wheat, according to a report issued by Fred Daniels, Agricultural Statistician of U. S. Department of Agriculture. The winter wheat crop will be one of the smallest in years. The condition of spring wheat, oats, tame hay are near the 5-year average but the condition of oats and pastures is below normal. The fruit crops will possibly be above normal. Heavy rains during May have aided materially in improving soil moisture but cool weather retarded seed germination.

WINTER WHEAT: The condition on June 1 was 51 percent of normal compared with 21 a year ago and 59 for the 10-year average (1923-32). There was a material improvement of yield prospects from a month ago because of rain during May. A yield of 6.0 bushels per acre is forecast with a total production of 540,000 bushels. The production in 1934 was 561,000 bushels and for the 5-year average (1923-32) 3,712,000 bushels.

HAY: The condition of all tame hay on June 1 was 78 percent of normal as compared with the 10-year average of 86 percent. The condition of alfalfa on June 1 was 79 percent compared with the 10-year average (1923-32) of 86. The first cutting of hay over the state was late and light, reflecting the cool weather during April and May.

BARLEY: The condition of the barley crop on June 1 was 68 percent of normal compared with 36 percent a year ago and 81 for the 10-year average (1923-32). Although the June 1 prospects were below normal, the condition since that time have been more favorable and improvement can be expected.

OATS: The oats crop was planted under favorable conditions and a normal crop should be expected. The condition on June 1 was 80 percent compared with 50 a year ago and 80 for the 10-year average (1923-32).

SPRING WHEAT: Prospects are there will be about a normal spring wheat crop.

The condition on June 1 was 83 percent compared with 53 last year and 80 for the 10-year average (1923-32).

FRUITS: Fruit prospects are above normal. Very little frost damage has been done to the main fruit producing counties. The condition of apples on June 1 was 53 percent of normal compared with 73 percent a year ago and 62 for the 10-year average. The peach crop is estimated at 131,000 bushels compared with 123,000 bushels in 1934 and 78,000 for the 5-year average (1928-32). The pear production from a condition on June 1 of 56 percent of normal is forecast at 41,000 bushels.

United States
WINTER WHEAT: Production of winter wheat is forecast at 441,494,000 bushels compared with 405,034,000 bushels produced in 1934 and the 5-year (1928-1932) average production of 618,186,000 bushels. The condition of winter wheat on June 1 was 74.2 percent of normal compared with 55.3 percent on June 1 last year and the 10-year (1923-32) average June 1 condition of 73.9 percent.

Prospects have improved slightly because of favorable weather conditions over most of the hard red winter wheat area and slight improvement in the minor producing areas of the east. In the hard red winter wheat area, low-continued drought had accomplished much irreparable damage to the crop before being broken by rains in early May.

FRUIT: The June 1 apple condition of 71.3 is 3.5 points above the 10-year average and 22.6 points above the condition of a year ago. The total peach crop from the June 1 condition is forecast at 52,322,000 bushels which is 15 percent larger than the 1934 crop and 7 percent smaller than the 5-year (1928-32) average. The total pear crop is forecast at 21,999,000 or 5 percent below the average of the 5 preceding years.

Taos Indian Remodels Old Pueblo Kitchen

The federal housing administration has got a modern stove and kitchen cabinet into the oldest kitchen in the United States—that of the wife of Albert Martinez, (Chief Looking Elk) in the pueblo of Taos.

The age of Taos Pueblo is unknown. It is, however, an historical fact that it was ancient when the Spanish came to New Mexico in 1541, and has been uninterruptedly occupied by the same tribe of Indians since that time. The Taos Indians live a communal life, holding all property in common and occupying the same quarters, making addition thereto as may be necessary.

Chief Looking Elk (Albert Martinez) was Governor of the Pueblo for last year. These governors are elected for one year terms by a vote of all the adult males in the tribe, their election being approved by the department of interior, in charge of Indian affairs.

Chief Looking Elk this year holds the proud position of "War Chief," which in these prosaic days means that he has charge of all flocks and herds belonging to the tribe. In addition to his duties he is an artist of no mean repute, and his paintings while typically Indian, are in demand in Taos.

Albert made a loan amounting to $112 and some odd cents, for the purpose of remodeling his kitchen. Heretofore his wife, Josephine, has cooked over a primitive fireplace as her ancestors have done since time immemorial.

On a recent visit to the Pueblo she was found proudly exhibiting her sparkling kitchen to interested and jealous wives of other Indians not so fortunate. It is a law of the Pueblo that only one window may be let into a room, and this window must be kept closed in the daytime. This window which is approximately 18 inches square was duly closed but despite the lack of light, the white walls, sparkling lineoleum, new stove, and convenient kitchen cabinet installed made a very pleasant appearance, particularly in contrast with the dingy, dark and ill-smelling kitchen she used formerly.

In addition to being the oldest kitchen in the United States, Albert occupies what is probably the oldest apartment house in the world. Taos Pueblo is five stories high, and is situated on either side of Taos Creek, which furnishes water for these agricultural Indians.

Albert tells an interesting story about the first Spaniard who came to the Taos Pueblo. He was a priest, and mounted on a donkey. The Taos Indians had a legend which told of a God who would visit them seated on a hornless Elk, and never having seen a donkey, nor clothing such as worn by the worthy padre, they immediately did him great honor by taking him to their sacred Kiva and giving him the food ordinarily given to the Gods, namely, parched corn and water. The "padre," after three days of this sacrificial treatment in a dark Kiva with nothing but corn and water to eat, soon became tired and made his wants known in no uncertain fashion. The Indians beat him

BUDGETS FOR STATE INSTITUTIONS ARE CUT

Faced with uncertainty but likely lessened revenues and higher costs, the state board of finance has cut the institutional budgets from 10% to more than that figure in some instances.

Figures from the auditor's office, tax commission and from the Taxpayers' association all show a likely deficit at the end of the next fiscal year (starting July 1), in amounts ranging around a quarter of a million dollars.

The slices in budgets of institutions is shown as follows:

University of New Mexico: Cut to $268,000, a reduction of $34,574.

Silver City Normal: $76,750, reduced by 10 per cent, with one $1,000 pension left unchanged.

Las Vegas Normal: $91,000, cut down 10 per cent. El Rito Spanish-American Normal: $39,975, cut down 10 per cent. New Mexico Military Institute: cut to $30,000 from $37,500. School for Deaf: appropriated $50,000 by legislative and voluntarily reduced own budget to $45,000, but cut to $40,000 by board. School for Blind: identical procedure as deaf school. In-sane Asylum: cut to $153,000 from $170,000.

Penitentiary: Cut to $103,470 from $113,470. Reform School: Cut to $24,750 from $27,500. Miners Hospital: Cut to $2,000 from $3,000. Museum: Cut to $21,330 from $23,700. Girls Welfare Home: No cut. School for Mental Defectives: Cut to $24,300 from $27,000.

The board will meet again probably this week to go over departmental budgets, as no department or institution, under the law now, may spend any money until its budget is approved by the finance board.

ADVISORY BOARD NAMED FOR N. MEX. GRAZING DIST.

The eleven-member advisory board for the Southwestern New Mexico Grazing District was named in Roswell last Thursday by over three hundred ranchers and stockmen meeting at the district court room.

The governing body of the district, provided for under the Taylor grazing act will consider applications and make recommendations to the Secretary of the Interior for the issuance of grazing licenses to permittees in the district, and will draw up a code of fair range practice which when approved by the Secretary of the Interior will become the law in the district.

Members of the board by counties are: Lea county: J. J. Lane, cattleman, and J. U. Gross, sheepman; Eddy county: John Lusk, cattleman, and Hal Hammil, sheepman; Chaves county: Sam Williams, cattleman, and Fields Waller, sheepman; Lincoln county: Lon Merchant, cattleman, and T. J. McKnight, sheepman; parts of De Baca and Guadalupe counties combined: Stinson Martin, cattleman, and Jack McWhorter, sheepman. Velva Wilson will represent the free users.

Airplanes Used In Prevention of Forest Fires

Planes soaring high over the timbered areas of the National Forests of the country, scouting forest fires, transporting men and supplies to the scenes of blazing ruin, and doing aerial mapping, are being used in gradually increasing numbers by the Forest Service in fire control work.

Yearly appropriations to the Forest Service for this work vary from $25,000 to $50,000 annually, with other funds available for work on going fires, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Planes have been a part of fire control work during the past 15 years. In Region 3, Arizona and New Mexico, they have been used for transportation purposes to the northern areas of trained, Forest Service men to aid in fighting large fires.

The most extensive use has been in northern Idaho, western Montana, Oregon, Washington, and California. They are also playing an important part in the sparsely settled, lake-dotted region of Minnesota for both observation and transportation purposes.

Experiments in fire fighting aircraft, carrying water or chemicals, have been made. These experiments have been found to be impractical because of the hazards encountered in low flying over rough country. Such materials, to be effective, must be spread over an area of six to eight feet in the path of the fire. Because liquids have a great tendency to spread when dropped from a plane an enormous amount must be carried in order to be effective.

Difficulties also have been encountered in finding a suitable chemical not poisonous or dangerous to handle and yet easily applied.

Some chemicals, dependent upon the formation of a smothering gas, work splendidly in an enclosed space, but in timbered areas, accompanied with winds, they are found to be impractical. A gas, heavy enough not to be effected by air currents, immediately drains into the valleys, and is, in rough mountainous country, very ineffective.

So far, no chemicals have been found to be of much value in fire fighting, but additional tests, however, are continually being made.

MRS. CRANDALL DEAD

A delayed announcement of the death of Mrs. William Crandall of Payette, Idaho, on May 30th, has been received here by Mrs. L. L. Feather. The death of Mrs. Crandall, who was past eighty, was said to have been due to her advancing years. Mr. and Mrs. Crandall are former residents of Artesia and will be remembered by the early residents. Mr. Crandall served as justice of the peace here for sometime and was also engaged in the real estate business. Mrs. Crandall was the mother of Mrs. J. M. Conn, also a former resident of Artesia.

LOCAL GIRL IS A PROMISING ARTIST

Miss Violet Robertson, daughter of Mrs. Zilla Messer, who for several years has interested local people who are interested in art, is winning favorable comment from her teacher at the Taos art colony.

Miss Robertson, a natural little artist, had her first lessons this summer. She is studying under E. J. Britan at Taos, and is making a study of portrait painting. Last week she made her first portrait from a live model, using "Indian Pete," a well-known model in the colony. When Miss Robertson had finished, "Pete" said, "It looked more like him than any artist had ever made."

Miss Robertson took to Taos an Indian picture which she made to be viewed by her instructor. It was sold to Joe Patterson of Oklahoma City. When it was hung in his home a friend of his, Judge Hively, also of Oklahoma City, admired it so much that he had Miss Robertson paint him a similar picture.

Her instructor and others are very enthusiastic in regard to her future, provided she is able to spend more time under good artists for instruction.

ROTARY LUNCH PROGRAMS

At the June 11th meeting of the Artesia Rotary Club, the scheduled out-of-town speaker, L. R. Conarty of Carlsbad, failed to appear. The local Santa Fe agent, C. O. Brown, took his place on the program and gave a very interesting talk on railroads. He reviewed the part the railroads had played in the building up of our western country. He also touched on the present-day problems of the railroads losing a tremendous amount of traffic due to loss of business by their customers and other modes of transportation. The railroads are making a real effort to regain this business and increase it by every fair means at their command, such as air conditioned passenger lines with greatly increased speed, and many other added comforts and conveniences. Also freight schedules have been moved up until long haul freight is delivered in so short a time that it is almost unbelievable. John W. Brown, operator and ticket clerk in the local Santa Fe depot, was also a visitor.

At the June 18th meeting J. L. Truett, local postmaster, gave an informative talk on the volume of business handled by the local post office and also an account of the varied service they are required to give. He also stressed the part the customer could do to assist the postal employees in giving a better service. More particularly the proper addressing and return card on all mail.

The main point stressed by Mr. Truett in connection with good mail service is never to send the children after valuable mail.

An interesting fact brought out by the speaker told of the increase in receipts enjoyed by the Artesia office during the past year. The receipts at the end of the last fiscal year were equal to those of 1928. The office force last year handled an average of 6,000 pieces of mail daily.

Pior Rubber Co. To Celebrate Its 15th Anniversary

The Pior Rubber Company this week is celebrating its 15th anniversary in Artesia. In commemoration of the event this company is offering many special values in tires and auto accessories that should have an appeal for the vacationists and holiday trippers.
Fifteen years ago Ben Pior, proprietor, started his business career in Artesia, first establishing his company in the building now occupied by the Sanitary Grocery. Two years later he moved to the corner of 5th and Main and built the first drive-in service station seen in Artesia. He states that he built not only the first but the last drive-in service station in Artesia, his newest venture being the completion of the Sunshine Service Station north of the Artesia Hotel on First street.
During the thirteen years on the corner of 5th and Main Mr. Pior has doubled the size of the station building and has also more than doubled the size of his tire and auto accessory stock. He attributes the success of the firm, first to its efforts to render service and second to its efforts to give real tire values.

Mrs. Chester Cave entertained the A. B. C. Sewing club Thursday afternoon, one visitor was present, Mrs. Winters. Delightful refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames Clay Hughes, Carson Howard, Hershel Phelps, Frank Ivey, John Lively, Ward Cave, Oliver Brazeal and Bob Bean.

to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created." (Rev. 4:11).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible:
"But as it is written, eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." (I Cor. 2:9).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text book:
"The periods of spiritual ascension are the days and seasons of mind's creation, in which beauty, sublimity, purity, and holiness—yea, the divine nature—appear in man and the universe never to disappear."

Hauptmann Appeal Weighed By Judges

Fourteen black-robed justices of the court of errors and appeals will take the life of Bruno Richard Hauptmann in their hands June 20 to determine if he must die for the kidnap-slaying of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.
For four and a half hours—the defense has been assigned three, and the state an hour and a half—they will listen to oral arguments in the quiet, white-walled room. But this will be only preliminary, for during the whole of the summer they will study individually the ten-volume record of the trial at Flemington before deciding whether Hauptmann's appeal from conviction is justified.
The decision probably will be made late in October. Eight votes will be needed for Hauptmann to get a new trial. A 7-7 vote will sustain the verdict of the eight men and four women who sat in judgment in the old Hunterdon county courthouse for the first six weeks of this year.
Chancellor Luther A. Campbell, the state's highest judicial officer, will preside at the appeal hearing. With him will be Chief Justice Thomas J. Brogan and seven associate justices of the supreme court and five lay judges. Normally the court is composed of 16 men, but there is one lay vacancy, and Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, who sat at the Flemington trial, will not take part in the appeal.
Hauptmann himself will not be present at the hearing, and the attendance will be limited to about 75 persons.

The carpenter's lawyers, C. Lloyd Fisher, Frederick A. Pope and Egbert Rosecrans, have assigned 19 reasons why they think Hauptmann's conviction should be reversed. All are based on alleged "errors" in the conduct of the trial.
Of the total number 42 relate to Justice Trenchard's charge to the jury. Most of the others are based on his rulings on evidence.
In preliminary proceedings the defense stressed four points. It charged the summation of Attorney General David T. Wilentz was inflammatory, that he presented varying theories to account for the death of the baby, that the trial itself was in effect a "circus maximus" and that the daily presence of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh unduly influenced the jury.

It contends, moreover, that Hauptmann's constitutional rights were violated, and has said it will carry the case to the United States supreme court.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Blocker left this afternoon for Hot Springs, this state, to attend the two-day session of the Press Association which will be held there Friday and Saturday.

Miss Alma Phair underwent a major operation in the Eddy County hospital at Carlsbad Tuesday morning. Her condition is quite satisfactory and she will be removed to her home here the first of next week.

CATHOLICS IN MEXICO ATTACK GOVERNMENT

More than 15,000 Catholics paraded unmolested past the national palace Sunday in Mexico City while their speakers attacked the government, demanding religious liberty.

There was only one incident. A youth shouted, "Death to President Cardenas!" and was arrested. Catholic orators, speaking in front of the Palace of Fine Arts, addressed themselves to visiting Rotarians there to attend the annual international convention, asserting: "If you were not here we could not parade. We want you to know we are fighting for religious liberty and liberty of conscience."

The World Wool Prospects Good

The outstanding development in the domestic wool market in the last month was the upward turn in domestic wool prices after a decline which had continued for months. The price advance followed an increase in trading and heavy sales of wool on the Boston market in May. Rising prices in foreign markets, the smaller domestic clip and the relatively high consumption of wool by United States mills in recent months were contributing factors in the domestic price advance.

Total consumption of apparel class wool on a scoured basis, by United States mills in the first quarter of 1935 was 64,600,000 pounds compared with 50,500,000 pounds in the first quarter of 1934 and a naverage for the first quarter of 52,100,000 pounds in the 5 years 1929 to 1933.

Rising prices and increased buying interest were reported from English and continental European wool textile centers in April and the early part of May and mill activity has increased. Belgium reported considerable improvement in the wool textile industry following the devaluation of the Belgian currency.

The 1934-35 wool season in the Southern Hemisphere is drawing to a close. Although there has been some acceleration in disposals since the beginning of 1935 stocks on May 1 were larger than a year ago in all countries except the Union of South Africa, and were also larger than the average for the 5 preceding years.

A revised estimate of wool production in the Union of South Africa places the 1934 clip at 205,000,000 pounds which is 25 percent below the 1933 production. The downward revision in the Union of South Africa clip now reduces the total for 24 countries in 1934 to 2,820,000,000 pounds or 1 percent below 1933, and also below production in 1931 and 1932.

Interest is already being shown in prospective supplies of wool in the 1935-36 season from Southern Hemisphere countries where about three-fifths of the world's wool clip originates, exclusive of Russia and China. Sheep numbers were probably considerably smaller in Australia at the beginning of 1935 than for the past 5 or 6 years.

More Advertising Needed To Make Artesia Famous

June 16, 1935.

Advocate, Artesia, New Mexico.

I received a bundle of Advocates from Artesia this week and am reminded of the time I was a citizen of that town. Reading it over I see a number of names which are familiar, although I left there in 1912, long before you had oil or potash or even before the big cave was found. You did not raise cotton then either.

Have met a number of folks from here at different times, so have kept in touch with your progress. When in California I met a number of Artesia folk and they said all Artesia lacked to make it as famous as southern California was advertising.

Have lived in El Dorado, Kansas, most of the time since I left there, through its oil boom, so I know why you built a six story hotel. I suspect from the very neat handwriting of the address on the bundle of "Advocates" my old neighbor Mrs. Stagner is responsible for them. I surely appreciated them and enjoyed reading every thing in them.

Was glad to read the Hope News after seeing the picture of the dry river in the "Saturday Evening Post" and reading how all the orchards died. Was surprised to know they still had fruit there. Hoping some of the older settlers remember me kindly and hoping Artesia will always grow and prosper.

I remain respectfully,
SADIE ELDER,

Chevrolet Dealers "All Stars" Defeat Hold Advertising The Presbyterians Confab In Detroit

Seventy-four Chevrolet dealers from all parts of the United States attended a two-day advertising conference June 13 and 14 in the General Motors building, under the supervision of William E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company.

The objective of the conference was to obtain free interchange of ideas on the mutual problems of the company and its dealers. Several round-table discussions were on the program, and dealers were invited to offer constructive suggestions on advertising and other subjects relating to their business. Several suggestions made at an earlier session of the same type were adopted with excellent results, and the cementing of dealer-factory relations, made possible through the conference, more than justified the undertaking, in the opinion of Chevrolet officials.

While the meeting was termed a "dealers' advertising conference," its scope was wider than that name would imply, Mr. Holler explained. The sessions touched upon every phase of Chevrolet dealer activity—new cars and trucks, used cars, parts, accessories, service, accounting and business management, and financing.

Representatives of each Chevrolet department outlined for the group of dealers the Chevrolet Motor company's plans for the summer months as affecting that department, so that when the dealers left Detroit they took with them a complete picture of what is in prospect for the immediate future.

"The dealers' advertising conference was not the first of its sort we have held," Mr. Holler pointed out, "but it was by far the largest. It brought into Detroit key dealers from all the different Chevrolet regions and zones, and made available to them, at first hand, merchandising plans we have developed for the summer and the balance of the year.

"Chevrolet's regional managers and the principal members of their staffs also attended the conference, so that both the wholesale and the retail Chevrolet force had coast-to-coast representation. The dealers in this group accounted for 38,116 cars and trucks last year, and played an important part in Chevrolet's achievement of first place for the sixth time in the last eight years."

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stoldt and two children of Blackwell, Oklahoma, arrived Saturday. Mrs. Stoldt and the children are with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clayton at the Clayton ranch on the Sacramento river. Mr. Stoldt returned home Sunday.

William Daugherty is Last Of Federal Prisoners Incarcerated In Chicago Prison; Also Oldest of 3 Surviving Vets Here.

Wm. Daugherty, one of the three surviving Confederate soldiers of this section, recalls the experience of 70 years ago, June 16, 1865, when he was released from the federal prison at Ft. Douglas near Chicago, after having spent nearly two years in prison.

Mr. Daugherty was enlisted in Company A, 64th Virginia Infantry, in September, 1861. He served in this capacity until Col. Sloop till 1863, when his regiment was reorganized into a cavalry unit, and was soon thereafter captured at Cumberland Gap, Virginia, and sent to the prison at Ft. Douglas.

He is now past 93 and lives with his daughter, Mrs. O. S. Matteson in east Artesia. He enjoys good health for one of his age. To use his own expression, quoting from John Quincy Adams, "Wm. Daugherty is fine but this old house I live in is about spent." He is the last known survivor of his prison life. The other two surviving veterans are the Rev. J. D. Terry of Artesia and Thomas Blakeney of Hope. Mr. Terry enlisted in Louisiana in 1863 at the age of 16 and served in the cavalry until 1865. He was born 1847, now 88. He lives with his family southeast of Artesia.

Mr. Blakeney enlisted 1861. Discharged May 1865. Member Texas Rangers 1870. The American Legion has the photographs of all these veterans framed and will be hung in the Legion hut.

Eddy County Farm News

A new press bulletin just released by L. N. Berry, poultry husbandman at State College, discusses the disease "Fowl Pox or Chicken Pox." This disease is prevalent through various sections of Eddy county, and poultry producers should vaccinate against losses this winter. Young pullets should be vaccinated at the ages of six weeks to two months. There are two methods of vaccinating. One is called the feather follicle method, and the other the stick method. The feather follicle method is perhaps the best for the inexperienced person to use. It is a little slower than the stick method, but will give practically 100 percent "takes," while the stick method may give only a small percentage of "takes" unless it is carefully applied. About a week or ten days after the birds have been vaccinated the flock should be examined, to check on the success of the vaccination. It should be remembered that vaccination is a preventive measure and should be used at least two months before the flock begins to lay. Immunity apparently lasts the entire life of the bird; therefore, there is no need of waiting too long before vaccinating. To vaccinate after the flock starts laying is almost as serious as an outbreak of the disease itself. Vaccination after the disease has broken out in the flock does very little, if any, good. Therefore, vaccination should take place when the birds are about half grown, which usually means sometime in July.

Anyone wishing further information should write or call the county extension agent.

Approximately 100 cattle and sheep men attended the Taylor grazing meeting held at Roswell, June 13th, at which time advisors were elected for various counties in the district. John Lusk of Carlsbad was elected advisor representing the cattlemen of Eddy county and H. A. Hamill from Hope was elected advisor representing the sheepmen in Eddy county. These men were the choice of the livestock men in the caucus at the preliminary meeting held that morning in Roswell.

Dr. W. C. Doss will complete the T. B. testing of livestock in Eddy county on June 20th. Upon inspection of all reports Eddy county will be certified as a modified tuberculosis free area. There were only two reactors found in the county and these were small dairy herds. Both herds have been re-tested and found to be free.

TO PAY STATE SALES TAX WITH METAL TOKENS

SANTA FE—The state bureau of revenue has tentatively decided to issue metal tokens in one and five mill donations for use in preventing overcharge of the two per cent sales tax. The one mill token is the tax on a five cent purchase.

Ben D. Luchini, in the department, said the tokens probably would be ready July 1 when the new law goes into effect.

The tokens are the same size, but the one mill is aluminum and the five mill is brass. They are the size of a Costa Rican five-cent piece, which is slightly smaller and thinner than the American dime.

The tokens will be furnished merchants at cost, and they will make change with them.

High Court Gives Mooney A Chance For His Freedom

Tom Mooney cracked the legal barrier the first of this week which for 19 years has blocked his fight for freedom when the California Supreme Court, by issuing a writ of habeas corpus, opened its doors to him for the first time.

The court, which previously had held it was powerless to consider the case of the ageing life-term convict, recognized through its action his charge that perjured testimony brought his conviction of the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness day bombing.

Legal observers interpreted the writ which was made returnable June 27 as throwing the famous case wide open again and completely upsetting the contention of State Attorney General U. S. Webb that an executive pardon was the only avenue left for Mooney in his fight for exoneration.

"Today's order of the supreme court," declared George T. Davis, San Francisco counsel for the imprisoned man, "means that the attorney general must successfully deny the allegations of perjury made by Mooney, failing which, the prisoner will be set free. It is a noticeable victory for Mooney."

At San Quentin prison, Mooney paused in his work of peeling potatoes and smiled broadly when informed of the supreme court's action.

"I am very happy to hear the news," he said, "and am looking forward in anticipation to my release after the hearing."

The June 27 proceeding, court attaches said, will be merely for the purpose of settling details of procedure and determining a date for hearing the perjury charge and Mooney's contention that he is being imprisoned in violation of the "due process" clause of the United States constitution.

Charges of perjury, raised by Mooney's defenders shortly after his conviction of the bombing in which 10 persons lost their lives and 40 were injured, were aimed principally at the trial testimony of Frank C. Oxman, Oregon cattleman. It was alleged that Oxman, who testified concerning events in the vicinity of the bombing at Steuart and Market streets, was actually at a ranch 90 miles from San Francisco on the fatal day.

Mooney, who has consistently claimed innocence, recently opposed a recommendation of the state legislative assembly that his prison term be commuted to time served. He declared he did not want freedom unless it was accompanied by a pardon or court order which exonerated him of the crime.

Pres. of Mexico Greets Rotarians

President Lazaro Cardenas opened the 26th convention of Rotary International, held in Mexico City this week, with a brief speech in which he asked the delegates to understand Mexico.

Three thousand visitors heard the president discuss the economic and political conditions of the country.

Flanked by generals and prominent political figures, Cardenas entered the palace thru lines of soldiers, in dress uniform and with bayonets fixed.

Delegates enthusiastically applauded the president's speech, which was translated into English. The reply was made by Robert Hill, Columbus, Missouri, president of Rotary International.

President Cardenas, fresh from a political triumph, told the visitors he was "glad you are here" because Mexico has nothing to hide or "to make her ashamed in the face of other nations of the world."

Taking cognizance of criticism abroad of Mexico's social and economic program, Cardenas declared the country was proud of its laws, "which are looking for the salvation of the oppressed and the exploited," and is "proud of the educational system, which is designed for the benefits of most."

The local Rotary club was not represented at the convention held in Mexico City. Charles Morgan was elected as delegate and Hollis Watson as alternate, but neither was able to attend.

Teachers salaries show an increase of $418,332 in the present budget, Grissom stated, to jump from a total of $3,634,687 last year to $4,032,879 this year. The increase in teachers salaries alone is greater than the total increase in the maintenance budget. The apparent discrepancy arises from a re-arrangement of the transportation charge placing a large portion of it in the direct charge set up. This readjustment also accounts for the large increase in the direct charge item, Grissom explained. The total increase in the school budget, both maintenance and direct charge, is $761,699.

The tentative budget, Grissom said, is still subject to final approval. The items in the budget are subject to the state's income actually producing the amounts budgeted.

"In the past," Grissom said, "school teachers were called upon to take the brunt of the decrease in governmental expenditures. During the last two years, with conditions getting better, we have tried to restore the cuts which the schools were given during the lean years preceding."

"In considering the increase in the school budget this year, it should also be borne in mind that the school census has been constantly increasing. Three years ago there were 141,000 children of school age in the state. Two years ago this number had increased to 151,000 and last year the number had further increased to 156,000. There will be another increase this year although the census figures are not now available."

More Funds For Red Bluff Dam

Secretary Ickes today increased a PWA loan and grant of $2,600,000 to the Red Bluff Water Control District, Pecos, Texas, to $2,884,000.

The allotment, which will finance construction of a dam on the Pecos river, together with a power house and transmission line, was increased because geological conditions at the dam site will raise construction costs.

Other increases included: New Mexico: Fort Sumner, loan and grant of $58,000 for water system improvement increased to $65,000.

Clara Phillips, The Hammer Slayer, Free

The woman they called a Tiger because she slew another woman with a hammer, Clara Phillips, walked out of prison at Tehachapi, California, early Monday morning. She was nervous, agitated, wholly unlike the woman of fifteen years ago who was arrested for beating Alberta Meadows to death in a secluded spot in Eastern Los Angeles. She looked more like an actress than a woman who had been held in the state penitentiary for twelve years on a murder charge.

"I am not bitter," said Mrs. Phillips as she prepared to leave on parole. "All I want is that people will leave me alone and give me an even break."
