INTERESTING TO THE TAXPAYERS

New Mexico taxpayers have expressed interest in the proposal of the state administration to seek funds at the next session of the state legislature to repay the federal government for advancing $165,000, the sum necessary to secure the rights of way at the proposed Conchas dam site. If all taxpayers are going to have to foot the bill, then the administration is more interested in getting the Conchas dam started than we are. The people who will be directly benefitted by the construction of the dam ought to repay the state for any money it has to guarantee the federal government for rights of way. Such a move on the part of the state to assume responsibility in the matter without seeking reimbursement from those directly interested is too much Santa Claus for the average taxpayer, especially in view of the federal grant.

THE ELK SWINDLE

The 1935 big game season in New Mexico closed at sundown Saturday night, says the Las Vegas Optic. It was successful in numerous phases including more than the usual percentage of kills of deer, bear and turkey; greater revenue from non-resident hunters; more arrests for the violation of game laws, and more actual effort on the part of the state game and fish department to police hunting areas.

It was woefully unsuccessful in a second repetition of the "elk hunting swindle" of some ninety-nine out of one hundred hunters who paid an extra fee of ten dollars for the privilege of hunting elk on the Pecos river watershed.

A NEW ROAD BUILDING MATERIAL

A writer in one of the magazines proposes salt as a road building material. Roads built of clay and gravel treated with rock salt, came through recent storms and floods in New York state, it is claimed, without any appreciable effect. The rock salt, according to the authority, not only compacts the clay, giving it a concrete effect, but also crystallizes in the road surface and retards evaporation of moisture, thereby keeping the top weather moist and firm. New Mexico being well supplied with salt deposits, would find the material comparatively inexpensive as a component of road surfacing.—Alamogordo Advertiser.

A NEW RELIGION FOR GERMANY

In view of the German hatred for the Jews, it is getting difficult for the Teton to conceive of a heaven with any Jews in it and accordingly the Germans have set about to form a new religion; one that creates a special heaven for the Nazis. Now that's a good idea if it can be carried out. For instance we might set up a new faith and create a sorter super heaven for ourselves and friends. Naturally we would want to dictate to the creator what he could do and what he could not do, if we are to have a nice private heaven all to ourselves.

That in substance is about what the new German religion amounts to.

If you believe in statistics you may be interested to know that in the past fifteen years auto accidents in the United States have killed more people than all wars since 1776. A total of 244,357 men have been killed in all wars since 1776, while the auto casualties in fifteen years have amounted to 388,936 people.

Federal employees will soon be able to out-vote the taxpayers if those employed by the federal government continue to increase in number. There are now 2,620,618 people employed by the government in addition to others totally or partially dependent on federal funds.

Governor Tingley announced last week he was "going to run like hell for governor" next year. And this still leaves the voters in doubt as to how fast running like hell really is.

Be sure to insist on taking the right-of-way while driving; it will be a great comfort to you, while you are in the hospital.

The Modern Wedding Write-Up

Heretofore the brides have rather monopolized the wedding write-ups with a detailed description of their wedding paraphernalia; however, since men and women have been placed on the same plane, socially and otherwise, the groom may get a prominent mention in the future. And here is a sample of what future write-ups may be like:

"As Mr. McWhistle approached the altar, he was the cynosure of all eyes, blushing slightly as he replied to the clergyman's questions in steady and firm tones. He was handsomely garbed in a three-piece suit, consisting of coat, vest and pants. The coat, of fine dark material, was tastefully draped under the shoulders and gathered about the arms. The collar was turned back and lapels laid back against the chest. The sleeves were long. Black buttons adorned the front and the coat tails swept gracefully backward.

"A pretty story, circulated among the guests, was to the effect that the same coat was worn by the bridegroom's father and grandfather at their weddings. Mr. McWhistle did not deny the sentimental touch.

"The vest was sleeveless and cut low at the neck. It met at the front, where it was fastened with buttons. The pants were of dark worsted and cut rather full, in the prevailing trend. They were suspended from the waist, falling in a straight line almost to the floor. Each leg was of equal measurement but the severe simplicity of the garment was relieved by one pant-leg being caught on the top of the shoe, daintily revealing the ankle. This artistic touch called attention to the shoes of genuine black leather, laced with strings of the same color.

"The bridegroom also wore a shirt of spotless white and his neck was encircled by a collar, pure white, around which a cravat was loosely knotted and rode under his left ear with that studied carelessness which makes for supreme artistry in dress."

After a paragraph on the ushers, the story closed with the lines:

"As the bride was led from the altar, it was noticed that she wore the conventional white satin frock with veil and orange blossoms."

A stationery clerk had been drawn on a federal grand jury and didn't want to serve. When his name was called he asked the judge to excuse him. "We are very busy at the store," said he, "and I ought to be there."

"So you are one of those men who think the stationery business couldn't get along without you," remarked the judge.

"No, your honor," said the clerk, "I know it could get along without me, but I don't want to find it out."

"Excused," said the judge.

It is rather a coincidence when an individual is made both happy and sad at the same instant, and yet this is the experience of Judge S. E. Ferree recently. To make a long story short, Judge Ferree was returning home one night from a council meeting when he ran a tire and rim off his car near his home. Unaware of the accident, Judge

The Rural Schools Have 855 Enrolled

Enrollment in the twelve Eddy county rural schools, at the close of the second month of school was 855 pupils. Of this number 180 had dropped out to pick cotton, and the average daily attendance of these remaining in school was poor, on account of some being absent part of the time for cotton picking. As the cotton picking is nearly over in certain sections of the county, the pupils are beginning to re-enter school, and the average attendance is getting better at this time.

The Atoka school, which has not opened on account of cotton picking, will start November 25th.

Work has begun on the two-room addition to the Loving school and the one-room addition to the Cottonwood school.

Ferree came along down the street the following morning and spied a good looking tire and rim. "How lucky am I; of course I can use that tire," he thought to himself, and proceeded to put the tire up in the garage. En route to town Judge thought the car rode unusually rough and he reported the fact to a garage attendant, who, on examination, found Judge riding minus a tire.

"Your son is a college graduate, isn't he?" the stranger asked.

"Yes," confessed the honest father. "But in justice to the college I'll have to admit that he didn't have no sense beforehand."

Mr. Meek: "Darling, haven't I always given you my salary check the first of every month?"

Mrs. Meek: "Yes, but you never told me you got paid twice a month—you unprincipled embezzler!"

Lawyer: "I feel sure I can get you a divorce, madam, on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment. But do you think your husband will fight the suit?"

Woman: "Fight? Why the miserable little shrimp don't even dare come into a room where I am."

A business man in Los Angeles was recently fined $50.00 for trying to kiss his stenographer. If all the stenographers would report to the judge we could soon pay off the national debt.

Stranger at crossroads store: "Who's the close-mouthed fellow over there in the corner? He hasn't spoken a word for the last fifteen minutes."

Another village loafer: "Him? That's Pete Blackmore. He ain't close-mouthed—he's jess waitin' fer the storekeeper to bring back the spittoon."

Mother: "Now, Willie, I want you to go in and get acquainted with the new nurse and kiss her nice."

Willie: "Yes! And get my face slapped like papa did!"

"I see you're letting your little boy drive your car."

"Yes, he's still too young to be trusted as a pedestrian."

Banks Have Confidence to Loan

—when business men have confidence to borrow.

This bank is in a strong position to make loans whenever individual business plans and related business conditions warrant them.

From many quarters come reports of improvements in general business conditions for the nation as a whole. As such gains become more prevalent and firmly established the opportunities for successful undertakings will increase. At the beginning of such a stage in business it is important for business men to take stock of the future.

This bank is continually studying national and local business information and is always ready to discuss plans and conditions with its business neighbors. If it develops that a loan is justified, we will make the loan.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Otice Brown and family, formerly of Leuders, Texas, have returned to Artesia to make their home.

Bob Clyde Blakey has recently completed a training course in the Coyne Electrical and Radio school of Chicago.

Louis Hellburg of Hobbs, former resident of Artesia and Dayton, was attending to business matters here Friday.

Ty Cobb, famous early-day baseball player, was a visitor at the Carlsbad Caverns Monday from his home in Georgia.

Tom Wood of Roswell, former Carlsbad officer and now special range deputy under the Taylor grazing act, was a business visitor here Tuesday.

Boyd Williams of Elk was transacting business here Monday. Mr. Williams, who is serving as co-operative observer for the United States weather bureau service at Elk, reports the coldest weather experienced in that section up to Monday was reached on the 17th with a temperature reading of seventeen above zero.

Glencoe Rancher Commits Suicide

D. N. "Nelson" Bonnell, 56, a pioneer resident of Lincoln county and rancher and farmer for approximately thirty years near Glencoe, died Saturday morning at 9:00 a. m., from a pistol wound in the head, alleged to have been self-inflicted, according to a coroner's verdict given at the scene.

No explanation of the act was given, it was revealed, no word having been left by Bonnell, with the possible explanation having been given as dependency over financial matters, by those near the family.

It was said his family was under the impression he was on his way to Roswell when he left his home in his automobile, but he drove only a hundred yards up a dry canyon and his body was found there with a pistol beside him.

Nelson Bonnell, brother of J. B. "Bert" Bonnell of Glencoe, and the Bonnell Ranch, was born at White Oaks, New Mexico, in Lincoln county in 1879, and lived there for a number of years prior to his father's death. Following his father's death his mother and the family moved for a time to Kansas but the brothers, Bert and Nelson, came back to that section while young men.

He had been a rancher and farmer in that section for many years and married Miss Agnes Coe, daughter of Frank B. Coe, prominently connected with the Lincoln County War, and from that union nine children were born.

GOLDEN PHANTOMS

Fascinating Tales of Lost Mines
BY EDITH L. WATSON

RED MEN'S GOLD

THREE brothers named Rolleston went into the Uintah basin in the '90s, in search of gold. They found more than they were looking for in a rich silver and gold deposit—silver sulphide, sprinkled liberally with coarse gold.

Although the Indians were a constant menace, the brothers got out of the place with three mule loads of ore, which they took to Salt Lake City and sold for $20,000.

The Indians had warned them, in no uncertain terms, never to return to the mine, but three years later they took five mules and went back for more of the ore. They mined enough to load their animals, and were about ready to go back to civilization again, when the Indians appeared once more. Exactly what happened no one has been able to say, but the Indian version of the affair was that the brothers fell into the Duchesne river and the weight of the gold in their pockets held them under and caused them to drown. The mules simply disappeared.

After this the place remained un-molested for years. At last a relative of the Rollestons went out to hunt for it. But clondbursts had obliterated all signs of the diggings.

This may have been the same mine that Caleb Rhoads found. He said, at least, that it was in the Uintah reservation and that he had an understanding with the Utes so that he would be unmolested if he kept the place a secret. It is certain that men who tried to follow him were fired on by unseen persons.

Rhoads made a trip into the unknown region every year for 18 years; then he died. A man named Hartzell married the widow in hopes, it may be, of inheriting the mine, but she did not know the location—and although Hartzell hunted for a long time for the mysterious mine he never succeeded in locating it.

Milestones of American Genius

The Miles Standish memorial at Duxbury, Mass.

MILES STANDISH

HISTORY and poetry have combined to make Miles Standish immortal. If in poetry he figures as the man who lost out in a battle for Priscilla's heart, history attests his victories in the struggle against hardships in the new land of America.

Captain Miles Standish remains in our national memory as a symbol of the earnest Pilgrims and their arduous lives. The qualities of courage, loyalty, passionate love of liberty rooted in the earliest pioneer days seem woven into the very syllables of his name. There is inspiration in every tablet and statue to his memory, and there are many such throughout the country.

Miles Standish was born in Lancashire, England, of good family, and was educated for a military career. While fighting for Good Queen Bess in The Netherlands he met the Pilgrims who had taken refuge at Leyden and threw in his lot with them. He was on the Mayflower when it sailed to settle a new land for the sake of religious freedom.

Although a fighter, his tact succeeded in placating Indian chiefs and his wise dealings with the red men helped the struggling settlement, undermined by sickness and death, to survive. When diplomacy failed, however, he was among those at the head of the colonists in bloody skirmishes.

Whether the doughty warrior really sought the hand of lovely Priscilla Mullins is for historians to quarrel over. It is true that his wife died in the first bleak winter of the settlement and if Priscilla captured his heart, she did not break it beyond repair, because two years later he married another.

It was after his marriage that Captain Standish built a permanent home not far from Plymouth and called it Duxbury for his ancestral estates in England. Here he lived, sharing the life of the colony, serving as its magistrate and military leader, until his death in 1655.

In 1872 the monument shown in the sketch above was erected on the part of the Duxbury property known as Captain's Hill, by a memorial association of New England patriots. The sturdy stone tower, surmounted with a statue of the Pilgrim military leader, aptly represents the sterling virtues of Miles Standish.

Chaves District Court Opens At Roswell Monday

The fall term of the Chaves county district court started in Roswell Monday. Judge J. B. McGhee will preside over the court session with exception of November 26th when Judge Harry L. Patton of Clovis will go to Roswell to preside at a civil jury case: Samuel J. Reid versus S. E. Cain. He will also hear a number of non-jury cases. Other non-jury cases will be heard by Judge McGhee until December 3rd.

In three cases charges of pleas from not guilty to guilty were filed and Bob Whittle, (colored), was given a hearing and entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of selling intoxicating liquor to minors, with his case set for sometime during the present term of court.

Whittle was arrested last Saturday night and charges of operating a liquor store without license was filed against him before Dan C. Savage, U. S. Commissioner at Roswell, and he was released on a $1,000 bond.

A. L. Hamner was freed from a charge of assault with deadly weapon as the first case Monday morning, and Zepharino Garcia, held on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon was found guilty in the only other case appearing as a jury case.

Mortie Cobble entered a plea of guilty to a charge of grand larceny and Richard E. Sinclair also changed his plea to guilty on a charge of embezzlement. Charles Evans, charged with operating a game of chance, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty to end the day's proceedings.

Cotton Exports Gain In October

Reports of American cotton show a gain of 119,000 running bales in October, 1935, over the same month in 1934, with the outlook that exports should be somewhat greater for this season than last, according to an announcement of the AAA just received by R. R. Will, of the New Mexico State College.

The seasonal exports tabulated a gain of 62,000 bales, indicating that August and September exports were running behind the same two months of last year. Exports in October, 1934, were 592,000 bales; in 1935, 711,000 bales.

W. B. Camp, assistant director, division of cotton, states:

"This increase in exports is due in some degree to the change in the U. S. cotton loan policy which has made a larger percentage of American cotton available to world trade. On November 1, but 33,193 bales had gone into the ten-cent loan. The change in loan policy also has brought the price of American cotton more nearly in line with the prices of all foreign cotton. Another factor entering into the increase of exports of American cotton was the depletion last year of the foreign supply of American cotton; more was consumed from stocks than was purchased.

"While there are many reasons why foreign countries have not been taking their normal quantity of American cotton, one of the main difficulties has been in the matter of obtaining foreign exchange. This was particularly true of Germany and to some extent of

AAA Program Is Now Before Court

WASHINGTON — Exhaustive arguments seeking to uphold the New Deal's farm program as a constitutional exercise of financial and general welfare powers were placed before the supreme court Monday by administration lawyers.

Attorney General Cummings headed the battery of attorneys aggressively defending AAA processing taxes in the Hoosac Mills case, which will be argued orally December 9th.

The AAA brief asserted that efforts by individual states to solve the farm problem had failed, but that expectations of general benefit to the nation through the AAA "have been verified by subsequent results."

In addition the court: Heard administration lawyers cite the "general welfare" clause of the constitution in support of validity of a section of the Home Owners Loan act which gives state building and loan associations the right to apply for federal charters. New Dealers plan also to use this relatively uninterpreted constitutional section in behalf of AAA processing taxes.

Consented to hear arguments December 19th on a case involving constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley Authority law. Advancing this case ahead of schedule at the government's request set three New Deal cases for argument before Christmas—AAA taxes, Bankhead cotton (a case from Texas), and TVA.

Gave the government until today to answer the suits of eight southern rice millers seeking to enjoin the collection of September processing taxes.

Poland and Italy.

"Foreign countries owe the United States, including war debts, more than twenty billion dollars, which decreases their ability to get exchange to purchase American cotton, and the discontinuance of the policy of lending money to foreign countries to purchase American cotton further decreases their ability to buy it.

"The continuance of the U. S. policy of refusal to accept goods in payment for cotton adds another difficulty. The tariff wall is so high that it makes it impossible for foreign countries to exchange goods for cotton."

ROTARY PROGRAM

Plans were made at the Rotary luncheon Tuesday noon for a Rotary Ann meeting to be held at the roof garden of the Artesia hotel next Tuesday evening, beginning at 6:30 p. m. Several out-of-town guests have been invited for the occasion, including Col. Deek Pearson of Roswell, past district governor of the 42nd district, who will appear on the program.

W. C. Martin was the principal speaker at the luncheon Tuesday and talked on the changes brought about by the economic conditions.

Tempting Thanksgiving Dinner Dishes

Thanksgiving day is rapidly approaching and the all-absorbing question to the housewife will be "What shall we have for Thanksgiving dinner?" Miss Veda Strong of the New Mexico State College, offers some suggestions in the way of menus, recipes, etc., which may help solve this problem.

While Thanksgiving and turkey are always linked together, other meats may be substituted with gratifying results. Two menus are given, one using turkey and the other pork as the meat dish.

Tomato juice cocktail, roast turkey, giblet gravy, rice and sausage, stuffing, cranberry salad, stuffed baked potato, string beans, celery, rolls fruit cake, coffee.

Holiday fruit cup, roast pork, gravy, cranberry jelly, buttered peas, sweet potatoes de luxe, rolls, pumpkin pie, coffee.

Rice and Sausage Stuffing
½ cup milk
1 cup bread crumbs moistened in meat broth

1 medium onion, minced

4 cups cold boiled rice
1 tablespoon minced parsley
½ pound sausage meat
Salt, pepper, cayenne
Sage and poultry seasoning to taste

Mix the moistened and squeezed dry bread crumbs with the milk. Brown the onion and garlic in the shortening. Mix with the bread crumbs. Add all the other ingredients.

Sweet Potatoes de Luxe
Boil six medium-sized sweet potatoes until done, slice lengthwise, and arrange in layers in a buttered baking-dish with one tablespoonful of diced, canned pineapple between each two layers, and the potato as the top layer. Season each layer of the potato with one teaspoonful of salt and dot with one tablespoonful of butter. Pour over all one-fourth cupful of the pineapple syrup; sprinkle one teaspoonful of sugar, and dot one tablespoonful of butter, over the top. Bake at 400° F. about one-half hour, covering half the time. When done, remove from the oven, ornament the top with wreaths of marshmallows, return to the oven to puff and brown slightly, and serve at once.

Cranberry Salad
4 cups cranberries
1 to 1½ oranges
2 cups sugar

Wash cranberries, put thru meat grinder. Pare oranges with sharp knife, remove seeds; trim off white membrane (leaving the pulp exposed to the surface). Put rind and pulp thru grinder, mix with sugar and berries. (The ground berries should be mixed with the sugar and let stand for several hours before mixing with the oranges). Arrange on crisp leaves of lettuce.

LINEBAUGH TRANSFERRED

The Rev. N. L. Linebaugh, Methodist presiding elder of this district for several years, has been transferred from Roswell to Dallas, Texas, it was announced here Friday. The transfer was made on account of Mrs. Linebaugh's health.

The Rev. Linebaugh, who was pastor of the First Methodist church in Roswell at the time of his transfer, will be succeeded by the Rev. Claude J. Jones of Fort Worth, Texas, who will arrive in Roswell this week.

Would You Rob Your Own Safe?

Just about as silly as the man who thinks he is saving money by not investing money to keep his home or business property in repair and up to date.

The dollar invested for material and labor in keeping a piece of real estate productive, saleable and liveable, is not spent but invested. A dollar invested in repairing your home or place of business brings the largest returns obtainable not only financially but also in health and happiness.

The present market on building materials is a strong one with an upward tendency. Invest now while your dollar will bring you a larger return.

SCHOOL STUDENTS GIVE PROGRAM AT WOMAN'S CLUB

The regular meeting of the Artesia Woman's club was held at the club house Wednesday with a large attendance of the membership.

The program was of unusual interest and was given by Howari Hannah, a high school student, who spoke on "International Events and Their Meaning." The young man while only a high school student, had a thorough knowledge of his subject and was at no time at a loss for words to express his thoughts.

A very delightful part of the program was the portrayal of dance steps of foreign nations by nine junior high school girls, who were costumed to represent each and were presented by Miss Winifred Deterick. The first dance was a Dutch dance, followed by the Norwegian and the Bohemian. The dancing girls were: Sybil Pior, Bettynelle Lanning, Phyllis Bartlett, Mary Baird, Geraldine Little, Lujanna Frazier, Fiorella McCullough, Betty Flint and Shirley Bartlett. HIGH SCORE MEMBERS ENTERTAINED MONDAY

Members of the Fortnightly Bridge club holding high scores for the past year were entertained with an hilarious afternoon bridge, Monday, at the home of Mrs. Lewis Story.

Both guests and hostesses were costumed. Mrs. John Lanning as Ophelia, was awarded the prize for the tackiest guest. She was presented a basket of black kittens and when it appeared that she was reluctant in accepting, she was given a small tea set. Costumes were of brilliant colors with styles of many different ages, worn with much jewelry.

Newspapers were used for table covers. Playing cards of every description were used, some of which seemed as old as the costumes. After several rounds of contract in which the bidding ran high with doubles and re-doubles, the hostesses became the audience while guests entertained them with specialty numbers, a request which was written into the invitations and which was rigidly enforced. The mayor's wife, Mrs. Hollis Watson, who failed to comply with the above request, had to forfeit valuable wearing apparel.

At the close of the program, delicious refreshments were served in one course. The quartet tables were covered with white art squares (diapers), the oldest kitchenware was used, including tin cups and plates, old china and glasses of every description in an effort to produce an artistic effect.

The guests were: Mmes. John Lanning, Albert Richards, Henry Caudle, Hollis Watson and C. R. Blocker. Mrs. Frank Seale, a member of the high group, was unable to attend. The hostesses were: Mmes. Lewis Story, Charlie Martin, B. D. Clarke, C. R. Baldwin, J. B. Atkeson, William Linell and Landis Feather.

SIMPLIFY THANKSGIVING

IT'S just an old American custom, this Thanksgiving ritual, but it's one to be proud of. So long may it endure! And don't let any modern dietitian talk you into substituting baked fish for stuffed turkey, or fruit souffles for pumpkin pies. Serve a one-hundred-percent Thanksgiving dinner, but select foods which can be used also for a later buffet supper.

For no matter how adequate the dinner, there's going to be a supper. You know that. You know that along late in the evening, memories of that tender, savory turkey and that mellow, spicy pumpkin pie are going to lead thankful folks toward the refrigerator—for just a bite more.

Ways and Means

If you get down to ways and means, there'll be turkey of course. Then order a turkey that is sufficiently large so that you will have two cups of diced cold turkey left over to make a delicious turkey and rice casserole as the main dish for your buffet supper.

There will be celery also to add to the turkey dressing. Reserve the celery hearts to use as one of the appetizers for the evening buffet. There are many salads that can be tossed together with remnants of the Thanksgiving dinner, but perhaps you would like to make a gelatin salad a whole day before the holiday and put it in the refrigerator ready for Thanksgiving evening. A very delicious recipe for this sort of salad follows.

Preparedness Counts

Your tart shells for pumpkin tarts may be made a day in advance also. Then when you make your pumpkin filling for the dinner pie, make sufficient to fill the tart shells for the buffet dessert. The following recipes serve eight persons:

- Celery Hearts
- Watermelon Pickles
- Turkey and Rice Casserole
- Golden Harvest Salad
- Buttered Finger Rolls
- Jellied Pumpkin Tarts
- Coffee, Cider or Hot Chocolate

Turkey and Rice Casserole: Put alternate layers of rice, turkey and ham in a casserole, starting and ending with rice. Use three cups of hot boiled rice, two cups of diced cold turkey and one-half cup of diced cold ham. Dust the cup of diced cold ham. Dust the layers lightly with salt and pepper. Pour over the contents of one 1-pound can of cream of mushroom soup, and cover with buttered crumbs. Heat until well browned in a hot oven. This makes liberal servings for eight.

Golden Harvest Salad: Soften one tablespoon of gelatin in four tablespoons of cold water. Dissolve with one-third cup of sugar in one and two-thirds cups of boiling water. Add one-fourth cup vinegar, three-fourths teaspoon salt and cool until it becomes as thick as honey. Then add the contents of one 11-ounce can of diced carrots, one-half cup diced cucumbers and two tablespoons diced green peppers. Turn into eight individual wet molds and chill. Serve on crisp lettuce hearts and garnish with mayonnaise. Or you may serve on the same plate with the turkey casserole.

Tuberculosis Is Still A Menace To the Health of Our Young People

In spite of the economic situation and the continued necessity for relief, death rates from many of the important death-taking diseases are steadily decreasing. Tuberculosis used to take more people of all ages than any other sickness. Heart disease, cancer, nephritis, pneumonia, cerebral hemorrhage, and accidents, all have higher death rates today for all ages of the population.

But tuberculosis is, nevertheless, still a serious problem. It is the leading cause of death between the ages of 15 and 24. Moreover in this decade of life more than one-fifth of all deaths which occur are due to tuberculosis. This is indeed a startling situation.

Recent statistics show that every year in this country there are over 5,000 deaths of boys and young men and 8,500 deaths of girls and young women from 15 to 25 years of age. In other words, the rate of mortality for girls is 76 per 100,000 of the female population and 49 per 100,000 of the male population at these ages.

The fact that so many boys and girls break down just as they are reaching maturity can be combated in two ways. First, children must be better equipped to build up resistance and second, their physical health should be more carefully checked at regular intervals. Of course, our present-day pace affects children as well as grown-ups—they do not always have sufficient rest, nourishing food regularly, and proper chances for exercise and sunshine. Yet we are so much more health conscious today than our forefathers were. We have a far better chance of making our children a healthier group of citizens than our grandfathers.

As for the regular physical examinations that are necessary so we can find tuberculosis cases early and thereby get control of the disease—we may as well all make up our minds that check-ups on health have to become a part of our routine just as much as overhauling our automobiles and fixing up our clothes and houses at regular periods during the year.

To return to statistics again—it has been found from a study of tuberculosis cases in sanatoria that only 16 per cent were in the early or incipient stage of the disease upon entrance. The remainder were so sick that they will have to remain much longer under treatment and their chance for recovery is far less likely.

It was revealed in a recent study that seventy-one per cent of the women in a group of sanatorium patients were under thirty years of age on admission; fifty-three per cent of the men were under thirty. Half of the women had been admitted before they were twenty-five. Because of their youth their chance for recovery is better on the whole but when we realize that tuberculosis is a needless waste of lives—that it may be controlled and probably will be as unusual as smallpox fifty years from now, we certainly should do our part and give our children more intelligent protection.

DOE HUNTING IS SET FOR NOVEMBER 20th

SANTA FE—State Game Warden Elliot S. Barker said at Santa Fe Monday that about 125 permits for doe hunting have been issued, with the special season to open November 20th on does in the Magdalena division of the Cibola forest. The season will close November 24th. Barker and his assistant, George F. Ellis, will aid in watching the area.

It is still too early following the end of the regular hunting season, Barker said, to announce his report, which will be available in a few days. The latest report from the Magdalena station showed 1,528 hunters had checked out with 709 bucks.

Beware The Cough From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

Attebery Named Member of NADA

Announcement was received here that national headquarters in St. Louis of the National Automobile Dealers Association has appointed J. R. Attebery, manager of Artesia Auto Company of Artesia, as member of the national activities council of the association. A letter informing him of the appointment states that his name had been recommended by Thomas Closson, Santa Fe, member of the board of directors of N. A. D. A., for this state, and "comes as a recognition of your devotion to trade interests, and your constant willingness to sacrifice your own personal gain for the advancement of the trade as a whole," and that "it is an honor both to yourself and to the other dealers in your trade territory."

As member of the national activities council Mr. Attebery will bring to the automobile dealers the activities and policies of the national organization, reporting to and advising with local dealers occasionally on national developments and thus promoting united action and support for major endeavors. Also, through him national headquarters states it will be kept constantly informed of local group thought and desires.

The thorough organization of automobile dealers throughout the United States by similar appointments of key representatives of the national activities council, one in each city of 2,000 population or more, is now under way.

The St. Louis announcement lists immediate functions of the national organization, to be thus supported by the dealer body in every possible way, as including:

The thorough understanding and support of developments of dealer benefits that may be derived through national legislation or governmental agency without bureaucratic interference.

Support of the N. A. D. A. program to obtain more equitable provisions in factory-dealer relationships; participation in trade surveys to obtain indisputable factual data to promote better factory-dealer relationship, and an intensive program to promote membership in local, state and the national associations, with increased distribution and use of the N. A. D. A. Official Used Car Guide book. In this guide, each month, is published the current market valuation of used automobiles that dealers take in trade on new car sales in lieu of cash.

"Recently manufacturers recognized and endorsed the guide as the one medium of determining the actual current market valuations of used cars, as a protection to the dealer and to the public," national headquarters has stated.

ARTIFICIAL LEG PROVES TOOL KIT

MULESHOE, Texas—In his artificial leg, B. L. Simms, alleged forger, carried tools, with which he virtually wrecked Muleshoe's new jail last week.

Simms was searched when he was placed in jail, but Sheriff Jim Cook did not suspect the artificial limb. In it, Simms had a veritable mechanic's tool kit including hammer, hacksaw and blades, chisel, punch, and an acid that softens tool-proof steel.

Simms' efforts to escape, in which he cut through bars and jail doors, was discovered as he was working his way through the last barrier between him and liberty.

Simms is now hopping around his cell on one leg.

Reach Agreement On Conchas Dam

Gov. Clyde Tingley advised his office in Santa Fe last week, that the "final obstacle in the way of actual construction of the Conchas dam project" has been removed and an agreement was reached with owners of the Bell ranch to permit immediate construction.

The agreement covered purchase of the right of way, the governor advised, and it was reached after conferences of the governor, representatives of the ranch and federal officials. Pending delivery of deed and other formalities, the ranch interests signed a contract permitting the government access to the land, he advised.

This procedure will permit construction to start without delay, he said.

"We now have about 300 men at work," he said. "This number will be increased to 1200 within a month and we will have between 4,000 and 5,000 employed when the project really gets under way."

He said the agreement reached with the Bell Ranch company, owner of the land where the dam will be located, provided for the payment of $155,000 for all necessary rights of way. New Mexico will drop all pending land condemnation suits.

The federal government will furnish the funds for purchase of the land, the governor said after conferences with Frank C. Walker, director of the National Emergency Council, and other officials.

As a result, Gov. Tingley said, steps were being taken to return the money raised by popular subscription in Las Vegas and Tucumcari, and Amarillo, Texas.

"All necessary papers are signed," the governor said, "and with dismissal of condemnation proceedings there will be nothing to hold up construction of the project."

Indian Summer Results From Whims of Weather

"Indian Summer," according to the United States Weather Bureau, is one of those picturesque terms that have crept into American traditions, no one knows just how or when. Meteorologists have never really defined the term, but they consider it to have more foundation in fact than such purely fanciful weather ideas as the one about the groundhog.

The ideal Indian summer, the official weathermen say, is a tranquil period—with little or no wind, with much hazy sunshine, and with temperatures well above normal, though not as high as in the real summer. It sometimes follows cold, stormy, somewhat unseasonable weather the latter part of September, in October, or even in November. Some autumns—about one-fourth of them—have no very definite Indian summer; others have two or three periods that might qualify as such.

The so-called "Indian summer" is the result of a strong, persistent high atmospheric pressure along the Gulf and south Atlantic coasts and out over adjacent waters. This high pressure forces cyclonic, or wide-spread, storms to take a more northerly course than usual, and their centers to pass along the northern boundary of the United States. Thus an almost continuous flow of warm southern air is drawn into northern territory. The haziness in Indian summer air is due to soil dust, smoke, and particles of dead leaves that rise readily with occasional gusts of wind, and remain long suspended because there is no rain to wash them out.

New Mexico Crops Are Near Normal

Weather during October was favorable for maturing of New Mexico's crops, and estimates of production of most crops indicate harvest this year will be near averages for recent years, according to a report issued by Fred Daniels, agricultural statistician, for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Harvesting of field crops has almost been completed under favorable weather condition. Fruit crops, with the exception of grapes, are smaller than last year but near the average of recent years. Pastures and ranges have made rapid recovery from the drought and will furnish near normal feed to livestock during the coming winter.

CORN: The corn crop is near normal and is estimated at 3,861,000 bushels compared with 1,088,000 bushels in 1934 and 3,872,000 for the five-year average (1928-32). The yield per acre is 13.5 bushels compared with 8.0 bushels in 1934.

GRAIN SORGHUMS: All grain sorghum crops this year will produce a near normal production. Acreage this year is above, but yields per acre below those of recent years. The grain sorghum production is estimated at 4,680,000 bushels compared with 1,694,000 bushels in 1934 and 4,638,000 bushels for the five-year average (1928-32).

BEANS: The bean crop is on November 1 estimated to produce 302,000 100-lb. bags compared with 66,000 bags in 1934 and 605,000 bags during the five-year average (1928-32). Dry weather during June and July caused a large abandonment of acreage and low yields.

BROOM CORN: A crop of good quality was harvested during October under favorable weather conditions. Reported yields at harvest time are better than early expectations. The production is estimated at 5,700 tons compared with 2,500 tons in 1934 and 5,740 tons for the five-year average (1928-32).

FRUIT CROPS: The total apple crop is estimated at 687,000 bushels compared with the unusually large crop in 1934 of 1,240,000 bushels. The crop is generally below average in quality because of worm damage. The pear production is estimated at 38,000 bushels. In 1934 the production was 49,000 bushels. The grape crop is estimated to produce 1,445 tons compared with 1,336 tons in 1934.

2,620,618 ARE ON FEDERAL PAYROLL

WASHINGTON—A survey last week showed 2,620,618 persons are now employed directly by the government with millions of others partially or wholly dependent upon federal funds.

Special Session of New Mexico Legislature Likely After Jan. 1st

From reliable sources, it was announced at Santa Fe Monday, a special session of the state legislature would likely be convened shortly after the first of the year. The call will be three-fold at least. First, there is the matter of relief—to find new money, or divert present revenue, to bridge the gap between federal participation and the state carrying the load. Second, there is the old age pension, social security, legislation which, though on the statute books now, is doubtful of execution. Third, is the matter of paying $165,000 advanced by the federal government for the Conchas dam right-of-way.

Present funds for relief are inadequate. Figures are not available, but at best the money expected, if all received, would be only a part of the sums needed, and only a part of the total heretofore available by way of federal grant. The state money, if all received from expected sources, amounts to only about $6.00 a month, it has been figured, as compared to some $40 of federal funds.

One of the principal reasons is that the franchise tax has not been produced as predicted. No one would fix a reason for this—whether because estimates were too high, or corporation withdrawing from the state, or because stock was being reduced. The original estimate of revenue from this source was a quarter of a million dollars—but the revenue has fallen far short of this estimate. Another quarter of a million has been diverted from liquor revenues and this money, naturally, is all available.

Chapter 86 of the 1935 session laws is not clear enough to handle the social security program and its inadequacy must be remedied if federal money is to come for this purpose, it was agreed.

Although there has been some talk of impeachment proceedings, it is very doubtful if such would be included in the call of the governor for a special session. Of course, in this, as well as the other issues, there always is a possibility—but those "in the know" say the chance is very, very remote.

This special session possibility raises some fine points too along strictly legislative lines. No less than seven solons (four in the senate and three in the house) may have some obstacles ahead of them they have not considered heretofore. It is the matter of their having other employment.

New Mexico's constitution does not provide for resignation of members of the legislature. They may die, or be impeached and thrown out—but they have to serve as long as they are elected and there is no valid reason shown against them. So it would appear several legislators would have to quit their state employment to sit in a special session.

A. J. Basel, who is here from San Angelo, Texas, looking after his farming interests on the Cottonwood, stated Monday he had twenty-four applications to rent his farm. The applications were made from as far away as Lamesa, Texas.

Verne Ziler of Carthage, Missouri, was a guest at the home of his uncle, Arba Green, from Friday until Monday en route to the Davis mountains in Texas to hunt deer. Mr. Ziler made the trip thru the Caverns Friday on his way to the hunting grounds.

A Knock-me-down

Whiskey is very commonly regarded as a pick-me-up. Yet the scientific evidence nearly all shows it to be a knock-me-down. The effect of small quantities is uncertain. Some scientists claim that at first and for a short time small doses act as a tonic; others claim that small doses have no effect on the circulation. The probable explanation of this disagreement is that alcohol injected directly into the blood or passed by a stomach tube into the stomach never stimulates the heart, but that when it is sipped in small quantities and not much diluted there is a temporary stimulation due to its action on the lining of the mouth and throat.

All experiments agree that in amounts of 30 c. c. (two table-spoons of alcohol or four of whiskey) or more alcohol depresses the heart and lowers the blood pressure. Now when people faint or suffer from shock after an accident it shows that their blood pressure is too low. If they are given four table-spoons or more of whiskey their blood pressure will go lower. This is not pick-me-up but knock-me-down.

So it is really rather remarkable that people still give alcohol as a remedy for faintness or shock. Probably it is because alcohol is a sedative: it blunts anxiety and be-fuddles our fear. Now anxiety itself will cause a fall of blood pressure and faintness and in such cases alcohol may make a person feel better even if it does them no great physical good. Snake venom causes a fall in blood pressure and for that reason whiskey is a dangerous remedy for snake bite. But it may give the person who has been bitten a little Dutch courage.

To sum up: a small dose of whiskey taken strong by mouth probably is a temporary pick-me-up, larger doses to a frightened person may be both a pick-me-up and a knock-me-down, large doses to a person who is not frightened are after the first few minutes nothing but a knock-me-down.

New Mex. Cotton Grade and Staple Is Still Improving

Cotton classed this week from the irrigated states shows an increase in the proportion of good middling and strict middling in New Mexico, and a noticeable increase in the proportion of good middling in California. A slight decrease in these grades is reported in Arizona and Texas, District 1. Preparation has improved steadily and very little spotted cotton is reported to date.

The proportion of cotton classed as 1-1/16 inches and longer increased in Texas, District 1, and New Mexico, whereas Arizona and California show a slight decrease. With the exception of Arizona, the proportion classed as 1-1/8 inches and longer remained about the same as the previous week.

NEW MEXICO: Cotton from this state shows an improvement in grade over that of last week, 35 percent having been classed as good middling and 95 percent as strict middling and above.

The proportion of cotton classed as 1-1/16 inches and longer increased from 96 to 98 percent this week and that classed as 1-1/8 inches and longer increased from 13 to almost 18 percent. Ninety-five percent has been classed as 1-1/16 inches and longer for the season to date.

Don't Let This Happen To Your Safe!

WHEN GOOD LIGHT IS SO CHEAP

Adequate light for both your home and office is one of the cheapest forms of burglary insurance you can buy. Robbers don't like light; in fact they cannot afford to take chances in trying to pry into your office safe or go thru your home in search of valuables, if light is there.

A modern lighting system also adds to the attractiveness of your display windows and helps you sell more merchandise.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

V-8 LEADERSHIP

ON OCTOBER 31 of last year, Henry Ford announced his intention to build a million Ford V-8s in 1935. We are pleased to report that this goal was reached in exactly ten months instead of a full year.

One million cars and trucks is an impressive total. But figures by themselves mean nothing. It is what they represent that counts. Selling a V-8 at a low price has brought a new kind of automobile within reach of the people. Producing it has provided steady work for hundreds of thousands of men in the Ford plants, in associated industries and on the farm.

These million Ford V-8 cars and trucks have helped to make things better all around. In the first ten months of 1935 the Ford Motor Company paid out in the United States alone, $140,119,326.00 in wages and $523,111,389.00 for materials.

Pablo Benavides, Hillsboro, 30-day suspended jail sentence for hunting deer with no license.

R. D. Jones, Roswell, fined $25 for killing a pheasant hen.
Daniel Lucero, Tinnie, fined $25 for hunting without a license.
P. L. Parker and C. Dranen, both of Fort Stanton, and both fined $25 for hunting on the Bonito Eagle Creek refuge.
B. H. Runyan, Terrero, given a suspended fine of $25, paid a $25 witness fee when arraigned for illegal possession of wild turkey.

WASHINGTON—Sharp reductions in the duty on Canadian cattle exports to this county, provided in the new trade agreement, between the United States and Canada, were accompanied by quotas to limit cattle importations.

United States duties on cattle were reduced from three cents to two cents a pound on cattle weighing 700 pounds or over. On calves weighing less than 175 pounds the duty was reduced from two and one-half to one and one-half cents a pound.

The agreement does not affect cattle weighing between 175 and 700 pounds.

President Roosevelt estimated the quota for cattle weighing more than 700 pounds will be about 155,000 head annually and the calf import quota about 50,000 head a year. The present yearly importation from Canada is 140,000 beef cattle.

Imports in excess of quotas will carry the old tariff rates. The limitation is based on the total average number of cattle slaughtered in the United States from 1929 to 1932.

Bulldogs Play At Home for Next 2 Games of Football

The Artesia Bulldog football squad will play the last two remaining games on home grounds. Tomorrow afternoon at 1:00 p. m., the Bulldogs will meet the Lovington high school eleven at the Brainard Park, and on Thanksgiving morning, November 28th, they will meet the Carlsbad Cavemen at 10:00 a. m.

The local squad, playing under the handicap of lack of a second squad to practice with, have shown some improvement since the beginning of the season and have played most of the present schedule away from home. These factors account for the showing made thus far.

However, the local squad should take the next two games, according to the dope sheet here. If the forecasts are true, tomorrow's game will be an easier one than the one Thanksgiving morning at 10:00 o'clock against Carlsbad.

The game tomorrow afternoon has been moved up to 1:00 o'clock in order not to interfere with the funeral of W. H. Withington at the Presbyterian church.

Of the three teams played by both Artesia and Lovington, Lovington has lost two and won one, while Artesia has lost to all three opponents, but by a lesser score.

In the game last Friday at Portales, Artesia lost to the Rams by a score of 41 to 6.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Russell of Wellington, Kansas, are guests at the Shearman home. They are cousins of Mrs. Alwilda Shearman and expect to locate either in this or the Roswell vicinity.

Cattle Growers Meet In Capital

A sentiment for an unchanged cattle valuation was indicated at Santa Fe Sunday night as members of the executive committee of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association discussed matters of concern to the livestock industry at the committee's regular quarterly meeting.

Although increased cattle prices prevail over last year, the cattleman's viewpoint as explained by Lee Evans of Marquez, association president, is that because of "about a twenty-five percent calf crop," cattle owners failed to benefit from the raise.

A nine-man committee was appointed to meet at Albuquerque Saturday, November 23, to confer with United States Senators Carl Hatch and Dennis Chavez on the Argentine trade pact agreement, a discussion which, Evans said, probably also will touch upon the new Canadian trade pact.

November 23 was selected when the senators were unable to meet with the cattlemen on a previously selected date.

The New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association, Evans told the executive committee, "is in a better condition financially than it was a year ago."

JUST KIDS—The Toll of Friendship.

By Ad Carter

Number of Cattle On Range Is Same

The number of cattle on farms and ranches at the beginning of 1935 will be about unchanged from 1935 but the trend thereafter is likely to be upward, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in its annual outlook report. By 1939 a larger increase is in prospect, fewer cattle and calves will be slaughtered next year, but the supply will be of better quality and of heavier weight since a larger proportion of the slaughter will be of grain-fed cattle.

Most of the increase during the next few years, it is stated, will be in states west of the Mississippi river where cattle were reduced sharply by the 1934 drought and government cattle buying programs. No material change in production is in prospect in other areas unless hay and pasture production should greatly expand.

More cows and heifers and fewer steers were slaughtered during the first nine months of this year than in seventeen years of government records, says the bureau. Slaughter of cows is expected to continue large the remainder of this year to be reduced thereafter.

The bureau is informed there will be a material increase in cattle feeding this fall and in the corn belt and other areas where many cattle are finished for market. There is a widespread tendency to turn to cattle feeding to utilize available feed, it is stated. But with prices of feeder cattle and corn relatively high, the cost of finished cattle next winter and spring will be the highest since the winter of 1930-31.

Market prices of these cattle, says the bureau, are likely to decline seasonally during late winter and spring and to average lower than in the corresponding period of 1935. Prices of the lower grades are expected to advance seasonally during this period.

The sharp advance in cattle prices this year was due mainly to short supply of hogs and high prices of hog products, it is stated. The hog situation is expected to continue to be a strengthening factor to cattle prices during most of 1936.

The Hog Outlook

The downward trend in hog production ended last spring. Production is now increasing and this will be reflected in increased slaughter supplies next summer, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in its annual outlook report.

Slaughter supplies are expected to decrease between now and next April as compared with the corresponding period a year earlier but to increase thereafter to the end of the season in September. Heavier weights, however, are expected to offset somewhat the decreased slaughter.

Miss Juanita Richards left Sunday for Pecos, Texas, to be with her sister, Mrs. Roy Spivey, who was removed from the hospital to her home the first of the week. Mr. Spivey is just recuperating from pneumonia and Mrs. Spivey from an attack of flu.
