MAN NEEDS BUT LITTLE

Over-estimating the conditions essential to a happy and effective life is one of the prime causes of the sense of failure. It takes much less to make one happy than we imagine. Some verifier has put it thus:

"If there's no sun, I still have the moon;
If there's no moon, the stars my needs suffice;
If starless, there's my trusty evening lamp;
Or lampless, then my little tallow dip.
And if that fails, I still may seek my couch,
And sleep and dream there's light again!"

What this philosopher-poet is saying is simply that, if life deprives of this, and bars us out of that, and forces us to one new arrangement after another, there are still all the materials of a rich and happy life about us, if we will only think.

Life in the average village is something the big city sophisticates despise. Yet in every village are people who have accepted their place, and have turned to the cultivation of interests and affections right where they were, and have found peace.

We all know men and women who have been denied financial success and independence, but who plumbed the depths of mind and spirit, and have gained a wealth which money cannot give, nor poverty take away.

No, don't over-estimate the conditions essential to successful and happy living. It takes much less than one supposes to make a life. Remember what the late W. K. Vanderbilt once said, he who had everything—"My life was never destined to be happy; I had nothing to seek for nor strive after."—Jamestown, New York, Post.

COOPERATION NEEDED

Cooperation is needed among east side counties if a highway outlet to the oil fields is built and the same cooperation is needed if remedial legislation is placed on the statute books. Particularly do we refer to the need of a state-wide primary law, which has been consistently fought by politicians from the western and northern part of the state. A resident, well versed in state affairs, told us recently an adequate state primary law would never be enacted because the politicians did not want it.

Much depends on the way the east side counties cooperate. These counties have a growing population and with the increasing population increasing political power. As it is we have the population without representation in many matters of vital concern. Lea county now has a population of well over 20,000 as compared with a few hundred several years ago. Eddy county, Chaves county, Roosevelt county, Curry county, and others all have growing populations with a potential balance of power, but this balance of power means little if the voters and the citizens are indifferent as to what they want.

Laws are just as good or as bad as the people want them. Elections are just as clean or dirty as the people make them. We have the opportunity to at least make the primary fairly decent. Success lies in cooperation plus an effort.

DARK HORSES FOR GOP

Inside information has it that Governor Alf Landon's chances to be the GOP presidential nominee at the Cleveland convention are growing remote. While he will go to the convention with practically a solid southwestern vote, the east is said to be decidedly anti-Landon and it is also known Senator Borah is out to stop Landon. And it is also said that Hoover, Borah and Knox will cement their forces to stop Mr. Landon.

Belief is growing that a dark horse will be nominated. Senator Steiwer of Oregon, republican keynoter, and Senator Vandenburg, known to be a receptive candidate, have been prominently mentioned.

Much speculation has also been made as to whether the republican platform will be liberal or conservative, but it is certain that the "New Deal" will come in for its share of criticism as it is practically certain President Roosevelt will be renominated by the democrats and will virtually dictate the platform.

A business commentator recently observed that the best thing that can be said about business today is that there is nothing to say. Answer to that riddle is that business is holding its own, is gradually improving, and that no signs of a let-down can be seen.

Business Week says that recently observed factors reinforce the belief that the second quarter business volume will be best since at least the middle of 1931, that manufacturing activity will be tops since 1930. Earnings, as well as volume and activity, are likewise showing highly encouraging upward trends.

ROESER TO ADDRESS NSWA

"The Future Possibilities for Stripper Wells with Particular Reference to the Economic Importance and Value of Stripper Wells," will be discussed by Chas. F. Roeser, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, as the outstanding feature of the program of the annual meeting of the National Stripper Well Association, was announced today by William Bell, Robinson, Illinois, president of the association. The annual meeting of this association will be held at the Mayo Hotel, Tulsa, Oklahoma, Friday, May 22.

TAKEN TO ASYLUM

C. M. Graham, better known as "Bingo," a resident of Carlsbad, was taken to the state insane asylum Friday on order of Judge J. B. McGhee. Graham was jailed at Carlsbad several weeks ago after threatening to get even with several small boys at Carlsbad for tormenting him. "Bingo" advertised he was carrying a gun for his tormentors. He was a former asylum inmate, it was said.

MISS GARRETT TO WTCC MEET

Miss Elizabeth Garrett, daughter of New Mexico's famous sheriff, Pat Garrett, will present vocal selections at several of the events of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Amarillo, it was announced at Roswell Sunday.

Miss Garrett, who is composer of New Mexico's state song, will sing a group of her numbers at the banquet Monday night, given in honor of Governor James V. Allred.

FIFTY MORE TEACHERS FOR LEA COUNTY NEEDED

R. H. Grissom, state school budget auditor, visited Lea county last Thursday and according to a statement made at Lovington, fifty additional school teachers will be needed to care for the growing population of Lea county next year. Increased school facilities will be needed in practically every community, it was said.

Mr. Smith had opened an account for his wife at the bank. A few weeks later the cashier asked Mr. Smith to inform her that she had overdrew.

Smith told his wife the news, and the following morning she handed her husband a letter to deliver to the cashier.

The cashier opened the letter, grimaced, and handed it back to the wondering husband. It was a large sheet of paper, on which was written in large letters the one word "SNEAK!"

A man who had been courting a girl for ten years was asked why he didn't marry her.

"Well, I've been seeing her Wednesday and Friday evenings every week for ten years," he said, "and if I married her I wouldn't have anywhere to go on those evenings."

A young bride walked into a drug store and approached a clerk timidly.

"That baby tonic you advertise," she began, "does it really make babies bigger and stronger?"

"We sell lots of it," replied the druggist, "and we've never had a complaint."

"Well, I'll take a bottle," she said for it and walked out.

Five minutes later she was back. She got the druggist into a corner and whispered in his ear: "I forgot to ask you about this baby tonic, Mister. Who takes it—me or my husband?"

A husband found some holes in his socks and said: "Wife, dear, why haven't you mended these?"

"Hobby, darling, did you buy me that fur coat you promised?"

"N-no."

"Well, if you don't give a wrap, I don't give a darn."

An Oklahoma farmer advertised his farm for sale with this introductory explanation: Now that the AAA has been declared unconstitutional and farmers will have to go to work, I have decided to quit farming.

A very nice old lady had a few words to say to her granddaughter.

"My dear," said the old lady, "I wish you would do something for me. There are two words I wish you would promise me never to use. One is swell and the other is lousy. Would you promise me that?"

"Why sure, Granny," said the girl. "What are the words?"

The biggest disappointment of the Rotary conference was when Chet Dexter failed to show up to pour tea at the tea given for the Rotary Ann visitors. Probably Chet was too nervous. The hardest working man during the conference was Dick Clowe.

An Artesia merchant said he sold only one thing to the visiting Rotarians during the conference and that, strangely enough, was a collar button. While it was a modest conference, generally speaking, some were so well organized before the close they did not even worry about collars, much less collar buttons.

Ten-gallon hats and cow boy regalia seems to be the rage now, but a lot of these drug store cow boys never rode a horse and could not ride even a hard trotting horse. In case you are cow boy-minded, W. C. Thompson at Peoples has the shirt for you.

Health Column

Scarlet Fever

The disease was first described by Thomas Sydenham in 1676 in the following words:

"Though the scarlet fever may happen at any time, yet it generally comes at the close of summer, when it seizes whole families, but especially children. (1) A chilliness and shivering come at the beginning. . . (2) afterwards the whole skin is covered with small red spots. . . (3) they continue two or three days and. . . there remains a kind of branny scales. . ."

The name which Sydenham gave to this sickness has stayed with it ever since. It has served its purpose well for 260 years but now it is about time to find another. Because now we are reasonably sure that the same infection that causes fever and small red spots followed by branny scales sometimes causes fever without any rash and without any scales. The infection is probably just as contagious when there is not a rash as it is when there is a rash.

No wonder it has been hard to stop the spread of scarlet fever by isolating only those who show the rash white others with the same sickness but without a rash go round at liberty spreading the disease. The health officer never hears of them because nobody reports "scarlet fever" unless there is a scarlet fever rash.

The difficulty that we have in bringing this disease under control by isolation and quarantine is an added reason for protecting children by inoculation with the Dick toxin. The chief objection to

Rates of Payment To State Farmers

The rates of payment which New Mexico farmers may earn for special soil building practices under the 1936 agricultural conservation program were announced recently by G. R. Quesenberry, state extension director, following the formal approval of the practices by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The practices follow the recommendations made by the state technical committee for New Mexico.

Alfalfa, seeded between October 1, 1935, and September 30, 1936, inclusive, and grown in 1936, will be paid for at the rate of $4.00 per acre on irrigated and $2.00 on non-irrigated land.

For annual legumes, seeded between October 1, 1935, and September 30, 1936, inclusive, and grown in 1936, farmers will receive a rate of $3.00 per acre on irrigated, and $1.50 on non-irrigated land.

For alfalfa turned under with one cutting growth between March 1, 1936, and September 30, 1936, farmers will receive $2.50 per acre.

For small winter grain sown between September 1, 1935, and November 1, 1935, and grown and turned under in the spring of 1936, farmers will receive $1.00 per acre.

For summer cover crops seeded on crop land between March 1, 1936, and July 1, 1936, and turned under after attaining at least a two months' growth, farmers will receive $1.00 per acre.

For terracing, when effected between August 1, 1935, and July 1, 1936, inclusive, on crop land, according to recommendations made by the State Committee (terraces must be planted and harvested) farmers will receive $3.00 per acre.

For contour strip cropping, when strips of sorghum or sudan are planted in 1936 with intervening strips to follow, and when strip crops occupy one-third or more of the acreage, and are left unharvested in 1936, farmers will receive $1.00 per acre.

Practices that may be substituted for soil conserving crops: Terracing, when effected in accordance with provisions stated above; sudan grass or sorghum when plowed under as green manure or left standing unharvested; solid contour listing of crop land with cover crops and without cover crops, if unharvested; contour strip cropping and fallowing when practiced in accordance with provisions stated above; border planting of fields where strips are one hundred feet wide or more, if left unharvested, only the area planted to be paid for; contour strip planting of winter grains when width of strips is not less than fifteen feet nor the depth between strips more than one hundred fifty feet—strip crops not to be harvested and only the area planted to be paid for; control of summer fallow when effected in accordance with recommended and approved specifications. Contour listing of crop land in process of natural re-seeding to native pasture; when sufficient cover is maintained to insure protection against wind erosion, such land is not to be grazed in any manner.

This procedure has been that some severe, though not dangerous, reactions have been encountered. Improved technique has now made those severe reactions very rare.

It takes some months for the child to develop immunity. The early summer months can well be used for inoculations when the cold weather returns we must expect more cases of scarlet fever. Ask your doctor for his advice.

Medical Society To Clovis 1937

CARLSBAD—New Mexico physicians made plans Saturday for their next meeting in Clovis after electing Dr. George W. Jones of that city as president of their organization in the closing session of the 1936 convention.

The members of the New Mexico Medical Society devoted the final day of their three-day convalesce to a meeting deep in the Carlsbad Caverns with the state's Public Health association.

A large crowd attended from here. He went to Dexter to deliver the baccalaureate sermon in the evening.

L. Winborn gave a short talk, which was unusually good, to the graduation class. Later the diplomas were presented. In this class Miss Verna Williams was the valedictorian and Miss Georgia Lou Pate was salutatorian. Betty Walden was third in the class.

STEEL MAKERS say—"Ford buys the best steel." Other suppliers of materials and parts will tell you—"Nobody checks up as closely on quality and price as Ford."

This means a great deal to you as a motorist. It is our way of safeguarding the interests of every purchaser and it leads to this—"The mechanical depreciation on a Ford is less than most cars, especially after the first year."

This is one sign of the extra value in the Ford V-8. Accuracy in manufacturing is another. (The Ford is made to unusually close precision limits.) And there is a long list of fine-car features that are exclusive with Ford in the popular field.

Rubinoff Holds World Record for Broadcasting

Rubino and his violin—and Chevrolet—are a combination that few, if any, radio listeners in the United States have not received in their homes via the air. The famous violinist and his Stradivarius, stars of the Chevrolet Musical Moments programs, have the distinction of going on the air from more broadcasting stations than any other program in the history of radio. Three hundred and seventy-eight stations broadcast Rubino three times a week, a total of 134 fifteen-minute programs. That figures out at 283 hours, and if one week's programs were broadcast one after the other, day and night, it would require 11 days. The illustration shows Rubino, carrying his precious violin, posing in his car after a special appearance at Detroit.

ARTESIA BOY RECEIVES HONORS

Jesse C. Paris, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Paris, of Artesia, was selected as representative of Westminster College of Fulton, Missouri, for the 1936 publication of "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges," in which his biography will be printed.

It is stated that the selections for this publication are completely devoid of "politics" and that it is the greatest recognition which can come to college students, as only approximately one-half of one percent of the total enrollment are chosen from each institution. Jesse C. Paris was chosen from a group of more than four hundred boys.

He was also selected as one of the four of Westminster College to deliver the graduation orations, is president of the senior class and has been elected to three national honorary fraternities of social science. MAHAN GETS 60-YEAR TERM ON GUILTY PLEA

TACOMA, Washington — The government closed its books on the $200,000 George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping case Saturday night by putting William Mahan in federal prison on a 60-year sentence. The scar-faced robber-thief-kidnaper, bowing his head far down over a brilliant red necktie, pleaded guilty Saturday to kidnaping and conspiracy charges, quickly received the long sentence and two hours later was "dressed in" at nearby McNeil Island penitentiary. He may be transferred later to Alcatraz.
He spoke only in monosyllables, refused Federal Judge E. E. Cushman's offers of legal aid and invited immediate pronouncement of sentence, which he took without any outward show of feeling.
With good behavior, Mahan will be eligible to apply for parole in 20 years—when he will be 53 years old.

Frigidaire Put Thru Hard Test

A stock model Frigidaire household refrigerator has survived one of the most grueling tests to which a home appliance ever has been subjected, Russell Parts Service, dealer here for the products of the Frigidaire division of General Motors, has learned.
Recently, in Miami, Florida, a Frigidaire was placed in a sling, attached to the bottom of the Good-year blimp Puritan and flown over Biscayne Bay between Miami and Miami Beach, Mr. Russell was informed. The bulletin telling him of the test follows:
"The new hermetically sealed 'meter-miser' with which the 1936 Frigidaires are equipped, and the new doubly-sealed steel cabinets have just furnished spectacular evidence of ability to withstand abuse to which no normal refrigerator will ever be subjected.
"Arrangements were made with Capt. Jack Boettner, manager of Goodyear, to take aloft and drop the Frigidaire, encased only in canvas lifting straps such as piano movers use. It struck with a terrific impact. Those on shore were certain it had broken open and sunk. But it popped up, floated and seemed to be all right. A speedboat retrieved it and towed it back and forth through the salt water to insure complete submersion of the sealed mechanism and refrigeration unit. Then it was dragged on to shore and opened up in the presence of witnesses having no connection with Frigidaire.
"The inside of the food compartment was found to be absolutely dry. But would it run? A power line had been strung some 1,200 feet to the beach and when the Frigidaire was hooked on to it, there was a slight purr and the unit began operating. Within a few minutes the super-freezer plate was cold and when the ice-trays were filled right there on the beach, ice soon began to form."
Mr. Russell attempted to have the refrigerator used in the test sent here for public display. It has been placed in the Frigidaire patent museum at Dayton, Ohio, however.

Governor Tingley announced that clubs have been organized in twenty-three New Mexico counties and that the organization now has a membership of 35,000 in the state and that the goal of 50,000 would be reached within a few weeks. He predicted 3,000 members for Eddy county.

Hints To Gardeners

by Lyman White
Flower Expert
Ferry Seed Institute

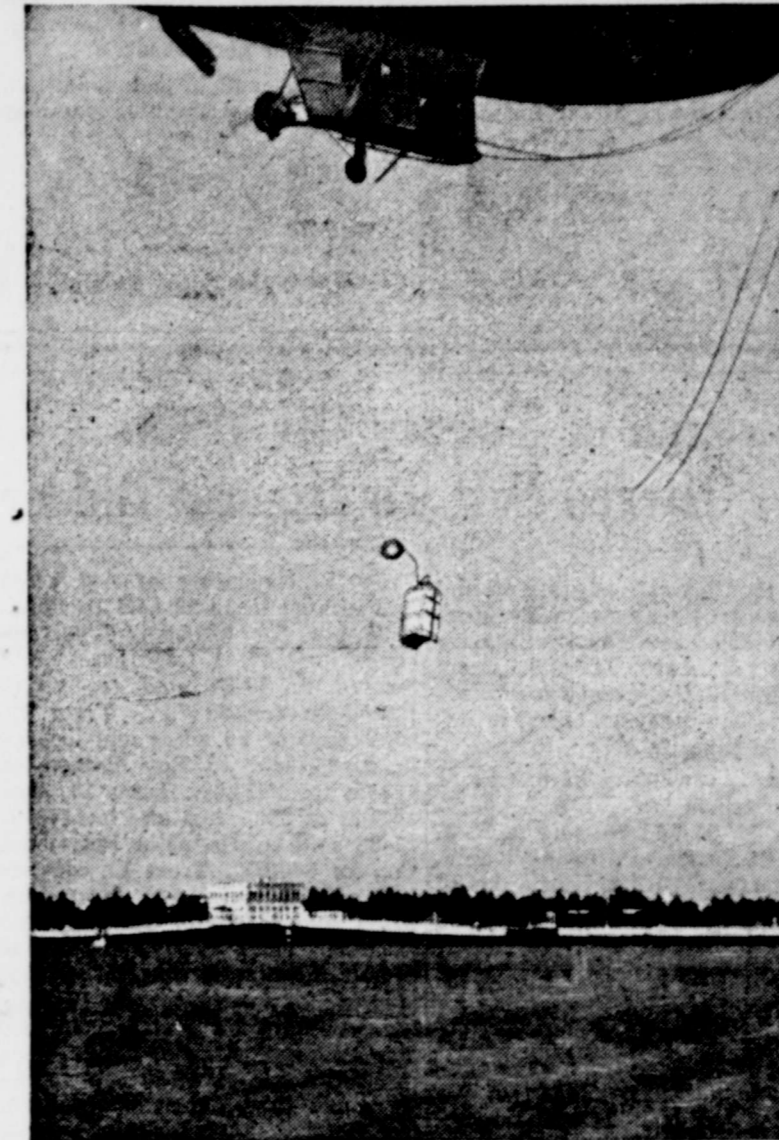

Rust-Resistant Flowers

SEEDS of certain flowers will germinate more readily if the seed coat is cut or nicked. Care must be taken to cut only the coat, for injury to the interior portion of the seed may destroy it. Cannally, all types of morning glory, perennial and annual sweet peas, lupin and moon flower are some of the seeds that may be thus treated. Overnight soaking in warm water will also aid the germination of the seeds.
If your ground is infested with wilt or rust, you still may grow aster and snapdragon. There are rust-resistant strains of snapdragon and wilt-resistant strains of aster.
Some of the easiest flowers to grow, those advised for the flower gardener without much experience, are the nasturtium alyssum and California poppy.
Quick blooming flowers are the nasturtium, Virginia stock, zinnia, sunflower, bachelor's button, and alyssum.
If you are interested in getting brilliant color in your garden with a minimum of effort, try growing petunia and zinnia. They require quite a bit of care early in the season, but once established they grow luxuriantly and nothing provides more color. Portulaca is excellent for a colorful edging, and cosmos good for backgrounds.
For rock garden growth try some of the following: African daisy, alyssum, linaria, lobelia, phlox, statice, verbenas and Virginia stock, among the annuals; any hardy alyssum, columbine, English daisy, forget-me-not and Iceland poppy, of the perennials.
For a window box, petunia, nasturtium, lobelia, ageratum, pansy, annual phlox and verbenas are effective.

Dist. Columbia Has Big Gain

WASHINGTON — A statistical picture of America's population shifts was presented Monday by the census bureau, which estimated that while many states have made gains in the past five years, eleven have fewer residents than in 1930.
From 1930 to 1935, the population of the country gained from 122,766,046 to an estimated 127,521,000 or nearly 5,000,000.
These figures for the whole country, published some time ago, were broken down Monday by the census bureau to show figures for individual states and the District of Columbia.
The District of Columbia led all states in percentage gain during the period, which saw an increase in the number of government workers. The district's population for 1935 was estimated at 594,000, a gain of 107,131 since 1930, or 22 per cent.
"New York, with 12,889,000 persons as compared to 12,588,066 in 1930, remained the nation's largest state. Pennsylvania was second with 10,966,000 as compared with 9,681,000 and Illinois third with 7,817,000 as compared to 7,630,000.
The eleven states which lost thru population shifts, and the estimated percentage of loss are: Michigan, 3.7; Wisconsin, 1.1; South Dakota, 2.6; Rhode Island, .9; Nebraska, 1.9; Kansas, 1.8; Mississippi, 2.4; Montana, 1.2; New Mexico, 5.0; Arizona, 11.4; and California, 0.7.
Among the states which gained the most during the period were: South Carolina, 15.7 per cent; Georgia, 15; Florida, 9.9, and Tennessee, 11.

Frigidaire Unharmed After Plunge from Blimp into Bay

Look out there! It's a flying Frigidaire falling from a Goodyear dirigible into salty Biscayne bay at Miami, Fla. Subjected to one of the most severe tests ever given an electric refrigerator, this stock model unit built by Frigidaire Division of General Motors was dropped 100 feet from a blimp into Florida waters. Towed around by a speedboat to guarantee complete submersion, it was hauled out, found sealed as tightly as when it left the factory and was put into immediate operation freezing ice-cubes. Aeronauts who witnessed the spectacular test were amazed that the refrigerator survived the terrific impact of the drop and came out without a single leak in its permanently sealed mechanism or a break in its cabinet, because, after all, they reasoned; household refrigerators are not supposed to be manhandled that way.

PLANT TROUT

M. Stevenson, deputy state game warden for this district, announced the planting of 31,000 rainbow and native trout on the upper reaches of the Ruidoso during the past week.
Some 10,000 others of the same classes will be planted by the Federal Hatcheries and state game department on the Rio Bonita during the coming week, it was said.
Many of the planted fish, put in on the upper portions of the Ruidoso, north, middle and south forks, were put so far toward the source that it was necessary to pack them in with horses.
The fish came from the hatchery on the upper Pecos and are strictly cold water trout, ranging from three to seven inches. "With the addition of these, fishing on the upper portions of both the Ruidoso and Bonita is expected to be far above that of the last few seasons because of plenty of snow water," Stevenson said.

LIGHT SNOW

A light snow fell at Alamogordo, Mountainair and other northern New Mexico points Thursday night. Mountainair delegates to the Rotary conference here last week said it was snowing there when they left early Friday morning.
