Comes To Local Oil Sanitarium After A Prolonged Illness Of Over A Year.

Ed Burch, aged 49, well-known local oil operator, died in the Sanitarium at El Paso, Texas, Monday morning at 9:15 a. m. after a lingering illness. Burch had been a patient at the El Paso sanitarium for over a year. While his death was not unexpected, he had rallied several times during his condition and only a few weeks before he had apparently improved. His death was a great loss to the family and to the community. Burch was born in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, June 12, 1887. He became interested in the oil business in Louisiana, and later in the El Dorado, Arkansas, where the family lived for some time before moving to Fort Worth, Texas, where the family lived for about seven years before moving here. Mr. Burch became interested in the local oil fields in this family moving here in 1925.

At his arrival he has played an important part in the development of the Eddy county oil fields. He was a tireless worker for the democratic cause and at the time he was given an endorsement by the party organization in place on the state highway system.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church yesterday afternoon at 4:00 p. m., with the Rev. G. Woodruff, pastor, officiating. Both Mr. Burch and Mrs. Burch were active in church work and were members of the First Baptist church on their arrival here. Burch was a member of the Woodmen lodge.

Home-Grown Crops On Market

Home-grown cantaloupes, watermelons and other vegetables are on the market. Local cantaloupe growers have been marketing cantaloupes here for several days and supply is now fairly plentiful. Watermelons have been moving to market fairly well. The first we saw here were on the Jim Vogel farm, east of Artesia, and were marketed last Thursday.

Swell Goodwill Partners Pay Visit To Artesia Yesterday

A party of fifty Roswell business men, accompanied by the Roswell high school band, visited five Eddy county communities yesterday for the last goodwill tour of the season. The party, led by the Roswell Chamber of Commerce, was accompanied by a speaker and announced the tour during the stop here. The party included a parade and several numbers by the sixty-five Roswell high school band. The address of welcome by Col. J. L. Woods and a response by David G. Roswell, in charge of the goodwill tour. Claude Simpson, secretary of the Roswell Chamber of Commerce, acted as emcee and the party was accompanied by the Eastern New Mexico Fair to be held at Roswell in October, also the Ladies Lakes east of Roswell. Personnel of the party in charge of the goodwill tour were: R. E. Seig, Silver Stream

Death Takes Mrs. Campbell Quickly

Dies Four And A Half Hours After Suffering Stroke.

Death struck suddenly Saturday evening and took the life of Mrs. Owen Campbell, 61, at the family home at the Oasis. Mrs. Campbell was apparently in her usual health Saturday afternoon and had eaten a light supper of ice cream and cake when she complained of feeling sleepy and of a numbness in her face. The numbness spread to her hands, and her husband, Mr. Campbell, thinking she was only slightly ill, advised her to rub her limbs and go to bed. The effects of the stroke were first felt at 6:00 p. m., and by 6:30 Mrs. Campbell was unconscious. She was conscious only a few moments after the physician arrived. She seemed to grow easier about 10:00 p. m., and passed out peacefully about half an hour later.

Mrs. Campbell was born April 28, 1875, at Viola, Wisconsin, and was married to Mr. Campbell in 1893, and in 1894 moved to Oklahoma where the family resided for a number of years. In 1927 the family moved to this section and have since made their home at the Oasis farm, two miles east of Artesia. For the past three or four years Mrs. Campbell has managed the Oasis swimming pool, operated in connection with the farm. Funeral services were held at the First Christian church Sunday afternoon, with the Rev. Thomas Massie, pastor, in charge of the services. Mrs. Campbell leaves to mourn her loss a husband, two daughters, Mrs. W. T. Haldeman of Artesia and Mrs. M. E. Graham of Carlsbad; a son, Merwin Campbell of Carlsbad; three sisters, Mrs. Harve Mullendore of Richland Center, Wisconsin; Mrs. Bert Beighley of Viola, Wisconsin; and Mrs. Clint Mullendore of Viola, Wisconsin, and two brothers, Willard Gribble of Viola, Wisconsin, and L. O. (Jack) Gribble of Artesia.

Ed Faught Is Hit By Car and Killed Near Hobbs Tues.

J. E. (Ed) Faught, aged 50, of Roswell, was killed as he stepped from his car on the Hobbs-Eunice road about four miles south of Hobbs early Tuesday morning. An early report of the accident said Mr. Faught was hit by a car going north toward Hobbs. Before the driver of the car could stop Faught was hit a second time and was dead before the first driver reached him.

Mr. Faught had lived in Roswell for thirty years. He operated an outdoor advertising agency for a number of years and was also active in sulphur leasing when the sulphur exploration campaign was on in the Cottonwood community several years ago. Through his various business connections he enjoyed a wide acquaintance not only in Roswell, but in a number of Pecos valley communities. A widow survives him. A father, brother and two sisters, all of Springfield, Missouri, survive him.

SUNSHINE VALLEY CREAMERY SOLD

Tryon Lewis, retired banker of McCamey, Texas, has purchased the Sunshine Valley Creamery plant on First street and plans to place the creamery in operation in about ten days, it was learned here Tuesday. Mr. Lewis is testing the machinery at the plant and has secured the services of an experienced creamery operator, it was said. Mr. Lewis plans on moving his family here to make his home. J. L. Martin, also of McCamey, veteran west Texas publisher and president of the Martin Publishing Co., spent a few days with Mr. Lewis going over this territory.

Dr. Kernahan Is Coming Here On August 30

We have been informed by the Rev. A. C. Douglas, of the Methodist church, that Dr. A. Earle Kernahan, of Washington, D. C., author, pastor and evangelist, is to be in Artesia beginning August 30 for two weeks to direct a personal visitation evangelistic campaign. A survey of the entire community will be made in connection with the campaign. Dr. Kernahan is now engaged in a month's campaign in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where he has been for such work on two previous occasions. Dr. Kernahan has led campaigns in every large city in America, and under his leadership more than 350,000 people have been led to Christ and church membership. He has the endorsement of religious leaders of all Protestant faiths, and is the author of a number of books on personal evangelism. The Baptist Standard, one of the leading religious journals, says of him: "Dr. Kernahan has been sent to lead the churches back to New Testament methods of winning men to Christ."

Eleven New Wells In Three Fields During Past Week

Prospects For Continued Wildcatting Are Bright And Lovington Area Is Still Holding Much of The Interest.

Oil development continues active in southeastern New Mexico with prospects for further wildcatting in both Lea and Eddy counties. Activity in Lea county was about equally divided between the Monument and Eunice districts the past week with the Monument field registering five completions, the Eunice area five new producers, and the sand belt near Jal in southeastern Lea county, one. Four new wells were staked in the Monument district, five in the Eunice field and one in the sand belt.

The biggest well for the week was finished in the Monument area in the Anderson-Pritchard, Britt No. 3, sec. 7-20-37. On an initial production test the Britt No. 3 made 183 barrels an hour flowing through two and a half inch tubing at 3885 feet.

Other producers completed in the same area include the Continental Oil Co., State A-17 No. 1, sec. 17-19-37, which when drilled to 4011 feet made fifteen barrels (Continued on last page, column 1)

ONLY ONE VOTING PLACE IN ARTESIA

Attention of the voters is called to the fact that there will be only one voting place in the Artesia precinct for the democratic primary, August 8th, whereas in the general election, three voting places are provided. The primary voting place is the City Hall.

ALLOWABLE REDUCED ON NON-MARGINAL WELLS

Non-marginal wells of southeastern New Mexico suffered a reduction in the state allowable for the last half of July, announced last week. The state allowable of 74,100 remains the same for the latter part of July, but the local fields were reduced 280 barrels per day, the new total output was set at 2,950 barrels daily against a former total of 3,230 barrels. The new allowable for Lea county was set at ninety-three barrels daily against ninety-five barrels daily under the old order.

Mrs. Essie Lurline Phipps, aged 21, wife of H. L. Phipps of Artesia, died Friday at a Carlsbad hospital after a brief illness. Death was caused from hemorrhaging. Several blood transfusions failed to save the life of Mrs. Phipps. A native of Garza, Texas, Mrs. Phipps had lived here the past fourteen months. Mr. Phipps is employed as cook at Sy's Cafe. Funeral services were held Sunday with the Rev. A. C. Douglas, Methodist pastor, officiating. Mrs. Phipps is survived by a husband and two children, her mother, Mrs. W. C. Hughes of Artesia, three brothers, Nonnie, Elvin and J. E. Lauderdale of Artesia, and a sister, Mrs. J. C. Gentry, also of Artesia.

1,836 VOTERS REGISTER IN ARTESIA PRECINCT

According to Precinct Chairman G. U. McCrary there are 1,836 voters registered in the Artesia precinct for the coming election, the largest number ever registered in the history of the town and that the names still to be presented to the purging board for registration by order of the district court will likely boost the number to 2,000.

All democrats whose names did not get on the registration books are advised to present their names to the precinct chairman immediately at The Advocate office where arrangements are made to receive them and the names in turn will be presented to the purging board by the county chairman for entrance on the registration books by order of the district court. This method is your last chance to be registered for the coming election and a copy of the names already registered will be found in The Advocate window for your information to ascertain as to whether or not your name was erroneously left off or omitted for any reason over which you have no control.

WPA Project Is Started Clark Lake Yesterday

Fifteen Men Are To Be Employed For Period Of Three Months Under Jeff Hightower As the Foreman.

M. Stevenson of Roswell, deputy game warden, announced yesterday morning the delayed beautification project at Clark lake, northwest of the Espuella store, had been started. Inaugurated as a WPA project, work was begun yesterday morning under Jeff Hightower as foreman. About fifteen men will be employed for a period of ninety days. The project will include cleaning of the tules from the edge of the lake, graveling a portion of the southeastern part of the lake as a bathing beach, building several piers and the construction of a road around the entire lake. Trees and shrubbery will be planted around the lake at the proper season. The bathing beach will be made as private as possible and the remainder of the lake will be given over to fishing. Bathers will not be allowed to swim in other parts of the lake, Mr. Stevenson said.

Results of Texas Demo Primary

Representative Tom Blanton of Abilene, fighting for re-nomination to congress, was trailing Judge Claude L. Garrett Tuesday in returns from the democratic state primary Saturday. Garrett had 22,453 votes; Blanton 17,975. Both will be in the run-off primary. Garrett was the only candidate in a congressional race to lead an incumbent. James V. Allred virtually clinched his re-election as governor when latest returns from the democratic state primary boosted his votes to 439,134, giving him a definite majority.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

A republican precinct convention will be held in the Yates and Dooley building this afternoon at 2:00 p. m., for the purpose of electing eleven delegates to the county convention at Carlsbad, August 1st. The county convention will in turn elect delegates to the state convention August 17th.

INGRAM INFANT BURIED HERE

Young Democrats Meet Here Last Evening and Hear Three Speakers

Interest and attendance at the meetings of the Artesia League of Young Democrats continues good. Last evening at the Liberty Hall, members heard short addresses from G. L. Reese, W. Leslie Martin and G. R. Spencer. Paul Crockett, chairman of the meeting, announced the awarding of prizes to the winners in the registration contest and also heard reports of committees. After the business meeting those present enjoyed a dance and a social hour.

Substantial Progress Made By Plugging Program Since 1931

Paralysis Fatal To Rev. A. J. Cox

Data from the office of Clifford Smith, artesian well supervisor, reveal substantial progress has been made in the well plugging operations since starting the plugging operation in 1931. A total of 187 wells have been plugged since that date with a general rise on the water levels in the basin. An estimated saving of 38,000 gallons per minute has been made. There are some 400 wells yet to be plugged before the program is completed. Two plugging crews are at work. One is at work in the south end of the basin.

Pioneer Minister Passes Tuesday; Funeral Held Here Yesterday.

The Rev. A. J. Cox, aged 78, pioneer minister of the Church of Christ and pioneer resident of Eddy county, has answered the final summons. His death occurred on Tuesday morning after an illness of three years. The Rev. Cox was stricken with paralysis about three years ago and recently suffered a third stroke. He had been practically helpless for the past two years with one side of his body paralyzed, but in his suffering and affliction he was cheerful until the last.

BULLOCK MOVED

Surviving the deceased are a widow, two daughters, Mrs. Lee Glasscock of Hope; Mrs. Jessie Moody of Cairo, Illinois; two sisters, Mrs. Lillie Thurman of Rock Springs, Texas, and Mrs. E. J. Rucker of Kingman, Arizona; three brothers, George Cox of Buckeye, Arizona; Albert Cox of Young, Arizona, and E. P. Cox of Hope.

BEG PARDON

Last week in the publication of an article from the office of County Superintendent G. R. Spencer, it was erroneously stated that Mr. Spencer had inaugurated a rural school library for the various rural school districts over the county. On investigation we learn from an official source that the rural school library was established about six years ago under a former administration and has since been added to under succeeding administrations.

Lawrance Wilde Dies After Brief Illness Tuesday

An attack of acute indigestion lasting fifteen minutes killed Lawrance Wilde, aged 38, of Weed, Monday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock. Mr. Wilde and a companion had gone to the Mayhill CCC camp. Mr. Wilde complained of an illness and an aching in his stomach. He was offered a bed in a bunk house, but said he was too ill to recline. The camp physician was found in a few moments and hurried to the sick man to see him die within a very short time.

Hardin Scores Political Clique; Asks For Office

I. J. T. Hardin, take this means of announcing my candidacy for the office of tax assessor of Eddy county, subject to the will and pleasure of the Eddy county democratic party in the approaching primary. For your information, I became a candidate for this office only after Mr. Richard Westaway had assured me that he would make no effort to obtain this office. He should keep his word. To have his wife, the present deputy tax assessor, as a candidate for tax assessor, is violating it.

For forty years I have been a loyal member of the democratic party, having voted nothing but a straight democratic ticket in all that time. Contrary to what some of the friends of my opponent are saying, I am familiar with the values of property in this county and am qualified to hold office as witness the fact that I have held the offices of tax assessor as well as tax collector in both Murray (Continued on page 5, column 5)

THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY

The democratic primary August 8th, is practically tantamount to election in Eddy county. Voters and taxpayers will employ several officials to serve the county and district for the next four years. It is a regrettable fact, but nevertheless true that when it comes to selecting public officials, the average voter does not use the same business judgment, as he would in employing men or women for his own private business. But the public official is supported by the taxpayers money. Every voter should have at least a small interest in the coming election for even though he may not be a taxpayer, he will unless it is a rare case have occasion to transact business with one or more public officials before the close of another two years.

Henry Ford's genius lies not so much in his skill to do things for himself, but in his ability to pick the right man for the right position with the Ford Motor Co. If you as an individual are fortunate enough to have a business large enough to employ one or more men or women, the success or failure of that business depends in a large degree on the efficiency of your employees. And the same applies to county or district affairs, even though you may have only a small interest in these offices.

You have no doubt observed that the connection between the public welfare and the county, state and national governments have grown closer because we are constantly demanding more from our government. A government formed primarily for the protection of the rights of the individual is now expected to look after more unfortunate among us, in supplying aid for those who are physically unable to work and in supplying work for those able to work, but unable to obtain employment and in protecting those unable to judge gold bricks from sound investments and a multitude of other services and obligations that our forefathers never thought of.

These services are the result of the modern conception of services the government should perform and we will never go back to a small public pay roll and a few offices any more than we will go back to the horse and buggy.

The present political campaign has been comparatively free from mud-slinging and personalities. These things may add interest to the campaign, but they confuse the voter. We hope the contest continues clean for then the voter may make his choice in a business-like way.

This campaign has not been without amusing incidents. We heard of one so-called democrat telling a candidate that he, the candidate, was undemocratic in running against another candidate for a second term. According to this theory, if a jackass ever got in office, the voters could do nothing but elect him for a second term, otherwise it would be undemocratic.

STATE POLITICS

Prager Miller, former Roswell resident and GOP candidate for governor in 1934, may lead the state ticket again this year, at least if some republicans have their way. Miller's backers say he received a good vote in 1934, despite the heavy democratic vote in support of the national administration. The democratic party won't worry much if practically the same candidates of 1934 are renominated. J. J. Dempsey, present democratic congressman, may switch and run on the republican ticket this fall. Indications are that Dempsey may not have much chance of getting on the democratic band wagon, unless some existing differences are patched up with the state administration. Dick Dillon, former governor, who has made several races since he held the governorship, may be induced to run again for the United States senate, despite his early statement. Dillon stands ace high with the Townsendsites, but he may not be the political power among the republicans that he once was.

Democrats are looking for a strong candidate for land commissioner to fill Frank Vesely's job. C. E. Mann of Artesia may be this candidate, if he wants to try his hand.

HIGHWAYS

Carlsbad wants the unpaved strip of the Cavern-El Paso highway finished. Completion of this project will be convenient for the tourists, but will be hard on the hotels and camps of Carlsbad. In fact, the Caverns will practically mean as much to El Paso as Carlsbad with a paved highway all the way for then it will be a comparatively easy matter for the visitors to leave El Paso in the morning, see the Caverns and return to the Pass City to spend the night.

The lack of a paved or oiled highway from Roswell east is still "gripping" the republican newspaper at Roswell and the efforts to high-pressure the state administration to satisfy a selfish objective continues. Admittedly the loss of the Lea county oil field business isn't the worry that the lack of tourists trade is.

There are lots of things that arise to plague the farmers besides drought and grasshoppers. If you were like the New Jersey farmers, for instance, and had a nudist colony just over the fence, it might be something else to worry about, especially if the daughter-in-law wrecked the car in trying to view the nudists. There might have been a reason for the son to run over a telephone pole with the car trying to see all the nudists, but the daughter-in-law, never!

"We have but to contrast conditions when President Roosevelt took office with those existing today to realize what, despite errors, the president has done for the country. Even if taxes are higher, there is something to pay them with and certainly there wasn't anything in 1933."—Salem, Oregon, Journal (Ind.)

It is suggested that perhaps one of the reasons why there are fewer train wrecks than there are automobile crashes, is due to the fact that the engineer seldom, if ever, tries to neck the fireman.

War

The Gods of war now lay their plans.

That all the world may see—
A bigger better massacre
Of folks like you and me,
With lavish hand they offer all
Their stores of hate and greed,
And sudden death to every foe
If men but sow the seed.

Again the world will thrill to hear
Ten million plodding feet,
The bands will play, we'll march away
Revenge they say is sweet.
Another war to end all war,
That all may live sublime.
Another war to end all war—
Until some other time.

They promise every little girl
A bright new flag to wave,
And later on another one—
To plant on Daddy's grave.
For every boy a uniform,
A bayonet and gun.
A trip across the battlefield,
Where they can see the fun.

For those who would prolong the show,
They have a newer gas.
It lets them live to suffer more,
These fools you're watching pass.
To writhe and cough and scream
and squirm,
Through endless torturing years.
It's great to make the Fathers curse
And loose a Mother's tears.

No more they'll let the cripples hide
On soft infirmity cot.
The stay at homes will get their share
And watch each other rot.
They'll still maintain the battle-

14,480 Farmers Sign Work Sheets

According to the latest information received in the state office, says W. A. Wunsch, of the extension service, there has been a total of 14,480 signed work sheets in connection with the Agriculture Conservation program filed in the various counties of New Mexico.

It is estimated that approximately 3,000 more work sheets will be signed before the termination of the sign-up campaign, making a possible total of 17,480 for the state. Secretaries of the county associations estimate that seventy per cent of the farms for which work sheets were filed will qualify for payments of grants.

The listing sheets show a total of 1,610,000 acres of general soil depleting crops, of which a total of 211,937 acres will be diverted to soil conserving crops to qualify for payment No. 1, or the diversion payment. A total of 110,000 acres of special soil depleting crops has been listed and this is largely cotton. There will be 32,140 acres of cotton diverted to soil conserving crops, making a total of 244,077 acres of soil depleting crops which will be diverted to soil conserving crops in New Mexico.

Cotton producers are taking advantage of the revised regulation permitting the increase in percent of acres of cotton that may be diverted as the producers are diverting an average of thirty per cent of their cotton acreage.

It is estimated that New Mexico producers will receive a total of $2,222,460 in payment for diverting soil depleting crops to soil conserving crops. In addition, it is expected that approximately 300,000 acres will qualify for soil building crops or practices for which farmers will receive pay at the rate of $1.00 per acre, making an estimated payment of $3,000,000 for No. 2 payment and a total payment of $2,522,460 for the state.

To glory and the grave.
And thank your God, you'll never know—
'Twas greed you died to save.

New Ruling On Harvesting Hay

W. A. Wunsch of State College, executive secretary has recently sent out a letter addressed to all county agents regarding the changes made in the nursery crops under the soil conservation program. The letter:

Gentlemen:
The following wire has been received from George E. Farrell, director western region:
"Because of national emergency drought consideration administratively determined that nursery crops may be harvested for hay and such acreage shall be classified as soil conserving provided good stand soil conserving crop is attained stop also now possible plant emergency forage crop such as sudan grasses spring grains sorghums millets when such crops are cut for hay or pasture under such action being regarded as changing the prior classification of such acreage."

As you notice, the classification applies only to the soil conserving crops, which would be the fifteen per cent of general crops or thirty-five per cent of cotton diverted. This means that in all the counties mentioned under section 3, bulletin 2, the crops in the substitute practices for soil conserving crops, where it states that the crop must be plowed under or left standing unharvested, these crops can now be pastured or cut for hay and the producer would receive his number 1, or diversion, payment.

In all counties where winter cover crops, summer cover crops, or annual legumes were required to be plowed under for green manure in order to qualify for soil diversion payment, these crops can now be pastured or cut for hay and the producer would qualify to receive his number 1, or diversion, payment.
There have been no changes in the soil building crop requirements. In order to qualify for soil building payment, the producer must meet the requirements as set up in section 1, WR bulletin 2, revised.

Rocky Arroyo Pioneer Is Dead

George Lucas, who brought the first herd of cattle to the Pecos valley in 1880, died at his Rocky Arroyo home Monday at the age of 73 years.

Mr. Lucas, known for many years as "Uncle George," succumbed at 8:30 a. m., after a lingering illness. He had been ill for several months.

Only a week ago "Uncle George" and Mrs. Lucas celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They were married fifty years ago July 17 at old Seven Rivers.

Mr. Lucas came to the Pecos valley in 1879 from Concho valley, near San Angelo, Texas, and brought several herds of cattle to the valley in the years 1880 and 1881.

Mrs. Lucas and her sister, Miss Sally Slaughter, were the first white women to settle in the valley and served in the capacities of school teachers and nurses in the early days.

"Uncle George" for forty years was in the trucking business in Carlsbad and at one time was associated with the Hess Brothers grocery store. More recently he retired from business.

Surviving him are his widow and two sons, George S. Lucas, Buffalo, Wyoming, and Harschal Lucas, also of Buffalo; a twin brother, William, of Pecos, Texas. —Carlsbad Current-Argus.

How to Use Your Refrigerator Control

The accelerator and the speedometer on your car permit you to select and maintain definite speeds under various road conditions and changing wind resistances.

Electric refrigerators are equipped with graduated controls which enable you to maintain definite temperatures in the food compartment as well as in the freezing chamber under changing weather conditions such as one finds in this section.

For ordinary service, we recommend that you attach a good thermometer to the top of the food shelf, and set the temperature control up or down until the thermometer constantly reads a few points below 50 degrees.

In freezing ice cubes and desserts rapidly—unusual service—you need freezing chamber temperatures not higher than 15 degrees and in many cases as low as 10 degrees. You may use any good thermometer to assure yourself that the coldest position on your control will give you these temperatures in your freezing chamber.

If you have an electric refrigerator, no matter how hot the weather, you have a right to expect very rapid freezing of ice cubes and desserts as well as a food compartment temperature constantly below 50 degrees. In case your refrigerator control does not respond properly, we suggest defrosting. If this does not correct the difficulty, call you electric dealer for a service man.

Sex Education
"Our children know more at twelve than we did at thirty. Sometimes it even looks as if they might know a little too much." So writes my distinguished fellow columnist, Mrs. Walter Ferguson, who always says just what she thinks.

Not long ago I spoke to the boys of a New Mexico high school on the venereal diseases. It was an illustrated talk lasting little more than half an hour. At the end I invited the boys to write out and submit questions. At first the questions came up very slowly but, just as soon as the boys discovered that I was doing my best to give an honest answer to every question, their slips of paper came much faster than I could answer the questions. I still have fifty-five of those slips of paper some of them asking two or three questions. These all came in during an hour and at the end of that time the questioning was stopped not by failure of curiosity but because my time was up. Knots of boys surrounded me with spoken questions all the way to the door.

I shall be glad to send those slips of paper to Mrs. Ferguson. I believe they would convince her that there are some children at least who do not know too much. It is true that high school students freely discuss theories of sex among themselves. It is properly a subject of major interest at their age. If the are too much preoccupied with it this is because it has been made a mystery. Fascinating fairy tales have been woven to take the place of a less dramatic physiology. Even the knowledge of anatomy—and what subject can be duller?—becomes desirable when it covered by a taboo.

Sex education at home and in the schools will not increase prurency or immorality. On the contrary. Sane literature on this subject can be obtained from your county health department or by writing to the State Bureau of Public Health which also maintains a library of strip films explaining graphically the physiology of reproduction and "the science of life."

History Shows Drouths Are Not New On the American Continent

Those persons who have become alarmed at the apparent threat of nature to dissolve her partnership with man, and who are more or less worried about this present brief "dry spell" which, within the past several years, has wrought havoc throughout a greater part of these United States, would do well to familiarize themselves with the fact that such occurrences are not entirely foreign to the world.

However, and whereas similar, although more puzzling problems, of combating drouth and saving the soil from wind erosion have confronted man for thousands of years, it was not until most recently that means were found to solve such problems. The putting into effect what is known to defeat nature at her worst lies chiefly in the hands of various governmental agencies such as the Resettlement Administration, the Soil Conservation Service and the Extension Service.

Because of neglect, together with a lack of knowledge and equipment to thwart drouth and erosion, ancient civilization on the Tigris and Euphrates perished. China became a region of poverty and periodic famines. Pre-historic cities in Indo-China and Yucatan were abandoned. Northern Africa became a desert waste. In recent years explorers have unearthed ruins to show that where civilization once flourished only sand and heat remain.

Within the memory of many persons residing in the southern high plains area this region was known as the Great American Desert. Since the beginning of the present period of drouth in 1932, various writers have warned that unless something is done to prevent wind erosion this country, within a span of several hundred years, could easily revert to real desert, irreclaimable and forever useless.

Archaeologists have learned that this present drouth is a mere babe in arms compared to one which visited the southern high plains some 600 years ago. That drouth, they tell us, lasted twenty-three years and was responsible in the main for shifts in the population of natives at that time.

Writing in the October 1935 issue of American Antiquity, Emil W. Haury tells of reading tree rings—the archaeologist's time-piece—in determining weather and human activity during faded centuries. He records findings to show that one extended drouth and several short ones visited this region several hundred years ago. "We suspect," he has written, "that the most severe of these, the drouth lasting from 1276 to 1299, profoundly affected certain of the southwestern peoples, and was responsible in the main for shifts in the population at about that time."

Therefore it seems that blistering heat in the east and a general swath of the drouth through the west and mid-west, which continues to hold a place in the news spotlight today, is nothing new to this part of the world. We find more recent periods of drouth, dust storms and ruin sweeping across the nation than recorded by three rings. Just recently the Pampa, Texas, Daily News published a letter written on August 25, 1854—82 years ago—by a man in Elliottville, Indiana, to a friend in Pleasant Run, Texas, wherein he tells of similar climatic troubles. Here is the letter in part:

"Hiram Rockett is still here. He thinks of starting to Texas about the fifth of next month if it rains. If there is no rain I don't think he will start, because of the dreadful dust.

"With that to face they could not travel with any satisfaction. The dust and scarcity of water would kill their horses.

"The weather has been uncommonly dry all summer. We haven't had any rain since the first of June to do the crops much, if any, good, in this part of the country. But very little good wheat has been raised this year. It is selling for a dollar a bushel. The prospect is for about a fourth-crop of corn in Indiana. Corn prices are uncommonly high for this country, business is dull and times are getting hard.

"Stock of every description is coming down in price, and hogs (on which farmers were dependent to pay their debts) are about flat. Hogs that will weigh 150 pounds will bring $1 per hundred, and over 175 pounds, $1.50 a hundred—and few buyers at these prices. "I expect this is right enough for us, because prosperity had made fools of the people so that they didn't know how to enjoy the blessings that had been bestowed upon them."

Thus we learn that our present troubles are not entirely new. However, when improper land practices, augmented by periods of rainfall, came upon ancient civilizations the people had not then found measures to combat them, nor did they have machinery with which to properly prepare their lands in such a fashion as to conserve moisture and reclaim their lands.

Fortunately the periods of drouth and wind erosion which have come upon this part of the world since its discovery and subsequent settlement have not been so severe as was the 23-year-long drouth, 1276-1299, nor as damaging as those which wrecked civilizations on the Tigris and Euphrates. But skeptics who declare there is no danger in the current protests of nature throughout many sections of the United States do so in direct opposition to historic and scientific facts.

Although the threat of new deserts is apparent in the United States, the disease is being treated and eradicated just as surely as diseases which attack the human race. Agricultural specialists have found a remedy for this disease of the soil and American farmers are county, Oklahoma, and in Red River county, Texas. Again, I have been a resident of this county for some five years.

Most of you, as well as I, feel that the democratic principle which says that when a public officer has made a good record during his first term he should be given the opportunity of being re-elected is a good and fair principle. But aren't we opposed to the practice which has been established by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Westaway, as well as others, in this county in their rotating this, and other offices, between themselves each four years by appointing each other deputy tax assessor?

Under the laws of the state of New Mexico it is unlawful for any person to hold a county office for more than two terms. The true spirit and intent of this law has been violated during the past twelve years by Mr. and Mrs. Westaway in rotating this office between themselves since 1924.

I am opposed to the principle of nepotism practiced in this office during the past twelve years. I do not believe a man elected to office should appoint his wife and kin-folks as his deputy, but should scatter the fruits of the office among other competent and deserving democrats.

An investigation of the records of Eddy county will disclose that Mr. and Mrs. Westaway have drawn from the treasury of this county, of the peoples' money, approximately $50,000 in salaries, mileage, and other expenses. It seems to me this is quite enough for the taxpayers to pay one family, and certainly violates the principle of our law of the time-honored rules of the democratic party.

I do not believe in the principle of political cliques controlling the destiny of the people of any county. I believe it is the proper time for the people of Eddy county to put some new blood in some of the offices in Eddy county which have been held by the same political bunch for the past twelve years.

I would appreciate the support of every citizen of Eddy county who feels as I do.

WHY VOTE FOR GEORGE R. SPENCER

For Re-election?

He has through attention to the business details of his office saved the taxpayers of Eddy county thousands of dollars.

He has so arranged matters as to require school transportation costs to be paid out of the state maintenance school funds instead of by local property taxes as contemplated by a law passed in 1935.

He has used this money saved from transportation costs to improve and build more school buildings; to buy better equipment and has seen to it that new factory-built buses were supplied on the bus routes.

He has inaugurated a system of standardized testing and grading in the rural schools. Such as is used in the best city systems. He has and is purchasing a great number of library books for each rural school.

He adopted the following slogan: "The schools are maintained for the benefit of the pupil." And has insisted that all employes conduct themselves with that idea in mind.

He has made a good superintendent during his first term and by all democratic principles is entitled to his second term.

A vote for George R. Spencer for re-election is a vote for a continued efficient, impartial and economical administration of the rural schools of Eddy county.

MAN FATALLY BURNED

Seraro B. Fierro of Carlsbad, 42 years old, fatally burned Saturday night when a gasoline lamp exploded in his hands, died early Sunday in a Carlsbad hospital.

Funeral rites were held Monday afternoon at the San Jose church, with burial in the San Jose cemetery, Father Constance Klein in charge.

He is survived by a widow and one daughter.

Fierro lost his life in trying to save his home. The lantern exploded when he attempted to throw it out the door after gasoline which had splashed out of it caught fire.

Orders for locomotives, passenger cars, freight cars, and rail in the first four months of 1936 were about equal the orders for the entire year 1935, according to Harry G. Taylor, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives.

State Ends Year
$19,174 To Good

New Mexico ended the fiscal year $19,174.23 in the black, Governor Tingley announced Friday at Santa Fe, following receipt of a report of state finances from James J. Connelly, state treasurer.

"In these days when there is so much talk about balanced budgets, I am proud to know that state departments continued to operate on a business-like basis and stayed well within their income," the governor said.

The governor said he again would issue orders to all departments under his jurisdiction and to state institutions to stay within their budgets and income next year.

"The state is in good shape financially, and we want it to stay that way," the governor said. "State institutions ended the year in the black, and the state has a comfortable balance. I want the state to show another balance next July 1."

Last year the state had ended the fiscal year $57,028.50 in the black.

The governor said he was also pleased that the state had been able during the year to increase its investments from $4,679,218.52 to $5,986,176.47.

"Most of the increase is probably due to the land office receipts and is a tribute to Land Commissioner Frank Vesely's administration of public land," the governor said.

Total receipts in all accounts handled by the treasurer's office during the fiscal year amounted to $19,860,743.96. For the previous fiscal year the total was $21,899,482.25. The difference was accounted for by the refunding of bonds last year. Total disbursements during the fiscal year amounted to $20,371,536.25, and for the previous fiscal year, amounted to $19,614,591.10. The difference was due to the investment of more than a million dollars in securities for permanent funds.

Total cash and securities (state, depository banks and insurance companies) amounted to $17,050,824.81, as of July st, the report showed.

Public Lands Oil and Gas Protective Association Is Organized At Casper

In a widely representative and well attended meeting of oil men held at Casper, Wyoming, last week a new public land states association was given permanent form under the name of "Public Lands Oil and Gas Protective Association."

The purpose of the new interstate association was declared to be the protection of the interests of the people of the public land states in the development of their public lands for oil and gas.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows:

President: Robert G. Taylor, Cheyenne, Wyoming; vice president for Wyoming: Robert Conaghan, Cheyenne, Wyoming; vice president for Montana: J. A. Henderson, Billings, Montana; vice president for New Mexico: W. A. Nicholas, Roswell, New Mexico; vice president for Colorado: Warwick Downing, Denver, Colorado.

The principal subject of discussion, as reported by the Casper Tribune-Herald, concerned the new federal oil and gas leasing law, passed last year, and known at that time as the O'Mahoney-Greever bill. This law abolishes the sixteen year old oil and gas prospecting statute, sets up a system of five year, one section leases, and leaves the vitally important matter of royalties, to be assessed against the operator, largely in the discretion of the secretary of the interior.

In reporting the meeting, the Tribune-Herald of Casper says: "Oil men consider the leasing bill a piece of administration 'must legislation' emanating from the Department of the Interior and an extreme conservation of petroleum resources. No attacks were made against Senator O'Mahoney or Representative Greever who sponsored the measure in a greatly modified form. The announced objective of the organization is to protect the interests of the people of the public land states in the development of their oil and gas resources."

W. A. Nicholas of Roswell attended the meeting as representative for New Mexico Oil and Gas Association, the official organization of the oil industry in the state of New Mexico, of which C. J. Dexter of Artesia is president, and Harry Leonard of Roswell is secretary-treasurer.

Another important meeting of the association is scheduled for early September.

Girl Scout News

Peggy Ann Linell and Charlene Martin arrived July 19th at Camp Mary White, Cactus Region Girl Scout camp, located high in the Sacramento mountains near Cloudcroft, both planning to spend the second two-week period there.

Charlene is registered in Rancho Escondido, one of the four units of the camp. She chose this unit because of her special interest in dramatics.

Charlene will appear July 30 in the operetta, "Hansel and Gretel," which is to be the highlight of the dramatic season at Camp Mary White.

She has been elected patrol leader of her patrol for the two weeks she is to be in camp. The patrols have alternate charge of cooking, household duties of the unit, and unit campfires.

Peggy Ann Linell selected Fern Dust Ranch as her unit. This unit specializes in nature study, and Peggy Ann is looking forward to the trip to Carlsbad Caverns, planned by the group, to study the formation of that unusual and beautiful natural phenomena.

She has found much to interest her in handcraft, hiking, swimming, Indian crafts and horsemanship.

Camp Mary White opened July 5, with the largest enrollment in its history, approximately 130 girls being registered, the majority of them remaining for the full six weeks period.

The attraction of the camp is not only its cool climate, due to its location, 8,500 feet high amidst pines and firs of the Rocky Mountain region, but also its varied program of activities.

These comprise various forms of handcraft, nature studies, archery, swimming, folk dancing, Indian crafts, pioneering, horseback riding, dramatics and all outdoor projects sponsored by the Girl Scout organization.

The camp is in the hands of the Roswell council. Only Girl Scouts are registered and these are assigned to units according to their interests.

SNAKES CANNOT STRIKE AS FAR AS OWN LENGTH

How far can poisonous snakes strike? About one-half to three-fourths their length, says the United States Bureau of Biological Survey.

The greater distance is rarely reached even during times of extreme excitement, and the longer strokes have little accuracy.

It is commonly believed that they strike their full length or greater distances.

In striking at an object a snake shaped curves in its body with great speed. When coiled it uncoils about half of the front part of its body and hurls that part forward from a looped position.

Snakes can strike short distances from almost any position. The western diamondback rattlesnake, when excited, frequently raises its head ten to fifteen inches above the ground.

From this position it strikes sideways and downward.

Poisonous snakes often misjudge distance in striking at objects. Venom flying from the fangs, when they strike at objects beyond their reach, accounts for stories of American snakes spitting poison.

An African species really does this.

Reports of persons bitten by venomous snakes indicate that in most cases the victims were bitten on the legs or feet.

High topped boots or heavy leggings therefore are an efficient safeguard against most attempts of snakes to bite.

Rental and benefit payments, under the AAA program in Eddy county, during the five-month period ended May 31, 1936, amounted to $10,233.87, according to information received by State Director G. E. Cook of the national emergency council.

This sum brought the total for the three-year operation of the program to $522,498.43. Under the cotton program payments in Eddy county were $542,913.04; and corn-hogs, $9,585.39.

The total number that has been released in New Mexico as a result of the rental and benefit payments over the three years is $4,030,744.13, of which sum $946,003.21 has been paid out during the first five months of the current year.

As follows: cotton, $126,898.47; corn-hogs, $8,586.05; sugar, $165.78; peanuts, $229.01; wheat, $210,123.90.

The total of such payments throughout the United States, according to recent figures furnished, is $1,223,104,178.85.

Considering how fine this railroad transportation is nowadays, you can't travel any cheaper. Fares lowest in history—substantial savings on round trip tickets. So why not take the train? It's safer. It's more dependable.

You can't beat the improved travel comfort in coaches and sleeping cars. It's a good thing movies don't have such restful seats—most folks would sure fall asleep.

Ever hear about the Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight? It's a great convenience to shippers and receivers alike. Western railroads pick up at the door, ship by fast freight, and deliver to consignee's door.

Railroad trains are running on faster schedules these days. Seems like the iron horse wants to show these new streamlined diesels that he can step out, too. Both passenger and freight schedules have been speeded up.

What's more, the railroads believe in "safety first." Last year not one passenger was killed in a train accident on western railroads.

Talk to your local railroad agent. He's full of information about traveling and shipping.

We are proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

1. THE WESTAWAYS have rotated the office of Tax Assessor among themselves for TWELVE YEARS and during that period of time have received about $50,000.00 of the tax payer's hard-earned money!

2. If you, a voter in this County, approve of the above rotation and nepotism in your offices may we suggest we CHANGE THE NAME OF EDDY COUNTY TO WESTAWAY COUNTY?

3. BUT, if you oppose the above and want to vote for a man who favors a fair valuation for all and also believes that all of Eddy County should be represented in Eddy County offices and for a man who promises nothing other than he will do his best to serve the entire public—

WON'T YOU DO YOUR BIT FOR BETTER GOVERNMENT BY VOTING FOR J. T. HARDIN FOR TAX ASSESSOR?
