Governor Miles said that as far as he knew, there would be no changes of state appointive officials during his second term. Such officials include the state comptroller, administrators of the Bureau of Revenue, the state police chief and the state tax commissioners.

National bean production of 15-130,000 bags with 599,000 in New Mexico was forecast by the federal crop reporting board. National production was 13,962,000 bags in 1939. All Western states, the board said, were above average for yield per acre except Arizona. However, late rains damaged quality in Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska.

Want a distinctive number for your 1941 automobile license plate? Well, it's too late! Noting that the dates might be changed if conditions warranted, Chief Clerk Alfonso De Baca said the motor vehicle division's present rules call for applications for particular numbers by Nov. 15 and payment for the licenses Dec. 1. More than 100 persons applied for special license numbers.

Reflecting a decrease in oil and gas rentals, state land receipts for October were $377,607.24, off $6,359.86 from the same month in 1939. The office's monthly report set oil and gas rentals at $69,352.03 as compared to $96,905.13 in October, 1939.

State Rep. Frank J. McCarthy of Chaves County, reelected in the general election, said he was "seriously considering" becoming a candidate for the speakership of the House in the next legislative session. McCarthy said he had been approached by a number of members of the legislature. The election of Rep. George W. Armijo to the state senate left the speakership open.

The State Land Office's November oil and gas lease sale brought in $3,863 for leases on thirteen tracts, Commissioner Frank Worden announced. Nineteen tracts were offered, but no bids were received on six. Worden said the December sale might be held on an open, oral bid basis either in Carlsbad or Lovington. The monthly sale in the past has been conducted in Santa Fe with sealed bids.

State Game Warden Elliott Barker partially credited the new hunting regulation making only forked-horn or larger bucks legal game for the lack of serious accidents in the state's 1940 big game season. "The hunters now look more carefully before they shoot," said Barker.

A request that draft registrants seek advice from advisory board members before filling out draft questionnaires was issued by state selective service headquarters, after several local board members reported numerous questionnaires were being returned incorrectly filled out.

New Mexico's November WPA quota has been increased from 9,350 to 10,050, State WPA Administrator J. J. Connelly said. He said most of the increase would be used in setting up school hot lunch projects.

The Commodity Credit Corporation said that 504 bales of 1940 cotton had been stored in New Mexico under government loans through Nov. 12. The loans totaled $24,117. Nationally 1,650,082 bales were stored with loans totaling $79,852,227.

The WPA plans to start within a month on a $61,840 school improvement project at Alamogordo to be financed by an allocation made in Washington last week and a $30,000 bond issue approved last fall. The work is to include remodeling and adding to Central School and construction of a gymnasium.

The Askfork, Ariz., six-man football team carried home a 51-0 victory over Magdalena, N. Mex., and claimed the Southwestern six-man gridiron title for the Armistice Day feat.

The State Board of Public Health, in session in Santa Fe, considered its 1941-42 budget, which Dr. James R. Scott, state health director, said was still in a "tentative" stage. All departments have been ordered to keep their coming budgets within the limits of their present ones.

The number of pneumonia cases reported weekly to the State Health Department jumped from two to thirteen in the two-week period ended Nov. 9, State Health Director James R. Scott said.

State Game Warden Elliott Barker reported that seventy-two specially-licensed elk-hunters had killed twelve bull elk in the Upper Pecos up to last Thursday. "The fact that more haven't been killed is the fault of the hunters," he said. "Plenty of elk are there, if they are hunted right." To prove the point, Deputy Warden L. W. Simmons shot his choice of two bulls which he tracked down within an hour or two after leaving Beattie's cabin.

Bulldogs Go Down in Defeat to Cavemen on Carlsbad Memorial Stadium Field on Friday

Old Enemies of Artesia Take Their Visitors 14 to 0—First Score Comes in Last Minute of the Half.

(By Leon Bert)

The injury-weakened Bulldog eleven was but a shadow of the great Artesia High School team that hung up five victories in a row earlier in the season, when the Black and Orange went down to defeat 14 to 0 at the hands of their traditional enemies, the Carlsbad Cavemen, at the new Memorial Stadium there Friday evening before more than 3,000 shivering fans.

The Cavemen scored in the last minute of the first half and came back to tally again in the third quarter with both tries for conversion good. The Bulldogs never really got going, failing to threaten seriously throughout the game.

With the chilling cold making it hard for either eleven to do its best, the first quarter saw neither team gaining much ground and kicking on late downs when first down yardage failed to be made.

Late in the second period the Caveman offensive picked up, unloosing a brilliant passing attack which resulted in the first Cavern City score when Nuez, Carlsbad halfback, tossed one complete to Miller, stellar Caveman end, in the Artesia end zone from the 18-yard line on third down. Miller place-kicked the extra point.

Bad breaks followed the Artesians throughout the last half. Starting when Raymond Kennedy Bulldog right end, playing heads up ball, broke through the Caveman line to partially block a fourth-down kick of Marler, Carlsbad end, on their own 37-yard line, only to have Miller, other Cavern City post man, pick up the pigskin on the bounce and streak down the sidelines for the final counter. Miller again dropped back and kicked the point after touchdown.

There was a lengthy discussion at that time as to whether the last Carlsbad score should be counted. At the time the officials ruled it good but they later admitted their mistake and said that the ball should have been ruled Artesia's where the Caveman end touched it. But since the game was over and the ruling made, nothing could be done about it so the score was counted.

Midway in the final quarter the Cavemen scored again with Putman, outstanding Carlsbad right halfback, carrying it over from the Bulldog two-foot line on third down, but the play was called back on an off-side penalty. The Artesians held on fourth down and Wright, Bulldog halfback, kicked out of danger on first down.

Neither team threatened any later in the game.

The Artesia school band and twirling squad paraded the gridiron at halftime intermission, forming an arrow, and Alda Ann Crouch gave a nice exhibition of lighted baton twirling when the field lights were turned out.

More Power to Thrift—more Thrift from Power

MOST people would be willing to spend a little extra for what Buick has to offer—style, size, room, steadiness, durability—if part of that extra could be paid back through lower operating costs.

Especially they would like really satisfying performance—quick take-off, easy hill-climbing, sure power, fast response—if they could have it in a car that's stingy with gasoline.

That's what we've given them—through the extra power in this 1941 Buick.

The added wallop of FIREBALL engine design and Compound Carburetion lets us use more thrifty gear ratios, saving money without complicating extra gears or mechanisms.

And the tremendous reserve-power in these Buick engines—at 40, for instance, you have as much as 85% of your power "on call"—still permits the flashing get-away, the swooping hill-climb, the sure lift out of pinches you once had to buy with heavy gasoline consumption.

So we say—more power to thrift—it helps put Buick thrill and comfort within easy reach.

And the reason is—more thrift from power—from abler engines.

It all adds up to the sensation of the year—the car you ought to see first—the brilliant, able beauty your Buick dealer has waiting for you.

Little Known Facts and Sidelights on Oil Industry

Life with a Photographic Father—

Many present-day survivors of pre-war times can recall life with father, which consisted mainly of brief chats on those rare occasions when he emerged from the "dark room." Entrance to this mysterious retreat was forbidden on pain of severe chastisement. Later, the reason was revealed. A streak of light from an opening door ruined photographic negatives in the process of development.

For the oncoming generation, however, prospects of a less distant and more enjoyable relationship with father have been distinctly brightened by the recent development of a darkroom lamp designed to give a soft, even light from a 15-watt bulb without uncomfortable and damaging glare.

Plastic filters and varied colors are adjusted quickly and safely to suit the type of film which is being developed. When orthochromatic film is processed, for instance, a red filter is used. Green is used for fast panchromatic types, and orange for bromide enlargements. Proper colors were obtained after various urea compounds were photo-spectrum tested for more than six months.

Made entirely of heat-proof, non-warping plastics which possess dielectric properties and are unaffected by photographic chemicals the lamp can be handled safely when the hands are wet. It is sturdy yet light weight and can be set up quickly and inconspicuously in cramped quarters. It should be noted, however, that no kind of illumination is safe until after development has started.

Changing Fast—

Farms are less isolated than they used to be, due to motor transportation. They're going to be less so in the future, as a Michigan school teacher discovered recently when she answered a knock at the door.

The caller inquired the route to Jonia, eight miles away. She gave the directions and watched to see where he had left his automobile. Instead of walking toward the road, however, the man calmly walked through the pasture behind the barn, climbed into his airplane, and flew away.

Air-minded Alaska—

Rich in oil prospects, coal, gold, platinum and other precious minerals, Alaska has found in air service the key to economic development. In this rich territory one-fifth the size of the United States, there is more airplane travel per white inhabitant than in any other great area in the world. Roads are few and far between and there is little railroad mileage. Even in the islands, served by all forms of water craft from primitive native boats to the fastest motor boats, the plane is in demand—especially in the north during the freeze-up.

A pioneer air line run by an American woman carries mail to isolated villages, brings out gold from mountain mines, carries furs from Eskimo islands, or flies explorers or government survey parties as part of the day's work. Another line operates from Juneau, capital of the territory in the southeast, to Fairbanks via the Yukon region, down the Kuskokwim to Bethel in the southwest and on across to the Bering Sea. Clippers now run twice weekly on the 950-mile seven-hour Seattle-Juneau flight.

She Ain't What She Used to Be!

Cows used to be bovines before researchers caught up with them. Now they're wine cellars. That's what the lactic laboratory experts are claiming. As proof they've distilled a quart of sauerne from a quart of whey for dairy experts to sample.

The recipe, which calls for yeast and sugar, just happened to be accidentally discovered. The researchers were fermenting the lactose content of whey in search of a new milk by-product. A fermented residue pleasing to the taste resulted. It was found that the longer the new by-product was held in the wood the better it tasted and that a cold shock helped clarify it.

The new whey wine contains 15 per cent alcohol by volume and comes in sherry flavors as well.

Long Distance—

Plans have been completed for a 1,500-mile natural gas pipeline, the longest to date, which will bring plentiful supplies of natural gas from the Texas Gulf Coast to Philadelphia, New Jersey and New York.

A rapidly expanding market for natural gas among large industrial concerns in many parts of the country prompted the move to tap the enormous supplies in Texas and Louisiana for eastern consumers. Only fifteen years ago, consumption of natural gas was limited to areas within 300 miles of producing fields.

The maximum length of Wales is 136 miles.

The draft process will be employed for the annual Dames Ball, sponsored by the senior coed honorary society, Mortar Board, at the University of Indiana. The girls will conscript their "dates" and the first capsule drawn from a fish bowl at the dance will determine which young man will be colonel of the Legion of Designing Females. All expenses for the couples will be paid by the coeds. Exempted are three classes: those under 16 or over 43; conscientious objectors to shindigs, and any having a wife as dependent.

At Hickory, N. C., J. G. Alexander headed homeward across a railroad trestle with his catch of sixteen catfish just as a train came along. He jumped. The engine injured one of his hands. With the other he clung to a tie—and the sixteen fish—until the engineer stopped the train and came back to pull him to safety.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson has decided a compass could be just as handy around an Alaskan railway station as in the Arctic. After waiting two days to catch a twice-a-week train north to Fairbanks, the explorer boarded one of the two trains waiting at the depot. It hauled him twelve miles south before he discovered he was going in the wrong direction.

At Conway, S. C., F. W. Woodie, barber-farmer, vouches for this one: Neighborhood children lost a rubber ball in Woodie's peanut patch some time ago. While harvesting the peanuts, Woodie found the ball—with several peanuts grown inside it.

Ralph W. Barnard has asked Elkhart, Ind., city officials to put a curfew on a bridge near his house. He said he couldn't get to sleep because the bridge rattled when automobiles passed over it.

Picture the plight of Chief White Eagle, 52-year-old Indian from the Cherokee reservation at Tulsa, Okla., who lost himself in the wilds of Flushing, Queens, N. Y., while tracking a friend. The chief was looking for the Shinnecock Hills reservation at Southampton, Long Island, but the only trail markers he found were subway signs and the palefaces he met didn't seem to know their own hunting grounds. Magistrate Jenkin R. Hockett finally set him on the right path—and tossed in a coin or two to replenish the chief's diminishing funds.

SAFETY SERVICE

Ever Heard the Story of the First Thanksgiving?

IMAGINE that first harvest Thanksgiving in America, more than three hundred years ago. It probably started while families were gathered at someone's home after the day's work. The talk probably turned to events of the day and the bountiful year they've been enjoying . . . and in such an informal way as this, perhaps, they proclaimed the first Thanksgiving. Carrying through their plans was not so simple, for protection against Indians was needed all along the way. But they were successful because they knew all precautions taken for safety could not be too great.

YOU cannot take too many precautions! Protect your valuables and savings; protect your family when you no longer can. Protect your business with proper financing.

Celebrate Thanksgiving Once or Twice, Try Holiday Desserts Equally Nice

Thanksgiving is again this year plural—to let you eat twice as much, twice as good. Tradition-lovers may hew to the last Thursday; departers from tradition may have the newer date. Anything the matter with doing it twice?

A double Thanksgiving has many virtues: it lets you visit on the one and be visited on the other; best of all it lets you take a try at some new holiday desserts!

Designed especially in keeping with the twice-blessed tradition the newest desserts let you keep the old-time flavor and dish but give you a new way to serve it up. Just see (below) these modern versions of the traditional—and do bring on one or two when the proud bird has been reduced to a welter of rib-work!

Mincemeat Whip

4 egg whites, 1-8 teasp. salt, ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup drained mincemeat, 1 teasp. vinegar.

Place egg whites and salt in bowl, beat with rotary beater until foamy. Add sugar, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition. Continue beating until mixture is very stiff, and will stand in peaks. Add vinegar to mincemeat and fold into egg mixture. File in buttered 8-inch baking dish. Set in pan of hot water and bake in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Cool. Serve hot with chilled soft custard sauce, or whipped cream. Yield: 6 portions.

Holiday Pudding

6 tbsps. softened butter, 1½ cups sugar, 3 eggs, well beaten, 1-8 cups sifted flour, ½ teasp. all-phosphate baking powder, 1-8 teasp. salt, 1½ cups finely cut pasteurized dates, 1½ cups chopped Brazil nuts.

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, blending well. Add eggs, beat well. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sift together 3 times. Add dry ingredients, dates and Brazil nuts, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Steam in well buttered mold (7 x 3½") for 1½ hours; place in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for ½ hour. Serve immediately with hard sauce, or wrap in waxed paper and store.

Spicy After Dinner Coffee

Put dash of cinnamon in each cup; pour in hot, double-strength, freshly made coffee (use 2 tablespoons coffee to each measuring cup of water). Top with whipped cream and dust with cinnamon. Stir with cinnamon stick.

Holiday Bran Pastry (For Pumpkin Pie)

¼ cup all-bran, 1½ cups flour, ½ teasp. salt, ½ cup shortening, 4 tbsps. cold water (more or less). Roll all-bran until fine; combine with flour and salt. Cut in shortening, add water a little at a time, until dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out on lightly floured board to about 1-8-inch in thickness.

Frozen Pudding

1½ cups macaroon crumbs, ½ cup chopped Brazil nuts, ½ cup sliced pasteurized dates, ½ cup chopped candied peel, grated rind ½ Florida orange, ¼ teasp. cinnamon, ¼ teasp. nutmeg, 8 marshmallows, quartered; ¼ cup Florida orange juice, ¼ cup sugar, 1 cup cream whipped.

Combine crumbs, nuts, fruits, rind and spices. Dissolve marshmallows in orange juice and sugar; combine with first mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Fill individual paper cups with mixture. Freeze until firm. Remove from paper cups; frost puddings quickly with additional whipped cream. Makes 10.

Mincemeat Whirls

1½ cups sifted flour, 3 tbsps. all-phosphate baking powder, ½ teasp. salt, ½ cup sugar, 3 tbsps. shortening, ½ cup milk (about), 4 tbsps. butter, 1½ cups prepared mincemeat, Lemon Foamy Sauce. Sift together flour, all-phos-

Charges Eliminated From Loan Forms For 1940 Cotton

Commodity Credit Corporation Announces Revision of Program

The Community Credit Corporation has announced that instructions pertaining to the 1940 cotton loan program have been revised, effective now, to prevent any additional charges by either lending agencies or warehouses for filling out cotton loan forms. Reports from various farmers indicate that additional charges were being made by lending agencies and warehousemen for filling out cotton loan forms. In some instances, however, corporation officials said, charges were being made for such services, whereas the interest rate paid lending agencies and the storage rate paid warehousemen were intended to cover all services necessary in filling out loan forms.

Under this revision of instructions pertaining to the 1940 cotton loan program, lending agencies, in order to make their paper eligible for purchase by the Commodity Credit Corporation, will be required to certify that the full proceeds of the loan have been paid to the cotton producer without any charge for services rendered in completing the loan forms. The question of whether a similar requirement should be made of co-operative associations is now being considered.

319 YEAR OLD HOLIDAY

The first Thanksgiving feast was given after the Puritans' first harvest in 1621. It had no special religious significance. In 1623 an abundant rain followed a protracted drouth "for which mercie . . . they . . . set apart a day of thanksgiving." The first Thanksgiving proclamation was issued in 1668 by the Plymouth authorities. The observance of thanksgiving days was common from then on . . . George Washington issued the first presidential Thanksgiving proclamation. In 1864, President Lincoln proclaimed "the last Thursday in November" as Thanksgiving Day!

BUREAU OF CENSUS BUSINESS REPORT MADE

Sales by Clovis stores, totaling $7,436,000 for 1939 were 38.7 per cent more than reported in the business census of 1935, according to a Nov. 8 release by the Bureau of the Census. Information furnished to the Clovis Chamber of Commerce showed in 1939 there were 213 stores with 184 proprietors and a payroll of $637,000. These figures do not include proprietors of unincorporated businesses; there were 184 of these. With Bernalillo County leading by a wide margin, Santa Fe County and Chaves County had slight leads in business volume over Curry County. However, these counties are larger than Curry and have more towns in them, it was explained. Chaves County, leading Curry by a narrow edge, is more than four times as large. The percentage of gain in business volume between 1935 and 1939, however, was much greater in Clovis than in Roswell or Santa Fe.

REVENUE BUREAU DISMISSES EMPLOYEES

At least twenty-two employes of the State Bureau of Revenue were given notice of dismissal in what one official termed a "streamlining" move. Affected were fifteen workers in the sales, use and severance tax divisions, under Director Gail Carter, and about seven or eight in the motor vehicle division. They included apparently the entire force of the statistical office. Carter said the action was "precisely what any private employer would do to streamline his organization and increase efficiency. It has absolutely nothing whatever to do with politics, and is not a purge of any description," he declared.

The State Health Department, during the three-month period ended Sept. 30, gave smallpox immunization treatments of 3,144 persons, anti-diphtheria treatments to 1,853, anti-typhoid to 1,167, and examined 17,406 laboratory specimens, its quarterly report showed.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM IS PLANNED, MEXICAN CHURCH

The Rev. Constantino Gonzales, pastor of the Mexican Methodist Church, said this week his congregation is planning a Yuletide program, to be presented at the church Christmas night, and began work on it recently.

He and members of the congregation will appreciate any help the Anglos may give them by way of Christmas presents for the children, including toys. The pastor said they will give the presents the real Christmas meaning and that many persons do not realize how much such kindnesses are appreciated.

American casualties in the World War were 126,000 killed, 234,000 wounded and 4,500 taken prisoner or missing.

High School aggregation, which fell before the Rattlers' onslaught. They have also beaten the Institute Colts 13 to 7, while the Bulldogs sent the Cadets down 6 to 0 here for the locals' first win of the season. The Rattlers, however, are an in-and-out ball club, letting the weak Fort Sumner team eke out a tie 14 to 14 in their clash. Tucumcari came back last week end to beat Santa Rosa 33 to 6 at home, after falling 41 to 13 the previous week end before the strong grid-ders of Clayton High, who will play against the Hobbs Eagles here in the second annual Gateway Bowl game Nov. 29.

Coach Jimmie Rudd's lads from Tucumcari use a double wing with either a balanced or unbalanced line, according to which the opposition uses. They combine a formidable passing attack with a good running game and the comparative weights of the two elevens are approximately the same, except that the Tucumcari back will slightly outweigh the Artesia backfield.

The probable starting lineup in Coach Joe Green's backfield will be Harold Greene at quarter, Bob Ferguson at full, Dooley Juarez at right half and "Kit" Carson at left half. Ferguson will do the signal calling. In Coach Alan Thompson's line it will be Eugene Scoggins and R. D. Wright at the end posts, Doane Watkins and Thomas Brock at the tackle slots, James Manley and Buddy McCrory at guard positions and Phil Moon-ey at the pivot post. Manley will captain the Bulldogs.

a transparent solution to prevent or minimize the splintering of glass from blast. A bomb explosion causes two effects—blast and suction. The former blows in the windows with terrific force, so strong that it may embed pieces of glass in the room walls opposite the windows; suction pulls outwardly. You will realize the action when you consider the vacuum caused by the explosion. We have heard many bombs around us, but not nearer than 1½ miles. The house will vibrate and doors and windows rattle even from very distant explosions.

As regards food, we have plenty, although rationed. The rationing is to ensure some equality in distribution. I dug up part of my back grass and have had bumper crops of potatoes, beans and other vegetables. This year pears and plums have been prolific crops, and in spite of the birds we are becoming sated with the fruit.

While I was writing this (11:30 a. m.) a sinister rumbling of approaching planes could be heard, and in a few minutes the alarm was given. For ten minutes or more one could hear them passing, with the occasional rumble and vibration of a bomb explosion. The enemy were probably bound for inland places, and now at 12:30 o'clock midday the blessed all-clear has brought us a temporary relief and we can proceed to cook our midday meal . . .

Next day, morning—A horrible night. At dusk we heard the drone of enemy planes which continued to pass over in waves, for hours. Ten, eleven, and midnight—still booming and whining, passing into and dispersing over the country. Occasionally a boom and vibration was felt from a bomb explosion.

In the darkness the terrifying effect seems augmented beyond bearing. I lay in bed unable to sleep until exhausted nature conquered and I slept until 7 a. m. The enemy cannot see objectives, and they release bombs indiscriminately anywhere. One difficulty we have is the defending planes cannot locate hostile planes in the air, and so the fiends get immunity largely. Their claims for successes are usually turned about. "A few of their planes are lost and many of ours," whereas, in daylight raids it is the other way about. We think it is largely a matter of method of training, and our men show superiority when numbers are fairly equal.

My eldest son is in the midlands on armaments—living in a village near Nottingham. John is in a very important job at headquarters and has a staff of seventy-five, many of them captains and majors in rank. Although only a major in rank, John has been temporarily promoted to lieutenant colonel, to give him status over his staff.

At 6:30 p. m.—The calm too good to last. Alarm gone, and our spitfires have raced across the house toward Portsmouth. We can hear nothing, but planes continue to pass over—of what kind we can't distinguish.

I do not hear from Pembury now as often as I used to. The anxiety of the fate of relatives should be relieved by periodical postcards. My "fiddle" practice is going to pieces. The brain plays an important part in working up any musical composition; and when the tension is high from stress and uncertainty, no good can result from it.

A very capable ex-professional pianist has settled here and can play anything. So I am fortunate in having someone to help me, when circumstances allow. I seldom hear from Pinchbeck West now. My sister, I think, is not in good health, owing to war strain.

My ears are pricked up for the all-clear, but evidently fighting is still going on. I'm risking my carcass by writing in the dining room. I ought to be crouched in the chimney jamb, where there is a seat, and the big dining table turned up as some protection. If one gets a direct hit, all is over. Fortunately the house is well surrounded with foliage which will break some of the shocks of falling bombs 'round about—should they come.

Ha! The all-clear with its joyful news is just ringing out in the evening air.

Next day—A glorious morning and we are still alive. A bad night, but not so bad as the previous one. Trouble began shortly before midnight. Bombs were heard around, and droning of aircraft. The alarm was sounded soon after. I heard 1 o'clock strike, and as there was silence outside, I suppose I slept. Are you bored with this detail? One writes what is uppermost, and hurriedly, making a somewhat disjointed letter.

One cannot quite realize living conditions unless one is experiencing them. But here we are with alternate alarms and quietness, reverberations and silence, with almost constant apprehension of what is in store. Young people seem less timorous than the old. My wife keeps calm—outwardly—but at times I cannot help feeling apprehensive. As I move restlessly about the house, the wife has given orders for me to get this letter finished—and I am very obedient. If it be not finished and posted, it may never be.

team to play in the game, will come next in the parade, led by the Hobbs band and with the grid-men and fans following.

Clayton will march next in similar formation, the band in front.

Behind the Clayton players and fans will come members of the Bulldog Boosters, parent organization of the Gateway Bowl Association, and behind them will be the Artesia High School band, after which will be members of the Artesia Goat Ropers' Club, followed by our floats local merchants or organizations may wish to enter, with the junior band in the rear.

The parade will form at Second and Quay, adjacent to the American Legion hut at 1 o'clock sharp, so the parade will be over at Morris Field in time for the game to start promptly at 2 o'clock, still giving parade spectators ample time to enter the stadium.

The line of march will be north from the hut to Main Street, west on Main to Eighth, south to Richardson and west to the main gate at the field.

Arba Green, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, this week extended an invitation to Gov. and Mrs. Miles in behalf of the Gateway Bowl Association. No reply had been received up to the time The Advocate went to press as to whether they can come.

Plans are under way for decorating the city next week in honor of the visiting school elevens, somewhat as was done last year for the first Gateway Bowl game, in which Jal and Silver City played.

Tentative plans call for decorating all light poles on the north side of Main Street and in the streets adjacent with the Clayton High School colors, which have not been learned here as yet, that school representing the northern part of the state. The south side of the street and adjacent streets will use the Hobbs colors.

The committee is asking that store managers decorate their windows and buildings suitably.

SON IS BORN TO MR. AND MRS. DAUGHERTY

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Daugherty are the parents of an 8½-pound son, born Saturday in a hospital in Carlsbad.

The boy has been named Phillip Dale.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Booker of Dublin, Tex., spent several days in Artesia last week visiting Mr. Booker's brothers, Grady and Glenn, and their families.

Stores also are to close in time for employers and employees to attend the game.
