Dublin Man To Move Cotton Compress Here

Cotton producers, gin operators and merchants of the Pecos Valley and the Lovington area, met Tuesday night to discuss the possibility of forming a stock company or co-operative to purchase and operate a cotton compress and to have it located at Dublin, Texas, and operate it for the benefit of the area.

Francis owns compresses at Memphis and Harlingen, Texas, and another in the Deep South, besides the one at Dublin.

Ross Sears, chairman of the committee named some time ago by the Artesia Chamber of Commerce to look into the cotton compress proposition, presided at the meeting, which was attended by good representations from Carlsbad, Loving, Hagerman, Roswell, Cottonwood, and Lovington, besides the Artesia community.

He appointed Artie McNally, Russell Rogers and R. E. Coleman, who were named on the original investigation committee with him, and Charles Pardue of Carlsbad, Virgil Grantham of Roswell, and Bill Langenecker of Hagerman as a committee to work with Francis and co-operate with him in establishing the compress here.

Sears said that under the present arrangements, this area is assured a compress which should serve well and that will save upward of $5 a bale in the event cotton must be stored here, rather than having to ship it to a port.

He said it is presumed that when there is a big crop of cotton (continued last page this section)

Ordinance For Dogs Here Is To Be Enforced

Police Chief O. T. Lindsey has called attention to the city license requiring that dogs be vaccinated against rabies before the city can issue annual licenses, and that licenses for 1949 are now past due.

He pointed out that there was a period in which there was no resident veterinarian in Artesia and that it was impossible to enforce the regulation. However, a veterinarian is now available and it is the intention of police to enforce the ordinance.

The chief said a reasonable length of time will be given for dog owners to obtain licenses, after which those not licensed will be picked up and impounded. If owners do not claim them and comply with the ordinance, it will then be the duty of the officers to destroy them.

Two Are Sentenced To Pen For Burglaries, Including The Westerner

Harry L. Edwards, 27, and his brother, Ray Frank Edwards, 24, charged with a number of burglaries in Artesia, Carlsbad, Roswell and El Paso, including the burglary of The Westerner here last Nov. 12, were sentenced to the state penitentiary Monday in Eddy County District Court by Judge C. Roy Anderson.

The older brother, who had a prior felony conviction for burglary, was sentenced from three to five years, while the younger, who was convicted as a juvenile of automobile theft, was sentenced to 18 to 36 months.

The two men entered pleas of guilty and waived preliminary hearing here Jan. 11, when arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey on the charge of burglarizing The Westerner.

They again entered pleas of guilty when arraigned in District Court Wednesday of last week, when sentence was deferred until Monday.

The brothers were arrested in Carlsbad Jan. 7 on charges of grand larceny in connection with a number of burglaries, after stolen goods valued at $15,000 to $20,000 were recovered in a trailer house in Carlsbad.

After numerous burglaries had been reported in this area and officers believed there was some connection among them, the break in the case came last Dec. 21, when a family in La Huerta, a suburb north of Carlsbad, surprised burglars when they returned home and the occupants of the house were able to read the Texas license number and get a description of the automobile in which the intruders fled.

State, county, and local officers were alerted and watched for the car, which was spotted Jan. 7 near (Continued last page, this section)

Tax Services Are Available Here This Week

Two services having to do with taxes are available in Artesia this week, both of which come under the heading of unpleasant necessities. But the personnel in charge are far from unpleasant and are here to assist the taxpaying public.

Richard H. Westaway, assessor for Eddy County, is at the city hall each day this week to assist taxpayers of the Artesia community in rendering their taxes.

The other service is furnished by the Internal Revenue Department, which has a deputy collector at the city hall all this week to assist without charge anyone wishing help in preparing their income tax returns for 1948.

Prior to leaving Artesia about 35 years ago Mr. Sweptson was in the insurance business here and served as city clerk and justice of the peace. He also was quite active in the Methodist Church.

Miss Wynona Sweptson of Carlsbad, Eddy County home demonstration agent, is a daughter.

The deadline for the purchase of 1949 automobile license, has been set for Feb. 28, Bill Lewis, patrolman for the State Police, said this week.

He pointed out that only about 25 per cent of the vehicle operators have purchased their licenses, which will result in a last-minute rush, unless applications start coming in at a more rapid pace.

As to the deadline, Patrolman Lewis pointed out the state law provides a penalty of 15 per cent of the registration fee plus $1 for each day a vehicle is operated after the final date without new plates.

He was born April 14, 1917, at Lakeview and was 27 years old at the time of his death.

As a boy he attended the Lakeview and Artesia schools, and he completed his last year of high school at Weed.

Barber Quartet, Quiz Entertain Rotary Banquet

A barber shop quartet and a quiz furnished entertainment Tuesday evening at a ladies' night banquet of the Artesia Rotary Club in the basement of the Masonic Temple.

The quartet, V. F. Lowrey, Howard Haynes, E. J. Foster and Glenn Caskey, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Caskey, sang several old-time numbers, finishing with "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," in which the Rotarians and Rotary Anns joined in singing.

Burney Jones, who was in charge of the program, presented the quiz, taken from simple questions presented in the past to students from the first grade to high school, in which the adults found themselves somewhat at a loss for the correct answers in some cases.

Bert N. Muncy, a past president, presented perfect attendance buttons to four Rotarians who have (continued last page this section)

Bulldogs Split Two Games On Home Gym Floor

The Artesia Bulldogs split two games on the local floor the last week, losing to Albuquerque 44-41 Saturday night and defeating Vaughn 49-34 Tuesday night.

In the Albuquerque game the Bulldogs stepped out ahead, leading 12-5 at the quarter and 21-16 at the half. But in the third period the Albuquerque defense tightened and Artesia was leading only 33-31 at the end of the quarter.

In the final period Albuquerque tied Artesia 40-40 and again 41-41 in the last two minutes, then broke away to win 44-41.

Lewis Richardson led the Bulldogs in scoring with 13 points, and Dan Booker, who ran up 12, was close behind. Darrow was high man for Albuquerque, with 16.

The Bulldogs took a slight lead of 11-10 in the game against the Vaughn Eagles Tuesday night, but broadened the span to 26-17 at the half. And at the end of the third quarter it was 35-21.

Richardson was again high for Artesia, running up 24 of the Bulldogs' 49 points. Dority and Funk tied for second place, with 10 points each.

As a preliminary to the varsity game Tuesday, the Bullpups played and defeated the Vaughn "B" squad 47-40, after taking the lead in the first period and maintaining it throughout the game. Bill Brown was high for the Bullpups, running up 19 points, while Reiger tallied him only one point, with 18. Barrow topped the Vaughn "B" team, with 13.

M/Sgt. Preston E. Triplett, non-commissioned officer in charge of the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force recruiting station in Artesia, has recently re-enlisted in the Regular Army, selecting the Coast Artillery Corps as his branch of service. He re-enlisted for an indefinite period of time, one of the enlistment categories under the "New Career Guidance Plan." He returned to duty at the recruiting station in the Veterans Memorial Building.

When Sergeant Triplett first enlisted in the Army Jan. 6, 1941, he was sent to Fort Bliss and rose to the rank of platoon sergeant and machine-gun instructor. Full-Time Public Health Nurse To Serve North Eddy

Mrs. Naomi L. Votaw, formerly of Martinsville, Ind., has been assigned as public health nurse for North Eddy County, with headquarters at Artesia, the first time the northern part of this county has had a full-time health nurse.

Miss Vivian Rhoades has been assigned exclusively to the south half of the county. Both nurses are working under the supervision of Dr. O. E. Puckett of Carlsbad, district health officer.

Mrs. Votaw said the work of a public health nurse is not generally understood and that in order to inform the people of North Eddy County as to the work and so as to become acquainted with them she will be happy to contact various groups for talks. She suggested talks at meetings of service clubs and church and farm groups.

She hopes soon to be able to establish an office in Artesia.

Mrs. Votaw, who was born in Fountain County, Indiana, graduated in nursing from Indianapolis City Hospital in 1926.

She held nursing positions in Columbus, Jeffersonville, and Crawfordsville, Ind., before going to Martinsville, from where she came to New Mexico. Her duties included surgery, obstetrical nursing, head nursing, and supervision before entering the public health field.

Her public health training was taken at the University of Indiana at Bloomington, after Mrs. Votaw was county nurse in Morgan County, with headquarters in Martinsville.

Mrs. Votaw said Dr. Puckett wishes her to follow the same type of generalized health program as she followed in Indiana.

Scientific Tests For Children Are P.T.A. Subject

Dr. Frederic C. Cressman spoke to the Central School Parent-Teacher Association Wednesday afternoon of last week on "The Value of Specific Tests for Children." Dr. Cressman stressed the importance of eye and ear examinations for all children at least once a year and said that where the parent may be negligent, the school can give tests.

Dr. Cressman advised the group to get an audiometer which will go to 16,000 cycles a second. The audiometer for testing children's hearing is to be purchased for the schools by civic groups of Artesia.

"Every child should have every benefit that we can extend to him of being normal," said Dr. Cressman in urging simple chart tests for eyesight deficiencies. He stressed adequate lighting, avoiding shadows, and correct position.

The group voted to continue sponsoring the Clare Tree Major plays next year, at the business meeting preceding Dr. Cressman's talk.

The association was asked to supply two den mothers for the Cub Scouts. Mrs. James L. Bean volunteered her services as a den mother.

Red Cross Drive For $4000 Is To Start March 1

A. P. (Doc) Mahone, chairman of the North Eddy County chapter of the American Red Cross, announced this week the chapter will hold its annual rollcall during the calendar month of March, at which time the annual drive throughout the nation will be staged.

He said the quota for the chapter this year is $4000, of which the requirements for the local chapter for the coming year total $1,585, according to the budget as set up and presented at the annual meeting last month.

Mahone said plans are now underway for staging the campaign in North Eddy County, with hopes it can be closed quickly when it opens actively Tuesday, March 1.

In the meantime, however, the special gifts committee, which Mahone himself heads, will make a pre-campaign drive among the larger contributors and businesses.

He asked that others not included in the special gifts group plan ahead to subscribe to the Red Cross in its great work at home and in all parts of the world where American servicemen and civilian workers are stationed.

Cottonwood Takes Cage Meet At Loving

Cottonwood School's seventh and eighth-grade cage team took first place in an invitational tournament at Loving Saturday by beating the Carlsbad Cavekids 20-19 in a final quarter rally.

Third place went to Otis by a score of 26-24 over Atoka, while Lovington took the consolation honors over Malaga by a score of 25-23 in an overtime period. The seventh team in the tournament was East Grand Plains.

Coaches of the seven teams in the meet selected two Cottonwood players, Forward W. L. Gray and Center Ralph Parnell, among the five youngsters on the all-tournament team. Other players named on this all-star quintet were Susano Garcia of Loving, David Mohr of Carlsbad, and Glen Dennis of East Grand Plains.

Honorable mention went to Gene Parnell, Cottonwood; Joe Lee, Atoka; Tony Garcia, Malaga; Bill Yarbo, Loving and Frank Dominguez, Hector Samaniego and Mariano Terrazo, Carlsbad.

Carlsbad put on a last-period rally that nearly evened the count against the rangy Cottonwood squad. The Cottonwooders led by 7-3 at the quarter, 12-6 at half-time and 15-9 going into the final period. The Cavekids made 10 points in that quarter while holding Cottonwood to five.

Ralph Parnell and Gray were high scorers with eight and seven points, respectively. Forward Avel Ramirez led the Cavekids with five.

The board of directors of the Artesia Kiwanis Club has authorized the purchase of four pigs to be given to as many boys in connection with the 4-H Club program, it was announced last Thursday noon at the weekly club luncheon by W. W. Ports, president.

He said that at the end of a year each boy is to pay for his pig or return another to the club to be given to another boy, thus continuing the project from year to year.

President Ports said the board also approved co-operating with the Rotary Club in the purchase of an audiometer to be used in connection with the schools and appropriate the necessary funds.

He said the committee in charge of preparations for the district Kiwanis jamboree to be held here April 23 has been appropriated up to $500 to spend for the event.

To date, he said, reservations have been made by the El Paso, Silver City, and Las Cruces clubs for the jamboree, and Carlsbad, Roswell, and Hobbs are also expected to be well represented. More than 200 Kiwanians and their wives are being planned for.

The club unanimously accepted a "pot-for-free-meal" plan, which the board advanced. The surplus from the plan is to be used in publishing and mailing the weekly Ki- (Continued last page, this section)

Chief O. T. Lindsey, who investigated the burglary, said entrance was gained by breaking through a small door built into a large vehicle door. The list of articles stolen was not immediately made public.

Sergeant Head said he likewise made an immediate report to Brig. Gen. Charles G. Sage, the adjutant general.

Farmers' Problems Will Be Discussed At Meeting Today

A meeting of the New Mexico Pecos Valley Association, at which problems facing farmers in this area will be discussed, will be held at the Veterans Memorial Building in Artesia at 2 o'clock this afternoon, it was announced by Dallas Rierson, Eddy County agent.

In urging all farmers to attend the meeting, the county agent said probably one of the most important problems at this time is the matter of need for farm labor during the peak of seasonal work. He said it is hoped something definite can be worked out early in the year, so farmers can be assured of a sufficient number of cotton pickers.

Gail Armstrong of Roswell, president of the association, will report on some of the activities concerning the farmers, such as legislation that is facing Congress this session.

The Hillbilly Girls will present entertainment, as well as music and dancing, which will be largely western in nature, although they will present some modern popular numbers.

Lou Fink and the Hillbilly Girls have presented entertainment here the last two summers, when Roswell business and professional men came to Artesia on good-will tours advertising the Eastern New Mexico Fair.

In keeping with the music and stunts of the orchestra members, firemen have announced blue or other Western garb will be worn for the dance, although traditional clothing may be worn if one wishes.

We Both Won This One

Blew my top the other morning when I discovered a shirt I'd put on had two buttons missing.

"Joe," the missus says, "do you ever read what you write? For a man who writes newspaper pieces all about tolerance, you sometimes show a lot of race prejudice."

"Race prejudice!" I howl. "No one can accuse me of that." "I mean prejudice against the entire human race," she interrupts with a smile. "Why get mad at the world over two little buttons? That look the wind out of me."

Strange Device Found, May Be Radar Target

A strange device, perhaps a test radar target, was found Monday of last week about 14 miles southeast of Artesia by J. R. Miller, who brought it to The Advocate office.

It is constructed of a metal foil and has a base about three feet square, with four fins 25 inches high coming together in a point.

Miller pointed out that the fins are so arranged that regardless of position, there would be at least one surface to serve as a reflector from any distant point, provided that is the purpose of the device.

He said his son, J. W. (Jay) Miller, who did radar work in the Navy and taught senior electronics at Rice Institute, is of the opinion it is a radar target.

Although a number of radio-sonde instruments used for weather observations have been recovered in this area, the device brought in by Miller is believed to be the first of that type picked up.

Miller said he believed the target had been supported by a balloon—or perhaps a "flying disc"—but that he located no balloon.

Strange Device Found, May Be Radar Target

A strange device, perhaps a test radar target, was found Monday of last week about 14 miles southeast of Artesia by J. R. Miller, who brought it to The Advocate office.

It is constructed of a metal foil and has a base about three feet square, with four fins 25 inches high coming together in a point.

Miller pointed out that the fins are so arranged that regardless of position, there would be at least one surface to serve as a reflector from any distant point, provided that is the purpose of the device.

He said his son, J. W. (Jay) Miller, who did radar work in the Navy and taught senior electronics at Rice Institute, is of the opinion it is a radar target.

Although a number of radio-sonde instruments used for weather observations have been recovered in this area, the device brought in by Miller is believed to be the first of that type picked up.

Miller said he believed the target had been supported by a balloon—or perhaps a "flying disc"—but that he located no balloon.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America this week moved into the first phase of a new battle against imported oil, naming Van S. Welch, prominent Artesia oil man along with others to a special import policy committee.

Welch is one of 40 members appointed to this special committee by Fred Shield, IPAA president, it was announced from national headquarters at Tulsa. The committee was formed by unanimous vote of the executive committee at their recent meeting in Wichita Falls, Texas. Members of the committee are scattered throughout the United States.

One of the strongest statements IP.A.A. has ever made was adopted at the Wichita Falls meeting and a motion was made immediately after the adoption of the statement, to appoint this special committee to formulate a definite plan of action against what IP.A.A. termed "an increasing flood of imports."

The statement said, in part, "The very large importing companies, through shortsightedness, indifference, or selfish interests, are endangering the national security in their rush to produce and sell their foreign oil in the markets of this country."

"Most of their foreign reserves are in the Middle East, less than two hours' bombing time from Russia."

Shield expressed the intention of calling a meeting of the committee as soon as possible with a view toward taking some definite action toward limiting the importation of foreign oil to the amount necessary to supplement domestic production.

Members of the National Petroleum Council, composed of representatives of all segments of the oil industry, including major companies, have agreed in their statement of the national oil policy that this is the role which imports should occupy.

"With such agreement," Shield

Young men who desire to attend technical, service and special schools conducted by the U.S. Army or the U.S. Air Force, either by enlisting for direct assignment to that school (basic or refresher training must be completed first) or by apply for such training after completion of basic training and assignment to a unit, have almost unlimited opportunities," according to M. Sgt. Preston E. Triplett, commander of the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force recruiting station, at the Veterans Memorial Building.

"There seems to be some misunderstanding among young men who desire to continue their education through the Army or Air Force," Sergeant Triplett said, "many of them feeling that there is nothing further from the truth. For example, a high school graduate, or a man with the equivalent education, between the ages of 17 and 34, may choose the U.S. Army Technical School Plan which allows him to select the kind of training he wants before he enlists. If he is accepted, he will be assured of attending the school of his choice after enlisting and upon completion of basic training."

"Under this plan, a man may study wheel vehicle maintenance and repair, and carburetion and fuel induction at the Ordnance School; office machine repair, tailoring and leather and canvas work at the Quartermaster School; marine engine repair, ship carpenter and locomotive repair, Diesel, at the Transportation School, and general electricity, grader operation and others."

Sergeant Triplett said there are many opportunities for soldiers to attend the school of their branch or service after they have enlisted and to take courses at that school.

McAnally Is To Attend National Council Meeting

Fifteen prominent members of New Mexico's cotton industry will serve as official representatives of state cotton interests at the National Cotton Council's 11th annual meeting at Los Angeles, Calif., March 7-9, Delmar Roberts, Anthony, chairman of the council's New Mexico unit, announced.

Among them will be Artie McAnally, manager of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association, representing the merchants' division.

The New Mexico cotton leaders, along with other council delegates representing cotton farmers, ginners, and cottonseed crushers from 18 cotton-producing states, will plan the cotton industry's 1949 activities in research, sales promotion, production and marketing, and foreign trade.

Mechanization of cotton production and fertilization will receive special attention at the Cotton Council sessions. These are two of the New Mexico farmers' chief problems in his efforts to increase farm income through lowered production costs, Roberts said.

The cotton group will also place heavy emphasis on plans for a campaign to remove all federal and state taxes and legislation which discriminate against margarine, cottonseed oil's greatest market.

Roberts said the removal of these laws would increase the sale and production of margarine, thereby adding to the cotton farmers' income from cottonseed.

"The Los Angeles meeting will be the cotton industry's most important meeting of the year," Roberts declared. "Representing the entire raw cotton industry, the National Cotton Council will set up an integrated, forward program

Why not get all this in YOUR new car?
Owners of low-built Hudsons have it!
Owners of New Hudsons are seeing for themselves that the lower a car can be built, the more graceful its lines can be made, the better it will ride, the more surely it will handle, and the safer it will be!
Because people who drive Hudsons "step down" into an exciting, new kind of automobile, they enjoy more head room and roomier seats—in an automobile only five feet from ground to top—than in any mass-produced car built today! Yet Hudson has ample road clearance!
But roominess is only one of the wonderful advantages that go with the automobile that is so far ahead it's a protected investment in motor car value.
Here are more:
Authentic beauty—the "step down" principle is so basically right it frees designers of the need for makeshift styling, enables Hudson to achieve pleasing proportions, symmetric, free-flowing lines.
A hug-the-road ride, and a smooth, steady way of going, because Hudson has the lowest center of gravity in any American stock car!

Negro Progress Brought Out In Address Friday

In an address, "The Negro and the Spirit of Christ," O. H. Boatright, principal of the Nashville (Tenn.) Christian Institute, pointed out to an audience of whites and Negroes here Friday night that the Negroes have had only 82 years of freedom in which to progress, from which standpoint they have done quite well.

The Negro educator was principal speaker at a program in observance of "National Negro History Week" in the auditorium of Artesia High School, which was attended by about 200 persons, of whom about 20 were white.

He traced the history of the Negro race from the time of the flood through the age to the modern day and stressed that although the race at one time was educated, it became scattered in Africa and lost its culture and contact with the world.

Now that the Negro has attained his freedom and is progressing, he can have a better understanding of the problems between his race and that of the whites, Boatright said. And he added that a better understanding of both sides of the problem by the other would lead down to the cutting of racial prejudices.

White members of the audience said that the observation of such weeks and the holding of such meetings encourages education and a better understanding, especially for the Negroes, and that if whites will attend in order to observe and learn, they will understand the problems of the Negro better.

the courthouse in Carlsbad by Deputy Sheriff Bill Drake. However, the car was carrying New Mexico license plates, but otherwise answered the description of the car being sought.

While the car was parked, a search warrant was obtained, and when a woman, later identified as Mrs. Harry Edwards, returned to it from a building into which the deputy had seen her go, he followed in a civilian's car to the trailer house, where a search revealed the missing Texas licenses.

The two men were later arrested on a construction project on which they were working.

In the burglary at The Westerner last November, guns, mostly sporting rifles, valued at more than $2000 were stolen. They were recovered in the trailer house in January, when stacks of stolen loot were separated and investigated. Officers were able to return the greater part of the items found there.

'Bob' Luperson To Reopen Coffee Shop On Sunday

The Artesia Hotel Coffee Shop, with an up-to-date kitchen remodeled in the best and most sanitary fashion, will be reopened Sunday by R. C. (Bob) Luperson, new manager, former maitre d'hotel of the Franciscan Hotel in Albuquerque.

Luperson said the dining room of the hotel will serve the best in American and European planned foods, specializing in charcoal broiled steaks and chops, and lobster and other fresh sea foods. A pantry woman is to make salads and special dishes women like in hot weather, it was announced.

Mrs. Luperson, a tall, suburban-haired, attractive woman, will be the hostess and she will arrange for special bridge parties, tea parties and the like.

The new manager was born in Clovis, where he worked after school and evenings in his father's restaurant, the Busy Bee. When the father, Jess Luperson, moved to Albuquerque to form a partnership with Bob Katson in the operation of the Court Cafe, his son went along to work for him.

Luperson recently was operator of the Sturgis Cafe & Bar at Estancia, prior to which he was chef at the Pendleton Hotel in Pendleton, Ore. When he was maitre d'hotel at the Franciscan in Albuquerque, Mrs. Luperson was head waitress.

At present, a new pantry is being constructed for the Coffee Shop, and a new bake oven, roast oven and charcoal broiler are on the way, to be installed for the reopening. Luperson has extended an invitation to the public to inspect the kitchen.

wants bulletin.

Dr. John Paxton of San Francisco and Rev. Edward Caldwell of Los Angeles shared in the talking to the club.

Dr. Paxton gave brief remarks on "Fundamental Hours of Education," in which he pointed out that this is a reading nation, using huge American newspaper, magazine and book publishing concerns as evidence of the fact.

Next, he said, this is a writing nation. Writing, he pointed out, is revealing, and it should be pointed out that Christ wrote His way into the hearts of mankind.

Arithmetic is the third fundamental, Dr. Paxton said. God is the master mathematician, another fact which should be well remembered, the speaker declared. And righteousness also belongs to the three "R's" of education, according to Dr. Paxton. He said that if America is to be strong she cannot neglect her churches.

Rev. Caldwell spoke on "What Is Christianity?" in which he said that from the point of view of the individual it is a three-strand cable, the first strand of which is a body of experience, the second, an experience, and the third, a way of life. He said it is a cable that hangs or falls together.

The speaker said Mark Twain is reported to have sat on a peak in the Alps by way of a telescope while sitting on a porch in the valley. And he watched a party, which he had planned to join but could not, climbing to the peak. Twain's telescope and imagination afforded him a perfect description of the trip, but he realized after the party had reached the peak that he did not have the magnificent view experienced by those who really saw it.

Christianity is like this, said Rev. Caldwell, for one cannot actually climb to the top while sitting back and watching one's fellowmen enjoying the view of Christianity.

Gil Vaughn and Cecil Waldrep were welcomed into the club as the newest members by Paul Dillard, district lieutenant governor. The only guest besides Dr. Paxton and Rev. Caldwell was T. J. Midkiff of Carlsbad.

Safeway Employees Attend Banquet For District In El Paso

Employees of the Safeway Store in Artesia and their guests attended the annual banquet in El Paso Sunday afternoon for Safeway employees throughout this district.

As a surprise number of the program, J. T. Haile, manager of the Artesia store, and several other store managers were called out of the room, and when they returned they were decked out as bathing beauties of the Gay Nineties. Haile was dubbed "Miss Fortune."

Eighteen persons from Artesia attended the banquet, which was held in the ballroom of the Hotel Cortez.

Damage was slight and was confined to a few items which were scorched or partially burned, according to George Akins, owner.

Sometimes you get away with it...but It's too cold to bother with a hand signal. Besides, there's no one following, that you can see. So you make your turn without signaling; and this time you get away with it.

Sometimes You Don't!

This driver took the same gamble you did. It was cold, and he couldn't see anyone behind him, so he turned without signaling. The car he couldn't see couldn't stop in time. Don't gamble with your life. Make safe driving a habit, and be doubly careful in winter.

Have your brakes checked regularly—especially in winter. It takes from 3 to 12 times longer to stop on ice or snow. Even perfect brakes are better with tire chains. Check your brakes and check accidents.

Our Artesia National Guard

By M/Sgt. James Heald

Several new recruits have joined the local National Guard unit in the last few days. Some were recruited in last week's issue, but since then Bert Shipp has become a member of the guard.

The men are working each drill the 40-millimeter guns. It will be time to learn all there is to know about the weapons, but the men are taking a great interest in the training.

We have lost one man this week. He is "Red" Roberts, who was employed by the Republic Supply Company and was transferred to Mesquite, Texas.

During the last week end, the armory was broken into and the local police have been notified. It is unfortunate that anyone would attempt to burglarize any building, but to attempt burglary in the armory could be very serious, as the equipment stored therein is property of the United States government. An inventory is being taken and police will be notified if all missing property.

By now everyone should know how to work for the National Guard for the community. And it is needless to say that more men are

The National Guard dance, held at the Veterans Memorial Building last Saturday was enjoyed by many people, some of whom came from out of town. We wish to thank

Our thanks, too, to those businessmen who co-operated with us in putting on the dance and recruiting week. Hart Will Show New Dodge Here Friday, Feb. 25

F. C. Hart, owner of Hart Motor Company, has returned from Oklahoma City, where he attended a dealer preview of the completely new-styled Dodge cars, the first models of which will be publicly displayed in his dealership Friday, Feb. 25. He was accompanied by Leon Barker, salesman.

Hart said that although detailed information of the appearance and man engineering and mechanical improvements introduced in the new Dodge could not be revealed prior to the public showing, there are certain general facts concerning the comfort-engineering story behind the new Dodge styling that can be disclosed at this time.

"The primary considerations that influenced the design of the new Dodge were Army statistics which showed that the GI's of World War II were taller, bigger and more active than their predecessors of World War I," Hart said. "As a result, it was apparent that more passenger room, not less, was required in the modern automobile to accommodate our physically larger generation comfortably."

Hart pointed out that the challenge to Dodge engineers was to design a car with more interior space and still reduce exterior dimension to eliminate difficulties of handling in traffic, parking and garaging.

To learn how Dodge succeeded in meeting this challenge and at the same time produced a car with an entirely new and distinctive styling, Hart has invited everybody to his galar open house on Feb. 25.

Treat Pigs For Roundworms Is Rierison's Advice

By Dallas Rierison
County Extension Agent
Pigs that are fed a good ration and still remain unthrifty are like-

Beware Coughs From Common Colds That HANG ON

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

CREOMULSION for Coughs, Chest Colds, Bronchitis

ly to have roundworms. Likewise, if you raise a litter of pigs on ground that was formerly occupied by pigs, there is a good chance that the second litter will have roundworms.

These worms may be passed right on out through the body and on to the ground. An examination of the pig lot may show presence of these roundworms. They can be identified as being large, thick yellow or pink worms about lead pencil size.

Weaned pigs of any age may be wormed, but the best time to worm pigs is two or three weeks after weaning. Pigs are weaned at around 75-days of age, so when a pig is 2½ month old, this is a good time to worm them. For best results, move the pigs to a concrete floor, worm them and bring them back to the pen or pasture after three days.

Another method is to worm them in the original pen, and later move them to a different pen, or out to the pasture three days after worming. Moving the pigs helps break the worm's life cycle, and thus reduces the number of worms.

Sodium fluoride is the best chemical to use for worming pigs because it is 90 per cent or better effective, the cost is low, and it is easy to get, and is not harmful to the pig if given as directed.

Don't worm more than six to 10 pigs at one time. Directions call for one pound of sodium fluoride mixed thoroughly with 100 pounds of dry feed. And if you don't have that many pigs, mix one level teaspoon with one pound of dry feed for every pig weighing 25 to 35 pounds. Some of the larger pigs may be given another pound 12 hour after the first dose. If a second worming is required, repeat the treatment in 30 days.

Two wormings will probably be enough unless the pigs are left on ground that is severely infested with roundworms. Keep in mind that sodium fluoride is a poison, and if it is improperly mixed, or too much is used, the pigs may be poisoned.

Dallas Rierison Is President Of County Agents

DALLAS RIERISON

Dallas Rierison, Eddy County extension agent, and Seldon Baker, Luna County agent, are the 1949 president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the New Mexico County Agents Association.

Rierison, a graduate of New Mexico A. & M. College in 1941, has held his present position since 1943. Baker, a graduate of New Mexico A. & M. in 1938, was assistant county agent in Union, Dona Ana, and Bernalillo Counties from 1938 to 1940, and San Miguel County agent from 1940 to 1941, and has been Luna County agent since 1946.

Meat Produced This Year To Be Same As 1948

Prospects for hog production and slaughter indicate that total U.S. meat production in 1949 may be about the same as that of last year, according to the current situation report just released by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

More pork in 1949 may be just about offset by less beef and lamb. But more of the beef will be of the better grades, as cattle feeding—source of the better beef—promises to be larger this winter than it was last year.

The fall crop of about 34 million pigs turned out to be the largest since 1945, and an indicated crop this spring of 56.5 million pigs would be the largest spring crop since 1943 and the third largest on record. This promising spring crop is based on farmers' farrowing plans, counting on an average number of pigs per litter.

Both the fall pig crop and spring intentions come close to USDA goals. Fall crop is up 8 per cent from last year. The goal called for a 10 per cent gain. The spring goal calls for a 17 per cent increase over last year. If litters are average, indicated farrowings would yield a 19 per cent increase—or 7 per cent under the goal. Based on a past untrend in size of litters, there is a good chance litters will exceed average and that the goal will more nearly be reached.

Biggest increase in intended number of sows to farrow is found in the North Central states, with an average increase of 17 per cent. Average increases in other regions are: North Atlantic, 8 per cent; South Atlantic, no change; South Central, 6 per cent, and Western, 7 per cent.

Reductions likely this year in the output of beef, veal, lamb, and mutton are because of the gradual decrease in size of cattle and sheep herds that has been taking place over the last several years. If more cattle are held back in 1949 to maintain herds, slaughter will be reduced considerably.

Entomologist Will Conduct Research On Cotton Insects

Lloyd R. Faulkner has joined the New Mexico Agricultural Experiment Station staff to conduct research on cotton insects and on thrips as they affect New Mexico Agriculture, Director H. R. Varney announced.

In the cotton insect work, Faulkner will determine the occurrence and distribution of insects which injure the yield and quality of cotton in this state, and work to find effective control measures, Varney said. He pointed out that this work is extremely important to cotton growers because of the increasing damage done by cotton insects in recent years.

In the other phase of his work, Faulkner will study particularly thrips as they damage garden produce.

Battle Against Aftosa

In a drive to stamp out a tosa (foot and mouth disease) from Mexico in two years, a joint U. S.-Mexico commission has undertaken the job of vaccinating from eight to 10 million cattle in the affected area by the end of 1949.

Trained teams go ahead of the nine teams of vaccinators to preach the benefits of vaccination and convince the sometimes ignorant cattle owners that vaccination is the only alternative to disaster.

By the end of 1949 the program will have cost approximately 59 million dollars. It includes five points: constant inspection, disinfection, eradication, vaccination and quarantine.

The vaccination process itself is simple. A needle of the vaccine is shot into the animal and that's all there is to it. It will take from eight to 10 million shots to complete the job. The vaccine protects for six months.

Farm Outlook Bright For Coming 5 Years

U. S. Economists Show Optimism in Forecasts

In spite of some recent declines in farm prices, agricultural economists of the U. S. department of agriculture took an optimistic point of view at their recent outlook conference in Washington, D. C. In the past, these economists have confined their estimates of the outlook to the coming 12 months. This time they tried to look five years ahead. And, they decided that things look fairly good for the farmer for that long.

Of course, they made two basic assumptions that some people still are a little doubtful about—that a stable peace will be established and that there will be no serious depression. If time should prove them wrong about one of the two, the effect may be drastic. And they hasten to point out that these are assumptions, not predictions.

PURCHASING POWER

America's economic boom continues as buying power outpaces prices.

They then go on to point out that the population will increase between one and two million persons a year until 1952; that industrial output per worker will increase, and that yields per acre and per livestock unit probably also will increase.

High incomes for industrial workers will mean a steady market for foodstuffs and clothing. High yield per worker might mean more stable prices for industrial goods. Higher yields per acre and per animal unit will mean more economical production for the farmer.

All in all, this shapes up to just about the kind of five-year period that the farmers themselves would like to enjoy. High production at fair prices means a break for producers and consumers—a square deal for both.

Feed Cows To Live In Fall

doesn't make much difference st of us just what time of the our birthday comes around, is important to a dairy calf to its mother," said Dallas n, county agent. "Experishow that fall is the best for a calf to have its birth-to disease. Also, they can take advantage of pasture sooner, which means less cost to raise.

Dairy Herd Improvement Association records on more than 120, 000 cows show that fall freshened cows produce more milk and butterfat than those freshening in spring or summer. A cow that calves in the fall usually produces well during the winter. Though the cow tends to drop in milk production as lactation progresses, spring pastures come along to boost milk output again. More milk means a bigger milk check per cow. Fall freshened cows fit better into most farms because they will be dry during the busy harvest season.

"If you want to give your calves
a good start and get better milk production, locate the best, available dairy bull and breed dairy cows and heifers in January and February," Rierson said.

Cotton Seed

Planting of certified 1517-A cotton seed is one of the most important steps in the production of high-quality cotton fiber and seed.
Marshall Thompson, extension cotton marketing specialist, reminds producers.
Thompson, who works in co-operation with the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association, points out that purchasers of certified 1517-A seed are assured of high-quality seed adapted to the grower's particular farming area, seed which has been produced to insure genetic purity and identity, and high germination and minimum of weed and grass seed and seed which has been cleaned, graded, and treated and is relatively free
of seed-borne diseases.
"And don't forget," Thompson says, "you must plant 1517-A tagged seed to certify your lint."

Action Marks Western Film 'Silver River'

"Action, action, action," demands Raoul Walsh, director of the sweeping epic, "Silver River," co-starring Errol Flynn and Ann Sheridan, which will show at the Landsun Theater Sunday through Tuesday. "Keep things happening in logical sequence."

"Silver River" is in the best tradition of Walsh. Basically it tells the story of the conquest of the silver mines, and the fight that followed to keep silver free. And as history records, it was free silver which played the most important role in enabling the United States to become the great creditor nation she is today.

Author of the original screenplay, Stephen Longstreet, gives credit to his grandfather for the idea for the film. "It is based on a story my grandfather used to tell," he says, "about a man who went West and grew very, very rich. History has called him a robber baron."

Errol Flynn, in the film, is not only this ruthless robber baron, but as much a composite of that type in the period of Longstreet's screenplay as are the events of the era which will be shown in the film.

Ann Sheridan, in her role, is also a reflection of the women who lived in that day—a Southern beauty transplanted to a frontier mining town, and though gentlemanly with the fire and gallantry to survive this uprooting.

The film opens in the last days of the Civil War, at the Battle of Gettysburg, covers nearly a score of years, with setting for action moving from Pennsylvania to Washington, D. C., down the Missouri River to St. Joseph, and across the plains to Nevada.

Both Ann Sheridan and Errol Flynn enjoy their present roles. To Miss Sheridan, it furnishes a

Sleight-Of-Hand Artist Coming To Artesia High School Monday

C. Inouas Magrum, known as one of America's greatest exponents of manipulative or sleight-of-hand magic, will present his program, "It Can't Be Done," which has thrilled audiences all over America and Europe, in the Artesia High School auditorium at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, Feb. 21.

Magrum served 57 months in the armed forces, going through five major campaigns in Europe. At the close of the war, he was transferred to a special service unit and a full-time job as magician-entertainer. He toured with USO camp shows and was with such celebrities as Block & Sully, Celeste Holmes and Marlene Dietrich. This tour carried him through France, England, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany and Czechoslovakia.

In this program, Magrum will make cuts, passes, fans, appearances, and disappearances with an ordinary pack of bridge cards, while wearing gloves. There will be a production of many coins, thimble sleights, with eight thimbles suddenly appearing from nowhere, and rubber balls performing many antics.

The program also includes dramatic effects with fans, canes, napkins, wands, bottles, brass covers, giant cards, magic with water, color changing liquid, newspapers restored, paper folding act. Then there are 10 solid steel rings, 10 inches in diameter, a maze of intricate design and a melting pot of linking and unlinking.

"Pandora's Box" is novel and new. From this empty case are produced many things of beauty, colored and painted scarves, design silks, yards of colorful streamers, parasols, flowers, tomato cans, skulls, clocks, the Big Ben clock of giant stature, and the "red underwear"—which has even the magician confused as to how it appeared in this cabinet!

Uncle Sam Says
Ten years can make a big difference. That youngster, now in pig-tails, will be grown up and ready for college in 10 years. Or you may be ready to tackle that pet project of yours, a new home, retirement, or starting a small business. Yes, 10 years can make a difference in many things. Money, for instance. If you go about it right you can make today's money grow, right along with those plans for the future.

Figure, today, how much you'll need in 10 years. Then put aside the amount in U. S. Savings Bonds each week, enough to equal the total you have in mind, always remembering that for every three dollars you invest today, you will receive four dollars in 10 years. USDA Publication Outlines Policy On Irrigation

The policy of the U.S. Department of Agriculture to encourage and aid in the development of any feasible irrigation project that will contribute toward attaining a more efficient agriculture is set forth in a new publication, "Irrigation Agriculture in the West," just issued by the department.

The "West" which the publication deals with includes the 17 states of Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, Nevada, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

Pointing out that the way in which remaining water resources are conserved and used directly affects the agriculture of local areas and of the nation as a whole, the bulletin says that "the development and use of these water resources for irrigation purposes is basically an agricultural undertaking."

In a large part of the Western states 80 per cent or more of total crop production comes from irrigated land, the report says. It points out the West contributes a large part of the nation's total supply of vegetables and fruits and that nearly half of all the truck and vegetable crops are raised in the West and more than three-fourth of the fruits. Close to two-fifths of the hay and forage production and a third of the seed crops come from Western farms and ranches and three-fifths of the sugar crops of the nation are produced in the West.

The report stresses that the development of the remaining areas suitable for irrigation is beyond the scope of private interests and will require "much larger over-all and units investments that can reasonably be made by private enterprise for repayment out of the returns from irrigation." It is expected that within the next 25 years an additional 5 to 10 million acres will be brought under irrigation with the major obstacle being the limited water supply in the West together with the increasing cost of getting the remaining water on the land, it is stated.

Our Readers Say

This department is for the use of readers, without charge, for the expression of their views on any of the subjects, the thoughts on which those of the authors, not necessarily those of The Advocate. The remarks presented today are the first part of a rather lengthy letter from Austin D. Crile of Roswell on the Pecos Valley Artesian Conservancy District. However, because of its length, the letter has been broken down into installments for publication. The editor, who has attempted to make the breaks at places which will least distract from Crile's point of view.

The district is suffering from drought. Under our law the state engineer is the responsible administrator for our district in any and all its troubles.

First, there has been no check-up of the condition of our wells for three years ago they should have been checked. We have, I estimate, approximately 700 artesian wells, but the owner of a well does not know whether or not it is leaking, how bad it is, and how soon he must replace it with a new well. I estimate it would require several million dollars to drill and case new wells to replace the leaking ones.

It is the state engineer's duty to check the facts so that he could drillers and casing, for this is something that can be done any time. The state engineer neglected his duty in the checking of these wells and he did at once, with responsible, diligent men, make a complete check of all wells and report their condition to the owners.

We have an outstanding and a law in control of our artesian basin. Our law was written by Crile and they have been given a very great compliment by the National Resources Planning Commission, which is composed of 11 of the ablest men in the United States on the subject of water, its conservation, and its control. There is a sub-committee made for the west and their report consists of about 140 pages. They say, page 85, that the water law of Mexico is the best of any and have printed our law as an appendix to their report and commended it as a model, to all other states. So, in this official report, on page 135, our law is listed as recommended, and it has been printed a number of states have adopted our law as a principle.

Our law in Section I, says: "The waters of underground streams, canals, artesian basins, reservoirs, and lakes having reasonably ascertainable boundaries, are hereby declared to be public waters and belong to the public and subject to appropriation for beneficial use."

You will notice that there are different kinds of water declared to belong to the public, subject to appropriation. Underground streams; our shallow waters, can be classed under an underground stream because there can be boundaries established and stream represents a movement of water, which factor is different from the percolating waters of an underground basin. It certainly is a channel and, of course, is artesian. Neither is our shallow water a reservoir, and we know it is not a lake. So the law made. The intention when the law was made was to apply only to artesian water. I know this of certainty. Later on other waters gradually mixed with it, and a special committee on water recommended this law, recommending a change. To these five classes of water they recommended the addition "Or other bodies of underground waters moving in finite lateral direction, having boundaries scientifically ascertainable, are hereby declared to be public waters," etc. They recognized that these five classes of water do not cover slowly percolating underground waters.

They made their recommendation for that as the sixth kind of water that might be appropriated. The state engineer should have brought up a distinct case of appropriation of shallow water and if necessary carried same to the Supreme Court so he would know whether or not he had authority over that water. I certainly do not see how it can be, and as not the intention that it should be. This is a neglect long due.—Austin D. Crile, Roswell.

BABY BORN AFTER MOTHER'S DEATH

A NURSE IN ST. BARNABAS HOSPITAL, Newark, N. J., carefully watches two-pound baby girl delivered by a Caesarean operation two minutes after her mother died. The infant was the first child of Mrs. Louise Jones, 38. An eye dropper was being used to feed the child. (International)

Higher Milk Production In 1949 Is Urged

A goal of 120 million pounds of milk for 1949, with cow numbers dwindling in the United States, will require the nation's dairy farmers to boost the average milk production of their cows to an all-time high this year, USDA officials point out. Cow numbers are now the lowest since 1930.

The average production of the 23,200,000 cows milked on farms in 1948 was about 5000 pounds. Even if the number of cows remains the same, average production will have to be increased to about 5170 pounds, or an increase of 150 pounds of milk per cow, if the 1949 production goal is to be met. In many herds such an increase could easily be accomplished by better feeding, USDA officials believe.

As grain feeds are now more plentiful and cheaper in relation to milk prices than they have been for some time, heavier grain feeding is one of the measures recommended by the Bureau of Dairy Industry. On the average, less than a half pound of extra grain per cow per day would be needed to get the extra 150 pounds of milk, according to the dairy specialists.

has more than kept pace. The estimated 148 million—on a per capita basis—ate 12 per cent more food than they did in the period just prior to 1940.

A great deal of credit for increased yields must go to work being done by agricultural scientists. Increased yields, improved varieties, more effective means of controlling disease, insects, weeds, and better soil management have gone a long way to get the increases.

Results Of Board Margin Study By USDA Announced

Last year saw the reversal of the normal long-time trend in farm-to-retail margins for white flour and white bread, according to a recent Department of Agriculture study.

"Over a period of years," says the report, "the price farmers get for their wheat has tended to move in the same direction as the retail prices of flour and bread. However, between January and October, 1948, the U.S. average local market price of wheat dropped 30 per cent; the retail price of flour dropped 15 per cent, but the retail price of bread rose 0.7 per cent. The marketing margin for flour decreased 15 per cent, while the marketing margin for bread rose 9 per cent."

In October, 1948, the U.S. average retail price of a one-pound loaf of white bread was 14.5 cents. Of that amount, about 3 cents went to farmers (2 1/2 cents for wheat and a half cent for other ingredients), 0.8 cent to the miller, 9.7 cents to the baker and retailer, and the other cent was divided among elevators, transportation, and other agencies, and the non-farm cost of ingredients other than wheat.
