Haldemans on Vacation Tour of the Land of Custer and Sioux

It is the time of year when vacation stories abound. Latest of vacation yarns is that of Mrs. Haldeman, wife of County Commissioner W. T. (Doc) Haldeman, residents of Artesia who are presently cooling off in South Dakota.

Mrs. Haldeman relates her experience in the following letter: "I spent the first night at Monument, Colo., and then went on to Cheyenne, Wyo., where it's beautiful so nice and cool."

"I stopped in South Dakota at Hot Springs, where there is a large covered pool which always has a temperature of 94 degrees. From here we went to buffalo country and the wind cave, where we got some pictures of wild animals and deer.

"The deer seem to be pretty tame and you can get quite close to them before they will run away. However, Mrs. Haldeman points out the place where the deer were spotted and to hunters at all times.

"From there we went up on Mount Coolidge and caught a glimpse of the Bad Lands; then we drove down to the state game lodge where President Coolidge had his summer White House.

"At the game lodge we had a buffalo dinner and visited at the museum where we learned all about the Sioux Indians, Custer's Stand, and fossils, in which the museum abounds.

"Next morning we went to Mount Moreau and got some souvenirs. Then we went around through the badlands country and saw some interesting formations.

"From there we started to Rapid City, S. D., which is an old town and which was having some kind of a shindig.

"People were dressed in old time or western costumes, and some of the stores were all boarded up with log like slabs.

"There were various kinds of old exhibits in the windows and some photographs of the old timers. We ate a real good dinner at the El Paso cafeteria, then went to the museum and to bed.

"We left early Sunday morning for the Bad Lands and spent all morning out there, and had lunch on a high grass knoll.

"They look like the Grand Canyon, only not quite so deep, and they don't have as many colors.

"We left Cedar Gap at 12:30 and got back to Rapid City at two, where we visited the Reptile Gardens.

"It's a real pretty place even with all the snakes, and some of them are pretty, too. I don't think I have ever seen any more kinds than they have.

"We took the Sky Line Drive, where you can see for miles around, and also saw some dinosaurs. They have a lot of fossils around here and some of them are very old."

Colorful Choir Team Will Sing In City Tonight

SHELBY COLLIER

Director of the Wayland International Choir Team which will appear at eight tonight in the auditorium of First Baptist Church, Collier has been serving as head of the music department in Wayland College, Plainview, Texas.

He also is director of the colorful 32-voice International Choir, whose members wear costumes from many countries around the world and sing songs of many nations. The choir, now in its third year, won much praise for its performances at meetings like the Southern Baptist Convention in Chicago.

Collier, who received the master of music degree from the University of Texas, has served as minister of music and education at the First Baptist Church in Austin, Ervay Street Baptist Church in Dallas; the First Baptist Church of Paris, Texas; and the First Baptist Church of New Orleans. He now serves in this capacity at Plainview's College Heights Baptist Church.

Hope Revived For Air Line Serving Artesia

Artesians may soon be able to fly to Dodge City, Kansas and points south if favorable action is taken on a proposal contained in a letter to Bob Koonce, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, from Charles B. Moore, manager of the El Paso airport, received here last week.

According to the plan of action outlined in the letter, Artesia, Roswell, Clovis, El Paso, Amarillo, Delhart Liberal and Dodge City would get together to discuss the possibility of a direct airline route from El Paso to Dodge City, with stops at the points mentioned above.

No particular airline has been scouted out and no definite action has been taken on the proposal.

Artesia Building Subject of Story In School Journal

Artesia's newest public school, the junior high, Eleventh and Bullock, is the subject of an article by Supt. Tom J. Mayfield, in the July issue of The American School Board Journal, Milwaukee.

The story tells how 600 pupils were transferred from the war surplus barracks building that had been classrooms to the fine new building, necessitated by the rapid enrollment increases.

Opening of the new building occurred in the winter of the 1950-51 session.

The building was necessitated by rapid increases in enrollment during the war and in the postwar period.

Between May, 1947 and May, 1950, enrollment increased from 2,369 to 2,992. Average daily attendance increased from 1,809 to 2,462 from May, 1947, to November, 1950.

Army barracks had to be set up to take care of the increase while the new building was being constructed.

Work Steady In Southeast Part of State

Employment in Artesia remains at high level with only 40 persons added to the list of job seekers, according to the latest release of the Employment Security Commission of New Mexico.

The increase in the number of unemployed is due to the cessation of work on two housing projects. Expansion of an oil refinery and a church continues, and other activity remains steady.

In the Carlsbad area 300 persons are unemployed, including 15 office workers and 20 sales persons. Some of the unemployed are available for work only in Carlsbad.

Construction work is steady and replacements are being hired at the new potash mine shafts.

In the Roswell area there are 200 unemployed.

Construction is going on at steady pace with 450 men employed on the Wherry houses, of which 200 have been completed.

The Kress building is well under way and only a few laborers have been hired on the $200,000 school building at Dexter.

Lockers Benefit Local Guard Unit

There's a new deal on for members of Battery C, 697th Antiaircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion of the New Mexico National Guard.

Wooden lockers have been obtained for each man. Uniforms and equipment are stored in the lockers, obtained in May from Albuquerque.

Now the guardsmen doff civies and don uniforms at the armory at Fourth and Centre, arriving there in advance of the weekly drill, held from seven to nine p. m. on Wednesdays.

When drill is over they reverse the process. Heretofore the drill nights involved a uniform change at home and lugging of uniforms back and forth.

The lockers are six feet tall, 18 inches wide.

Current interest of the battery is in the forthcoming annual summer camp at Fort Bliss on Aug. 12-26. All New Mexico National Guard units will be represented at the encampment as well as some acaack outfits from the National Guard of the Pelican State.

Major William C. Thompson, Jr., of Artesia, battalion commander, is expected to command the battalion at the camp. He was executive officer at the guard's camp last year.

Assigned to the battalion as regular army adviser has been Major George Bennett, succeeding Major Raymond B. Rounds, who has completed his National Guard tour of duty, is now back at Fort Bliss.

The local battery has a complement of 49 men: 45 enlisted men, three officers, and a warrant officer.

Artesia Praised For Boost Given Girls Scout Work

Artesia and the surrounding area were praised for their fine cooperation in helping to rebuild Camp Mary White, Girl Scout camp at Mayhill, after their fire early last month, by Mary Ellen Rawley, member of national field staff for Region 9, which comprises New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma.

Miss Rawley, who was in town Tuesday, July 3, also said that staff members of Camp Mary White feel that Artesia is supporting the camp in all its endeavors.

Miss Rawley inspected camp facilities on the morning of July 3, and reported the staff is doing a good job.

She mentioned that the staff is doing a good job in reconstructing the camp after the recent fire.

Local Delegate Reports on Lion Clubs Assembly

Want to be a district governor of Lions Clubs? Being one can be a lot of fun as D. D. Archer, of Artesia, who is governor of District 40-X, can tell you.

Archer returned July 5 from Atlantic City, N. J., where he attended the 34th annual convention of Lions Clubs and meeting of district governors held June 24-28.

The convention was highlighted by speeches by Gen. Mark Clark, Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, head of the senate crime investigating committee.

The convention elected Harold P. Nutter president of Lions International for the coming year, on recommendation of the nominating committee, of which Archer is a member.

Ivan Johnson, governor of the old New Mexico district, was another Lions member from the state who attended the convention.

New Mexico was formerly one district, is now three.

International Night
There was good entertainment for all delegates and their wives all through the convention, but the district governors got special treatment.

One of the big social doings was the "International Night" which was attended by 40,000. A special attraction for the ladies was a style show and luncheon.

A special treat for the district governors were daily luncheons at which matters of business were discussed, but which also featured special entertainment.

At one such gathering there was a master of ceremonies who could spell and pronounce any word, except proper names, backwards, and could also write words upside down.

Two Test Bug Battles Slated During the Week

Farmers of the Artesia sector will be shown how to use ground spraying equipment in two demonstrations this week.

First of the series will be at two p. m., Thursday, July 12, on the John Lanning farm, east of Atoka school; second, two p. m., Friday, July 13, on the Carter farm one mile north of the Loving oil mill.

Demonstrators will be L. R. Faulkner, assistant state entomologist, and a Dr. Eyer, initials or first name not given, entomologist of New Mexico Experiment Station.

Dallas Rierson, Carlsbad, Eddy County farm agent, in describing the purpose of the visit of the two bug experts, gives a report on insect damage for the present week and through July 5.

"Principal damage," he says, "is being done by large ring worms working on squares as well as leaves and cutting some of the (Continued on Page 6)

The private utility industry is planning to observe National Rural Electrification Week starting Aug. 26. According to many industry spokesmen, it marks the completion of rural electrification in America.

The Central Valley Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Artesia, has just released a statement in regard to the completion of its area coverage. According to Manager Paul L. Frost, the electric cooperative has brought electric service to a large percentage of the rural dwellings in its area but there are still several on the waiting list.

Since the REA financed cooperative was organized in 1938 to June 30, 1951, 625 miles of power lines have been built which now serves 2,008 meters, he said. But he pointed out, several farm and rural families are still waiting, along with irrigation wells, oil wells and other types of loads to be connected to the Cooperative's power lines as material and power supply permit.

During the past year from June 30, 1950 to June 31, 1951, the cooperative has added approximately 50 per cent more capacity in its substations. The Dexter substation has been increased from 2,900 KVA to 3,000 KVA, the Loco Hills substation which was energized on April 25, 1951 now has 2,000 KVA capacity but is designed for 5,000 KVA and the Cottonwood substation which was energized on June 26, 1951 has 3,000 KVA capacity. New Station

Besides increasing the capacity of the substations, during this same period the cooperative has constructed 139 miles of distribution lines, seven and one-half miles of 6,900 volt transmission lines, and has connected 348 new meters.

Manager Frost notes that his system has seen the average monthly kilowatt-hour usage for rural homes increase from 74.5 KWH to 155 KWH in the past eight years. This does not include (Continued on Page 6)

Roswell SSA Agent to Call In City July 16

To assist Artesia residents in filing applications for old age or survivors insurance, Ralph H. Yowell, field representative of the social security administration, will be on duty at New Mexico Employment Service 224-5 Ward Building from 10 a. m. to noon Monday, July 16. Yowell is from Roswell.

Compliance with the new social security insurance regulations on domestic or household help was requested by Yowell.

"A large number of household employers in this area have registered as such with the collector of internal revenue since the coverage became effective January 1," Yowell reports. "Employers who have notified the collector that they employ maids, laundresses, cooks, gardeners, have received a form called employer's quarterly tax return for household employees."

"It is a simple form. All the employer has to do is list the name of her regular household worker, with social security number and specify the amount of cash wages paid for a three-month period and enclose a check or money order for three per cent of the total cash wages. The employer contributes half of this three per cent tax and collects the other half from the worker."

SOCIETY

El Paso Couple Marry Saturday In Local Church

In a ceremony of wide interest held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the First Methodist Church in Artesia, Mrs. Helen Hester of El Paso became the bride of Roy Huffman Elliott of El Paso. Rev. R. L. Willingham, pastor, read the double-ring service.

Baskets of white giant asters and peach gladioli provided a background for the altar, and tapers burned in seven-branched candelabra at each side.

Candlelighters were Gaylor Sue and Jimmy Morgan, niece and nephew of the bridegroom. Gaylor Sue wore a blue silk pique dress and had flowers in her hair.

Preceding the rite, Miss Anna Marie Dunn sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Caskey. Mrs. Caskey also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by Harold Morgan, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. She wore a ballerina length dress of white marquisette with bodice in peach shade and a white sheer duster. Her white veil was held to a lace bonnet by clusters of peach blossoms.

The bride's bouquet was of peach gladioli shaped like one large blossom, with stephanotis and satin ribbons on shower. She wore a cameo brooch which belonged to her mother, the late Mrs. E. D. Long of Mobile, Ala.

Mrs. Harold Morgan, the bridegroom's sister, was matron of honor. She was attired in an aqua silk chambray dress with rhinestone-trimmed neckline. Her picture hat and gloves were pink and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Floyd Elliott of Dalhart, Texas, was best man. Richard Williams, Harold Elliott and Sammy Elliott were ushers.

Mrs. W. D. Elliott of Albuquerque chose for her son's wedding a navy blue dress with white accents and corsage of white gardenias.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony and was held in the Morgan's home. The table was decorated in the bride's colors with two wide bands of white and peach satin ribbons caught at intervals with bouquets of baby roses.

The couple cut a flower-encircled cake of peach shade.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. David C. Saiken, Mrs. C. B. Miller, Mrs. Charles Stoger, Mrs. Reed Dowell, and Mrs. Tom Boyd. They wore gardenia corsages.

Out-of-town guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Ice Cummings of Amherst, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Omer Elliott of Big Spring, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elliott of Albuquerque; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Zoller of Midland, Texas; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dumas of Dumas, Texas.

The couple left on a brief wedding trip to points in New Mexico after which they will make their home at 4403 Bliss street, El Paso.

The bride wore for going away a silk print dress with chartreuse and toast accessories and an orchid corsage.

Four Artesians—

this accompanied burial in Mission Garden of Memories.

Mr. Evans was born July 24,
1813, in Decatur, Ala. In World War II he was a first lieutenant in the Signal Corps. He was a member of the Clovis American Legion post.

The family home was 120 Mesa.
Survivors are the widow, Ann, and their three children, Joan, Tommy, and Nancy; his mother and three brothers.

Services for George Haggard, another REA official, killed in the same accident, were held Saturday in Colorado City, Texas.

high with labor shortages in the following lines: electric plant operators, linemen, telephone linemen, oilfield truck drivers and office workers.

Construction is under way on a new high school, post office and some office buildings. Street paving at Hobbs and Lovington is also absorbing some of the labor supply.

Oil field drilling has been slightly slowed down by steel shortages, but still continues at a good pace.
Plans are also under way for a new gas refinery at Eunice.

For the state as a whole employment is 9,600 above May of last year. However, there was a drop of 100 workers from May to June of this year.

This drop is indicative of the effects of credit restrictions, material shortages and probably some buyer resistance.

Among the 775 men in training, 225 are distinguished military students. This means they are outstanding in military courses at their colleges, better than average students, and have exhibited outstanding leadership and moral character.

All the cadets have completed at least two years of college, and most of them three years. Eighty-six have finished their four-year college course and upon successful completion of this summer's ROTC entry training will be commissioned as second lieutenants. They will be called to active military duty within the next two months.

No new girls from Artesia are enrolled for the camp session which began Sunday, July 8. However, three of the girls who attended the session which closed Sunday are enjoying another week of camp life.

They are Ann Wade, Kathleen Clowe, and Mary Margaret Whitson.

Two Prairie State Families Set Up Homes in Artesia

Two Illinois families and one from Colorado are among new residents of Artesia.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Ray
Wright and their three children, David, nine; Jill and Donna, six and 18 months respectively. Mr.
and Mrs. W. F. Collins and son, Bruce and Bob, eight and 11 years old; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank D.
Monroe and daughter, Becky, five months.

Both the Wright and Collins families are from the Prairie State, the Collins family from a Chicago suburb. Wright is an engineer. Collins superintendent, with New Mexico refinery.

The Monroes are from Florence, Colo. Mr. Monroe is a civilian employee at Walker Air Force Base in Roswell.

Four Babies Born At Local Hospital

Three girls and one boy were born at Artesia General hospital in the period beginning Thursday, July 5, ending Sunday, July 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ragsdale are the parents of a son weighing six pounds, 15 ounces, born Sunday.

A daughter, Salamene, weighing five pounds, 10 ounces, was born
Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Ysable Loya.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Bivens are the parents of a daughter, Kathy Lorain, born Thursday. She weighed five pounds nine ounces.

Phyllis Ann, a daughter, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Victor Emery, on Thursday. She weighed seven pounds 14 ounces.

Twenty-Three Club to Install Officers Thursday

The 20-30 club will hold installation ceremonies for officers elected last Thursday, July 5, on Thursday, July 12, at 7 p. m. in Cliff's Cate-teria. Coupled with installation of officers there will be ladies' night.

Officers elected at last Thursday's meeting were:
Gail G. Ray, president; Lowe
Wickersham, vice-president; Bob Gates, second vice-president; Calvin Whitworth, sergeant-at-arms,
Ted DeMars, secretary-treasurer.

President Ray appointed a board of directors composed of Don De-Mars, Calvin Whitworth, Bob Gates, Lowe Wickersham.

The president issued an appeal for new members.

Newspaper Started By Sunday School

A 10-page mimeographed newspaper has been started by the First Presbyterian Church Sunday School.

The publications first issue is dated July 1. As yet the newspaper has no name but a contest is underway to select one with "cradle roll to adult Bible class" as contenders.

Ralph A. Shugart, Jr., is editor-in-chief; Robert McCaw, Shirley O'Dell, Donald Kiddy, and Douglas O'Dell, reporters; and Emory Diltz and Gene White as pressmen.

First Presbyterian Church is at 402 West Grand. Rev. Ralph L.
O'Dell is pastor.

Signs to Indicate Potash Mine Road

Where are the potash mines?
That has been a question asked the state highway department many times recently.

Well, you needn't worry any more; for, according to a letter dated July 5, from C. O. Erwin, district engineer of the state highway department, to Bob Koonce, manager of the chamber of commerce, signs reading "Potash Mines" will be erected on State Road 83 as soon as these are shipped in from Santa Fe.

The new sign should clear up all confusion as to the exact location of the mines.

Artesians Learn How to Walk Again As Elevator Fails

The stairs in the Carper building probably got more wear than they have in some time on Friday morning when the self-service elevator went on the blink.

People could be seen standing in front of the elevator doors patiently waiting for one to come, apparently unaware that it was out of commission.

One of the office employees of the building remarked it was the first time in the 18 months she had been here that anything like that had happened. The elevator was out of operation only a brief time.

Carlsbad Jaycees $1000 in the Red On Circus Project

An estimated $1,000 was lost by the Carlsbad Junior Chamber of Commerce in their sponsorship of the Gainesville Community Circus in Carlsbad on June 29-30, according to a story in the July 3 issue of the Daily Current-Argus.

"The Gainesville Circus," says the story, "was a good one but the people for some reason just didn't turn out for it. Maybe the admission prices at $2 for adults and $1 for children were too high.

"The circus lacked the polish of a professional circus but considering all the performers are amateurs, the show was exceptionally good. And it was clean.

"There was none of this business of after, show tickets and reserve seats and other such gyps."

Good Showing Made By Cotton, Alfalfa

The cotton crop in the Artesia area is making good progress, according to a bulletin from the Department of Public Relations of the Santa Fe Railroad, released
July 1.

Alfalfa is well along with the first crop cut and second ready to be cut.

Grain sorghums are well along and should produce good yields if moisture conditions are favorable.
Eastern ranges are in good shape.

Artesia CC Issues Industrial Booklet
Artesia's advantages as a prospective location for businesses and industries is the subject of a pamphlet just released by the industrial development committee of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

The pamphlet called "Industrial Prospectus" constitutes, according to the preface, "a study of the distributive potential and local economy of Artesia, New Mexico, for the purpose of acquainting wholesalers and industrialists with existing opportunities in the heart of the Pecos Valley and southeastern New Mexico."

Copies of the pamphlet may be obtained, gratis, from the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, 316 Carper Building.

Roswell Twice Beats Artesia Legionet Nine

Roswell skunked Artesia 14-1 in Thursday's Legion game played on the Eagles Field.

In the second game played Saturday at Roswell the Artesians again fell victim to the Roswell team, by a score of 3-1.

In Thursday's game, Baldree was the winning pitcher, Rainbolt and Campanella the losing pitchers.

In Saturday's game, Vigil was the winning pitcher, Rainbolt the losing pitcher.

Rocket Music Doesn't Charm Mighty Umpires

Some Longhorn League umpires don't seem to be great music lovers, as four members of the Roswell Rockets can testify.

The four, catcher Sanders, shortstop Souza, and pitchers Grimes and Morris, were evicted from the Vernon ball park, after doing a bit

Champion Cowboys to Battle Southwest's Worst Outlaw Horses at United Veterans Rodeo

The bronc in this picture is about to lose a good cowboy—just like he does every time he comes out of the chutes. He's "Flat Top," one of the top bareback horses in the "Wild Bill" Elliott-Tommy Steiner strings of rough, tough rodeo stock.

Elliot and Steiner, producers of the United Veterans Rodeo on Sept. 13-14-15, have spent great sums of money and months of diligent search to fill their strings of bucking stock with the roughest, wildest animals in the West. Their scouts have searched the ranches and stockyards of a thousand cities from the Mississippi to the Pacific in their hunt for outstanding outlaw horses and bulls. The United Veterans Rodeo will reveal the results of this search to the rodeo fans of this area. "Flat Top" is but one of the dozens of broncs that make winning the big rodeo purses tough for the top cowboys. If all the broncs in every show were as

Duke City Fans To See Baseball Clown Thursday

One of American baseball's best knowfigures, Al Schacht, world-famous clown, will appear at Tingley Field in Albuquerque the night of July 12.

Schacht, known everywhere as the Clown Prince of Baseball, will present the incomparably funny clowning which have kept ball park audiences in stitches for thirty years. His act will precede a West Texas-New Mexico League game between the Albuquerque Dukes and the Lamesa Lobos.

Schacht's pantomime includes such well-remembered acts as his burlesque of Rudolf Valentino, great lover of the silent screen; his slow-motion pitcher.

The Dempsey-Firpo bout and the Dempsey-Tunney long count; the umpire-batter argument; Gertrude Ederle's channel swim; and, above all, his impersonations of such baseball greats as Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and Bob Feller.

Schacht began clowning, in a small way, when he was pitching for the Washington Senators in 1921. In 1936, he quit a catching job with the Red Sox to make clowning a career. Since then he has appeared at World Series and All-Star games and in ball parks all over the nation.

Cy Faussett, Albuquerque Dukes owner, said a capacity crowd is expected for the performance. Special attention, however, will be given to out-of-town reservations, if received promptly. Write Albuquerque Baseball Club, Tingley Field, Albuquerque.

Schacht opens the show at Tingley Field, July 12 at 7:30 p. m.

Drillers Hit Pay Sand, Win Three of Four

Three more home games are on tap for the Drillers before they take off on the road again.

They play Midland tonight and play a double-header with Big Spring Wednesday and Thursday.

On Friday, July 13, the Drillers take to the road where they will play Odessa, July 13 and 14; San Angelo, July 15 and 16; and Midland, July 17 and 18.

In their current home stand the Drillers won three games, after losing the opener Thursday against Vernon 7 to 5 in the 11th inning.

They beat Vernon in the second game, Friday, 5 to 0, and wrapped up their two games against Sweetwater Saturday and Sunday, 8 to 3, and 6 to 5.

In the opening game of the Drillers' current home stand, player Thursday night, the Vernon Dusters dusted off the Artesia Drillers 7-5 in the eleventh inning.

Artesia started off the proceedings by scoring a run in the first inning.

Things got into high gear in the fourth inning when both the Dusters and the Drillers scored four runs apiece, putting the Drillers ahead 5-4.

The Dusters evened up the score in the fifth inning by scoring one more run.

From then on things remained all tied up until the eleventh when the Dusters scored two more runs putting the game on ice.

W. D. Crosby is president, and Ruidoso Lions join in sponsoring the dedicatory ceremony of the resort town's new Civil Aeronautics Administration airport.

The affair also notes the completion of the paving of Alto Road from Ruidoso to the airport.

President Crosby says he expects 500 aircraft to participate as the Flying Farmers from three states, New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma join in the program which includes an air show and a barbecue.

Notables attending will be Governor Edwin L. Mechen and Burton Dwyre, New Mexico highway engineer, his staff, and CAA officials.

Local Rifle Club Charter Approved

Artesia Rifle and Pistol Club on July 9 received notice dated July 2, 1951, that the National Rifle Association of America had approved the application of the local club and that the charter was being inscribed and would be received sometime next week.

E. F. Bridgeman, in charge of clubs and competition for the National Rifle Association, stated, "Now it's official! The application of your club has finally been marked 'O' K.' by the officials. Your state and your club charter is being inscribed. We think you will like it well enough to have it framed when it arrives in a few days."

The director of civilian marksmanship has listed the club as eligible for issue of War Department ammunition and equipment.

The purpose of the local rifle club is to learn to shoot better; to enjoy shooting matches; and to enjoy socialability of club activities.

The club will be planning and putting over a continuing program from week to week to accomplish the three aims mentioned above. President Owen Hensley hopes to announce the "qualification day shoot" soon, when he will start all club members on the qualification course. First aim of the club is to have everyone wearing qualification brassard.

Veterans Defeat Area Champs, 10-5

Veterans Defeat Area Champs, 10-5
 Artesia Veterans split a double-header here Sunday, being walked 14 to 2 by the Roswell Wildcats in the opener, then staging a powerful comeback to upset the district champion team of Loving, 10 to 5.
 In the second game, Junie Russell led the Vet hitting with four for five, getting an over-the-fence homer, a triple, double, and single.
 For the visitors, Rolson, Loving catcher, got a home run in the seventh.
 Ken Foster was on the mound for the Vets. He struck out eight batters walked none, hit one batter, allowed only four hits.
 In the first game the locals used Chavez and Nunez on the mound. Russell and Gomez behind the plate.
 The first woman writer of a syndicated New York column was Isabel L. Mallon, who wrote Babs' Babbel in 1896.

was "The Status of Music in the Baptist Churches of Texas." In addition to study there and at Southern Methodist University and Southwestern Seminary he has had private lessons under such teachers as Ivan Dneprov, Dr. John Finley Williamson, Dr. Ferdinand Dunkley, Lester Brenizer and Floyd Townsend.

The Hamilton, Texas, Herald-News said about Director Collier that he "is well known in concert circles as a tenor of ability and has been presented in concert in a number of cities."

Collier is an artist in more realms than the musical alone, because his hobby is oil painting. This interest in art is shared by his wife, Josephine Collier, who teaches art at Wayland College. She has had published a book of drawings depicting children on mission fields around the world.

All members of the choir team, which Collier directs, are members of the famous international choir which has traveled more than seven thousand miles during the school year of 1949-50 giving concerts in the leading cities of Texas and New Mexico.

The choir has been heard by large crowds as it presented concerts before church, school, civic club, conventions, and concert audiences.

The team will present the international music of the international choir, which includes music of Mexico, Latvia, China, Russia, Hawaii, Sweden, and Japan.

Also the beautiful negro spirituals and our own sacred music. The team will dress in the colorful costumes of mission fields including Africa, Cuba, China, Japan, Latvia, Sweden, Russia, Hawaii, American Indian, and Mexico.

Comment from places where the team has sung include El Paso Times, and Midland Reporter-Telegram.

The El Paso newspaper says the choir, of which the team is a part, is "an expertly trained singing group."

"It truly was one of the outstanding musical programs of Midland's history," comments the Midland newspaper. "The voices blend in harmony which attracts rounds and rounds of applause."

hees and Standhart, of Roswell, on Oct. 1, 1949. The bid was let Nov. 9, 1949, at a cost of $260,402, or $7.50 per square foot.

Homer Campbell, Artesia, was the contractor.

The building with classrooms, administrative offices, and gymnasium is placed on a 13-acre plot of land.

The building is made of light-colored combination face brick, blacked by insulating tile.

All framework is steel construction, the roof is built up the side walls are steel, framed with glass, with four feet of overhang on the roof to eliminate excessive brightness.

The floors are concrete, covered with asphalt tile.

Varying shades of pastel paints are used throughout the interior. The halls are lined with glazed tile wainscoting and the ceilings of the corridor are acoustic plaster.

The building is heated by central hot water boilers and radiators.

The building is zoned into seven areas and one or all zones can be heated at the same time. The circulation is insured through electric pumps, one for each of the zones.

and is divided into age groups. First contingent which went early last month was the high school and college sections. Then came various groups of the grade school age down to the present group.

When each age classification has been to camp once, the cycle starts again beginning this time with the young adults.

Since the original list, two more names have been added to those attending Methodist Camp in the Sacramento Mountains.

They are Harvey Yates, Jr. and Payton Yates.

look awfully real sticking out of the side of mountains.

After we got to Deadwood we went to see Wild Bill Hickock's grave and Calamity Jane's; also Deadwood Dick's cabin and grave.

They have the spot marked where Wild Bill was shot, and I got a picture of Saloon 10 where he was shot.

Tomorrow (the letter is dated July 1) they have a kangaroo court at McCaw, who was tried for murder. I guess we will stay here tomorrow if the fishing is good and see the "trial".

Tonight is the first performance of the season of the Passion Play, which is given every other night during the summer at Spearfish. Would like to see it Tuesday if we don't go to Yellowstone.

We're headed there as soon as Billy sees about the fishing.

the increase of loads by irrigation and other uses.

He predicts that approximately 400 miles of new line, three new substations will have to be built and much equipment installed in the near future to accommodate increasing demand for electricity. One of the new substations will be located two miles west of Orchard Park and will be of 3,000 KVA capacity.

The work on this substation will probably start within the next 10 days. The other two substations will probably be in the Loco Hills area and they will probably be required within the next two years.

In some places in the country, rural electrification may be nearing completion but for the Central Valley Electric Cooperative, considerable work remains to be done before the goal is attained.

Government figures, based on Serve Three Million the 1945 Census of Agriculture, estimated that as of June, 1950, 86.3 per cent of all farms in the United States had central station service. However, first tabulations of the 1950 census reveal that this estimate was too high. Claude R. Wickard, administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D. C., now finds that there are probably 15 per cent more of the nation's farms still without electricity.

According to the latest information received from REA in Washington, the 1,008 rural electric cooperatives in the United States are now serving 3,482,441 consumers. In the state of New Mexico, there are 47 cooperatives serving 29,272 consumers with an estimated percentage of total farms electrified at 65 per cent. There are only three other states with a lower percentage than New Mexico.

The Central Valley Electric Cooperative, Inc., is attempting to bring electric service to all rural consumers in their area who desire this type of service. At the present time construction work is being held back due to lack of qualified linemen and scarcity of certain types of material. The Cooperative now has 40 employees.

Besides Manager Frost, key personnel consists of Mrs. Elsie Nivens, bookkeeper; Mrs. Thelma Faulkenberry, cashier; Quata Winters, secretary; H. C. Schimmel, line superintendent; L. C. Mayberry, Mark Marsh and J. Q. McGee, line foreman; Ernest Tempelar, Charles Crume and William E. Bazzell, servicemen.

The board of trustees for the cooperative:

A. W. Langenegger, president, Hagerman; H. L. Green, vice-president, Artesia; Rosco Fletcher, secretary-treasurer, Dexter; J. L. Taylor, Cottonwood, James Norris, Lake Arthur; Donald Fanning, Atoka; George O. Teel, Hope.

BLACK GOLD

FOR THE NATION'S INDUSTRIES AND TRANSPORTATION COMES FROM THE ARTESIA AREA!

The highly important Fields of Eddy County are a part of the Permian Basin—the Nation's Greatest Oil Field, which contributes more than two and one-half million dollars daily to a fabulous area.

OIL PRODUCTION IS ANOTHER MAJOR INDUSTRY IN THIS THRIVING SECTION

Hundreds of producing oil wells in the Artesia area pour Black Gold into America's commercial and industrial life, and contribute materially to the general economy of this entire section of New Mexico.

No story anywhere, fact or fiction can surpass the truth regarding oil and gas production from the fabulous Permian Basin of Eastern New Mexico and West Texas. These facts and figures show that: The Permian Basin's known producing area is now in excess of 86,600 square miles, with an estimated oil reserve of 9,068,700,000 barrels.

With a background such as the above, the Oil Industry in Artesia can move only in one direction—FORWARD. Already of tremendous importance, the Petroleum Industry will continue to contribute more and more to the general development and sound economy of Artesia.

Geographical location—combined with fine transportation facilities—place Artesia in an enviable position to serve and benefit from the development of the entire Petroleum Industry.

Do You Pay Your Bills?

JUST WHAT IS YOUR ATTITUDE when you are contacted by someone to whom you owe an account that is past due? Do you become angry and act insulted when they seek to collect the account? Do you promise you will do something about it and voice your appreciation for the patience which has been shown or do you just try to evade the issue and the collector?

It is rather surprising just how some people to whom credit has been extended react when they are asked to pay their account. Some of them think they are being "ridden." They deeply resent being contacted and emphasize the fact if they had the money and could pay it, they would do so. Others always hunt up some kind of an excuse and point out something is wrong and they are just waiting to get something cleared up regarding the account.

Others become angry and want to insult the person who has contacted them feeling they should not be troubled about the matter. They assume a wounded attitude that anyone would even trouble to try and collect anything from them trying to leave the impression they always pay their bills.

But the fact remains that regardless of what kind of an attitude we display, we have been granted a favor, we have imposed on those who were kind to us and we owe an obligation.

And if we are honest and sincere and want to earn for ourselves the reputation of one who pays his accounts promptly and on time and who wants to be in a position to be granted credit, we should pay our bills when they are due; pay something on them and work out arrangements for the payment of the balance; or if we can't pay them or pay on them, work out some plan so we can pay them.

Those who have granted us credit have done us a favor. If we want to pay our bills we can do so by making a special effort and by making some sacrifices if that is necessary.

If this is not true and we cannot pay the account because some misfortune or tragedy has befallen us, then we should never have contracted the debt.

Those who honestly and sincerely want to pay their debts and their obligations can always do so although the sacrifices may mean we have to deny ourselves some of the things we want while we are paying off the debt or debts we owe.

Can't Be Enforced

WE HAVE NEVER BEEN in favor of the farmers of this valley or for that matter farmers anywhere else employing wetbacks to do their farm work.

If we must have the Mexican Nationals to help do the farm work, then we have felt they should follow the legal procedure for getting these Nationals into this country and legal means are provided.

We have never been too interested in bringing in these Nationals to do the farm work. We know that it is to our advantage as communities to give in so far as possible this work to our own people.

And we know that by doing this the money they earn stays at home and is spent in this community instead of being taken back to Mexico.

The farmers contend they cannot secure sufficient local help and in some instances can't pay the wages demanded. The wages paid, of course, should be in keeping with the price of the products produced and in keeping with pay in other fields of endeavor.

Certainly there have been instances where the wetback (those who enter the nation illegally from Mexico) were paid even less than it is required he be paid the Nationals because the wetbacks can be turned in.

But be that as it may, we still do not agree with the proposed federal legislation that the farmers can be held responsible for the hiring of wetbacks and they can be charged and fined for doing just this.

We don't believe they can be forced to determine whether an individual is a wetback before they hire him or not any more than a business man can be expected to determine whether an individual he hires or employs is an ex-convict, a murderer or an alcoholic.

The employer as a rule is looking for a workman and not checking into the history of the individual. They can inquire insofar as possible and they can make other checks but in the final analysis, as we stated, they are interested in securing a workman and not how he happened to be in the United States or how he got into the U. S.

Certainly we don't approve of any plan which involves the encouraging of Mexican Nationals to enter the U. S. illegally and we do not approve of farmers making arrangements for them to sneak into our nation with the promise they will have a job when they get here.

We don't deny that it is being done and we think it should be halted. We also do not think that the farmer should be held responsible for determining whether the individual seeking employment is a wetback and then be fined for hiring one if that is proven to be the case.

It just appears to us whether it is another instance where the federal government is seeking to have the taxpayers perform duties which public officials are being paid to perform.

The citizens are now keeping books and collecting taxes for the government. Slowly but surely they have increased these burdens over the years. They will continue to increase them just as long as we will accept them.

And the latest move is to have the farmers prosecuted for the employing and hiring of wetbacks. It won't work and we do not believe is constitutional even if such a law is passed.

The government has a department charged with the responsibility of keeping undesirable individuals from illegally entering the nation. Let them perform these duties. And it might be well to remind them that merely the fact they are trying to round up someone who has violated the law doesn't grant them the right to violate the law in order to get this job done.

Execute every act of thy life as though it were thy last.

To one who knows it is superfluous to give advice; to one who does not know, it is insufficient.

The best way to keep good acts in memory is to refresh them with new.

The materials of action are variable, but the use we make of them should be constant.

Let him that hath done the good office conceal it; let him that hath received it disclose it.

Excess baggage has a nasty habit of delaying trains of thought.

ALONE AT LAST!

What Other Editors Are Saying

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Mansfield, Ohio, News-Journal: "The case for the farmer is well presented in the June issue of Country Gentleman by Herschel D. Newsome, master of the National Grange. He says that the average of farm prices still is almost 15 percent below 1947, while corporate profits and hourly wages of factory workers both are 18 per cent above the levels of four years ago. An interesting admission is that agriculture has been at fault in allowing 'narrow self-interest to delay correction of flaws' in parts of the government farm programs, pointing particularly to 'absurdity of the potato-support program'."

Palm Beach, Fla., Post-Times: "The virulent poison in the bloodstream of Human Freedom, is the polyglot pinheads who... spread the gory gospel that man can live without labor, feed upon his neighbor, be supported by government rather than supporting government."

Reinbeck, Iowa, Courier: "D. A. Hulcy, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, points out some facts. Federal agencies, all along the line will make a devout effort to get rid of all the cash-left in their accounts... They must spend the money appropriated to every agency, in order that come July first their asking for a larger amount to spend next year be granted them... What would happen if we all spent the last dollar we had each year in order that we could start with a clean slate?"

Waldoboro, Maine, Press: "The old saying 'it is an ill wind that blows no one any good' must be true. Within the last week we were listening to the radio and heard the announcement of the 10 per cent increase on the cost of newsprint. We immediately reached for the aspirin, which, of course, helped the aspirin business. It seems as though everything is bound to help some one."

CONTROLS BREED CONTROLS

A short time ago the board of directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation said this: "Price and wage ceilings are diverting attention from the policies which must be adopted if inflation is to be brought under control." It then recommended a five-point anti-inflation program which includes increased production, strict economy in government spending, a pay-as-we-go tax program, effective credit controls and sound management of the public debt.

The federation has gone straight to the heart of the inflation problem. The controls may be well intended. They may be administered by miracle men. They may be written by experts with the wisdom of a roomful of Solomons. But, even if all this were true, which it most certainly is not, the controls would deal only with the symptoms of the disease and not with the causes.

The government has taken a few short and faltering steps in the direction of economy and credit restriction. But it must go all the way if any success at all is to be achieved in beating back inflation. Controls are not the true answer to anything. And worst of all, as the Farm Journal has said editorially, "since controls always breed more controls, we are following the route toward government fixing of all prices, toward rationing and the entire loss of the individual's right to buy and sell as he chooses." That is a strong and unqualified statement, but history proves that it is totally correct. Controls are completely incompatible with the American concept of freedom. —Curry County Times.

WHY KID GLOVES?

Robert Vogeler, American, who was freed last April from a Hungarian prison, was as right as he could be when he pleaded for retaliatory measures against Communist countries in which Americans are falsely arrested.

He said: "We are too tolerant. I say we should respond with retaliatory measures. We treat our Communists with kid gloves, deport them first class, with television and captain's table."

Commenting on the plea of guilty by Associated Press Correspondent William M. Oatis in Czechoslovakia, Vogeler said: "I knew two weeks ago what plea the American newspaperman would make. The confession was forced. Their trial by terror has no justice." Vogeler's views have the sympathy of an overwhelming majority of the American people.

The question is: Why does our government handle Communists with kid gloves while the Commies torture Americans and force confessions, after arresting them falsely?

No one seems to be able to answer that question satisfactorily.—El Paso Times.

The money you have to pay back always looks about twice as large as the money you borrowed.

It takes all kinds of people to make up the world. One reason that big apples are always on top of the basket is the fact that there are always a lot of little ones holding them up there!—Brownsville, Pa., Telegraph.

As Artesia Grows

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(From The Advocate files for July 9, 1931)

Site of the new plant of the Malco Refineries, Inc., presented a busy scene yesterday morning when about 25 to 30 workmen gathered to start construction of the plant. Materials are arriving as needed according to M. E. Biash, superintendent.

The revival meeting which was conducted at the First Baptist Church during the past two weeks, closed with baptismal services last Sunday. Eight baptisms were received into the church.

Artesia Rotary Club began its new year Tuesday with the new president, George Frisch in the chair. The program for the day was in charge of Boone Barnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wheatley took their daughter, Joan, up to the Girl Scout camp in Bear Canyon on the Fourth. Richard Wheatley, who returned from California last week and little Barbara accompanied them.

Mrs. Skeit Williams entertained a score of little people last Monday afternoon for her little son, Lowrey, whose birthday anniversary occurred that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Keller gave a picnic supper on the porch of their home yesterday honoring Miss Reva Knoedler who is visiting here from Blandville, Ill.

The Second Bridge Club was entertained at a one o'clock luncheon Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Jeff Hightower.

Last Sunday evening the United Young Peoples' meeting was held in the Presbyterian Church with Thelma McCaw, president in charge.

TEN YEARS AGO

(From The Advocate files for July 10, 1941)

Two and a half inches of rain fell on Sunday and the city was plunged into darkness as wind whips into trees, and some buildings were flooded.

Carper Drilling Company will start soon to build a fine office building at the corner of Fourth and Quay, it was announced this morning. The building will cost about $75,000 and will be the finest in Artesia.

The School Musician, a national publication, in a recent number listed Ann Crouch of Artesia as a first division winner in baton twirling in the Texas district, as in the United States were given winners in all school music contests.

Emery Carper, mayor of Artesia, Wednesday designated Albert Richards chief of the fire department, as fire defense coordinator for the city and directed him to establish a fire auxiliary corps to function under his immediate supervision.

Mrs. Leland Price was hostess to the Hi-Lo Luncheon Club at The Corral Tuesday. Mrs. Joe Holyfield and Clemmie Cobble were substituting guests.

Mrs. Roger Durand was hostess to the Abnormis Sapiens Bridge Club on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Raymond Bartlett and Mrs. Joe Nunn were hostesses at a beautifully appointed shower complimenting Mrs. Oscar Pearson at the Bartlett home Tuesday evening. After the guests had assembled Mrs. W. H. Ballard, impersonating Madam Stork arrived with a tiny red-headed baby in a basket draped in blue and decorated with stems of pink hollyhocks.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Brown were hosts at a family dinner Sunday evening.

The Atoka Woman's Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul Zeleny.

W. E. Kerr, superintendent of the Artesia schools, taught a course in school finance at New Mexico State Teachers College in Silver City last week.

Five From Eddy On UNM Honor Rolls of 1950-51

Jo Margaret Gore of Artesia is one of the 78 students who made the honor roll at the College of Fine Arts, University of New Mexico, for the second semester, 1950-51. The list was made known June 28 by Dean J. D. Robb.

Miss Gore had a B average. Four other students from Eddy County also rated honor rolls at the university. They were James N. Babcock and Olivia Smith, College of Arts and Sciences, B average; John C. Lilly, College of Business Administration, Roll of Distinction, grade average 2.25 of better.

The other was *Rudolph D. Woolf, College of Engineering, Dean's Honor Roll, scholastic average of two or above. Woolf, Lilly, Smith, and Babcock are all of Carlsbad.

Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—Items like the state of the mind and the trend of living these days are deeper thinkers than I; mine is a small world bounded by jazz bands, cafes, tennis courts and the right number of beer bottles in the icebox to sustain life.

It does appear to me, though, that they have trapped the course with an enormous number of obstacles to the man who wants to make something of himself these days. If he makes a bet the government is going to pull a gun on him, he takes most of it in taxes, and if he sets up a firm to make a new and better kind of cigar light, all his workers are going to strike on him.

If he writes a great book, the public will buy it for best-seller trash and if he paints a picture he might—just might—get a job paid bills for two bucks a day. The deck is stacked.

The funny thing about it is, some men still try. I met one other day, a lean, amiable soul from Hollis, L. I., called Paul Reilly who in three years has built himself up a business from scratch, foolishly disregarding all the sand traps.

He is not exactly a roaring success yet but the wolf long since stopped scratching with his paw the Reilly door. I guess that his ambition is like being in love; there's not a single thing you can do about it.

Reilly did it the Twentieth Century way—by specializing. When he got out of the Army—he was overseas three years with the Division as a platoon sergeant and had all the brushes with death for the rest of his life—he tried to figure out something that nobody else was doing. He finally hit on it. He became a purveyor of private limousines for celebrities.

Make that "limousine." No "s." Paul had about $500 in his bank and the knowledge you never get anywhere unless you take a chance. He floated a bank loan—and planked down four thousand bucks for a used seven-passenger limousine that cost $6,000 new. One of those big black jobs you see floating up and down Park Avenue, when if you look real close, you spot Joan Fontaine or Hayworth or somebody in the back seat.

"I bought myself a chauffeur's outfit," Paul said, "—and went for business. Man—that first year! I must have scrambled 20 hours a day, drumming up trade. It came, but it came slowly. I got a job in here, a wedge in there, and pretty soon the celebrities began to know who I was and phone me when they hit town. After a year or so was all right—not to the point where I could begin to load, but I started to pay off the loan and I had a steady income coming in."

When a couple of the big radio networks and one of the movie companies began contacting Paul to drive their limousines coming to Manhattan, the battle was really won. Now he gets another $6,000 limousine, a chauffeur working for him, and a third limousine on the way if he ever can lay hands on one.

He calls his dodge "Artista Service." If you ride with Paul on one of his cars, you get a radio and a telephone in the car, and if you have the dough to pay for it, he'll stick with you all day and most of the night. I guess he'll even pick you up if you're too stiff to walk and carry you up to your hotel room, as part of his service—and know some movie performers as I do, I imagine he likely has.

I asked him who his favorite was and, because he's a diplomat, he hedged. However, he did admit that it gave him a big boot to see Judy Garland around town. She always uses Reilly limousine service in New York, but being uninhibited and naturally gregarious, she doesn't only look on Paul as a chauffeur.

She takes him into night clubs with her if he's willing and if he needs an escort to head into some place like the Copacabana. He takes him shopping with her and he virtually has to keep another suit of clothes handy, so he won't look like a limousine jockey, what Judy's in town. His wife doesn't mind at all, Paul says; matter of fact, she gets a charge out of his being with big wheels so much.

Paul sees the movie and radio stars with their mothers to drop dead—and he still likes them. "They're different from most people," he says, "but they're all right. I get along fine with them. If they get temperamental, I don't let it bother me."

Most of his business comes from word of mouth. Paul is one of these guys who knows everything—where to get a good suit in New York, what is the best hour to hit El Morocco, how to cure a hair over, etc.

His celebrity clients don't take long to find this out, so when they get back to Hollywood or whatever other dreamland they reside in, they pass his name along to other VIPs.

I wonder, though, if Paul doesn't realize how futile it all is, the days, to be so ambitious. The poor guy doesn't know that the day the Horatio Alger success stories are over. He just goes along driving Judy Garland around and buying new limousines, and acquiring summer home down in the Rockaways and, all in all, eating high on the hog. I guess you might describe him, in these ambition-less times as something of a freak. Oh, well—let the guy dream on.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

TOM WEBB, New York Yankee baseball tycoon, tells me that when the time came for spring training, the kid failed to appear. Inquiry brought this reply from his irate pappy: "Forget that worthless boy of mine. When he boasted to me he was leaving to put on a Yankee uniform, I shot him dead, suh."

A boatman ran a ferry across a mountain stream full of whirlpools and rapids. During a crossing in which the frail craft was tossed hither and yon by the swirling waters, a timid lady in the boat asked whether any passengers ever were lost in the river.

"Never," the boatman reassured her. "We always find them again the next day."

SWARMS of bees have been interrupting work on an addition to a Walkerville, Ontario, distillery, keeping some 40 construction men from completing their job. The winged Carrie Nations carry more potent weapons than a little, ole hatchet!

Then, again, maybe the bees have just mistaken the distillery for a saloon and are just waiting around for the TV show to start.

Speaking of funny ideas—Czechoslovakia and Hungary have solemnly adopted an anti-clown policy.

The Red stooges running those two countries accuse circus clowns of "banal bourgeois humor."

Besides that the buffoons are guilty of the heinous crime of making people laugh.

So far as known, if Miss Orthrow hasn't made any cracks at the universities of this state, it has not been given of record.

It is hardly likely that the pedabrows of this state would have turned the other cheek if hit by any pellets from the scatter gun of the fair educator. Perhaps we still have something to look forward to.

That is putting out a lot of money for use where it won't make much of a show.

Of course it might happen to any newspaper. The Santa Fe New Mexican apologizes to Senator Clint Anderson and Harold Mundell for misstating the facts in regard to the removal of certain records from Albuquerque to Santa Fe of the Federal Emergency Relief Association.

Special Exhibit Boosts American Petroleum Trade

How petroleum serves the American people day in and day out is portrayed dramatically in a colorful, new exhibit produced by the oil industry information committee.

Now ready for distribution, the 1951 exhibit emphasizes the manifold uses of petroleum in industry and transportation, in agriculture, in the home and in national defense.

It is being made available at cost to oil companies and trade associations.

Equipped with a flasher-light to attract attention, the full-color exhibit is complete in itself but can be used in conjunction with other display material. It is particularly suitable for window displays, but it also can be used in banks, stores, office buildings, at fairs and in schools.

The exhibit was designed for year-around use. It is expected to be especially useful next fall when the oil industry observes Oil Progress Week, October 14-20.

In the main panel of the exhibit, a plastic oil drop, realistically colored and shaped, is superimposed over a drawing of the earth. Beneath this, is this message from the oil industry:

"In peace or war, America's thousands of privately-managed oil companies, competing vigorously provide you with the finest oil products in the world at the world's lowest prices."

Two side panels illustrate the uses of oil in industry and transportation, agriculture, the home and national defense.

Each exhibit is folded and packed in a corrugated box. It can be set up in a matter of minutes anywhere.

Electric Cooking Is CLEAN

... as MODERN women KNOW!

No grime, no soot, no fumes when you cook electrically. That means no dirty curtains, no spotted walls, no carbon-coated pots and pans. Instead, when you cook electrically, everything is bright and shiny. The pans, the walls, the curtains, your disposition — all of them — bright and shiny.

Electric cooking is clean because electricity is clean. Cleanest of all heat producing methods. Whoever heard of a dirty kilowatt?

Yes, electric cooking is clean. It's fast, economical, automatic, dependable, efficient, cool, and convenient, too . . . as modern women know!

New Insurance Policy Offered Disabled Vets

Disabled veterans recently separated from service may be eligible for a new type of government life insurance as a result of a law especially enacted for their benefit, veterans administration announced today.

The present Congress authorized this insurance by Public Law 23 to provide special coverage up to $10,000 for certain disabled veterans.

Four basic requirements are established by law for veterans to qualify for this insurance. They are:

1.—The veterans must have been disabled in active service or under the special conditions specified in the Act.

2.—The veterans must have been separated from such service on or after April 25, 1951, under other than dishonorable conditions.

3.—VA must find that the veterans are suffering from disabilities for which VA compensation would be payable if 10 per cent or more in degree; and 4.—VA also must find that, because of these disabilities, the veterans would not be insurable under the good health standards of national service life insurance.

Groups Refined

Under these conditions, the law covers many groups who were in active service or special types of service on and after June 27, 1950, and who were separated on and after April 25, 1951. These groups are:

1.—Those who served in the active service of Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

2.—The Reserve components of these branches of the Armed Forces, including the National Guard when called or ordered to active duty or active training duty for 14 days or more.

3.—Cadets and midshipmen at the United States Military, Naval and Coast Guard Academies.

4.—Commissioned officers of the Public Health Service and of the Coast and Geodetic Survey while assigned to certain specified duties.

5.—Reserve components of the Armed Forces, including the National Guard, while engaged in aerial flights in Government owned or leased aircraft for any period, with or without pay as an incident to their military or naval training.

All of these groups may apply for the new insurance within one year from the date that VA finds their disabilities to be service-connected.

Another group also is covered. This group includes those who were disabled on their way to report for induction or for active military service on and after June 27, 1950, and were separated or otherwise released from further military service on and after April 25, 1951. This group may apply for the new insurance within one year from the date that they suffered their disabilities.

All of the foregoing groups may apply for any plan of National Service Life Insurance, term or permanent, with certain differences from the regular NSLI contracts.

For one thing, the new insurance, whether term or permanent, is non-participating; that is, no dividends will be paid on it. And, because it is non-participating, the premium rates in most cases, especially for the younger groups, are much lower than are the standard NSLI rates.

There are other differences, but the essential benefits, rights and privileges of regular NSLI are carried forward in the new insurance under lower premium rates, lower annuity rates, and a lower rate of interest.

Those who are totally disabled also may apply for a waiver of premiums on the new insurance. The law stipulates that no waiver may be denied on the grounds that the service-connected disability became total prior to the effective date of such insurance.

Prairie State Town Auto Center Of United States

The population center of the United States has moved steadily westward since Colonial days.

During George Washington's second term as president the population center of the country was a few miles southeast of Baltimore, Md.

By 1940 it had moved to a point near Carlisle, Ind.

A clue as to the center's present location comes from an automotive company. Statisticians of that firm have found out that the automotive center of the country is near Watska, Ill., a town 80 miles south of Chicago near the Indiana border.

It was also estimated by statisticians of the firm that the average operating passenger car is a 1941 sedan. And just such a "typical" car was found in the center of the automobile population.

Owned by Don Sobkowiak, an employee of a farm bureau service station in Watska, the 10-year-old sedan has traveled 107,000 miles.

In determining the auto axis of the country a line was drawn eastward through northern California, splitting the midwestern states of Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio and passing along the southern Pennsylvania border. This line split car registrations in half.

Similarly a line extending southward, slightly east of the Wisconsin border and cutting through Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee would balance cars in use east and west.

These lines intersect near Watska, thus making it the automotive center of the country.

Information on these points was obtained from the May issue of Automobile Facts, published by Automobile Manufacturers Association.
