Bailey County Fair Will Be Bigger, Better

around Muleshoe

Again this year, as in the past, the Muleshoe Lions Club will be serving their traditional chicken fried steak dinner preceding the first home football game. They will be serving 5:30-7:30 in the MHS cafeteria preceding the Mule-Brownfield Cub game at 8 p.m. in Benny Douglass Stadium.

Cost of the meal is $4.50 for adults and $3.50 for children 12 and under. Carry out orders may be called in to 272-4360.

Coach C. W. Williams of the Lazbuddie Longhorns, said their first game of the season, which was to have been a home game on Friday night with NE Christian had been cancelled by NE Christian.

The Longhorns will be traveling to Ira Friday night, instead, according to Coach Williams.

The seventh annual Ralls Fall Fantasy, an arts and crafts festival and sale, is scheduled for Saturday, November 4 at the Ralls Elementary School Cafeteria. It is sponsored by the Women's Division of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

Open to area artists who work in any media, may participate. A selection committee will choose artists from slides and photographs submitted of the artists' Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

Brownfield Coming Here To Face Mules

This is it, sports fans! Tomorrow, Friday night, will be the opener for the Muleshoe Mules' football season, and they will again open against the Brownfield Cubs.

Last year, in their first meeting ever, the Mules fell hard to the Cubs, 35-0, but as Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Jim Stewart said Tuesday morning, "That was last year!"

Join the rejuvenated and renewed Mules Friday night at Benny Douglass Stadium for the 8 p.m. kickoff.

Despite the fact that the Cubs are rated fourth in 18 districts, the Mules are expected to give them a fantastic battle.

The Mules have been working hard preparing for the football season, and are ready to take on the frisky Cubs, who each year are ranked high in state standings.

Coach Stewart and his almost all new coaching staff have worked very hard to prepare the players for the football season, and they expressed their appreciation to the support shown the players and coaches.

Tonight, Thursday, the freshmen and junior varsity teams will travel to Brownfield. The freshmen play at 5 p.m., followed by the JV around 7:15 p.m.

You can best your your support by your enthusiastic attendance at the games, all the games.

HOUSE BURNS WEST OF MULESHOE--Just after midafternoon on Monday, the Muleshoe Fire Department was summoned to a location some eight or nine miles southwest of Muleshoe on Highway 84, where a house was reported to be on fire. On arrival, the firemen found a mobile home at the Lloyd Williams home completely engulfed in flames. It was too late to save any of the structure. Firemen were called back to the location Monday night, when the rubble broke out into flames again. No one was at home at the time the fire started. (Journal Photo)

Rotary Hears About Fair; Crop Report

It was a 'Fair' day for members of the Muleshoe Rotary Club on Tuesday, when special guest speaker was Bailey County Extension Agent-Ag. Spencer Tanksley. With Roger Clarkson in charge of the program, he introduced the county agent, who spoke briefly about the fair coming up this weekend, then went on to other subjects, such as a brief outline of the crop outlook, and upcoming seminars and field days.

Tanksley told the Rotarians about the MAC Buck drawing being set for 3 p.m. on Saturday, immediately followed by the 'Cow Pattle Bingo' being sponsored by the Muleshoe Rotary Club.

"There's lots of activities in Muleshoe this weekend," said the county agent. "There should be something for everyone to attend and enjoy."

He talked about the displays of home canned items, crafts and field crops which will be on display Friday afternoon and Saturday.

He said the fair will shut down at 7 p.m. Friday, which will give people time to attend the Lions Club supper and be at the Cont. Page 7, Col. 2

The tenth annual Bailey County West Plains Fair will be held September 7, 8 and 9, at the Bailey County Coliseum in Muleshoe.

"Each year the fair has gotten a little larger," says Spencer Tanksley, County Extension Agent, "and we want to encourage everyone to come out and enjoy the activities."

He added that the fair is free and open to the general public.

This year's fair is being sponsored by the Bailey County Extension Program Council, the Muleshoe Rotary Club, Valley Grain Products, Inc., and the Bailey County Commissioners' Court.

Fair catalogs are available at the Bailey County Extension office located in the courthouse, added Tanksley, saying, "the catalog has more details on the types of items which can be entered."

Exhibits to the fair will be accepted from adults and youth (18 years old or under) who live in Bailey, Parmer, Lamb and Cochran counties. There is a special division for 4-H youth in Bailey County.

Entries will be accepted in the following divisions: field crops, horticulture, culinary, canned fruits and vegetables, textiles, fine arts, and crafts and hobbies.

Exhibitors may enter two items per class at this year's fair.

Special cash prizes will be awarded this year to the "Best of Show" winner in each division. Adult winners will receive $25 in cash and 4-H-and-Youth winners will receive $10 in cash.

These prizes are being sponsored by Valley Grain Products. Ribbons will be awarded in each class and rosettes will be given in each category with three or more entries. Exhibitors may enter two items in each class at this year's fair.

Second place winner John Graves missed five games, and was 22 points away on the tiebreakers. He received a check for $7.50, $2,000 in MAC Buck tickets and six points toward the grand prize.

In third place was J. E. McVicker, who also missed five games, but was 24 points off on the tiebreaker scores. He received a check for $5, $1,000 in MAC Buck tickets and three points toward the grand prize.

Also missing five games, and their tiebreaker scores were Art Haberer, 48 points; Donnie McDonald, 38 points; and Ruth Malone, 46 points.

For those who could not find the results of the Grambling-Alcorn game played on Sunday, the Clovis News-Journal Sports Department said Grambling was Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

AND, THAT'S A LOT OF TICKETS--Spencer Tanksley was the first place winner in the first 1989 Merchant's Football Contest. In addition to the $10 weekly first place check, and 10 points toward the grand prize, he was awarded $3,000 in MAC Buck tickets. Farmers Face More Questions On Lending

The days of farmers walking into their banker's office and borrowing thousands of dollars on their signatures alone are becoming a thing of the past.

Fewer bankers are basing their loan decisions solely on their knowledge of the borrower's past repayment record, financial position and the adequacy of collateral, said Dr. Danny A. Klinefelter and Dr. Gerald C. Cornforth, management economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In the past, the formal loan policies of lending institutions were often much tougher than those actually followed in practice. Recent experience and stricter regulations are accelerating the movement toward commercial business standards, the two economists said.

For example, as the trend in agriculture moves toward many part-time farming operations and a few large-scale commercial farms, agricultural lending policies reflect these changes.

"Farms relying primarily on off-farm income for repayment ability will have loan requests treated like consumer loans with a standard set of rules based on percent of income devoted to debt servicing, overall debt-to-asset ratios and specific collateral margins," Klinefelter said.

"Commercial farms will be treated like agribusinesses and will be subject to more information and documentation requirements with increased emphasis on repayment ability, longer-run economic outlook and specific enterprise analysis.

Lending is becoming more complex as the commercial operations become vertically integrated, Cornforth said.

"A premium will be placed on risk management by both lender and borrower with more controls and performance monitoring required after the loans are made," Cornforth said.

One of these changes is the move toward consistently prepared information based on generally accepted accounting principles. In too many past cases, agricultural credit analysis has been based on data that can be fairly described as "garbage in garbage out," Cornforth said.

According to Klinefelter, another change needed in the system are standards for evaluating key financial position and performance indicators for different types of farms.

"Rules of thumb that now exist are generic and the fact remains that one set of standards is no more applicable to comparing a poultry operation and a grain farm than it would be for comparing a jewelry store and a manufacturing firm," the Extension management economist said.

The two economists point to another, more subtle shift in lending practices that has occurred in response to legislation providing for more borrowers' rights.

Liberalized bankruptcy laws and the rising threat of lender liability lawsuits are forcing lenders to be more selective in who they finance.

Creative Living

by Sheryl Borden

Information on outdoor cooking, spices, and batter breads will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, September 12 at 12 noon and on Saturday, September 16 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Outdoor cooking can be an easy and fun way to prepare meals. Betty Hughes, representative of Weber-Stephen Products in Palatine, IL, will discuss barbecuing techniques, the different types of grills available, and even some suggestions for planning a cookout. Betty will talk about some barbecue safety tips and will also prepare and entire meal on the grill.

Spices are so low in calories sodium and fat that they're perfect for seasoning all sorts of diet dishes. Sally Gilbert of the American Spice Trade Association will show how to prepare luscious, low-calorie Orange Sauced Chicken with Apples and will also make a no-salt herb blend for use at the table.

The flashback segment will feature making better breads with Fran Smith from Universal Foods. Batter breads are easy and fun to make and allows for no kneading, less rising time and the mixer does most of the work. Fran will demonstrate making better breads by making a delicious strawberry coffeecake.

On Tuesday, September 12 at 9:30 p.m. and repeated on Thursday, September 14 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present a demonstration of Pronto Pies Plus, information on new countertops and cabinets and household decorating ideas.

A variety of pie recipes and tips will be presented by Bonita Snyder, spokesperson of Bama Pie, Ltd. in Tulsa, OK. Ms. Snyder will emphasize quick and easy preparation using convenience foods, the microwave oven and making recipe adaptations.

What's new in cabinets and countertops will be discussed by Jill Absber of Creative Kitchen Designs in Birmingham, Al. Ms. Absber will talk about the different categories of cabinets and countertops available and the major products used for exterior finishes. She'll conclude by telling some of the futuristic expectations in the area of kitchen appliances and cabinets.

The flashback segment will feature Carolyn Jabs who represents the American Paper Institute. Carolyn authored a book entitled Reuses and will demonstrate some reuses of items in the home that aid in decorating. Carolyn's "claim to fame" is her ability to take old, unused items around the house and turn them into work of art or functional and attractive decorative items. She's from New York.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, CO. Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling on KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. In New Mexico, the number is 1-800-432-2361, out-of-state: 1-800-545-2359 and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112.

Get the Kids in on the Act

Is your family spending enough time together? Are you looking for fun things to do as a family activity? Try baking together for a change of pace.

Even though kids are famous for the messes they can create, put aside the neatness factor for a while and herd the kids into the kitchen to make special biscuits for a Saturday breakfast.

Thimble Biscuits are sure to hold the attention of young bakers. A simple biscuit recipe not only forms the base of Thimble Biscuits but also teaches basic baking skills to young cooks.

Thin rounds of biscuit dough are rolled out and stacked on top of each other, with the top round having a hole punched in it using a tiny biscuit cutter or, as the name implies, a thimble. The top round holds a spoonful of jelly.

Be sure to serve extra jelly along with the biscuits as the small amount baked in each one is not quite enough to satisfy the true biscuit and jelly fan.

Thimble Biscuits

2 cups sifted Martha White Self-Rising Flour
1/2 cup shortening

1/2 cup milk
About 1/4 cup jam or jelly
Preheat oven to 450°F. Cut shortening into flour until particles are like fine crumbs. Add milk and stir with a fork only until dough leaves the sides of the bowl.

Turn dough out onto lightly floured board or pastry cloth; knead just until smooth. Roll dough about 1/4-inch thick and cut with floured 2-inch cutter. Place half the biscuit rounds on lightly greased baking sheet. Cut a hole in center of remaining biscuits with a thimble or other small cutter. Stack each layer of biscuits with a small hole on top of biscuits on baking sheet. Fill the holes with about 1/4 teaspoon jam or jelly. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown.

Makes 12 to 14 biscuits.
Note: If using Martha White All-Purpose Flour, sift 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1/4 teaspoons salt with flour.

BACK HOME

By Homer Box

Bugwaller-Policeman Shute is trying to start a union--Amalgamated Copper he calls it--but he's the town's only policeman. He wants Mayor Windfall to join, but Judge Worship says that would put the mayor on both sides. "He already is," Silas Krack says.

Worship is angry with Jude Snell. He made Snell the court-appointed lawyer for a man accused of burglary and advised him: "Give your client the best advice you can." When court reconvened, the defendant was nowhere to be found. Worship sought an explanation.

"Your honor," he said, "I found out he was guilty as hell so I told him to scram."

Snell successfully defended a burglar who tried to stick up Ludlow Swine. Ludlow yelled at him: "Things are tough around here. I haven't had one coin in my pocket all week." The burglar replied: "You think that's tough? I haven't been able to afford bullets for a month."

Snell also got Bimbo Og, Bozo's brother, off after he killed four neighbors. In his plea to the jury Snell said: "Members of the jury, my client was readin' his Bible when he heard some shootin' out in the field. It was them Jenkin boys and my client was afraid a stray bullet would hit one of his cows. He just picked up his rifle and dropped a few shots down that way and went back to reading his Bible. Next morning he went out there and found they was all gone but four."

Snell's a convincing talker.

'Mules Tale' Ended By MHS

On Sunday, September 18, 1966, the following story appeared on the front page of The Bailey County Journal:

Muleshoe Schools' own page, "The Mules Tale," is launched this week on Page 5 of this issue of the Bailey County Journal.

"Muleshoe's Tale" is compiled with the help of Superintendent Neal Dillman, High School Principal Tom Jinks, and Curriculum Coordinator Elizabeth Watson, not to mention the big help given by Wayland Ethridge, English teacher and faculty coordinator. Muletrain's annual staff serve as typists and copy readers. Larry Meyers is student editor. Mrs. Elizabeth Black, MHD art instructor, specially designed the mast head.

The page will appear in each Sunday Bailey Co. Journal, the staff to edit and publish with assistance of all concerned.

For the next 23 years, L. B. Hall, publisher of The Muleshoe Journal and Bailey County Journal, made the page available weekly to the MHS journalism students to use for high school news and pictures.

In the early 80's, Pat Black, then journalism instructor, elected to go every-other-week with the publication, but with the understanding that at any time they wanted to go back to a weekly basis, it was an option available to them.

During the entire 23 years, not only was the page provided completely free of charge to the school, but the annual staff was also provided all the pictures they wanted for the annual Muletrain. Again, at no charge.

On May 4, 1989, the final edition of the 1989-90 Mule's Tale appeared in The Muleshoe Journal.

At that time, it was not known that it would be the final 'Mule's Tale' ever to be printed.

This week, the following letter was received in The Journal offices:

Dear Media Personnel:
For the past several years, the school news for Muleshoe High School has been published in the Muleshoe Journal. The yearbook/newspaper staff members have been responsible for gathering the news and writing the articles. This has been an excellent way to promote our school, and we appreciate Larry Hall and his staff for their assistance. Beginning with the 1989-90 school year, however, we will institute changes in the publishing of the school news.

Contest...

Your response for the first contest was nothing short of 'terrific,' and apparently most of you are enjoying the added incentive of the MAC Buck tickets.

The first winners will have the opportunity to put their tickets in the drawing scheduled for this weekend, during the Bailey County West Plains Fair, and other winners will have lots of tickets to enter the gigantic Christmas Drawing in December.

One word of caution, be sure you fill out, or circle, all your predicted winners. One contestant failed to circle either of the two squares at the top of the contest page.

and one local TV station, we want to offer our news to each of the media. Our staff will be gathering information and preparing the news in an outline form. This news will then be available to all four media on the same day. It will be the responsibility of the media representative to take pictures if they are needed. If you wish to take pictures, students can usually be available from 8:10 to 8:25 AM, during the lunch period (12:20 to 1:00), or immediately after school at 3:45

P.M. We will set up picture appointments if you will let us know what you need and when you wish to come. We appreciate each of the media and your encouragement of our students and your publicity for Muleshoe High School. We look forward to working with each one of you during the 1989-90 school year.

Sincerely,

football field for kickoff at 8 p.m.

Tanksley also invited the Rotarians to a field day on Wednesday at the Gene Smith farm at Lazbuddie where 112 varieties of corn will be exhibited and discussed.

This includes 40 varieties of white corn and 28 varieties of yellow corn with white or pink cobs and the rest is field corn.

He said the field day will be conducted from 10 a.m.-noon.

He also said more than 20 seed companies will be represented.

The county agent went on to tell about the Field Day at the Halfway Experiment Station on September 12; a Computer Workshop Informational Seminar on September 14; and a Beef Cattle Seminar to be held in Muleshoe in October, with seven counties being represented.

The county agent said that cropwise, the future looks good at this time. Potentially, he said, the crops look good, but are late. "The weather needs to stay hot and dry now," he added.

According to the agent, some areas did not get any moisture, and some received more than enough.

Tanksley said vegetables and corn are very normal for this time of year, but said some corn has been hail-damaged, especially 8-10 miles north of Muleshoe, where a lot of the corn was hailed on. The moisture received was just right for grain sorghum, he said.

In other crop discussions, he said a representative from College Station was here last week, and was amazed at the diversity of crops in this area, but was told this was normal, that this area does not have many 'specialty' crops other than ones normally grown here.

He cited little soybeans and no sugar beets are being grown here this year.

Prices look good for some crops, and not very good on others, he said.

Regarding the disaster program, Tanksley said it is still being worked on in Washington, and won't be expected to be completed until two to three weeks from now at the earliest.

In conclusion, the county agent expressed his appreciation to the Muleshoe Rotary Club for their help with the fair each year.

President Terry Hutto discussed the Cow Pattie Bingo, and said it will begin in the northwest corner of the arena around 3:00 p.m. on Saturday.

He also said immediate past Rotary Lt. Governor J. D. Cage asked him to report the death of Rex Webster of Lubbock, a past Rotary International Vice President, who was well known to local Rotarians.

Winner of the Polio Plus drawing was Jerry Hicks.

Guests at the Tuesday meeting included W. G. Harlan, Regan Marshall and Mario Flores.

Deer Hunter Caution Issued On Lyme Disease

When Texas' half-million deer hunters take to the field this fall they should take precautions against the growing threat of Lyme disease, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Transmitted by several species of ticks, Lyme disease is a potentially crippling malady that is often misdiagnosed because of its variety of symptoms, officials said.

Anyone who ventures into grassy or brushy areas may be at risk, but deer hunters may be even more likely to be infected because of the amount of time they spend in the field and because white-tailed deer can be carriers of infected ticks.

Julie Rawlings, a microbiologist with the Texas Department of Health said approximately 50 cases have been reported in the state each year, but she believes the actual number of incidents is higher. "We have had sporadic reports from all over the state, although most of them have been from the North Central and Northeast regions," Rawlings said.

Rawlings said hunters in the popular Edwards Plateau of the state also should be aware of the danger because deer ticks that can carry the disease are sometimes found on white-tailed deer in that region.

Rawlings added that while nationally most reported cases have occurred in mid-summer, the variety of ticks known to carry the disease in Texas remain active through autumn.

The disease has been prevalent in parts of the nation with high deer populations. White-tailed deer populations have been at peak levels during the past several years in Texas.

Lyme disease so far has been most prevalent in the Northeastern United States, the Upper Midwest and along the northern California coast. Researchers say the list of areas reporting cases is growing annually.

The disease is caused by a corkscrew-shaped organism called a spirochete, hosted by ticks. When an infected tick attaches itself to a person or animal, the spirochete is transferred.

While the initial bite usually does not appear to be severe, later symptoms can include arthritis, heart arrhythmias, facial palsy, severe headaches and loss of sensation. Although the infection can be treated with antibiotics if caught early, permanent physical damage can result if untreated.

Persons venturing into likely tick areas should use any of a number of commercially-available tick repellents. Repellents containing the ingredient DEET are effective when sprayed on the skin. Products containing permethrin can be sprayed on pant and legs and socks. Pant legs can be tucked into long socks, and long-sleeved shirts tucked in at the waist also can provide some protection.

Washing and personal inspection can reduce the risk by eliminating ticks before they become attached. Use tweezers to remove attached ticks.

Dogs and cats that frequent tick-infested areas should be regularly treated for ticks.

Researchers say anyone experiencing the above symptoms should advise their physician of the possible exposure to the disease. For further information on Lyme disease, call Foy McCasland at the Texas Department of Health, (512) 458-7111.

Comptroller Says Laws Have Changed

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday that a new law provides sales tax exemptions to a variety of philanthropic and charitable groups, while allowing Texas to comply with a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

"The new law serves two purposes—it gives deserving groups a tax break, and it allows us to keep our sales tax laws intact," Bullock said.

Under the new law, which went into effect August 28, charitable, philanthropic and benevolent organizations may sell publications and other writings tax-free if the groups publish and distribute the printed material themselves.

Coin Collectors May Be Exempt From Sales Tax

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said that coin collectors and investors will have some extra change in their pockets beginning September 1 certain purchases became exempt from the state sales tax.

"Legislators brought back a tax exemption that's a lot like one they cut during the state's economic crunch in 1987," Bullock said. "The fact that they were able to bring it back is another welcome sign of a recovering economy."

The sales tax exemption includes the sale of gold, silver or collectible coins, or the sale of platinum, gold or silver bullion.

The total sales price must be at least $1,000 to qualify for the tax exemption.

"The tax break means that consumers could save up to eight percent in local and state taxes on their purchases," Bullock said.

The state sales tax rate is six percent and the local sales tax rate can be up to two percent.

The exemption does not include mounted coins used or sold as jewelry, Bullock said.

For more information, call the Comptroller's office toll free at 1-800-252-5555.

For example, if a local historical society sells cookbooks to raise funds, no tax is due on the books, as long as the society publishes and distributes the cookbooks, Bullock said.

Examples of other groups that fall under the exemption include the Junior League, college sororities and fraternities, the Rotary Club and Kiwanis Club and the Parent-Teacher Association.

Bullock said the legislation was passed after the Supreme Court ruled in February that Texas was unfairly exempting religious organizations from paying sales tax on periodicals and writings, since periodicals produced by other types of organizations were't excused.

The case against the state was brought by Texas Monthly magazine, which was refunded $160,285.30 in state sales tax after the Supreme Court upheld the magazine's argument.

Bullock said that extending the sales tax exemption to other groups will have no impact on the state revenue.

Florida State Keeps 'Edge' Over Clemson

It may not be much of a contest, but stranger upsets have happened in college football. Our Number Two team in 1988, the Miami Hurricanes, open their season on the road, playing the Badgers of Wisconsin in Madison. They met last year in Florida, Miami beating Wisconsin 23-3. The Hurricanes' only loss last season was a 31-30 hair-raiser to national champion Notre Dame in South Bend, and Miami went on to defeat Nebraska 23-3 in the Orange Bowl. Wisconsin, one of the have-nots in the Big Ten in recent years, posted a 1-10 record in 1988. So... it may not be much of a contest, but...

Last season's No. 4 team, West Virginia, was an offensive powerhouse averaging 43 points a game. It was undefeated during the regular season, finally losing to Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl 34-21. This week, the independent Mountaineers host Maryland of the Atlantic Coast Conference. West Virginia blew the Terps out of the stadium last year 55-24 and is favored again.

We ranked Florida State sixth in our final ratings for 1988. Clemson, 12th. In one of the feature games this week, the 10-1 Seminoles host the 9-2 Tigers. Florida State clipped Clemson during the regular season, 24-21, and also edged Auburn in the Sugar Bowl 13-7. The powerful Tigers beat Oklahoma in the Florida Citrus Bowl 13-6. The Seminoles are favored, but it'll be another close one.

Tennessee and U.C.L.A. last met in 1985, but it didn't prove a thing. The final score was 26-26. With the Uclans at home on the heels of a fine 9-2 season topped off by a 17-3 win over Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl, the Vols are definite underdogs. Tennessee was 5 and 6 in 1988.

Florida will nip Mississippi in a Southeast Conference square-off. Auburn will whip Pacific and Syracuse will beat Temple.

PEST MANAGEMENT UPDATE

Parmer-Bailey Counties

MIKE D. BLANTON
Extension Agent-Entomology

GRAIN SORGHUM

Headworms are the major concern in sorghum at this time. Fields left unchecked could sustain significant yield losses. The Bhea Community seems to be hit the hardest. Having the highest infestations reported. Field infestations average as high as 10 to 12 worms per head. My record so far in a single head is 22.

It is very simple to check for headworms. It also takes very little time. Just carry a bucket out into the field and beat several heads into the bucket. Count the number of worms dislodged from each head. Take the number of worms and divide by the number of heads checked. This will give the average number per head. With the infestations we are finding, I can not stress enough the importance of checking your fields for this pest.

Green bug populations in southern Bailey county are dropping due to parasitic wasp activity. Several fields have been reported as having up to 95 percent mummies. When more than 20 percent of the green bugs appear brown and swollen (mummies) from being parasitized, then application of an insecticide is not generally necessary.

COTTON

Aphid activity in cotton varies a great deal throughout Parmer and Bailey counties. A large percentage of fields in southern Bailey county have been treated for this pest. High infestations are very spotty in irrigated cotton, so be sure to scout for this pest.

Large numbers of bollworm eggs continue to be found in area fields. Pyrethroids generally last from 10-20 days; therefore, producers who have treated should scout their fields to ensure that the residual is taking care of this pest problem.

ARSENIC ACID SITUATION

[Taken from "Boll Notes," July 24, 1989]

Producers should make every effort to stay within the labeled rate (3 pints) or risk losing this valuable cotton desiccant. The Texas Department of Agriculture personnel will be making close checks to ensure that labeled rates are being followed.

Arsenic acid has again come under close scrutiny. A textile mill in the Southeast and one in Texas (New Braunfels) have encountered relatively high arsenic residue in waste water after washing raw cotton. This routine practice prepares the cotton for textile processing. Bales having high arsenic residue were identified as coming from Texas. Textile mill representatives indicate they will no longer use Texas cotton if this problem cannot be resolved. True, these are isolated cases and does not represent the majority of our stripper cotton, but these statements were serious enough to get our attention. The hard fact is that high arsenic residue in lint is usually associated with cotton that was desiccated at above label rates.

The maximum label rate of 3 pints per acre is adequate to ensure good desiccation but it will require more precision application to ensure good spray coverage. What's involved in getting good coverage with a ground rig? First, proper nozzle size and number of nozzles per row is important. Three nozzles per row using hollow cone has worked well for many producers. One nozzle positioned over the top with the other nozzles angled on each side of the plant. Secondly, coverage also can be improved by using a total spray output of 15 to 16 gallons per acre. Spray pressure must be adequate to penetrate the plant canopy. Such factors as plant size, row spacing and plant population must be considered to achieve good coverage.

A good yielding crop on a relative large size stalk should be prepared for harvest with two harvest aid treatments. First treat with a defoliant to drop leaves followed by a desiccation treatment. This practice helps

Public Invited

To Wildlife Meeting Monday

"You are invited to attend a Wildlife Management Conference on Monday, September 11, 1989, sponsored by the Cochran County Agricultural Committee at Morton," says Spencer Tankley, County Agent.

Key speakers from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and Texas Tech University will discuss income opportunities and habitat requirements for game birds. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the County Activities Building located one block south and one block west of the county courthouse in Morton.

This activity will work well as a multi-county meeting and will address the issues of Agricultural Profitability, Agricultural Diversification, or Land Utilization.

Speakers will be: Gene Miller, TP&W, Wildlife Opportunities, Habitat; Gary Self, TP&W, Hunting Laws and Regulations; and Stephen Demarais, Tech, Marketing Wildlife.

If you need additional information on this conference, please contact Sam Field, County Extension Agent, Cochran County (Phone 806/266-5215), 200-B West Taylor, Morton.

Everyone is invited to attend this meeting.

maintain high grade by reducing leaf trash. DEF-DROPP tank mix or a DROPP-Methyl combination has produced effective defoliation.

Adding a insecticide to defoliant will provide boll weevil control. Make sure you have obtained sufficient leaf drop before applying a desiccant. The two treatment approach also should be considered when preparing hairy type varieties for harvest. Frequently these varieties do not clean up well at the gin.

COMPUTERS IN AGRICULTURE MEETING

On Thursday, September 14 at 10 a.m., the Parmer-Bailey Pest Management Steering Committee will sponsor a "Computers in Agriculture" seminar. This meeting will be conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and will be held at the Muleshoe Civic Center Meeting Room in Muleshoe. Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Economist from Lubbock, will demonstrate several useful programs and will discuss possible future computer training seminars. The purpose of the meeting is to provide useful information for producers, regardless of their knowledge of and experience with computers. This meeting is open to all producers and agribusinessmen. Please contact my office at 481-3300 if you plan to attend.

Just a note to producers with cabbage still in the field. The experiment station in Lubbock is picking up extremely high numbers of Diamondback moths in their traps at this time.

There is nothing more beautiful than cheerfulness in an old face.

Local Student Will Study New Program

Brett Lawrence of Rt. 5, Muleshoe, is among 30 students accepted into Texas Christian University's Ranch Management Program for 1989-90.

The concentrated program was established in 1956 to fill a need felt by ranchers and other industry leaders for a practical professional study that would prepare men and women to profitably manage ranches and allied resources.

The program is directed by John L. Merrill, a graduate of Texas A&M and a member of a

Volunteers Plan 'Beach Buddy' Cleanup Program

About 100 Texas Parks and Wildlife Department volunteers will pick up litter on Matagorda Island's beach on Sept. 23 as part of the coastwide "Beach Buddy" cleanup program.

Officials said the cleanup campaign will result in cleaner and more attractive beaches, and also helps remove threats to fish and wildlife from ingestion of or entanglement with man-made debris.

The TPWD volunteers will pick up trash on a two-mile stretch of Matagorda Island adjacent to Matagorda Island State Park and Wildlife Management Area.

The Beach Buddies program sponsored by the Texas General Land Office and various conservation organizations will conduct similar cleanup operations.

North Central Texas ranching family. Past president of the International Society for Range Management, Merrill is a director of the National Cattlemen's Association, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association and Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show.

During a nine-month school term the Ranch Management Program provides intensive classroom instruction in basic management principles of land, grass, livestock, records, marketing and personnel that will apply anywhere. The 800 persons who have earned the Ranch Management certificate in the last 33 years have come from 35 states and 22 nations.

They combine their classroom studies with 9,000 miles of field trips through Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas to study operations of some 60 ranches, feedyards, markets, processors and research facilities.

Students selected for the year-long program must meet certain academic criteria, have had previous ranching experience and have undergone in-depth interviews assessing their motivation and potential in ranching.

B.J. CROWLEY'S HOROSCOPE

Week of September 4, 1989

LEO July 23 to Aug 22--Rearrange the furnishings in your home or office. New pictures on the wall and other minor changes can give you a new outlook.

VIRGO--July 23 to Aug. 22--Stay indoors as much as possible, especially this week during the hours when the temperature is high.

LIBRA--Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--If you feel you cannot trust an associate, keep it to yourself. You may be wrong in your assumption.

SCORPIO--Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--Be more conservative in your approach to the opposite sex. You may be coming on a little too strong. Let them do the pursuing.

SAGITTARIUS--Nov. 23 to Dec. 21--A late summer vacation could prove to be great fun. Good news concerning money matters can be expected very soon. A visit from relatives is also in the offing.

CAPRICORN--Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--Your patience wears thin as you become discontent with a person who seems to want to go everywhere you go.

AQUARIUS--Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--You gain nothing by trying to alienate your loved one against family members. Others are not a threat to you.

PISCES--Feb. 19 to March 20--Don't fret over someone who is playing underhanded games in business affairs in which you are involved. Their time for reckoning is very near.

ARIES--March 21 to April 20--Weight control for you can come about only by good planning. Cut down your intake of food if you are overweight. Lighter meals in the evening should help.

TAURUS--April 21 to May 20--A change of residence is indicated for you. For those who will not be moving, an increased interest in remodeling can be expected.

GEMINI--May 21 to June 20--An old love comes back into your life. Although there is still a great thrill, it is from a much more realistic approach.

CANCER--June 21 to July 22--Slow down. There is no reason for you to always feel rushed. Take time to smell the flowers, enjoy the sunrise and sunset.

The new official beamed, "Why?" he asked.

"Oh, you seem more like one of us."

Good Riddance Smart Aleck Tourist: "What's your speed limit here?"
