10th Annual Winter Ag Meeting Set

The Tenth Annual Bailey County Winter Agricultural Conference, so-sponsored by Bailey County Extension Service Crops Committee and Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District, will be held on Monday, January 8, at the Bailey County Coliseum in Muleshoe, reports Spencer Tanksley, CEA-AG.

The meeting will begin with registration and coffee at 8 a.m. At 8:30 a.m., Danny Noble, County Executive Director of the Muleshoe ASCS office will discuss the 1990 Farm Program and 1989 Disaster Program.

Other topics to be discussed during the day will be the 1990 Farm Loan Program and Restructuring Farm Loans, the 1985 Conservation Compliance and New Water Meter, Wildlife Management, Specialty Crops As An Income Alternative, Ag Chemical Update, Water Quality and Soil Moisture Survey.

A highlight of the program will be a presentation by Dr. Ed Smith from College Station. He will discuss the proposed 1990-95 Farm Bill Issues and Ag Policy, and give his views and opinions on this farm bill to be developed.

"We feel," Tanksley said, "that there will be some valuable information given on the program which should interest our farmers and agri-business people."

All educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin, said the county agent. Therefore, he concluded, everyone is invited to make plans for attending the Tenth Annual Bailey County Winter Agricultural Conference on January 8.

Lazbuddie EMS Plans Emergency Care Classes

The Lazbuddie EMS will conduct an Emergency Care Attendant (ECA) class, starting Wednesday, January 10 at 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

The ECA class incorporates basic life-sustaining measures that members of the general public should learn in order to recognize the many hazards encountered during their daily activities, said Connie Barnes, president of the Lazbuddie EMS.

This training includes CPR and "hands-on" skills sessions.

If you have questions concerning this class, contact Connie Barnes at 965-2623 or 965-2118 after 5; Cheryl Weaver at 965-2784 after 3 p.m. or Robert Smith at 965-2813 or 965-2330.

Cost for the 40-hour class will be $75, which includes the instruction book.

Several Candidates In Primary Election

Tuesday evening, Bailey County Democratic Chairman Hazel Gilbreath said three races will be contested in the March Democratic primaries.

Incumbent Bailey County Judge Jim Watson drew three opponents in his bid for re-election following his first year as judge.

Democrats Marilyn Cox and Robert R. Alanis both filed for judge; along with James Warren on the Republican ticket.

Republican County Chairman Charles Bratcher said Warren would be the only Republican on the county ticket for the elections this year. He will face the Democratic candidate chosen in March.

As incumbent County Commissioner, Precinct Four, Rudolph Moraw decided to retire, four political newcomers are seeking election to the Commissioner post.

Candidates include Jodie Barrett, Terry Sowder, Alfonso 'Pancho' Posadas and Bennie Claunch.

The other contested race is that of Commissioner, Precinct Two. Incumbent Don Seales will be facing C. E. Grant, Jr. in that race.

Mrs. Gilbreath said incumbents District Clerk Nelda Merriott; County Clerk Barbara McCamish; Treasurer Dorothy Turner and Precinct Four Justice of the Peace Jack Bates, are all unopposed.

Jack Young, 287th District Judge, filed his candidacy in Austin.

A slate of state candidates has not been compiled at presstime, and will be released as soon as possible.

Market Prices Will Weaken, Says Economist

Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension Service economist in cotton marketing, said in mid-December that larger supplies of cotton, corn, sorghum, wheat, rice and soybeans in 1990 are expected to weaken market prices.

Anderson said the long-term outlook is for no letup in the downward pressure on farm prices. Caught in the price squeeze, crop farmers are very dependent upon government programs to provide a safety net under income.

Looking back over 1989, Texas farmers and ranchers are closing out a rather good year even though net income is running somewhat below the $3.67 billion in 1988 and the record $3.77 billion in 1987.

While 1989 prices were more favorable, expenses were up and government payments were smaller.

The bright spot in agriculture is renewed export growth. With improved economic factors and competitive prices, overseas shipments have climbed since 1986.

In the 1990s, foreign demand for U.S. farm products should grow in response to expansion in international markets resulting from economic and population growth.

Sheriff Shows Drug Video For Rotary

Rotarian Jerry Hicks presented a "video for parents," Tuesday at the noon meeting of the Muleshoe Rotary Club. Sheriff Hicks showed a video, made partially by former drug abusers, and included tips on how parents can spot drug use.

According to the moderator, the young person on drugs goes through four phases, including: 1. No Use; 2. Experimentation; 3. Regular Use; and 4. Chemical Dependency (the user is addicted.)

He cited that the use of 'gateway drugs' is common. The so-called 'gateway drugs' are the first to be experimented with and include tobacco, alcohol, or marijuana.

According to the moderator, the use does not make all kids addicts, but most users began with the use of one to all three of the gateway drugs, often influenced by home behavior by their parents.

"Parents are the role models for their children," said the speaker, "and the child often thinks that what's good for their parents is good for them."

One young former drug user said, "Our parents need to show us they care. It's a fine line between caring and being paranoid and accusing."

Another commented, "If you love me, you'll tell me when I'm wrong."

One of the speakers said, "Parents make it harder to be a kid today, than ever."

Three suggestions were given: Strengthen Family Bonds; Resist Peer Pressure; and Have a Family Policy on Drug Use.

President Terry Hutto reminded members that the officer election will be next week. A slate of proposed officers will be presented by the nominating committee, consisting of Scott Campbell, Tom Bonds, Max King and Ted Barnhill.

He also again reminded members of the Rotary meeting scheduled April 20-22 at the Inn of the Mountain Gods near Ruidoso, and said advance registration needed to be made by mid-January. He asked that 20 percent of the members sign up to go.

Howard Watson was winner of the Polio Plus drawing this week. Visitors included Duane K. Castleberry, R. Kirk Franklin, Curtis L. Tindall, Lance King, Kevin King, Herb Parks, Judd Jenkins, Julie Cage, Fred Ivy and Judy Watson.

Computer Classes Will Be Held At Junior High

Muleshoe ISD is offering a computer course beginning January 9 and ending February 1. The course will be in the Watson Junior High Computer Lab and classes will be on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30-8:30 p.m.

Bobby Turner will be the instructor and the fee will be $40 for eight two-hour sessions, plus lab time, if needed.

If interested in this beginning course, please call Elizabeth Watson's office (306) 272-3325 to register.

is a state mandatory exam given to determine whether or not Texas students are mastering basic minimum skills in math and English language arts.

The exit level TEAMS is given to juniors in October of each year. By law, a student must pass both the mathematics and English components of the test before he is awarded a high school diploma. If a junior fails the test in October, he or she is given three chances to pass the exam before graduation the following year. However, all of the Lazbuddie Juniors passed the October exam the first time.

Lazbuddie High School is one of very few schools in the entire state whose students achieved 100 percent mastery on both sections of the TEAMS. In fact, the preliminary results showed that only 77 percent of the juniors statewide passed the test.

Lazbuddie administrators, Anne Farris, who is the elementary principal, high school counselor, and standardized test coordinator; and high school principal, Roy Willingham, praised student and faculty efforts.

"High academic achievement and quality instructional programs are some of our goals at Lazbuddie ISD and 100 percent mastery on the TEAMS is evidence of strong commitment on the part of the faculty and students. "Lazbuddie ISD has made a dedicated effort to encourage excellence in all areas of its curriculum. The school offers higher level mathematics, history, science and English courses to high school students who wish to achieve honors credit. However, the emphasis on high academic achievement has a positive influence on all students on all levels.

"Writing skills are taught very early in elementary school. Lazbuddie's elementary and secondary teachers willingly attend writing workshops each year, and TEAMS scores from elementary through high school have risen dramatically over the past four years," they said.

Lazbuddie's administrators credit the higher academic achievements to a dedicated faculty, goal-oriented students, and supportive parents, along with administrative efforts to cooperate with, and surpass state goals for improving the quality of education in Texas schools.

SPC Registration Continuing Till January 11

Registration to attend the South Plains College Division of Continuing Education in Muleshoe got underway Tuesday, January 2. Registration will continue through January 11, 9 a.m.-4 p.m. in the office of the assistant superintendent of instruction in the MISD administration building in Muleshoe.

Kay Graves Wins Bowl Games Contest

Just call her "lucky." Kay Graves, who is always a consistent winner in the annual football contest, found herself the winner of the $50 grand prize following all the 'Bowl' games that started in mid-December, and were finished on January 1.

Mrs. Graves missed only three games to take first place without having to resort to the tie breakers to determine the winner.

We won't discuss how many games her husband, or her daughter, missed in the final contest.

Missing four games were Bill James, Donnie McDonald, J. E. McVicker, and last year's bowl game winner, Peggie Hicks.

We also won't discuss how many her husband or son missed, either.

Missing five games were Jody Winders and Keith Hicks.

That's all, folks! At least, for this football season. We're hangin' it all up until the fall, when we'll start all over again. Thanks again for your interest, your entries, and your support.

WIC-Farmers Market Program successful

(AUSTIN)—The first year of the Women-Infants-Children Farmers Market Coupon program has been a rousing success, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said here.

"We had an inkling, based upon the results of the pilot project conducted in San Antonio last year, that Texas farmers and low-income mothers were ready for a program that brought them together through the Texas Department of Agriculture's farmers market network. But we had no idea that the response would be so enthusiastic.

"Statewide this year, there was an 84 percent participation rate by the 57,000 eligible WIC clients, low-income women who purchased nearly $750,000 worth of fresh, wholesome, nutritious Texas fruits and vegetables using special coupons paid for by matching federal and state funds to supplement their standard allotment," Hightower said.

Del Rio had the highest redemption rate at over 92 percent, followed by Sherman, with just under 92 percent, and Paris with 91 percent. El Paso had an 85 percent redemption rate.

"The WIC-Farmers Market Coupon Program resulted in tens of thousands of low-income Texans being able to supplement their diets with nutritious, farm-fresh Texas produce, while hundreds of Texas family farmers were also able to bring home good, hard cash money that these coupons provided for their labor," Hightower said. "WIC clients and their families this past year have been responsible for more than $1 million in new sales at participating Texas farmers markets, when the value of the redeemed coupons is added to the additional purchases made with cash and food stamps by these families. Over two-thirds of the WIC clients surveyed last year said they would continue to shop at the farmers markets even without additional coupons.

"We've brought family farmers and low-income Texans together in a mutually beneficial relationship. This is the start of a beautiful friendship," Hightower said.

The WIC Farmers Market Coupon Program is the result of the 1988 Farmers Market Nutrition Act, sponsored by the late Congressman Mickey Leland. Texas was one of 10 states chosen to receive the federal funding for three years. The federal appropriation is supplemented by state funds, as provided by a bill sponsored by State Senator Hugh Parmer of Fort Worth and State Representative Dick Waterfield of Canadian.

During its first year of operation, the program served WIC clients in Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corsicana, Del Rio, El Paso, Hillsboro, Lufkin, Paris, San Antonio and Sherman. It was administered as a joint project of the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Texas Department of Health.

In a similar program administered by TDA and the Texas Department of Aging, low-income, senior citizens in Beaumont, Stephenville and Corsicana also received coupons for redemption at local farmers markets. Those three markets reported 90 percent redemption rates and an enthusiastic response from senior citizen participants.

Not many people are as smart as they think they are.

Hello, 1990!

Americans this January have many reasons to look with hope to the new year, the first of the nineties, last decade of the 20th century.

From the moral viewpoint, the mood in most of the world is one of relaxed positive movement toward a more secure peace and democratic freedoms; the year is likely to produce watershed agreements between communist powers and western democracies.

From the economic viewpoint, the outlook is less optimistic, relatively. The majority of economists see no recession (though some do) but only slow growth. The country, however, has enjoyed seven years of unprecedented economic expansion, for which all can be thankful.

From the defense and national security viewpoint, a relaxation of tension and the greater degree of freedom and democracy in formerly hardline communist nations obviously means a reduced chance of military conflict and confrontation.

That, in turn, means the federal budget will benefit from lowered military spending; the deficit will be easier to reduce.

Hanging over this optimistic world outlook for 1990 is a troubled situation in Panama, Nicaragua and El Salvador in Central America. This region must be the area in which real progress is relentlessly sought in 1990.

Clouding the domestic outlook as the year begins is the nation's scandalous drug problem, too much hunger, poverty and poor health care. It is in this area, the social agenda, that Americans must seek more and faster progress in 1990 and the years ahead—which can, hopefully, be more easily achieved as military spending declines.

LOUISA

Dear Louisa,

Each year I spend days getting my house ready for the season. We put up the old decorations and gather berries out of the yard.

One of my neighbors thinks we are very foolish to all of this trouble but we think she is foolish to forget the traditions of family celebrations.

We have a large family--all of the children live in other towns but they never fail to come home for Christmas and bring the grandchildren. It is always a wonderful occasion. The girls all help with the work and the men do their part, also. They bring ham, cake and other things and I always cook the turkey. We have simple gifts under the tree and it is a time of the year that we all look forward to.

It is a let-down, afterwards, when they have all gone back to their homes. The tree has to be taken down and the decorations packed away. But we think what

WIC Farmers March, Nail Program Support Marriage

(AUSTIN)—The Women-Infants-Market Coffee bride of Amos Nail in rousing afternoon ceremony Saturday, Nov. 25 in the New Covenant Church. The Rev. Jimmy Low read the double ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Cleta Robertson of Muleshoe and Janie and Travis Nail of Lazbuddie.

Musical selections were provided by Doug and Anita Taylor of Earth.

Marriage vows were exchanged before a brass arch with brass spiral candelabras placed on either side. The arch and candelabras were accented with large pink bows and white tapers. The unity candle was placed to the couple's right.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Virgil Obenhaus, the bride chose a blue denim skirt and a white long sleeved blouse accented by a lace collar and lace around the sleeves. She completed her attire with white accessories.

Her cascading bridal bouquet consisted of pink, lavender and white mixed flowers, accented with long streamers in the same shades.

Zanea Kelley, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Tere' Cheshire of Lubbock, and Candal Obenhaus, cousin of the bride, of Muleshoe. They wore blue denim skirts and lavender blouses featuring a crewel neckline.

Jerry Deleon of Earth served as best man. Groomsmen were Leonard Nail, uncle of the groom, and Doug Taylor of Earth.

Guests were registered by Sandra Nail. The registry table was covered with a white lace table cloth and accented with a floral arrangement in shades of pink and lavender.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church. The bride's table was covered with a white lace table cloth over pink and accented with a floral arrangement in shades of pink. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a bride and groom figurine, and accented with clusters of lavender and pink flowers.

Members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Albertson.

WITH THE HELP OF MANY TIMESAVING APPLIANCES, quick and healthful breakfast items can be easy to prepare. Pancake batters, like these tasty oatmeal pancakes, can be made easily in a blender. Once mixed, pour the batter directly from the blender container to the griddle or waffle maker. It is a simple two-step process that can make cleanup a breeze.

Oatmeal pancakes: A quick and easy breakfast treat

For years, nutrition experts have told us that breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Yet, most people grab breakfast on the run or simply skip it altogether.

With the help of many timesaving appliances, quick and healthful breakfast items can be easy to prepare. For instance, a vitamin-rich fruit shake can be the perfect morning energy booster. Or, a bowl of cereal and a glass of fresh-squeezed orange juice can be a quick and easy way to start the day right.

Waffle and pancake batters can be made easily in a blender. Once mixed, pour the batter directly from the blender container to the griddle or waffle maker. It is a simple two-step process that can make cleanup a breeze.

Here's a healthful oatmeal pancake recipe prepared by the professional home economists at Oster. Top the pancakes with fresh fruit or a light drizzle of honey...why not give this recipe a try?

SPEEDY OATMEAL PANCAKES

- 1 1/2 cups oatmeal
- 3/4 cup skim milk
- 2 egg whites
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Assemble Osterizer blender. To make oat flour, put oatmeal into blender container. Cover and process at a medium-high speed until the consistency of all-purpose flour. Remove from container.

Place all other ingredients into blender container. Add oat flour. Cover and process at a high speed until smooth. Allow to stand for 5 minutes before using.

Pour onto preheated, lightly greased griddle. Cook over medium high heat until browned, turning once.

Yield: Eight 4-inch pancakes.

Creative Living

by: Sheryl Borden

Information on salt in the diet and the importance of beginning the day with a good breakfast will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, January 9 at 12 noon and Saturday, January 13 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Dr. Armand Brodeur serves as a medical consultant to Armour Lower Salt and will discuss ways to lower the salt and sodium in the diet. Dr. Brodeur is from St. Louis, MO.

Marilyn Wilkinson represents the United Dairy Assn. and will show some quick and easy breakfast recipes that can be made ahead of time and refrigerated. Many of these recipes are easy to take along for those rushed mornings. Marilyn is from Rosemont, IL.

On Tuesday, January 9 at 9:30 p.m. and repeated on Thursday January 11 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on liquid embroidery, "Backyard Buddies", and image improvement.

Lucille Romanello represents Tri-Chem, Inc. in Harrison, NJ and will show the supplies needed to make items using liquid embroidery. Lucille will also discuss special painting techniques and show several items already painted.

"Backyard Buddies" is a wonderful collection of animals and birds with remarkably human qualities. Diane Creston will introduce Ardy and his backyard buddies who share a love of people and the virtues of honesty, sharing and care of the environment. Diane is with Crston & Associates in New York.

Joanne Wallace, founder of Image Improvement, Inc. in Salem, OR, will talk about verbal and non-verbal communication. Joanne presents seminars all over the country on improving self image and the importance of inner beauty.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver CO. Viewers can request copies of materials offered on the show by sending one 25 cent stamp for each handout requested. Send the stamps, along with your name, address and booklets requested to:

A Garden Hint

The inquisitive woman was worrying the gardner. She asked a lot of silly questions.

"What steps do you take with the caterpillars?" she asked next.

"Well, mum," said the exasperated gardner. I take half a dozen steps into our nearest field and turn the caterpillars round three times to that they gets giddy and don't know their way back."

TOWNSITE SALE FOR LARIAT WILL START THIS MONTH

According to information received by The Journal last Saturday, plans are almost completed for the sale of lots, both business and residence, at Lariat, sixteen miles northwest of Muleshoe.

Nine blocks will be offered for sale within the next month, those having been surveyed at this time. The property belongs to E.J. Warren and Son and is in a rich farming section, which is served by the Santa Fe railroad. At present time there are some five or six stores and two large elevators at Lariat. Some of these on leased property but all persons now using these lots will be given preference in buying.

GOOD CROPS RAISED ON LOW RAINFALL DURING 1939

Citizens of this area may have surprise registered in their minds when they learn they raised such good crops last year on such small rainfall; but such is typical of this section of the state where apparently precipitation last longer and is more readily available for crop production.

Total rainfall here for last year, according to figures presented by Judge R.J. Klump, keeper of the government weather station in Muleshoe was only 14.05 inches against 20.02 inches in 1938 and 19.09 inches for 1937.

HUGE SNOW STORM SLOWS TRAFFIC

Muleshoe, along with much of the Panhandle and South Plains rocked under a snow storm which deposited more than four inches of snow Sunday and Monday. Traffic slowed to a crawl, or stopped completely, with wheels spinning futilely at curbs.

Seven to ten foot snow drifts were reported in the West Camp community, with the deepest snow near the New Mexico line.

JUST DESSERTS

BAKING PAN

9 x 1 1/2- or 9 x 2-inch round layer-cake pan

There are some people who seem to have a natural aptitude for dessert-making. This is surely a useful talent. Even if one doesn't wish to seek a job as a pastry chef in an expensive restaurant, being skillful at making desserts frequently comes in handy: A wonderful dessert can add the perfect finishing touch to a dinner party (or help to erase memories of a main course that didn't work as well as planned!) or be the star of a tea party or a dessert-and-coffee buffet.

Desserts also make great gifts, even for those people who seem to have everything, and can be wonderfully soothing presents for cranky children or adults who are feeling a bit under-the-weather for whatever reason. Most people, however, find that dessert-making can sometimes be difficult and frustrating. Chocolate chip cookies are easily mastered, but more complicated treats never quite turn out as expected. After a few dry cakes, fallen souffles, cracked cheesecakes, lumpy mousses, chocolate that won't melt, and other disasters, it seems easier just to pick up something from the bakery than to try again.

But help is available, even for the most hopeless dessert-makers. The Dessert Lover's Cookbook, by Marlene Sorosky (Harper & Row), which was first published in 1985, is now available in paperback. Any dessert lover who doesn't already own this volume should quickly buy or borrow it, for it includes step-by-step instructions (often illustrated with color photographs) and advice on everything from basic techniques to complicated and creative embellishments.

APRICOT UPSIDE-DOWN GINGER CAKE

- 3 tablespoons plus 4 tablespoons unsalted butter, at room temperature
- 1/3 cup golden brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 can (1 pound, 14 ounces) apricot halves, drained and patted dry on paper towels
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 large egg, at room temperature
- 1/2 cup light molasses
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Maraschino or candied cherries cut in half for garnishing (optional)
- 1 cup lightly whipped cream OR vanilla ice cream for serving (optional)

Preheat oven to 325°. Place 3 tablespoons butter in cake pan. Place in oven until melted. Remove pan from oven, swirl butter to coat pan, and immediately sprinkle brown sugar evenly over bottom of pan. Arrange apricot halves outside down in single layer over the brown sugar.

Beat together 4 tablespoons butter and granulated sugar in medium-size bowl with an electric mixer on high speed until creamy. Beat in egg, molasses and milk until well blended. Stir together flour, baking soda, cinnamon, ginger and salt in medium-size bowl. Beat into batter on low speed, mixing until incorporated. Spoon evenly over the apricots. The cake may be held at room temperature up to 1 hour before baking, if desired.

Bake in the 325° oven for 60 minutes or until cake tester inserted near center comes out clean. Remove from oven and immediately turn out onto serving platter. Garnish the center of each apricot with a cherry half, if desired. Serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream, if desired.

Serves 8.

TDAS Organics Certifies 100th Producer

Cambodian Gardens Inc. of Tomball, an 18-acre farm that raises Asian vegetables, is the 100th producer to be approved for the Texas Department of Agriculture's Organic Certification Program, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower announced today.

The approval means that Cambodian Gardens has met stringent state requirements that now qualify the business to use TDA's special yellow and green "Certified Organic" logo to market its produce. A copy of the certificate will be officially presented to company president Yani Rose Keo by TDA Coastal Bend District Director Lacy Fryer at a ceremony at the farm site early next year.

Located north of Houston, Cambodian Gardens is a non-profit farm operation that gives Cambodian refugees an opportunity to use their existing skills to make a living in their new home. About 10 Cambodians work the farm that produces such value-added crops as lemon-grass, bitter melon, water spinach, long beans, Thai peppers and various mints. All of the produce is sold to Houston-area grocery stores.

According to the Population Reference Bureau, Texas has an Asian-American population which will more than double from 300,000 to 700,000 by the year 2000.

"Certification of the 100th organic farm represents a true milestone in TDA's effort to diversify the state's farm production while providing consumers with safer food that has no negative effect on the environment," Hightower said. "This time one year ago, there were fewer than 20 certified Texas organic producers -- now we have five times that many. By the end of 1990, we expect to have about 250 Certified Organic producers in Texas to meet growing consumer demands."

"A survey released by the Texas Poll back in September confirms the potential of the organic market, with 57 percent of the Texans surveyed saying they are willing to pay more for organic foods. Texas farmers and ranchers are changing their production practices to fill this

1987 Census Shows Farms Decreasing

The 1987 Census of Agriculture shows that the United States had 2,087,759 farms in 1987, a decline of seven percent from 1982. The number with sales of $10,000 or more totaled 1,059,573 or 51 percent of the farms.

Between the 1982 and 1987 censuses, the number of farms with sales of $10,000 or more also declined seven percent. The Census Bureau defines a farm as any place which sold or normally would have sold $1,000 or more of agricultural products during the census year.

The 1987 census shows that the U.S. agricultural sales totaled $136 billion. Farms with sales of $10,000 or more accounted for about $132.6 billion of the sales. Livestock, poultry, and their products accounted for $77 billion or 57 percent of 1987 sales. Crops, including nursery and greenhouse products, accounted for $59 billion or 43 percent.

Some 295,721 farms (14 percent) had sales of $100,000 or more, accounting for 76 percent of total agricultural sales. About 10 percent had sales of $50,000 to $99,999, while 11 percent had sales of $25,000 to $49,999. Sixteen percent had sales of $10,000 to $24,999 and 49 percent had sales of less than $10,000.

Production expenditures for the country's agricultural operations came to $108 billion. Agricultural operators spent 13 percent less for commercial fertilizers, 10 percent more for agricultural chemicals, and 29 percent more for hired farm labor than they did in 1982. They spent three percent more for livestock and poultry feed.

special niche in the consumer market.

TDA CERTIFIES 100TH PRODUCER

"High producer interest was apparent last month when TDA's first Organic Growers Conference in Tyler attracted 100 producers wanting to learn about growing food without using synthetic chemicals. Similar conferences will be held in other parts of the state," Hightower said.

Texas is one of two states that actually certify farms and ranches that produce organic food. To be approved for TDA's Organic Certification Program, a Texas farm or ranch must be free of synthetic pesticides for at least three years and free of synthetic fertilizers for at least two years.

Since the organic certification program was launched less than two years ago, TDA has certified farms producing a variety of crops. Other approved farms and ranches include:

- Crawford Farms of Muleshoe, a 400-acre organic corn farm;
- S.M. Jacobson's Citrus of Mission, a five-acre organic citrus grove;
- J&J Organic Produce of Mansfield, eight acres of organic mixed vegetables; and,
- P Bar Two Farms in Coupland, a two-acre farm of mixed vegetables.

Other organically grown Texas products include broccoli, carrots, pecans, and peaches, whole grains, citrus, tomatoes, and leafy greens.

Additionally, TDA has certified three food processors, seven wholesale distributors and 17 retailers, including Sun Harvest Fresh Plus, Simon David and Whole Foods, to market Texas "Certified Organic" products. TDA Organic Certification specialist Keith Jones said an additional 22 Texas producers have been approved for "Transitional Organic" Certification, meaning they are converting their farming practices to organic production methods but are not yet in full compliance with all TDA standards.

Organic standards currently are being reviewed by a 10-member advisory committee to ensure that Texas remains a pacesetter and to provide the best guidelines while Congress continues to develop national legislation.

More information about the Certified Organic program is available by calling 512/463-7602 or by writing Certified Organic Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, TX 78711.

Area Delegates To Attend Conference

Twenty-three voting delegates from Texas, including Texas Farm Bureau President S. M. True, will participate in the 71st annual American Farm Bureau Federation convention in Orlando, Fla., January 7-11.

The TFB delegation will be representing 327,589 member families when they vote on national policies which will impact the more than 3.8 million member families in 50 states and Puerto Rico during 1990.

Those 23 Texas delegates include True; TFB Vice President Don Smith of Sulphur Springs; TFB Secretary-Treasurer Gerald Clark of Edna; and State Directors Aubrey Rasor of Gruver and Leland White of Tahoka.

Other delegates include State Directors C. H. Dowdy of Wichita Falls, Billie Ray Huddleston of Celina, Bill Tullos of San Angelo and Bob Turner of Voss.

The delegation also includes State Directors Harlan Huffman of McGregor, Russ Arnold of Trinity, Tommy C. Walker of Uvalde, Bob Stallman of Columbus, and Steven Bearden of Harlingen.

The other delegates are Doyle Chadwick of Timpson, John Earl Smith (former state director) of Quemado, Loy Sneyard of Bay City, Lawrence Muehr of Hallettsville, Paul McDaniel of Weslaco; C. E. Williams of Panhandle, Mark Williams of Farwell, Jerry Brandon of Quanah and Joe Kapavik of Lancaster.

The 16 commodity committee chairmen and the state YF&R chairman, Pat McDowell of Shamrock, will serve as alternate delegates to the convention.

National recommendations as adopted by state Farm Bureaus, including those from Texas, will be voted upon by the 311 voting delegates at the convention.

Key speakers for the convention will be USDA Secretary Clayton Yeutter, on Jan. 8; Elizabeth Warren Forte, national agri-science ambassador to NASA, Jan. 9; and Og Mandino, retired magazine president and editor and noted sales executive, Jan. 9.

Among the key proposals to be considered by the delegates will be the 1990 Farm Bill, taxes, food safety, pesticides and water quality. There will be several conferences on the afternoons of Jan. 8-9. The Jan. 8 livestock conference will focus on animal welfare issues and current U.S./European Community meat trade disputes.

Speakers for that conference will include Alan Middaugh, president of the U. S. Meat Export Federation, and Richard Simmons, a British farmer and member of the British Parliament.

The dairy conference will focus on biotechnology, especially BST

(bovine somatotropin). Dr. Joe Conlin, the University of Minnesota dairy specialist, and Dr. Harold Harris, Clemson University agricultural economist, will be the speakers.

There will be one conference devoted to integrated pest management and its emerging technologies.

The other conferences will include leadership development, horticulture, peanuts, health care economics, agriculture and the environmental movement, and local governmental affairs.

'Country Crafted Texas' features rural artisans

(AUSTIN)--"Small town Texans with big talents--talents that can and have put some badly-needed cash dollars into rural communities--are encouraged to participate in the Texas Department of Agriculture's 'Country Crafted Texas' program." Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower announced.

The program was implemented by TDA in 1987 to help rural artisans earn additional income.

"It's time we let our urban cousins in on what most rural Texans already know--that country kitchens and barnyard workshops across the state are turning out a wide range of beautiful, handmade craft items," Hightower said. "Not only do Texas artisans produce quality quilts, shawls and wood carvings, but such unique items as handmade dulcimers, custom boots, barbed wire earrings and old-fashioned furniture.

"Increased exposure leads to increased sales for rural craft makers who lack substantial promotional budgets and who have not previously had access to urban markets. While crafts have been produced in rural areas for a long time, they have been made primarily for local markets, limiting the growth potential of crafts as a rural industry in Texas."

"TDA does not serve as a sales representative for participating artisans. Each artisan maintains his or her financial independence and is free to make individual arrangements with wholesale and retail buyers. The project serves as a new marketing channel through which urban buyers can contact rural producers directly," Country Crafted Coordinator Landa Aguirre said.

"To qualify for a listing in the directory, each artist or artisan must live and work in an area of under 25,000 population and must produce original work. No items made from commercial kits are permitted. Beyond that, the program is open to diverse artisans," Aguirre said.
