City Police Alarmed Over Traffic Accident Increase

Firm's Trucks Involved in 14 Road Deaths

Chief Orders Fast Crackdown Prior to School Opening

Faced with an "alarming increase" in traffic accidents almost twice the average number within the city limits, Chief of Police Frank Powell today proclaimed an immediate drastic crackdown on violators.

"There have been 53 within-the-city traffic accidents during the month of July," Chief Powell said. "Of these, 30 were the result of negligent drivers who were not driving with care. The remainder were the result of carelessness and thoughtlessness on the part of drivers. Chief Powell said he expected the situation to become more serious as the fall season approaches.

"The situation is intolerable and corrective drive is starting at once to restore Artesia's usual driving at the rate accidents are happening now, the city won't be a member of the National Safety Council."

Most of the accidents, the reports show, are happening on Main Street. Although there have been some in other sections of the city.

School Lunch Cafeterias to Open Monday

All Artesia school district cafeterias will be open Monday at the start of the new school year, with the exception of the junior high school's lunchroom which is not yet completed.

Jean Stone, school attendance counselor, said today that only the free lunch program would be in effect on the first day of school. Stone said that applications for the free lunch program would be available with each teacher. Children desiring aid in the free lunch program can pick up their applications.

EVA ENVIES TIGER'S FUR COAT—Eva Valquez, bareback jockey in the Gil G. Gray Shrine circus production spectacle, "Derby Day," enviously eyes the fur coat of another performer as she wonders if her own costume will be warm enough for local weather when she comes to Artesia Thursday and Friday, Sept. 1 and 2, for afternoon and night performances, at Municipal Park. She is shown with "India," the tiger that walks like a man, featured in another of the 46 acts of the Shrine circus to be presented twice daily at 2:30 and 8:15 p.m.

Artesians Asked To Come To Aid Of Ravaged East

Artesians who remember the damaging effects of last October's floods here today are being asked to aid in the relief of the disaster-ravaged northeast states.

Hollis G. Watson, North Eddy County chapter chairman for the American Red Cross, said this morning that Artesia has been given a small quota to reach in the general nationwide appeal by the ARC for special flood rehabilitation funds.

"This will give Artesians a chance to reciprocate for the aid given here during our own flood last fall," Watson said. He added that the national Red Cross organization diverted over $5,500 to Artesia's aid plus the funds spent by the local chapter.

E Roland Harriman, Midwest Headquarters chairman for the Red Cross told Watson in a telegram this morning:

"Needs continue to grow in the disaster affected areas. The estimated number of families who will register with the Red Cross for rehabilitation assistance exceeds 10,000,000."

$900 Million Made Available For Flood Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six Northeastern states, struggling to rebuild flood-wrecked towns and factories, have been given another hefty lift from a sympathetic federal government.

President Eisenhower yesterday made available up to $900 million for loans to reconstruct, repair or replace defense industries. A preliminary estimate by the Army Engineers set damage at $1,600,000,000 in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Lt. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, chief of engineers, made a personal reconnaissance of the stricken area. He spoke of "appalling" loss of life and "utter destruction." He forecast "one of the biggest, toughest rehabilitation jobs since the one Noah faced the great flood of biblical days."

Safety Council Says 'Thanks' For Roadblocks

A letter thanking Artesia for its "road blocks for safety" event recently was received today by Chief of Police Frank Powell from Frank P. Martin, advisor for the New Mexico Traffic Safety Council.

"This is to convey sincere thanks for your participation in the road blocks program and to express appreciation for your splendid cooperation," the letter said.

The road blocks were set up twice in Artesia streets last Saturday and 500 safety notices were handed to motorists. The notices, with the theme, "Don't Drive yourself to Death," were prepared by the New Mexico council and were distributed through cooperation of the police and the Eddy County Traffic Safety Council.

Midnight Stabbing Sends One to Jail, One to Hospital

A stabbing affray in the yard of a house in the 400 block on Bush ave. shortly before last midnight sent one man to Artesia General hospital with badly slashed arms and another to the city jail.

The man injured, Early Ross, about 60, was discharged from the hospital today after his cut had been sewed up. In jail was Charles Cunningham, 43, of E. Chisum ave., a filling station attendant.

According to the story told by Cunningham, he went to the Bush ave. residence where Ross' estranged wife lives, to "get an electric fan they'd borrowed." While standing outside talking to the woman, Cunningham said, he was struck over the left eye by Ross. In a chase and fracas that followed, Ross was cut.

Charges against Cunningham are pending, police said. He recently completed a 20-day county jail term for receiving stolen stolen goods.

Anti-Racing Minister Says Life Threatened By Anonymous Caller

ALBUQUERQUE, AP—A Baptist minister battling against New Mexico Sunday racing, says his life has been threatened.

The Rev. Buford Bentley Finch says a man telephoned him and said, "You're fixing to be taken for a ride. Take it or what it is."

Finch said the man hung up the receiver before he had a chance to question him.

The minister said he notified police after the call late yesterday and added:

"I think it's a pretty low crowd that can't take their medicine. Then the big former Marine said, 'The little threat doesn't worry me a bit. I believe it's in connection with my suit, and I won't withdraw the suit.'"

In a new step in his attack against Sunday horse racing, Rev. Finch filed an amended suit yesterday in district court at Santa Fe.

It includes the State Fair Board and the State Racing Commission as defendants and contends, as his earlier dismissed suit did, that Sunday racing is a public nuisance.

Experts Advise Sought on City Beautification

Experts from big national firms will be asked to come to Artesia to advise local merchants in the joint City of Artesia-Chamber of Commerce store front beautification campaign.

That announcement was made today by Paul W. Scott, Chamber of Commerce manager, who said the store-front program will coincide with a city-wide clean-up campaign to be conducted some time next month. In charge of the joint effort to rid the city of unsightly blemishes and to trim up the business section for the C of C will be Ray Tommy Thompson, chairman of the cleanup committee.

Scott explained that major building equipment firms will send representatives to aid with counsel and suggestions without cost in the store-front phase of the drive.

The cleanup campaign follows suggestions of Mayor William H. Yeager at the last council meeting. The mayor urged that all citizens make the drive a personal affair and let civic pride prompt them to clean weeds and trash from lawns, yards, and street and alleyways. He said arrangements would be made for city trucks to gather up the debris and haul it away.

The commission also fired Hardy H. Swayze, Johnsons assistant, who earlier had announced his resignation.

Two C. of C. Meets

Meetings of two Chamber of Commerce meetings for next week were announced today by Manager Paul W. Scott, both to be held at Cliff's cafeteria.

On Monday at 11:45 a. m., the board of directors of the chamber will meet to discuss finances and the forthcoming membership drive. At noon Friday, the Christmas committee will meet to consider preliminary plans for Christmas decorations in the streets.

Tinned Terminal Appendage Brings Profuse Apologies

ABERGAVENNY, Wales (AP)—Mrs. Peggy Jones opened a can of South African pineapple for her children—and screamed for her husband.

"There's a human hand in it," she said.

Closer investigation disclosed a pair of pink rubber gloves had been filled with pineapple juice and stuffed into the can.

After registering a complaint, she received a letter of apology from the makers—and two fresh cans.

"We can only assume it was sabotage," they said.

Looking Ahead for Artesia — III

Artesia Beauty Hurt by Minor Neglects

Only an oversight of the ancient Greeks could explain why they didn't have a goddess named Artesia disporting on the greenwards of Mount Olympus.

And if this suppositious goddess is symbolic of Artesia the city, she's graceful and beautiful. But she has freckles on her nose, her feet are sometimes muddy, there are snarls in her flowing locks and rents in her gown.

It's a shame, of course. So much beauty marred by flaws and blemishes it would be so simple to correct.

Artesia, the city, finds her beauty marred in much the same way. There are potholes here and there in the streets—not particularly deep ones, but enough to jar the motorist. Sidewalks proceed splendidly for several blocks, then disappear in a stretch of someone's front lawn, or someone's car-bumped driveway, or—when it rains—in an expanse of mud.

Handsome streets, lined with attractive homes, intersect with street signs awry, broken off, faded to illegibility, or missing altogether. And down streets, both business and residential, house numbers progress by fits and starts. Usually, to find a given address one has to walk back a half block to find some number and then retrace his steps, counting as he goes.

Downtown, to remind citizens that municipal cleanliness is next to municipal godliness, are receptacles for candy bar wrappers, the cellophane from cigarette packs and similar papers that might make street litter. But the lesson is psychologically wasted. The trash receptacles are misshapen metal wrecks, some of them rusted a solid, ugly brown.

It wouldn't be quite fair to refer to the weed-grown vacant lots, parkways, alleys and streets because a move is under way now by the city and the Chamber of Commerce for a cleanup campaign. One of the drive's targets is the weed patches.

There were warrior heroes to defend the goddesses and today they are staunch defenders of Artesia, the city, even in her shortcomings.

Mayor William H. Yeager readily admits the blemishes that mar the city's complexion but he contends that major operations come ahead of trips to the municipal beauty parlor.

"One of our weak spots is our sidewalk system," the businessman mayor conceded. "This is, by custom, largely a matter for the citizens themselves to determine. This is an automobile age and in many residential district almost everyone walks to his driveway in the morning, gets in his car and drives to his day's activities. At evening, he returns by the same route. He doesn't use the sidewalk, or the place where a sidewalk should be, once in a blue moon.

"The same is true of all his neighbors. Thus people aren't sidewalk conscious in Artesia. So far, the voice of the pedestrian hasn't been loud enough to change the situation.

"In cases where there is pressing need for sidewalks, as along Eleventh st. leading to the schools, the city is taking a firm stand to see that they are installed. Otherwise we have been reluctant to twist any property owner's arm to force installation of walks."

The street numbering system, likewise, has been taken for granted as a matter for householders and merchants to enforce or disregard. Up until now, the mayor said, the city has not grown large enough for missing house numbers to cause much inconvenience.

"We're growing, though, and we ought to have a complete and consistent house number system," he said.

As for the street signs, that was a matter of bad luck, according to Mayor Yeager. The signs purchased, of cast aluminum, did not prove satisfactory. They break easily and are costly to repair.

The street repair program has been thrown behind schedule by extra work entailed in providing detours and otherwise adapting to the construction of the urban project. It is expected to catch up rapidly now.

As for the paving of dirt streets, that also is a matter for property owners along them, since they bear the cost. Unless paving of a street is essential to traffic movement and safety, it awaits the consent of two-thirds of the property owners want paving, the city can order it and place liens on the property of those who protest.

Two Dead, One Missing in Plane Crash

SAFFORD, Ariz. (AP)—A helicopter sighted two bodies around the burned wreckage of a light plane from Holloman Air Development Center, N. M., today on the northern slope of the rugged Gila Mountains about 20 miles due north of here.

Deputy Ervin Cluff said the helicopter was returning to Safford with the bodies, but had not sighted a third man reported to be aboard the craft.

Grand search parties reported to Cluff that they were returning because the country was too rough. He said another would be organized to replace the one which had been out all night.

Officials at Holloman said the craft, an L20, carried three men and was on a practice search mission from Safford to Holloman when it was lost yesterday afternoon. Aboard were a pilot, an observer and a military passenger, the Holloman spokesman said.

Motorist Admits Drunken Driving

James M. Gallagher, 54, of Midland, Texas and Artesia, was held in jail today after he had pleaded guilty before Judge John Elliott to charges of driving while intoxicated and driving without a driver's license charge. Gallagher said he was unable to pay the fines. He was arrested yesterday afternoon on the Carlsbad highway after motorists had reported he was driving a weaving course.

Miss Faye Elder Writes Letter About Families Not at Jubilee

This interesting letter came from El Dorado, Kans., from Miss Faye Elder, 616 Towanda Ave., an old timer who received some copies of the Advocate prior to the Jubilee edition. Those who knew Miss Elder and the people mentioned in her letter will find it full of news. She writes:

"Just why I did not think of this until someone sent me a couple of pre-Jubilee copies of the paper, I do not know, but I am wondering if you might have some copies of the papers telling about the Jubilee celebration as it happened. Particularly one that mentioned the really old settlers present."

"Mother and I would have liked very much to have been present but we were not sure how she could stand it. She is 88 and quite spry. Keeps me busy but does tire."

"We went to Artesia in 1906, March 3rd. I graduated in the second class to graduate from a four year high school there in 1910. Fred Brainard was in my class. I have heard he and I are the only survivors. So you can see we are old timers."

In case you should want to mention this letter in your paper, my sister Etta Rae lives in Lincoln, Neb. Her husband has an outdoor advertising business. She has one daughter whose husband is a buyer for the main office of Western Auto Supply Co. in Kansas City. She has three sons, aged 11, 6 and 1.

"Herbert died Dec. 22, 1941 of asthma. He and I never married. Don lives in Chicago and is not well. Asthma too. He has one son and two grandchildren. My father died in 1922.

Every now and then someone who either lives in Artesia or did live there, drops in to see me, so we hear something about people there and Chase and Mary Davis live there now. Chase has been very ill and is very weak. It is sad to see him shuffling along when he has always been so spry. But he still has his cherry smile. "Trusting you will have some papers, I am

Yours truly,
Miss Faye Elder."

"P. S. I see they argue about the first oil well. There was one drilled near Dayton about 1909 or 1910. It was a commercial one because they sold oil for smudge pots. We went down to see it on a special train.

Ma and Pa Kettle Turn Hawaii Into Howling Riot of Laughs

The "Kettles" are boiling hilariously in Hawaii as Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride go from furor on their farm to a lulu of a riot in Honolulu in "Ma and Pa Kettle at Kaikiki," their newest and happiest adventure, which opens at the Circle B Drive in theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday for its first Artesia showing. The picture opens with the fabulous family trying to beat the heat at "Kettle Acres" and ends when Ma and Pa beat a gang of cheats in a wild chase through the jungles of the Aloha Island. And in between is the merriest mirth this favorite paid has yet dishied up.

In one of the most frenzied plots ever designed for them, "Pa" becomes a pineapple king and Ma turns society into a howling hula. In the course of these highlights the Kettles meet their Hawaiian equivalents — happy, hearty Hilo Hattie and the Lotus family's fantastic brood of youngsters, youngsters who later join Ma in a crazy fruit-flinging war against the gangsters who have kidnapped Pa.

Ma pulling a ricksha and paddling a canoe in her efforts to rescue her man, and Pa getting pop-eyed with poi in a savor of a lulu are particularly wild moments in a situation that finds Pa saving the canning business through such typical misadventures as an explosion at the factory.

With a strong romantic assist from lovely-looking Lori Nelson as the eldest "Kettle" daughter and dashing Byron Palmer as an assistant tycoon, their antics are warmed up considerably as they drive Waikiki wacky.

And warmth was, as in all "Kettle" pictures, the aim of director Lee Sholem who took full advantage of the comedy prospects in the story — which were plenty.

"Ma and Pa Kettle at Waikiki" should add greatly to the multitude of fans who have made this pair the nation's fun favorites.

my new york
BY MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—I met what surely must be the most patient woman in the world. She's an attractive, blond (with red eyebrows, yet) woman named Gladys Hoene and she qualifies as an expert in patience because she teaches movie kids. Not how to make movies. Things like Latin, Greek, German and mathematics.

"Now, don't go running down child actors," she said as I opened my mouth to do just that, being the world's No. 1 foe of child actors, "because I've been teaching them for going on 25 years now, and if you must know, I think that by and large they're brighter, more entertaining and occasionally even more charming than average kids."

Tim Hovey, who is married to an electrical engineer and has two children (and I note cynically that she hasn't permitted THEM near a movie camera), is resident teacher at Universal-International's studios on the West Coast, and as such she has pounded algebra and fourth-year English into the heads of some 1,200 to 1,500 pupils a year. She's taught such as Judy Garland, Elizabeth Taylor, Piper Laurie, Ann Blyth, Deanna Durbin, Donald O'Connor, et al. and recently has been in New York with 9-year-old Tim Hovey, the child star of U-T's The Private War of Major Benson, who's been on hand to help publicize that film.

GLADYS IS FULL of memories of the children who've passed through her classes. She remembers Donald O'Connor and Ann Blyth as among her brightest, although O'Connor never really cared much for book learning. She remembers beginning rather tentatively with Judy Garland, who was around 13 or 14 and had to take summer classes and didn't think much of it, but later becoming fast friends with her. She recalls the time she and Elizabeth Taylor and how the director of her first picture indignantly wanted the little girl to "wash the make-up off her face"—when it was just her high English coloring and not rouge or powder at all.

Only once in a while, she says, does a fat-headed child or his dotting parents give her trouble. Usually, the child actor forgets all about his emoting, once he leaves the set and drops over to her "little red schoolhouse" on the lot for a couple of hours' schoolwork. When he can't come to regular class, incidentally, Gladys goes over to the set and crams in 20 minutes or a half hour's work between takes.

The precocity of the children never fails to amuse her. "We bought little Tim a small pool table the other day when we got into New York," she told me with a grin, "and do you know, the next day he was being interviewed by a woman reporter and he stared at her and said, 'How about a little pool? Do you play snooker or Chicago?' And she ended up playing pool with him, at that!"

IT'S A COMFORTABLE living—she makes more than $150 weekly at it—and Mrs. Hoene has been doing it ever since MGM sent out a hurry call for teachers to work with a whole raft of children it was using on a Buster Keaton picture. Gladys was teaching then at Long Beach Junior college. Once she had worked on the MGM lot, she asked for and got released from her college contract and she's taught the movie moppets ever since.

Little Tim, she says, "is so far ahead of other children his age in his reading that at times I can hardly believe it. Tim can completely lose himself in a book or a magazine, and he'd read all day if he had time." Many of her former pupils still keep in touch with her, like Darryl Hickman, who's in the Army now; onetime starlet Mary Kornman, etc.

I asked her whom she liked to see in the movies the most. She paused, obviously thinking of all the lovely screen children she's tutored. Then she brightened.

"Oh," she said, "Bing Crosby, I guess."

Those sending gifts were Miss Faith Shepard and Miss Mary Katherine George, Mrs. Betty Troubfield, Mrs. H. J. Bean, Mrs. Marvin Bahannon, Mrs. Mary Lou Goddard and Mrs. Henry Wise of Carlsbad.

The Church Bells

"In as much as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto Me."

A blind man stood on the corner next to Thompson-Price's store and held his cup for dimes and nickels, for two or three days in succession. He was no ordinary blind man, for he had only one arm.

The last day of his stay in Artesia he was seen standing up with his camp stool on the shoulder that was armless, and listening intently as if waiting for someone. That was after the store had closed.

A woman stopped and asked if she could help him. He said he was waiting for a taxi to take him to the bus station. A man had gone to a drug store to call a cab for him, he said, but it had been a long time.

"Most every day the man in this store calls a taxi. He's awfully nice, but I waited till he closed today. I guess the other man went to the drug store—think he went to my right. . . it will come, but thank you lady. Some folks are kind, and some don't like to be bothered. And I hate to trouble anybody—like to be independent. That's the worst thing about being blind. . . you have to call on folks sometimes, and some are in a hurry and they hate to be bothered."

About that time a little boy came along on a bicycle and the woman asked if he would go to the drug store and call the taxi company again.

"I can't . . . got somewhere to go in a hurry . . . maybe I'll come back later."

The blind man said, "See, that's what I mean. . . lots of folks in a hurry, but some are kind and take time to wait like the man in the store every day."

The woman started to go on. She was in a hurry too, but she said, "I'm afraid the taxi company didn't get the call and you will miss your bus. I'll run across the street and get a cab for you."

"Thank you, lady. . . thank you kindly."

By the time she came back and passed that way a taxi driver was helping him in the car.

"That's what I mean, lady—there's two kinds of folks, them that are in too big a hurry and them that has time to wait for us that can't run when we want to hurry."

"Everybody knows that," said the first angel. "Pretty primitive. Why, on some of the other planets."

"Please don't," said the second angel. "Indulge in loose talk. They have got enough fancy ideas down on Earth now."

"These two satellites," chortled the second angel, "discovered they had more in common than the

Star-Spangled Satellites Startle Sedate Seraphims

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON, (P)—There were these two angels resting themselves, so to speak, both off duty, just taking it easy, when a silver whoosh passed by, and:

"Glory be!" exclaimed the first angel. "Whatever do you suppose that was?"

"Space ship," said the second angel, just for something to say. "Looked like the Mars Express to me. Thought I recognized the brakeman. Fellow named."

"Stop that!" protested the first angel, who was the serious type. "Haven't got space ships on Earth yet."

"Okay," said the second angel. Like all angels, he had an angelic disposition. "Chances are," he said, "that was the satellite. You have heard about the artificial satellite?"

"I've been briefed," said the first angel, cautiously. "Whose satellite do you suppose it was? Ike's? Or that fellow Bulgannin's?"

The second angel had been on headquarters detail lately and wasn't going to tell all he knew. "It's a little bit classified," he teased.

Artesia's One Run Comes on Mound Fluke

Audie Malne's fast-breaking curve ball held the NuMexers to two lone hits as the Odessa Eagles sailed on to a 4-1 victory here last night.

The NuMexers lone tally of the evening was a partial fluke at the outset of the game when the first Artesia batter of the evening, Dan Howard, got on base after being hit by Malne's second pitch of the game. He scored on Jordan's sacrifice and that was all for the NuMexers.

The Artesia team threatened briefly in the eighth when Malne gave up his only two walks of the game but both men died on base. Dale Seixas, Odessa first sacker, tagged a two-run homer over the right field fence in the top of the eighth to lock up the game.

20-Year Olds Victorious in Women's Golf

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—The up rising of the teen-agers had been put down and golf's "middle snipers," as Jane Nelson refers to the group in their 20s, had taken complete charge of the Women's National Amateur Golf Tournament heading into this afternoon's semi-finals.

The first 18-hole match paired Miss Nelson, a relaxed, wisecracking 27-year-old history teacher from Indianapolis, against Mrs. Scott Probasco, Jr., Chattanooga, Tenn., 25-year-old mother.

The other match paired Polly Riley, advertising specialist from Fort Worth, Tex., who will be 29 tomorrow, against Pat Lesser, 22, a Seattle University senior.

Misses Nelson and Lesser scored the 6,413-yard Myers Park Country Club Course with the best performances of the week in yesterday's quarter-finals. Each was 3 under par in an impressive victory. Jane trimmed 20-year-old Barbara McIntire, Toledo, Ohio, 5 and 3, and Pat smothered Mrs. H. S. Covington, Orangeburg, S. C., 7 and 6.

Mrs. Probasco and Miss Riley had to travel all the way, each having a hard-earned 1-up victory. Mrs. Probasco, who as Betty Rowland of Lexington, Ky., and Rollins College, was national intercollegiate champion a few years ago, was 2 down with four holes to play but rallied to edge 17-year-old Anne Quast, Marysville, Wash. Miss Riley ousted 18-year-old Margaret Wiffi Smith, St. Clair Mich., in a grim struggle that saw Polly unable to win a hole after the 10th as they halved the last six in an unyielding struggle.

Davis Cup Is Up for Grabs As U. S. Team Meets Aussies

By ED CORRIGAN

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—The Davis Cup—perhaps the most coveted prize in international sports—went up for grabs today when the two titans of world tennis, the United States and Australia, clashed in the Challenge Round at the West Side Tennis Club.

Vic Seixas, the U. S. champion from Philadelphia crossed rackets with Ken Rosewall, an old nemesis, in the first singles match. The second singles test of the best-of-five competition pitted U. S. strong man Tony Trabert against the equally muscular Lewis Hoad.

The doubles—Seixas and Trabert against Hoad and Rex Hartwig—are scheduled for tomorrow, with the final two singles Sunday.

If the decision still is in doubt going into Sunday's matches, Seixas will play Hoad, and Trabert, Rosewall.

Talbert Confident

But American Captain Billy Talbert sees no such eventuality. "We'll have a 3-0 lead by Sunday," he said. "That means we'll be playing for fun by then. I am already considering using Hamilton Richardson in one of the last two matches."

Talbert admitted he would prefer to have Trabert take the court.

Branch Rickey, at 73, Shoulders Blame for Poor Pirate Showing

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Despite the poor showing of the Pittsburgh Pirates under his leadership, General Manager Branch Rickey says he has retained the confidence of John Galbreath, president of the club.

And, he says, he intends to stick with the Pirates when his five-year term as general manager expires at the end of November.

In an interview yesterday, Rickey, 73, indicated he would stay on in an advisory capacity. But in the same breath he left the door open for Galbreath to reappoint him general manager.

Rickey's contract has a proviso for him to remain with the Pirates in an advisory capacity. Last year, after he announced plans to retire at the end of this season, Galbreath said he would ask Rickey to stay on for at least one more year after as general manager.

When asked yesterday if Galbreath had talked with him about this, Rickey said "Yes" but declined to elaborate. He said merely: "Mr. Galbreath has told me: 'Branch, if you go out, I do.' But I believe John's statement has to do with the contract as its stands now."

Galbreath, a multimillionaire Columbus, Ohio real estate operator, was not available for comment.

Rickey said Galbreath has loaned more than a half million dollars to the hapless Pirates "without seeking money from the other stockholders."

The Pirates, who have been in eighth place three of the last four years and who are in the cellar now, are taking a heavy loss at the gate this year as attendance continues to dwindle.

Rickey has been a perennial optimist since coming here from the Brooklyn Dodgers. He says he's backed up that optimism by investing $200,000 in Pirate stock and would buy more if he had the money.

Successful with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Dodgers before landing in Pittsburgh, Rickey says he accepted full blame for the plight of the Pirates. He declared: "I force-fed the youngsters and it failed. But I could not build with men whose days had passed. Perhaps I could have kept the 'selling' players longer."

Roswell Swamps Colts, 15-0. Lead Still 3 1/2 Games

By The Associated Press

The league-leading San Angelo Colts fell before the brilliant four-hit pitching of Roswell's Pete Simone last night 15-0 but maintained their 3 1/2-game lead in the Longhorn League as second-place Artesia lost 4-1 to Odessa.

It was Davey Crockett Night and a Shetland pony was given away.

The special night was promoted by Virgil Williams of Midland. Only thing the fans didn't like was that Abilene got beat by Pampa 4-3.

100 RBIs

Ned Garver won the Detroit opener. Ray Boone and Charley Maxwell backed him up with a double and a homer apiece, each doubling in two runs. The second game was Jackie Jensen's show as he became the first American Leaguer to drive in 100 runs this year. The Boston outfielder accounted for four runs with a homer and bases-loaded single.

Kansas City collected 13 hits while Art Caccarelli limited the Orioles to four, including a two-run homer by Hal Smith.

Johnny Klippstein gained his third victory over Brooklyn, but had to be relieved with two out in the ninth inning of the opener by Hershell Freeman. Wally Post slammed his 32nd homer in the second inning to get the Reds off in front. In the nightcap Freeman relieved Joe Black in the seventh, and got credit for his fifth victory although he left for a pinch hitter when the Reds scored two runs to break a 4-4 tie in the ninth.

Six in Row

Philadelphia won its sixth straight, overcoming a six-run deficit in the opener. Robin Roberts registered his 21st victory in the opener, surviving a four-run Card outburst in the first inning and a five-run plurge in the fourth when Wally Morn hoisted a grand slam homer. Saul Rogovin won the nightcap as the Phils came from behind again. It was Del Ennis night, and he celebrated by getting three hits in the opener and a plan.

It appeared as if Jim Hearn would beat the Braves, but Milwaukee routed him in the seventh inning with all their runs on three walks and two singles. Warren Spahn tossed a six-hitter at the Giants.

Ramon Mejias doubled in the eighth at Pittsburgh and Johnny O'Brien singled to break up a 1-1 pitching duel between the Bucs' Roy Face and Paul Minner.

Five Minutes vs Eternity

IN many instances the accident which claims the lives of one or more individuals on our highways would not have saved five minutes for the driver of the car responsible for the accident.

Yet they are betting five minutes in a long or even a short trip against eternity they will make it.

Most of us, if we were offered our choice between five minutes and eternity would not accept the five minutes. We would emphasize we have 24 hours in each day and we would honestly admit that the five minutes in reality does not matter much.

Eternity—that is something that will come to us, all of us, in time while the hours or minutes we have on earth are numbered.

But even if they are numbered they are not short enough for us to take a chance to bet five minutes or less against eternity we can go around that car in front of us and get back into the line of traffic when the odds are too great.

Why we do it, no one can be sure.

But we are told that when we are traveling down the highway at 60 miles per hour we are traveling at the rate of 88 feet per second. We are also told that it takes us three-fourths of a second to act—in other words to lift our foot to that brake—before we can do anything. During that three-fourths of a second we have traveled another 66 feet. If we are headed for danger then we are just 66 feet closer—maybe the danger isn't 66 feet away.

It is against the law, of course, for us to walk out with a gun in our hand and start shooting and sending those bullets toward human beings and to take lives. However, we will hurl a ton and a half or more of steel at others with little thought or consideration.

We are just as guilty of murder when we do this and when we cause a death as we are when we shoot someone.

We are just as guilty when we cause an accident, serious injuries and damage when we failed to employ the safety knowledge we have, as if we had taken that gun and fired it at human beings.

The next time you get ready to pass another car and you know you are endangering your own lives, those in the car with you and those in the oncoming car, just remember you are betting five minutes of time against eternity for yourself or others. If you will do this, we believe you will decide against making the bet.

Simms—

said the driver was Jose Pedro Cordova, 69, a neighbor who had just completed loading the truck and climbed into the cab.

Gov. Simms, meanwhile, declared the crackdown against traffic violators, which entered an intensified period last weekend, is going to grow more earnest.

Upon his return from Washington Simms said, "There were two big questions which needed answering. First, whether such a crackdown was effective; second, what would the public reaction be."

"Apparently the crackdown was effective and the public reaction has been good. Furthermore, some of our agencies which earlier were not too active now are getting enthusiastic about joining in the campaign."

"What I mean is, there may have been a tendency in some places to say, 'We've seen these crackdowns before, they're not too effective and all they do is arouse a lot of public resentment.' Now, actually, with a few exceptions, even the people arrested have been taking it with good and proper spirit."

"This kind of reaction from the public is very gratifying. It allows us to intensify our drive for highway safety, rather than make us feel that we perhaps went too far."

State officials have said they may have as many as 100 unmarked radio cars in the coming weekend crackdown. Last weekend, with far fewer unmarked cars, a record 687 citations were issued by state police.

Chief—

In connection with school opening, the police chief said that the 15-mile-an-hour speed limit in school zones will be strictly enforced.

State—

plans to resign Sept. 1 and heard a proposal that John T. Jack Watson, counsel for the department, be fired.

However, no action was taken on Watson. Commissioner G. D. Hatfield objected to immediate action, saying the attorney should have a chance to be heard.

Watson's dismissal was recommended by Commissioner Eber McKinley after Commissioner Ralph Jones had said he had acted on Watson's advice in bringing the Johnson-Miller matter before the commission.

The vote to fire Johnson was 3 to 1, with Chairman T. J. Helman abstaining and Commissioner Jones voting against dismissal.

In upholding Miller, the commission said it had been unable to find that he had done anything questionable.

Jones passed on the vote by which the Commission specifically upheld Miller.

School—

cations at that time and return them to the school for processing Tuesday. They will be able to receive the first of the free lunch program on Tuesday after their applications are completed and turned in.

Cafeterias will be in operation at the high school, Central, Hermosa and Loco Hills schools. Stone said students from Park School and the junior high will be served at the high school while pupils at Roselawn school would be split between Central and Hermosa cafeterias.

Work on the cafeteria at the junior high school is moving rapidly towards completion and the school officials anticipate having it in operation by mid-November. At that time the new kitchen for the junior high cafeteria will then become central kitchen for all cafeterias in the Artesia city school system with the exception of Loco Hills.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Anderson (D-NM) plans to be in New Mexico around Aug. 29. Anderson, chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, has just returned from the atomic energy conference at Geneva.

Flood Aid—

The President's latest flood relief move was made at his Denver summer headquarters after a flying visit to the flood area and conferences with state governors and federal officials.

Before leaving Washington Wednesday, the President had marshaled the resources of a host of government agencies to help in reconstruction of public facilities and to aid the homeless, the farmers, small businessmen and others.

On top of this emergency relief program — which may cost more than 100 million dollars — he ordered the loan program to spur restoration of the defense industries.

The plan also calls for granting of accelerated tax writeoff privileges to cover new capital investment. The loans — to come out of an Office of Defense Mobilization fund — are to be available to defense and defense-supporting firms which cannot obtain commercial loans on reasonable terms.

Army Engineer units were busy helping dispose of flood debris and repair damaged roads, bridges and like facilities. Sturgis said one of the most pressing tasks facing federal disaster workers is the removal of dangers to health and safety.

Carlsbad Woman Is Named to FHA Committee

The Farmers Home Administration of Eddy County has appointed Mrs. Masie U. Forehand of Carlsbad, as county committeewoman to succeed Mr. Enea Grandi, whose term expired June 30.

The county committee advised with the County supervisor, has definite responsibility for:

1.—Determining the eligibility of applicants for all types of loans made by the Farmers Home Administration, except special livestock loans.

2.—Determining the suitability and fair and reasonable value of farms being considered for purchase, enlargement, or development under the farm ownership program.

3.—Determining the normal market value of farms being taken as security for individual soil and water conservation loans.

4.—Taking recommendations regarding applications for the compromise, adjustment, or cancellation of debts owing to the Farmers Home Administration.

Each county committee is composed of three persons living in the county served by the committee. At least two of the members must be farmers or ranchers who derive the principal part of their income from farming. The county committee of Eddy County is now composed of Mrs. Masie U. Forehand, Mr. Roy Thomson, and Mr. E. O. Moore, Jr., all of Carlsbad.

RIBBONS FOR WINNERS

Ribbons for winners in the water carnival and fun swim meet at Municipal park held during the Golden Jubilee have been received at the Chamber of Commerce and can be obtained there. A few alert youngsters who won at the meet showed up to claim their ribbons today.

The average price of a farm-raised mink pelt is about $25.

ing preliminary hearing in Carlsbad last week.

Another Ferguson-Steere driver James Strange, was injured on June 13 when his truck swerved to avoid a collision two miles east here on the Loco Hills road.

"It seems to me that this record would indicate a condition entirely out of line with good safety practices," Block said in Santa Fe. "The hearing is to find out what is wrong and take whatever measures the commission deems necessary or advisable to improve the condition."

Block said the commission has full authority to cancel the trucking firm's permit if a hearing indicates such action is warranted.

CAR FIRE QUELLED

The fire department made a rush shortly after last midnight to extinguish a fire in J. B. Muncy automobile, parked outside his garage at his home, 809 W. Main st. Rear seat cushions were burned.

Smokey the Bear Has Become Greatest Symbol Of Forest Fire Prevention in U. S. History

By MORRIS CLEAVENER

WASHINGTON (AP) - About the most popular fellow around the Department of Agriculture is that New Mexican - Smokey the Bear. Letters to Smokey pour in at the rate of around 1,000 a day. On one day, a high of 4,500 were received. Many of them come addressed in childish scrawls, simply. "To Smokey." Some do not even have a postage stamp affixed, but bear one of the Smokey Bear Stamps put out by the Forest Service.

Real V.P.
 "I guess he gets more letters than the secretary," one Forest Service official said. Probably even Secretary of Agriculture Benson would agree.

Although the Forest Service in the Big Department of Agriculture building is his mailing address, Smokey lives at the National Zoological Park several miles away. It has been almost exactly five years since Smokey, a small, bewilderder, black bear cub came here to live. He was found by a forest ranger clinging with his burned paws to a tree stump after a forest fire had swept through 15 million board feet of timber in the Capitan area of New Mexico.

Treated Burns
 Forestry officials in New Mexico treated his paws and his scorched hide and fed him a diet of pabulum and honey mixed with milk. He thrived.

Since then he has become a living symbol of the ceaseless fight against forest fires. Through posters, through comic books, through songs, through manufactured articles, he has become one of the best known figures in the land.

Especially has he become a meaningful symbol, deeply loved and respected by the thousands of youngsters who write him asking to be enrolled among his "Junior Forest Rangers."

From the point of view of Forest Service officials and state foresters who cooperate in the Smokey Bear conservation campaign, this is the best thing that could have happened. The small fry follow the Smokey Bear, pledge, and they ride strict herd on their parents, seeing that camp fires are put out, that no cigarettes are thrown out of car windows, and that matches are thoroughly extinguished before they are thrown away.

Real Vows
 The Smokey Bear pledge goes this way:

"I give my pledge as an American to save and faithfully to defend from waste the natural resources of my country - its soil and minerals, its forests, waters and wildlife."

Girls are as concerned in the campaign as are boys. They write letters like this:

"Dear Smokey:
 My girl friend and myself were out to the lake for a few days. We had a camp fire outside. It was very dry there. After the fire had burned down a little we got cans of water to put it out. After a little while we felt it to see if it was out."
 "I belong to the Junior Forest Ranger Club. I know the pledge by heart. I think your club is wonderful."
 Jennette."

On The Alert
 A boy wrote:
 "Just a line letting you know I am still looking and smelling for fire and smoke. Trying to keep it pretty and green in the forest where I live. I live on the farm and my crows and little back cafe (sic) go in the woods where they can keep out of the hot sun. It is real pretty and I am working hard to keep it that way."
 Many of the Junior Forest Rangers are so small that their parents

 NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 20, (AP) - The Indian capital's long, hot summer has been too much for some of the pets given to Prime Minister Nehru by the Chinese Communists. Several of the goldfish have died of the heat, plus one of two Chinese deer.

COMIC BOOK BAN
 BONN, Germany, Aug. 20, (AP) - West Germany has cracked down on the sale of comic books that are not comic. The Justice Ministry announced book stores will be held responsible for the sale of comic books portraying "primitive" and "barbarous" acts.

EASY ON EYES
 MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 20, (AP) - The Melbourne police department says it is painting all its road patrol cars a soft powder blue. Commissioner S. Porter said the department discovered dark colored police cars were involved in more accidents than the light colored ones.

ETTA KETT

BUT MOM, I ADORE BRUCE. HE REALLY ROCKS ME!

CHARM RUNS IN THE FAMILY. I HAD A CRUSH ON HIS FATHER WHEN I WAS A GIRL.

BUT HE WAS A HARD LOSER. HE NEVER FORGAVE ME FOR TURNING HIM DOWN AND MARRYING YOUR DAD!

SO TO AVOID TROUBLE, I'D RATHER YOU DIDN'T SEE BRUCE AGAIN!

OH BUT MOM REALLY! ALL THAT WAS UTTERLY YEARS AGO! NOBODY HOLDS A GRUDGE THAT LONG!

BIG SISTER

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF DONNIE'S PET SEA GULL DAD?

I DON'T LIKE THE IDEA OF THE BOY BRINGING A SEA BIRD INLAND WHEN WE RETURN HOME!

BUT HE'S SO SET ON IT THAT I DIDN'T DARE TRY TO TALK HIM OUT OF IT.

YES-HE WON'T LISTEN TO REASON--

IT'D THINK THAT WHEN THE BIRD'S WING IS HEALED HE'LL FLY AWAY RESPITE DONNIE'S KINDNESS TO HIM. WOULD'N'T YOU THINK SO, DAD?

WELL, SEE-- BETH--

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

GOLLY-GE, MRS. HARDAPPLE, I'ET SO MUCH OF YOUR SWELL CHICKEN AN' DUMPLINS I'M ABOUT TO BUST! -WELL, I GUESS I'D BETTER BE GOIN' NOW.

GOIN' WHERE, CHILD? YOU AIN'T SAID ONCE WHERE YOU'RE BOUND FOR.

NO PLACE AN' EVERY PLACE I CAN FIND A JOB OR SOMETHIN'.

NO PLACE AND EVERY PLACE???

MY LANDS CHILD! THE VERY IDEA OF YOUR WANDERIN' OFF INTO THE NIGHT GIVES ME A TURN! LET'S SET A WIFE IN THE PARLOR AND TALK THIS THING OVER.

CISCO KID

BACK TO YOUR POST, HONNIE! YOU'VE GOT TO FIGHT SOMETHIN' WORSE THAN FIRE!

FIRE! MY HONNIE'S BLAZING! GOTTA GET WATER!

INDIANS!

SI! HAVE YOUR GUN READY! THE WOMENFOLK WILL PUT OUT THE FIRES!

THE INDIANS CHARGE.

YAAAAA-YEEEE!

MICKEY MOUSE

BUT LIL DAVY...THERE ARE SOME PROGRAMS I WANT TO SEE!

TO BED...!

GODD! MORTY'S BEEN STAYING UP TOO LATE LATELY!

LIL DAVY'S A GOOD INFLUENCE FOR MORTY! HE... HUM?

YOU TOO, MISTER!

LIL DAVY SURE HAS A MIGHTY PERSUASIVE WAY ABOUT HIM!

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN

IT'S A BIG METAL BOX--LEAD, I THINK, WITH A WIRE COIL LEADING INTO IT. COULD BE AN ANTENNA. BUT WHAT'S INSIDE?

THEY HAVEN'T TIME TO FIND OUT-- AS THE GANG REACHES THE TOP--

A DOGFIGHT! ATOP THE MESA-- WITH THE GANG'S BOSS WATCHING FROM A SAFE DISTANCE!

KNOCK THEM DOWN! FIGHT! FIGHT!

Bless This House!

Hallowed walls, Sacred pews, Holy pulpit . . . Church of the living God!
Whether a tiny hovel or a magnificent Cathedral, it is a place of worship. GOD IS THERE. Something reverent and divine radiates about its steeple. It is a clarion to all mankind. Friend, the Church is where the Holy of Holies dwells. Here man's soul stands naked in the presence of God. You need for daily living, the inspiration and Divine help which awaits you in the public worship of your Church.
