Gunsmithing: A Hobby Can Also Become A Good Business

The handloading of bullets and shells can evolve into a part-time business, as well as an enjoyable hobby, according to Dr. David Wyer, Muleshoe High School principal. He was guest speaker for the Muleshoe Rotary Club on Tuesday, and talked about a 'love' in his life that started out as a hobby, and how he became totally involved in gunsmithing.

Introduced by Tommy Gunstream, who was in charge of the program for the day, Dr. Wyer told Rotarians how he started handloading in the mid-50's, loading all types of bullets and even shotgun shells.

Soon, he saw his hobby turning into a little more than 'fun and games.' One of his main weaknesses, said Dr. Wyer, was that he loved the competition of shooting.

Reminding the Rotarians that the Muleshoe area has the best hunting of anywhere in this part of the state, he specifically mentioned bird and varmint shooting.

He told about Jack Schuster showing up at his house many, many nights around 11 p.m. after coming to town for a meeting, and the two of them going coyote hunting.

He said they enjoyed calling up the coyotes late at night. One particular night, toward the end of watermelon season, they went to a watermelon patch and called up 11-12 coyotes in one night.

"Around 11 p.m., I still wait for Jack to show up wanting to go hunting," said Wyer.

He said Cecil Davis took him on his first hunt -- and from

Girl Scout Cookie Sale Begins Soon

If the "samples" are just like what you will receive, the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale promises to be tasty and filling, as usual.

On Monday, Girl Scouts delivered samples by The Journal to herald their annual sale, which gets underway on Saturday, January 12.

From making change to acquiring self-confidence, the Girl Scouts participating in the annual cookie sale learn skills and discover abilities they will use in later life.

Each troop sets its own goal, and the girls play a training game called "going places" before they go out to sell cookies. The game teaches them safety procedures and sales techniques. This year, Girl Scout cookies cost $2.50 a box. Proceeds help both individual troops and the local council, which provides services and facilities.

As in past years, Caprock Council will offer seven different varieties of cookies: including a non-sweet choice of bite-size cheddar cheese crackers. Orders are taken from January 12 to February 10, and cookies delivered between February 27 and March 9. Cookies may also be ordered by calling Caprock Council at 745-2855 in Lubbock or 296-7295 in Plainview.

There are over 4500 Girl Scouts in Caprock Council ranging in age from 5 to 17. Since Girl Scouts have been selling cookies to support their programs for over 50 years, the cookie sale has become an American tradition.

Crime Does Not Pay!-- As Citizen Helps Police

Once again, local law enforcement officers are grateful for a concerned citizen's intervention, and another burglary was solved by the Muleshoe City Police Department.

Crime Line received a call from a concerned citizen asking "if a burglary had taken place at a certain residence in Muleshoe."

In attempting to check, the officers, led by Muleshoe City Police Detective Julian Dominguez, found that the residents of the home were out of town.

Further checking revealed that there had, indeed, been a burglary.

Intruders had entered the rear of the home, and had taken several thousands of dollars of valuable collectible items from the home.

Checking back with the citizen and verifying the burglary, the individual told officers they knew where the stolen merchandise was being kept.

And, when officers went to the location, they found up to 99 percent of the missing items.

Included were ancient guns, knives, antique pipes, and a very large arrowhead collection, all in frames for display.

Retrieving the items which had been stolen, the officers, Dominguez and MPD Officer Jay Livingston, took the items to the police department for inventory before returning them to the grateful owners.

Officer Dominguez said "This is just another example of how much better we can work because a citizen chose to become involved. This crime would have gone unreported until the owners returned home, and by that time, the items may have been disposed of somewhere out of town."

"We cannot emphasize too

County's First Traffic Fatality Is Recorded

Bailey County had its first traffic fatality of the year on Sunday, January 6.

Officers and emergency personnel were summoned to an accident six and one half miles southeast of Muleshoe on Highway 84 for a one vehicle rollover.

Brian Lynn Burns, 25, of Sudan, was brought to the Muleshoe Area Medical Center by Bailey County EMS ambulance where he was pronounced dead at 8:46 a.m. by Todd Ellis, Justice of the Peace, Precinct Four.

Burns was the sole occupant of a pickup that had apparently spun out of control after hitting an icy spot on the highway. Burns was thrown from the vehicle and apparently died of head and neck injuries.

He was reported to have been on his way to work at Bovina Feeders Inc. located north of Muleshoe, at the time of the accident.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday, January 8, at the First Baptist Church of Sudan, with the Rev. Cliff Hargrove, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Sudan Cemetery under direction of Ellis Funeral Home of Muleshoe.

He was born June 27, 1965 in Littlefield, and graduated from Sudan High School. He was married to the former Mary Lou Grantham on September 24, 1983 in Miami, TX. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Sudan.

Texas Beef Industry Council's Annual Report Now Available

The Texas Beef Industry Council's annual report for its most recent fiscal year is on the way to approximately 90,000 Texas beef producers.

The annual report lists income and expenditures from Oct. 1, 1989, to Sept. 30, 1990, for the beef checkoff program administered in Texas by TBIC.

The report also includes highlights of programs conducted in Texas and funded by the beef checkoff over the last year.

"TBIC is required by law to issue an annual report each year," TBIC President Clark Willingham said. "It is important that producers keep up with their checkoff program."

The report also includes a copy of the monthly report and remittance form that collection sites use to report checkoff assessments. Willingham reminds producers that auction markets file this form with their checkoff remittances for all sales through their facilities. However, if cattle are not bought directly from an auction, then the buyer must either:

- Collect $1 per head from the purchase price and remit this to TBIC;
- Obtain a non-producer form; or
- Obtain a brand inspection form.

If the producer is the last American owner of if the buyer fails to collect, the seller is required to collect and remit the dollar. Producers who owe

Glass Containers Now Made Of Recycled Glass

When you buy in glass containers, you're buying a package made up of 30 percent recycled material according to the Glass Packaging Institute (GPI).

"Glass container manufacturers are reusing old glass containers to make new ones at a rate today that is approaching 30 percent," said Gail Ederer, executive director of the Mid-America Glass Recycling Program, a regional arm of GPI. "Our industry has always recycled old glass into new, but in today's new environmental consciousness, people and programs are recycling glass in record volumes," she said.

According to a recent survey of its member manufacturing plants across the nation, GPI reports that nearly one-third of the ingredients going into glass-making furnaces today is recycled glass, or cullet. "In fact, the only thing we use more checkoff dollars may remit their funds with the form in the annual report.

TBIC sends the annual report to all producers on its mailing list. Producers who want an annual report, but do not receive it by Jan. 31, should contact Jennifer Finch at TBIC, 8310 Capital of Texas Hwy. N., Ste. 440, Austin, TX 78731; (512) 345-3531.

of than cullet is silica sand...the primary ingredient in glass-making," Ederer noted.

In an atmosphere of increasingly confusing environmental claims by manufacturers, it's comforting to know that used glass containers can be made simply into new ones again and again and again...indefinitely with nothing lost in the process. The result is a product that is equal in quality and purity to ones made from 100 percent virgin materials.

"Today we're at 30 percent recycled content. Our industry is determined to raise that percentage to 50 or higher in the coming decade," Ederer stated.

Link Discovered Between Virus, Hearing Loss

Researchers at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston have discovered a link between a common virus and hearing loss in newborns who no signs of viral infection.

Thousands of babies may suffer impaired hearing from cytomegalovirus (CMV) in their mother's blood, according to the study by Dr. W. Daniel Williamson, an assistant professor of pediatrics at Baylor. The results of the study were recently published in the American Journal of Diseases of Children.

CMV is a herpes virus present in 1 in 100 births. It can be transmitted through very close personal contact such as exchange of saliva, kissing or sexual intercourse, but cannot be transmitted through the air.

"We found that babies born with CMV but not symptoms of the virus have a 14 percent chance for hearing loss," said Williamson, who is chief of development pediatrics at Baylor and director of the Meyer Center for Developmental Pediatrics at Texas Children's Hospital.

"That is five times the risk for normal healthy babies. It is important for mothers to know that they can request that they and their babies be tested for the virus.

"The frustrating thing is that these babies appear to be healthy, but the virus has been silently causing damage," he said. "On the contrary, babies who show signs of CMV at birth are obviously sick and will usually go on to have severe hearing loss, developmental problems, possible mental retardation and even death in some cases."

The study followed 28 CMV-positive infants who were symptom-free. Williamson, who collaborated with Baylor's Department of Otorhinolaryngology and the Division of Pediatric Infectious Diseases in the study, hopes to follow the progress of the infants from birth to school age.

Congenital hearing loss is often undetected until children are routinely tested in school. If parents know that their children are at risk for hearing loss at birth, Williamson said, early intervention and treatment may minimize the hearing loss.

"Knowing about the hearing loss will also help parents to make decisions about placing their children in education programs," he said.

"For example, they may want to work with the teacher to ensure that the hearing loss does not interfere with their education. Special seating arrangements or other measures can be taken. The school nurse also can be notified since recurring ear infections can affect a child's attendance."

The study used a testing method called auditory brainstem evoked response to determine the amount of hearing loss and its location. By sounding a series of clicks and measuring the sound wave produces in the baby's ear, investigators were able to tell the severity of hearing loss and whether the loss was in one ear or both.

Williamson was also able to show signs of developmental problems in some of the symptom-free CMV infants through computerized tomography (CT) scans. He found that several babies demonstrated reduced developmental performance by the age of 1.

"CMV is the most prevalent congenital infection in humans," said Williamson. "We are only beginning to understand its effects."

Krueger Sworn In As Railroad Commissioner

Bob Krueger became the 34th commissioner in the 100-year history of the three-member Texas Railroad Commission in ceremonies at the state capitol today. Krueger was sworn in by Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Justice Morris Overstreet.

Speaking to a crowd of well-wishers in the Senate chamber following his swearing-in, Krueger said that he wanted Texas to maintain its competitive posture. "We want Texas to be an effective and competitive state," he said. "We want it to have regulations that are enforced efficiently, and at the same time, encourage productivity and competition with other states."

The new Railroad Commissioner said energy, transportation, and the environmental would be focal points. Speaking of the oil industry, Krueger said, "I am convinced that when you put a piece of steel down in the ground and bring up new wealth that was not there before, to be enjoyed by the people of a state or of the nation, you have created something new, something with new potential. And you create networks of jobs, beginning with the tool pushers and rough-necks, and the people who transport the oil, on through the refining process to the finished product. Jobs are created all along the line. Those are some of the challenges we will have in this industry."

"We also have one of the most regulated transportation systems in the country in Texas," Krueger continued, "and it is important that we regulate as widely and as well as we possibly can. We have environmental concerns as well. I'm very concerned that our underground aquifers be protected. We have to look to the next generation. We have to be concerned, to take a long-term view. It is the most important thing in public policy to take the long-term view."

Krueger said he looked forward to the challenge of serving on the Commission. "I think it's a tremendous opportunity to be going to the Railroad Commission at this time," he said. "I hope it is a time at which the person and the moment have come together. I would like this to be a fortunate time for Texas. A time in which the tide of affairs in energy and transportation is such that perhaps I will be able to bring some experience and some insight."

"Working with the two other commissioners, and working with a Railroad Commission of almost a thousand people, together we can develop intelligent policies for the state of Texas, to work for the benefit of all the people of this state," Krueger said.

Krueger represented the 21st District of Texas in the U.S. House of Representatives from Asthma can be fatal if it is not properly treated, but what do you do if your child can't breathe?

On Saturday, January 12, "Health Matters," underwritten by Methodist Hospital, will show you what triggers asthma attacks, how medications are used to control them and how other therapies protect children against the dangers of asthma.

"Health Matters" also will introduce you to a family successfully coping with childhood asthma, and you'll learn why, today, asthma need not keep your child on the sidelines. Join Glenn Boris, M.D., pediatrician, and Mark Johnson, M.D., pulmonary disease specialist, and learn how to tell if your child has asthma.

A community service of KCBT-TV and Methodist Hospital, "Health Matters" airs each Saturday at 5 p.m. on Channel 11.

1975 to 1979, serving on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee and the Science and Technology Committee. After leaving Congress, he served two years as U.S. Ambassador-at-Large and Coordinator for Mexican Affairs.

Krueger earned a bachelor's degree from Southern Methodist University, a master's from Duke University, and his doctorate from Oxford University in England.

Baylor College Of Medicine
Site Of Research Center

The $10 million, five-year grant from the National Institutes of Health makes Baylor one of only six such centers in the U.S. Designation of the centers is part of the $3 billion, 15-year Human Genome Project, a federal program to locate and identify the estimated 100,000 genes on the 46 human chromosomes 6 to 17.

"There are between 3,500 and 5,000 genes on the X chromosome and about 400 of those are related to inherited human disease," said Dr. C. Thomas Caskey, a professor of medicine, biochemistry and cell biology and director of Baylor's Institute of Molecular Genetics. He is also an investigator with the Howard Hughes Medical Institute located at Baylor.

"Abnormalities in these genes can lead to severe mental retardation, physical disability, delayed growth and many other serious conditions," Caskey said.

The Baylor researchers hope to transfer their basic scientific findings to patient care as quickly as possible. With the largest DNA diagnostic laboratory in the world, Baylor's Institute for Molecular Genetics draws patients from around the world who are seeking answers about genetically related diseases.

Baylor will contribute $450,000 to the project and will also add 5,000 square feet to the Institute's current 30,000 square feet.

Caskey will be director of the center. The co-director will be Dr. David Ledbetter, professor of molecular genetics.

Miss King, Arrott United In Candle Light Ceremony

Miss Sheri Tyree King became the bride of Kern Alton Arrott in a candle light ceremony December 29 at 4 p.m. in the Polk Street United Methodist Church in Amarillo. The Rev. J. B. Fowler read the double ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward King of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Yates Arrott of San Angelo.

Music was provided by a string quartet, trumpet and organ, and Mike Jones of Amarillo, sang "The Lord's Prayer." As the mothers were seated the group played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring", and the processional of the minister and attendants "Trumpet Tune" ("Marital Air"). The processional of the bride was "Trumpet Voluntary" ("The Prince of Denmark's March") and the recessional was "Alla Hornpipe" from Water Music Suite.

The Christmas decor in the sanctuary of the church was the background for the wedding ceremony. Garlands of Christmas greenery and red bows hung from the balcony of the sanctuary and banks of red poinsettias surrounded the three 15 branch candelabras entwined with greenery and white candles. The aisles were marked with hurricane lamps holding white candles and bows, and a large white Christmas tree, standing to the left of the altar, completed the scene.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white satin gown, an Alyssa Original, featuring a scoop neckline, coming to a low "V" in the back, and long leg-o-mutton sleeves applied with tiny seed pearls and beads tapering to a petal point on her hands. The bodice of the gown was also applied in tiny seed pearls and beads which extended to the length of the gown. The detachable train, which was caught at the wrist by a bustle bow, was outlined in Chantilly lace and elaborately applied in tiny seed pearls and beads. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis with camilla foliage.

Curry King of Amarillo, served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Brian Douglas Cobb of Paris, TX, Amy Knight of Dallas, Bobbi Hartman of Lubbock and Tiffany Carter of Amarillo.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids gowns were identical black moire file, featuring a low "V" in the back accented with a large bow of the same fabric and elbow puffed sleeves. The straight skirts were matinee length, accented by a peplum at the waist. They carried white Cassablanca lilies.

MacArthur Stidom of Lexington, KY served as best man. Groomsmen were Kit Arrott, cousin of the groom, of San Angelo; Shaely King, brother of the bride, of Amarillo; and Claude Brazell and Jeff Davis, both of Dallas.

Candle lighters were Tod Gentry of San Angelo, nephew of the groom, and Tracie Gentry of San Angelo, niece of the groom.

CITIZENS PLAN MOVING EARTH TO NEW RAILROAD

Citizens of a small community in Lamb county are planning to move Earth five miles to get it to a railroad. Earth is the name of the little community center and it would be picked up and laid down on the Texas and Pacific Northern railroad in the event the railroad is constructed.

Hearing on the road's application is in progress here, J.L. Walker, vice president of the Earth Chamber of Commerce, testified Monday he thought it better for the town to be moved eastward than for the route of the railroad to be changed because the route penetrated the most desirable territory. Earth has several business houses and a school with an enrollment of 500.

SCHOOL LUNCH ROOM IS STILL POPULAR WITH LOCAL PUPILS

The lunch room operated under the supervision of the Muleshoe Parent-Teachers Association continues to be very popular with the pupils and during the past week an average of 140 each day bought lunches. Visitors say that the meal which is being served here for ten cents is equal to any 25 cent lunch to be found anywhere.

The menu consists of four or five items of food, besides plenty of whole milk for the children. The PTA states that an average of 40 gallons of milk is used each week. The lunch room is inspected each day and a graduate dietician is on the job.

There has been considerable misunderstanding about the sponsoring of this service. Many people have the impression that the county has been carrying the expense of the project, which is in error. The Muleshoe Parent Teachers Association pays the rent on the building, light and gas bills, and for all groceries except a few items furnished by the WPA. The labor bill is also paid by WPA. Last summer the county arranged for acreage to raise vegetables and quite a few beans, corn, tomatoes, ect. were canned to be used on such projects. However 'to get an allowance for this food each school in the county had to sponsor a lunch room as far as is known, Muleshoe is the only school in the county which undertook the job, and the PTA is taking all the responsibility. The county has not been connected with it in any way, neither has the school board.

STATION HELD UP MONDAY NIGHT

A second armed hold-up in Muleshoe within a week occurred Monday night when a lone and shotgun-wielding hijacker held up the M.L. King Grocery and Market one and half miles west on U.S. 84 and made his escape with about $30 in cash.

The man stopped to drink a coke and went to his car and returned with a shotgun, ordered Mr. King to give him the cash and he drove off.

PETITION CIRCULATED FOR US-84 WIDENING

Petitions are now being circulated calling for a bond election in the amount of $250,000 for the purchase of right of way to 4-lane U.S. Highway 70 & 84 west from the west city limits of Muleshoe to the Parmer County line.

Information furnished by the Department of Public Safety reveals that there have been 7 traffic fatalities, 20 personal injuries and 29 accidents on U.S. 84 west in 1959-60 for a total property damage valuation of $21,648.

Proponents of the measure stress the increasingly dangerous conditions of U.S. 84 west, pointing out the number of traffic fatalities.

Is believed that widening of the U.S. 84 would do much to eliminate such accidents. This belief is based on a similar report by the Department of Public Safety which shows only 8 accidents, no deaths, and no injuries for the same period on the 4-lane segment of U.S. Highway 84 east of Muleshoe.

Improved Pneumonia Vaccine Being Tested

Researchers at the Houston Veterans Affairs Medical Center (VAMC) are testing an improved pneumonia vaccine that may be effective for up to 10 years.

Pneumonia is an infection that strikes 500,000 annually and is the sixth leading cause of death in the United States. Symptoms include high fever, cough and fluid in the lungs.

The present vaccine contains 23 of the most common types of organisms that cause pneumonia; however, it has not been widely used because some less common types are not included. The VAMC researchers hope to change that.

"We have been able to chemically alter two of the 23 vaccine components so far, and we are now in the process of testing this improved version," said Dr. Daniel Musher, a professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine and chief of the infectious disease section at the Houston VAMC.

Musher is producing chemical changes in the vaccine by linking natural sugars found in the pneumonia bacteria to a protein "carrier." The protein carrier causes the body to produce antibodies to the infection.

Elderly people, especially those with any kind of chronic lung disease, bronchitis or emphysema should be vaccinated. It is also recommended for those infected with the AIDS virus because they are 100 times more likely to contract ordinary pneumonia.

"The incidence of pneumonia increases with age. By 60 to 70, the disease is more serious and can even be fatal," Musher said.

The four-year study is funded by the Department of Veterans Affairs under the Merit Research Program. Musher's work is based on an earlier study conducted at the Houston VAMC in which he developed methods to accurately measure antibody response to the vaccine in patients.

that moment on -- he was hooked. "It's just a love I've had all these years, even though I don't get to go as much as I did," he commented.

David Wyer then discussed how he got into gunsmithing, and all the various equipment and supplies he purchased in order to pursue his hobby.

He said he and his father went to Indiana and purchased a lot of equipment from a gunsmith who was retiring. Then, it was time to find a source of the right type of metals to make gun barrels.

From gunsmithing to competition, Dr. Wyer told of the step-by-step process, including the locations for competitive shooting.

He said his wife, Dorothy, is also his partner in shooting competition, and they were in the top three of the State of Texas in shooting competition.

He explained the difference in center fire and black powder shooting, and discussed muzzle loading competition. He said he has made several rifles for people in and around Muleshoe. One person who formerly competed in muzzle-loading shooting was the late Rudolf Wiedebush. Dr. Wyer said he had made him a couple of rifles he used in competition.

Another shooter who uses rifles made by Dr. Wyer is Ray Clayton. Yet another was Buford Hunt.

"It's a hobby," he said, "it has become a part time business, and eventually will become a full time business for me."

Following his discussion, he answered several questions as posed by Rotarians about the gunsmithing hobby and profession.

Randy Field, incoming president of Rotary, conducted the meeting. He explained that Rotary President Dr. Bruce Purdy had a couple of medical emergencies come up just before the meeting on Tuesday.

Max King, member of the MISD Board of Directors, asked all Rotarians to attend the Thursday reception to welcome the new MISD Superintendent, Bill Moore, and his wife, Trish, to Muleshoe.

Visitors at the meeting included Kevin King, Brett King, Gant Barnhill, Dr. Frank Kretzinger, Ali Cage, and Rotary Anns Julie Cage, Tricia Campbell and Linda Marr.

much how much we appreciate citizen involvement in what is going on in their neighborhood, and how much easier that makes our job."

At presstime, investigation into the burglary was continuing and arrests were expected to be made very soon in the burglary involving several thousands of dollars in stolen items.

The officers believe that such actions as the telephone call by a concerned citizen helps cut down crime in the city, and in the county.

The owners of the collection got their items back, virtually intact, and for awhile, at least, some burglars will be off the streets of Muleshoe.

ASCS Chooses Texas Committee Chairman

Jerry D. Harris, a cotton and grain sorghum farmer in Dawson and Gaines Counties, has been named to a sixth term as chairman of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee, U. S. Sen. Phil Gramm has announced.

Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yetter also named Mrs. Hope Huffman of McGregor to her second one-year term on the panel and reappointed veteran ASCS committee members Dale Hunt of Garwood, D. V. Guerra Jr. of Edinburg and Keith Spears of Vernon.

"These five leaders bring a wealth of practical background in agriculture to ASCS. Jerry Harris has established an impressive record, combining years of experience as both a family farmer and a federal program administrator," the senator said. "Hope Huffman, Dale Hunt, D. V. Guerra and Keith Spears all have done remarkable work in helping to lead the ASCS and I am pleased that they have agreed to continue their service to Texas and America."

Harris is active in cotton ginning, warehousing and marketing, as well as operating a 7,000-acre family farm and continuing service on the Board of Governors of Lubbock Christian University.

Also, he is a member of the National Cotton Council, the Lamesa Cotton Growers, the Texas Food and Fiber Protein Commission and the Texas Cotton Ginners.

Mrs. Huffman raises row crops, grain and beef stocker cattle in McLennan and Coryell Counties. She is a member of the Texas Farm Bureau's Labor Advisory Committee and is active in both the McLennan County Farm Bureau and the Waco Chamber of Commerce's Agricultural Committee.

Hunt is a recognized national leader in the rice industry. He has served on the National Commission Trade and Export Policy and as president of the Texas Rice Research Foundation.

Guerra, active in soil and water conservation in South Texas, is an expert in livestock production. He has served on the Governor's Task Force on Rural Development and Texas A&M University to promote agricultural interests. He was named "Man of the Year in Agriculture" by the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association.

Spears is a leader in the wheat industry. He has served as vice chairman of the Texas Wheat Producers Board and as a member of the U. S. Wheat Associates Board.

The five-member panel oversees activities of the ASCS organization throughout Texas, including administration of federal farm programs in Texas.

Texas ASCS employs a staff of 1,400 and supervises the distribution of more than $1.5 billion in federal farm program benefits to the farmers and ranchers of Texas every year.

Buildup Costs

The U.S. military buildup could cost double the Pentagon's estimate of $15 billion in 1991, defense officials said.

Healthy Heart Starts At Childhood

Physicians are finding that many risk factors which contribute to heart disease have their beginnings in childhood. In fact, what infants and children eat may influence their chance of developing atherosclerosis, which may lead to heart disease in adulthood.

While diet does play a major role in reducing heart disease, according to Cincy Rowell, R.D., outpatient dietician at Methodist Hospital, low-fat diets should not be applied to children younger than age 2.

"Some parents concerned about obesity have over-restricted fat and calories in their very young children, and growth problems can occur as a result," Rowell said. "However, a moderate reduction in saturated fat and cholesterol may have beneficial health effects in children older than age 2."

Disease prevention should begin in childhood because lifestyle patterns are developed in childhood. Rowell offers these suggestions to help you feed your child healthful foods:

• Introduce your child to a variety of foods in each of the four food categories; milk and milk products; fruits and vegetables; meat, poultry, fish and beans; and bread and cereals.

• Plan nutritious meals by following guidelines for a given number of servings from each food group rather than determining the calorie or vitamin content of a meal. For meats, fruits, vegetables and cooked cereals, a child's single serving is defined as one tablespoon for each year of age. Modify this amount based on your child's size for his age and physical activity.

• Children seem to prefer vegetables that are slightly undercooked and crunchy, bright in color, served separately and easy to eat.

• When introducing new foods, offer them one at a time and only in small amounts at first. Children also like "finger foods" or foods that have different shapes.

Parents worried about an adequate diet and frustrated with their child's seemingly irrational food behavior can take comfort in knowing this behavior won't last forever. Parents can still determine what foods are offered to their children and can set limits on inappropriate behavior.

American Arts Alliance Receives Exhibitsusa Grant

272-4536

Communities across the country will have greater access to high-caliber art exhibitions as a result of a four-year grant totaling $1,060,500 recently made by the Lila Wallace-Reader's Digest Fund. This grant was awarded to ExhibitsUSA, a national traveling exhibition program of Mid-America Arts Alliance headquartered in Kansas City, Missouri.

The communities targeted by ExhibitsUSA include rural towns and inner-city neighborhoods that do not have major museums with comprehensive permanent art collections. According to Henry Moran, executive director of Mid-America Arts Alliance, "Residents of 500 communities around the nation in towns such as Sulphur, Oklahoma; Juneau, Alaska; Allentown, Pennsylvania; and El Paso, Texas, will benefit from this expanded program. Also," Moran noted, "this significant support helps achieve objectives which M-AAA developed with the President's Committee on the Arts and the Humanities to better serve rural communities with visual arts programming."

This grant will fund approximately 35 new exhibits of photography, craft, folk art, textiles, and works on paper, as well as painting and sculpture. They will be curated with particular sensitivity to the cultural interests of smaller communities and will be designed to accommodate the facilities available in these towns and neighborhoods. Exhibiting facilities could be libraries, local historical societies, community centers and park sites in addition to the more traditional community galler space and university museums.

In order to enhance the community's visual arts experience, ExhibitsUSA will also provide educational and community outreach materials and workshops to accompany these art shows. For the smallest communities, ExhibitsUSA will offer special training sessions and consultations to volunteer and professional staffs of non-traditional exhibiting sites.

In announcing the grant, M. Christine DeVita, president of the Lila Wallace-Reader's Digest Fund, commented that "Art is most powerful when it is woven into the life of a community. This is the mission of both the Lila Wallace-Reader's Digest Fund and ExhibitsUSA. We commend Mid-America Arts Alliance for creating this exemplary program."

Top Ten Songs For The Week

We have no chart this week due to the Holidays. However, we would like to take time to review the past year 1990 before we move into 1991.

This has been an outstanding year for the Texas Country Music Association!!! First of all, we would like to thank each newspaper affiliate for publishing our column each week. We have grown to over 20 affiliates. Next we need to say a Texas size Thank You to Gov. Bill Clements for designating October 28th as Country Music Day in Texas. We worked hard on that one!!! Then another Thank You goes to the Texas State News Network and all the stations that broadcast our very first "Texas Country Music Awards Show." Finally, a special Happy New Year "Country Style" to our 3,000 TCMA members all over the Lone Star State!!!

1991 is already shaping up even bigger and better for us. Watch for a feature story about the TCMA in "Country Music Magazine," a national publication with over 500,000 readers. We are working on plans for the Texas Country Music Hall of Fame and organizing Texas Country Music Fairs.

Texas Farmers Poll Results

Joe Rankin, President of Texas Farmers Union, said "The results of the poll conducted by members of the National Association of Farm Broadcasters this week were very favorable from the standpoint of production agriculture."

The telephone poll was conducted between 5:00 a.m. Wednesday and 5:00 p.m. Thursday by radio and TV stations around the nation. 4,047 total calls were registered.

The question was: "Should Congress reopen the 1990 farm bill for debate and possible revision in 1991?"
Eighty-nine percent of the respondents answered yes...that the farm bill should be reopened; and eleven percent answered no.

Rankin stated, "The results were very positive given the fact that the poll was taken even before the bill actually went into effect. I know the folks who understand agricultural programs put in a lot of work to generate calls for the poll-many thanks for your help!"

The Farmers Union president further commented, "We must do everything possible to bring about changes that will improve farm income in the 1990 farm bill if we are to prevent financial disasters in the farm sector."

MICROWAVE TIPS

Did you know that the shape of the package of ground beef you buy can determine the length of microwave defrosting time?

Flat circular packages are best for defrosting. The ground meat should be no more than 1 1/2 inches thick. Tubular packages must be rotated. The meat in them should be broken up as soon as possible.

That's because the ends defrost quicker than the center and will begin to cook while the center is being defrosted.
