Governor Simms Praises Oil Compact Commission In Speech

SANTA FE, (AP)—Gov. John F. Simms, rumored likely to be named chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, praised the body today as a means of preventing federal control of oil.

Simms added that he was proud New Mexico was the first state to ratify the compact and had continued to support it.

General sessions of the compact commission's winter meeting opened after two days of committee meetings. The convention ends on Saturday.

Two other governor's spoke today. Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana responded to Simms' opening address with a short talk and Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, outgoing chairman of the commission, gave his report.

Adm. H. B. Miller of New York, director of the Oil Industry Information Committee, spoke on public relations aspects of the industry.

Simms reviewed the progress of the oil industry in New Mexico, citing the fact that New Mexico produced its billionth barrel of oil only a few weeks ago.

"Because this commission's primary interest is in conservation, it is significant to point out that virtually all of that oil represents controlled production," Simms declared.

"New Mexico is proud of its conservation history, and we all realize that the state owes a debt of gratitude to the companies for the self-regulatory job they performed so well in the early days of the industry," said Simms.

"Despite New Mexico's comparative youth as an oil and gas producing state, it now ranks seventh in natural gas. And we feel that we're just getting started.

"Another encouraging factor is the increasing use of such stimulatory production methods as flooded fracturing process, which have been eminently successful here in New Mexico. Their use has greatly increased our recoverable reserves of crude oil and natural gas.

"If this sounds somewhat optimistic, it's because I am optimistic. None of us could be otherwise unless we were looking through the wrong end of a telescope. Today New Mexico has more than 11,000 producing wells; five years ago we had fewer than 6,000."

"I don't believe our gasoline pumps will become obsolete overnight," he said. "Atomic power, involving the use of extremely vital safety measures, is unlikely to displace a liquid, transportable fuel like gasoline."

"I believe that the peacetime uses of atomic energy will come up on us gradually, and perhaps will be diverted into such entirely new channels that direct competition with the oil industry will not be a factor. The atom is still a mystery to most of us who are pretty matter-of-fact about a barrel of oil. Somehow I can't conceive that the drilling rig will suddenly become as obsolete as the buggy-whip."

Switching back to the compact commission and its relation with the oil industry, Simms said: "The oil industry long ago out-grew the word 'exploitation.' Perhaps more than any comparable industry it realized that the wise use of reserves would be to the ultimate advantage of the operator—that to drain a pool without

Retail Sales Dip First Time In Year

Retail sales in Artesia for the month of September, for the first time this year, dipped below the 1954 level for the same month, according to figures released today by the Chamber of Commerce.

Sales for the month of September totaled $1,468,899, down $15,900 from the same month a year ago, and down $97,543 from the previous month this year.

Letters Sent Violators Who Fail To Appear

John Elliott, police judge, when asked today if anything further had been done to expedite the follow-up of cases where traffic violators had failed to appear to answer citations, said that actually figures had at a City Council meeting Nov. 18 gave an inaccurate picture of the situation.

The judge said that the police committee of the council has still not met with him in connection with the matter, as it was directed to do so by the council at the meeting Nov. 18.

"We are now sending out letters to those who fail to appear to answer citations, that if they do not appear within a specified number of days a summons will be issued for them brought in," Judge Elliott said.

The list of failures to appear, as presented to the council by councilman Clayton Menefee, was arranged at by deducting from the number of citations issued by police, the number of fines levied, Judge said.

This gives a distorted picture, Judge Elliott said, because many of those listed as not fined actually appeared but were not fined for the reason or another.

Also, some of those who did not appear were from out of town, the judge said. "If they are from out of town there is nothing we can do about it if they do not come voluntarily because a city warrant is not good outside the city," Elliott added.

"Something like this (referring Menefee's action) is good because it puts us more on our toes," Judge Elliott said.

Menefee had pointed out to the council that the previous month, 112 citations issued for traffic violations, 55 had failed to appear.

Elks Cerebral Palsy Campaign Nearing An End

Officials of Artesia Elks Lodge 1717 today called on residents of the city to come to the rescue of its campaign for funds to assist in Cerebral Palsy work in the state.

William T. Haldeman, exalted ruler, Mervin Worley, director of the drive, and John McDonald, publicity chairman, said the drive is lagging behind the pace set last year, and reminded it is almost at an end.

Originally planned for completion tomorrow, the campaign will be continued until about Tuesday. Donations of $1 or more are being accepted.

Persons wishing to contribute may contact any Elk member, stop at the Lodge rooms, or mail their check or money order. The letter should be addressed to the Elks C-P Fund.

Funds gathered in the drive are used to support the state Elks Assn. cerebral palsy mobile unit which travels over the state giving home training and treatment of New Mexico's victims of the disease.

Traveling with the unit is Al Sparks, a trained physical therapist. Sparks will appear over KSWN-TV, Roswell, at 2 p.m. and again at 2:45 p.m. Dec. 6 while in that city on a regular trip. Appearing with him will be several of the Roswell children being aided in the program.

There are 590 children in New Mexico known to be victims of cerebral palsy. Of that number 70 per cent—or about 413—can be helped in the home training and treatment program, according to Elks officials.

The memory of departed members will be commemorated by the Elks Lodge 1717 and Does Lodge 45 at annual memorial services at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the Elks Lodge room.

Cottonwood Thefts Under Investigation

Sheriff's deputies today are continuing an investigation of two burglaries that occurred yesterday in the Cottonwood area, six miles north of here, involving the theft of two suitcases, a radio, clothing and personal articles.

The two burglaries occurred on the Jesse Funk and W. H. Waldrip farms, about a mile apart. The stolen items belonged to Braceros working on the farms and were taken from the houses where the Braceros were quartered.

The thefts took place during the day while the Braceros were away working in the fields. The houses were left unlocked.

Ike Funk, deputy sheriff and brother of Jesse Funk on whose place one of the burglaries occurred, discounted a possibility that the thefts were by other Braceros, on the basis of evidence that a car was used in the operation.

Sheriff's Posse To Attend Rites For County Man

The Sheriff's office at Carlsbad has requested all members of the Eddy County Sheriff's Posse, who can, to attend the funeral Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Carpenter Funeral Home, Carlsbad, of William Carpenter, killed in an air crash near Corona yesterday. Carpenter was a member of the posse.

Posse members were asked to wear green shirt and black tie uniforms.

Carpenter, operator of a flying ambulance service and funeral home at Carlsbad, was killed, along with a Roswell man, while flying the body of a child to Albuquerque for cremation. The plane crashed about 10 a. m. yesterday in mountainous country 12 miles south of Corona.

An ambulance from Carlsbad received police and sheriff's escort through Artesia yesterday at 1:30 p. m., enroute to Corona to pick up Carpenter's body, and again on its return at 10:00 p. m.

Two Accidents Mar City's S-D Day Record Thursday

Two accidents occurring almost exactly 12 hours apart were reported in the city of Artesia on S-D Day yesterday, or one more than the city recorded on Safe Driving Day last year, Chief of Police Frank Powell, S-D Day director said today.

No injuries were reported as a result of the two S-D Day accidents here. Total damages to the four cars involved in the two accidents were estimated at $260.

Two reckless driving citations were issued as a result of the two accidents.

The second accident to mar the record occurred at Thirteenth and Washington at 7:25 p. m. yesterday. An estimated $70 damage was done the two cars involved in the accident. William Salsberry, 11044 N. Sixth St., was cited for reckless driving as a result of the accident.

A car driven by Salesbury was reported backing across Thirteenth St. from a parked position on the east side of the street when a car driven by Roy E. Green, 1505 Sears, going south on Thirteenth St., collided with the one driven by Salesbury.

About $30 damage was done the left side of Salesbury's car and $40 damage to the left front of Green's car.

Twelve hours earlier, at 7:30 a. m., the first S-D Day accident occurred almost in front of the S-D Day director's house, at Tenth and Grand. Estimated damages of $190 were done the two cars involved in the first accident. Elias Luevano, 815 Bates, was cited for reckless driving as a result of this accident.

In his speech he criticized the President's attitude at the four-power meeting at the summit in Geneva. "He should have gone, yes," Harriman said. "But he shouldn't have embraced them (the Russians) and told the people they wanted peace as much as we do."

Family Deserter Sought By Police

A felony warrant was issued in justice of the peace court here today for the arrest of Lester Johnson, 30, of 300 S. Sixth St., charging abandonment of his wife and children.

Johnson reportedly has worked as a truck driver and farm laborer and worked in 1953 for International Mines at Dove Creek, Colo.

Police were told that he might be accompanied by a waitress from a cafe at Encino.

Officers Seek Hit-Skip Truck

The town Marshal of Hagerman today requested Artesia police to be on the lookout for a dark-colored 1946-48 Chevrolet involved in a hit-run collision at Hagerman two days ago.

The hit-run car reportedly collided with a parked truck knocking the rear wheels loose, then left the accident scene.

The left side of the run-away vehicle should be damaged, the marshal said.

GALLUP (AP)—The trial of Frank Bustos, 34, Santa Fe, charged with second degree murder in the shooting in a Gallup motel Sept. 8, of Margarito Silva, was underway today in District Court. The body was found by the motel attendants, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Carpenter. Silva had been shot in the head with a five. Bustos was arrested about an hour after the body was discovered.

Super-Secret Matador Runs Away From Holloman Center

CAA Probes Crash Fatal To Carpenters

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Authorities today were investigating the runaway crash of a pilotless bomber guided missile which exploded 12 miles north of the central New Mexico community of Magdalena.

The super-secret Matador missile was being flown in Air Force experiments for Holloman Air Developments Center near Alamogordo when it crashed in a remote mountain area.

Officials at Holloman said there was no one aboard the craft and that it was being flown by remote control. The Matador contained classified equipment, but was carrying no explosives when it crashed.

The missile was a B61 pilotless bomber of the type now stationed in Germany with the United States Air Force. It is made by the Glenn L. Martin Co.

Vital statistics, as released by the Air Force, are: Length, 39.6 feet; wingspread 28.7 feet; speed over 650 mph and a ceiling of over 35,000 feet. The missile is controlled electrically either from the ground or from another plane in the air.

The public information officer, Maj. Orley Caudill of Holloman, said the Air Force has been flying the Matadors for several years from Holloman and this is the first time one had gotten out of control.

The missile has several safety checks while it is in flight. Caudill said two jet planes are flown with and the ther called the "chase" plane. Either of these planes are it-one called a "mother" plane capable of destroying the missile in flight if trouble develops.

Presumably the pilots of the two planes spotting the missile felt there was no danger to persons on the ground and simply left the bomber crash.

Caudill said there would never be any danger to persons on the ground because the missiles were never flown over populated areas.

An immediate investigation into the cause of the crash was ordered and it will be some time before officials will know what the exact trouble was, Caudill said.

VETS CHILDREN SOUGHT

SANTA FE (AP)—State School Superintendent Georgia Lusk says she has asked veterans organizations to make sure names of deceased veterans' children eligible for scholarships are sent to her office. Special scholarships are available from a fund of $7,500 appropriated by the Legislature setting aside $300 each year for children of deceased veterans who qualify.

40 Dropped To Dry River Bed As Bridge Across Rio Collapses

EAGLE PASS, (AP)—A temporary bridge across the Rio Grande collapsed today, throwing about 40 people 20 feet to the dry river bed and injuring 15 to 20 persons.

Sheriff Herbert Lehmann said most of the 15 to 20 were crippled by their falls and that some were in critical condition. He said none was killed.

The bridge was a temporary structure used until the new Eagle Pass international bridge, opened only yesterday, could be brought into use.

"I don't know what those people were doing on the old bridge," said the sheriff. "They didn't belong there, there was no reason for them being there. They were just lookers, I guess."

The span collapsed about 10:15 a. m.

Lehmann said the bridge was made up of concrete flooring of an old bridge, supported by pilings which had been driven into the river bed only three or four months ago.

"Everyone of those pilings gave away, throwing the bridge sort of sideways as it fell. The people just tumbled down."

Both pedestrians and cars had moved across the temporary structure this year. Eagle Pass' original international bridge was destroyed by floods last year.

Fog shrouded the scene at the time of the mishap and rain had fallen earlier in the week but the sheriff did not think weather was a factor in the collapse.

Doctor Cites Over Emphasis On Using Thumb

BOSTON—A New York pediatrician said yesterday parents place too much importance upon trivial actions—like finger sucking—by their children.

Dr. Harry Bakin told the American Medical Assn's ninth clinical session that finger sucking by babies is no more a psychiatric problem than "gum chewing in children and cigarette smoking in adults."

Most such "behavior problems" are trivial, even when they seem of major importance, he said. The family doctor can handle them by giving "a few simple, commonsense suggestions," he said.

He warned in a prepared address that even more serious problems of childhood may not be psychiatric and "it is a mistake to assume that these usually arise from parental mismanagement."

Before blaming it on the parents, he said, the family doctor should make sure the child is not suffering from such things as minor brain damage, visual or hearing defects or chronic disease.

There are so many behavior problems that the general physician must treat them because there are not enough psychiatrists," he said. "Unfortunately the general physician has been frightened by fear, engendered by the psychiatrists, that he may 'do harm' by the incompleteness of his knowledge."

Dr. Harold Jacobziner, assistant commissioner of the maternal and child care services of the New

Art Baker Can't Offer Everything 'You Ask For'

By CHARLES MERCER NEW YORK (AP)—Things I wouldn't know if the television and radio industry didn't hire press agents:

When Mrs. Ethel Park Richardson goes for the $100,000 question on NBC-TV's Big Surprise tomorrow, her big question is one phrased by Kentucky Gov.—elect Happy Chandler. Tip to Mrs. Richardson: Your question involves folk music and folk lore in the southeastern United States.

Radio Station WHDH in Boston is offering free phonograph discs to owners of auto record players in an effort to woo them back to radio. The disc begins with music which is suddenly interrupted by a voice saying such things as "Riding along wondering what the weather is going to be? There are complete weather forecasts at least once over hour over WHDH."

Art Baker, M. C. of You Asked For It (ABC-TV) will be happy to talk to a newspaper man about things he hasn't been able to provide his audience. Example: Every mail brings at least one request from somebody for a nude bathing beauty pageant on the screen.

Monitor, NBC radio's 40-hour weekend program, will report this weekend that President Eisenhower saves 15 minutes daily by deciding the night before what he's going to wear the next day. Former President Harry S. Truman figures he saves 18 minutes daily by using three-in-one continuous vision glasses a step beyond bifocals.

The NBC Opera Theatre presents the longest television opera in history Sunday when Elaine Malbin sings the title role in "Madam Butterfly" 2 1/4 hours of opera in English.

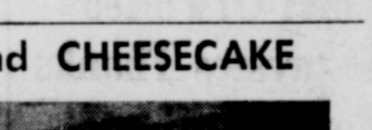

York City Department of Health, told the session that accidental poisoning of children isn't really accidental.

A recent study, he said, shows that poisoning occurs in direct proportion to the degree of accessibility of the poisoning agent.

Out of 454 cases studied, Dr. Jacobziner said, 40 per cent resulted from agents available in open places and 16 per cent were from agents in closed but unlocked places easily reachable by a small child.

Table Topper

Now that the family picnic table has just about done its duty for another year, it's likely to spend a lonely winter exposed to the elements. Unless it is the folding kind, or can be taken about, a picnic table is usually too big and cumbersome for indoor storage.

If it must stand outdoors, here is a tip that will help prolong its life: Just cover the top with a panel cut from a sheet of asbestos board. Asbestos board is not damaged by rain or snow. It has a smooth, attractive surface, too, and it is easy to clean.

Actors Only Retire When They Are Unable To Find Employment

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Me retire? I don't think an actor ever retires—unless he can't get a job anywhere. Of course, I would quit at last a few days before that happens. But you never can tell; you might wait two or three years and a role will come out from under a rock."

This was Spencer Tracy in a mellow mood. He was finishing up a picture called "The Mountain" and he felt pretty good—despite, or perhaps because of, his most strenuous role in years.

Since Tracy has left his long tenancy at MGM, there have been reports that he was going to retire. He scoffed at these, but added wryly, "I don't know how much longer people will want to look at this pan."

Probably as long as he wants to expose it. The two-time Oscar winner is still one of the screen stalwarts and he shows no signs of slowing down.

"As a matter of fact, he just returned from the toughest location of his career. 'The Mountain' company shot right on Mt. Blanc in the Alps.

"It was a three-mile trip up the mountain every day," he said. "And sometimes we had to wait three hours over rock and snow to get to the location."

He and co-star Robert Wagner got the scare of their lives when the suspended car taking them to the peak suddenly stopped. The jolt swung the bottom of the car up to the cable, and there was nothing but rarified air—and a lot of it—beneath them. They were stranded for 35 harrowing minutes until service was resumed.

Tracy, producer Leland Hayward and Ernest Hemingway are partners in filming "The Old Man and the Sea." They'll shoot it under Fred Zinneman's direction. Cuba starting next April. Tracy said the script will be largely Hemingway's words.

"And what words?" he enthused. "This is going to be a great one. The only thing that worries me now can I follow 'The Old Man and the Sea'?"

Jack Staggs Named 1956 President Of North Eddy GPA

Jack Staggs last night was elected 1956 president of the North Eddy county Game Protective Assn. at the group's monthly meeting in the Artesia Junior High school.

Club President Walter O'Malley put it this way after the contract signing yesterday:

"I have previously stated it is my intention to occupy Ebbets Field only two more years, that is, 1956 and 1957. It is unlikely that the progress of constructing a new stadium would be sufficiently rapid for it to be available in 1958, in which event our arrangement with Jersey City would guarantee the continuance of the franchise at the nearest available point to Brooklyn."

Need To Take Interest

ONE OF THE GREAT NEEDS in this nation, our state, our county and even our own city is to take a greater interest in governmental affairs.

And when we take a greater interest in governmental affairs we find we must take a greater interest in politics because it is politics that elects our public officials.

For years as Americans in our nation, state and home communities, we have taken an attitude we can not afford to become involved in politics because we are in business. We have assumed an attitude that to become involved in politics means we lose business and customers.

But it is the government that places the taxes on us; it is the government that places the license fees on us; it is our government representatives who spend the tax money we provide.

So if we expect to have profits left from our business or even profits left from our labors we must take an interest; we must see that our tax money is spent wisely; we must see we have efficient and economical governments; we must see our taxes are reduced and held down to the minimum.

We can't do that by refusing to become interested in governmental affairs and refusing to participate in the electing of our officials.

Professional politicians depend on political offices and political patronage to make a living for them. If this is their only source of income then they must either have a job on the government payroll or they must be in a position to be able to sell the government services or products or merchandise they have to sell.

And if we were in their position we would certainly promote and help elect those who will see we have a job or who see we get the business.

The biggest business in our state and our nation today is the business of our government. We spend more money in this way than any other way.

What the government does or doesn't do is of business to us because it certainly has considerable to do with what we have left from our pay check or from the profit we make in our business.

We will have economical and efficient government; wise spending of public funds; better business principles practiced in government when we as citizens, voters and taxpayers take an interest in these affairs and demand the best qualified people be elected as public officials.

Federal Aid For Building Schools Seems Certain In '56

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Some kind of federal aid for education—probably for building public schools—seems certain in 1956. There are practical and political reasons for thinking so.

1. Schools are needed and the states by themselves are not building them.
2. The President's White House Conference on Education last night approved by a 2-1 margin the idea of federal aid for public schools.
3. President Eisenhower's secretary of health, education and welfare, Marion B. Folsom, made it clear last night the administration would push such a program.
4. The Democrats' Senate leader, Lyndon Johnson of Texas, already has promised that federal aid for school construction would be a primary goal of his party in the Senate.
5. Both parties have a sound political reason to vote federal aid: the conference action demonstrated wide public support for it and 1956 is a big election year.

The conference, which brought between 1,500 and 2,000 men and women here from all 48 states, surprised the skeptics by its action last night.

Before the conference opened on Monday there was widespread doubt any solid agreement could come from so many people with so many different backgrounds. Explosions, perhaps enough to wreck the conference, were thought to have been unexpected.

The opposite happened. In some of its other reports the conference was wishy-washy, issued platitudes and overworked the obvious. Not last night's report on federal aid. It was terse, positive and faced the issue.

Folsom, making one of the final speeches, carefully pointed out he had spoken with Eisenhower yesterday and added: "The federal government must help raise some of the funds for the buildings."

He went further than that a moment later by making it clear the administration was already planning to ask Congress to vote federal aid, for he said that "in designing a federal proposal we are bearing in mind" certain principles.

One of them was that "Federal assistance, while nationwide in scope, benefiting all states, should be distributed according to need." This was not a new idea. It had been batted around before in Congress, which never could make up its mind on federal aid at all.

But Folsom and the administration were right in step with the conference's thinking. Its report was finished and available a few hours before Folsom made the same point at the conference: "All states should be eligible for federal funds but only on the basis of demonstrated needs."

due regard to his neighbor's property rights was flagrantly wasteful; that the extravagant flares that lit up the sky could also spotlight an often needless display of waste.

"The 'no-flare' rule enacted by the New Mexico Oil Commission more than a year ago has had a significant and marked effect. I think it will go down as one of the great forward steps in New Mexico's conservation history. Affecting gas and oil pools in Lea County, the 'no-flare' order shut off the majority of the flares which had been burning millions of cubic feet of natural gas into air each year."

Yankee Player Back From Japan With Case Of Writer's Cramp

NEW YORK (AP)—Gil McDougald, the distinguished young New York Yankee infielder, has returned from a goodwill baseball safari to Japan in top condition except for a bad case of writer's cramp.

"Everybody in Japan is baseball crazy from kids to old men," he marveled. "They play it day and night all the year round. And every fan seems to be an autograph collector."

"One day I looked out my hotel window and saw a businessman playing catch during the lunch hour on the roof of the building across the street. He must have been 60 years old."

The Yankees, who dropped the 1955 World Series to the Brooklyn Dodgers, did considerably better against Japanese ball clubs. They won all but one of their 20 games and that ended in a 1 to 1 tie called after the 10th inning on account of darkness.

As a matter of fact, one of the pleasantest things about the trip to the Yankees was that the Japanese, who are the soul of courtesy, never mentioned "Brooklyn" or "Dodgers" once.

"I never saw fans so polite," observed Gil. "They never hooted us a single time."

"Stands were completely quiet—almost like a morgue—until the Japanese team started a rally or a Yankee hit a home run. Then they'd go wild."

The Yankees found the national pastime of Japan essentially the same as the American national pastime except the Japanese play on an all-dirt field and use a slightly lighter and smaller ball.

"You can't knock it as far, and that bothered us a little," admitted McDougald.

The 6-foot-plus lanky Yankee star gave this assessment of Japanese big league play:

"They are fine in the infield, but seem to lack throwing strength from the outfield. The fans were particularly impressed by the way Hank Bauer could pick up a line drive to right field and throw and catch a runner at first."

"At that the Japanese try too hard to powerhouse the ball instead of depending on coordination."

But the most mysterious thing he found in the way of baseball is played in the Mysterious East was the pitching.

"They use a hesitation ball," he said. "It was our biggest problem. The pitcher slows up at all stages of his windup, and depends on his windup to deceive the batter rather than on the spin or the speed of the ball. And every two or three innings the pitcher worn out by his windup, would be replaced by a new pitcher."

Two-Fold Plan Aimed To Get Ike to Run

WASHINGTON—The men close to President Eisenhower are working on a two-fold program which they hope will convince the President that he can serve a second term.

First, they are taking over a larger share of the work due to Mr. Eisenhower's convalescence. Second, they are refraining from discussing Republican politics with the "boss."

They reason that if the President sees that many of his duties can be adequately handled by his staff he will be less reluctant to run for re-election.

They feel that Mr. Eisenhower can then be persuaded to give more time to leadership and making final decisions on critical issues. According to this plan, he would receive complete briefings on all government matters and then set the course of administration policy.

President Eisenhower

BENSON'S WOES

While the nation's farm problem has been treated primarily as a purely domestic matter, it has its international aspects, too. For one thing, there is the problem of how to dispose of United States food surpluses overseas without undercutting foreign producers.

The economics of many of America's allies depend to a large extent on their ability to sell agricultural products to other nations, and they would find it difficult, if not impossible, to compete with any glut of American foodstuffs.

Benson recently took note of another international factor. In a letter to the United Nations Food and Agricultural organization in Rome, he warned other nations not to increase food production now just because United States production is being cut back to reduce surplus stocks.

Benson pointed out that American output could be stepped up at any time.

ECONOMY

Government economists are facing a dilemma, and this is one reason why confusing reports are coming out of Washington on whether credit controls will be relaxed or continued in force.

There has been fear that credit was in danger of being over-extended. So there came orders to make borrowing more difficult and hints to business to stop low down-payments and long-term installment sales of automobiles and other costly items.

However, there is also the fear that if brakes are applied too tightly, sales of cars and houses, important to the entire economy, might drop off. Long-term credit has become a part of such sales.

TAX OUTLOOK

President Eisenhower is expected to hold out some hope for tax cuts in 1956 when he sends his State of the Union message to Congress in January.

However, there is expected to be no definite decision until April or May, by which time Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey will know how close the administration can come to a balanced budget.

Officially, the administration estimates a $1.7 billion deficit for fiscal 1956, which ends next June 30. However, this figure, according to private economists, is on the "high" side. They say the government is likely to net more revenue from taxes this year than ever before in peacetime.

If the deficit can be whittled close to the break-even point, the odds are that there will be an election-year tax slash. However, if it comes, it is not likely to be a big one.

Whether you like it or not, Kitten, this is yourself... just as you are. The mirror is true. It neither flatters, nor fails to do you justice. It is good to know the facts.

The Apostle Paul said that men are disposed to look into a mirror, and immediately forget what manner of men they are. One needs often to look at himself, to remember his condition. The Springtime of the Soul is called Lent. During the weeks leading up to Easter, we are asked to let our consciences reveal to us just how noble we are living. They who accept the challenge of Lent will take time to pray and to attend the Church, so they may know where they stand.

We have the glorious opportunity of accepting human and divine help, that we shall become better than we are. In fact, the whole purpose of education, patriotism, and religion is to make us better. We can improve. Tomorrow we can be better than today... it is God's gift.
