Heritage Foundation's Quilt Show Draws Crowd

Quilts, Quilts, and More Quilts... Over eighty quilts were on display at the Quilt Show, sponsored by the Heritage Foundation, Thursday at the Old Depot. "We wanted to get something going here at the Depot," said Vivian White. "The Depot is fairly busy on Tuesdays but there's not much going on on Thursday. I like quilts so I came up with the idea of having a Quilt Show. I didn't know we had so many quilters in Muleshoe."

Brightly colored quilts and some not so bright, made from a variety of materials (cotton, satin, velvet, etc.) and patterns were displayed throughout the Depot. One quilt was made from mens ties and another was patterned after the tornado that struck the southern end of Bailey county last year.

What else could have made a quilt show more complete than having an old time quilter on hand. "This is my therapy," said 93 year old Goldie Baker, as she sat working away on her lap quilting (using embroidery hoops she has had for over 40 years), a quilt made in a Tumbling Block pattern.

"I have pieced and quilted quilts nearly all my life. When I was about six years old, I learned to quilt from an aunt," Mrs. Baker said.

Being one of twelve children in her family, Mrs. Baker stated, "Mother used to tell us we will start quilting as soon as school is out. Our quilting frames used to hang from the ceiling, several could gather around and quilt at the same time, and you could visit while you quilted."

"My quilting is not what it used to be," Mrs. Baker continued. "They always told me there should be nine stitches per inch and mine are about eight. I can't see like I used to. My daughter, Ruth Malorey, cuts them out and mails them to me from Elkhart, Indiana," she continued. "She uses a quilting wheel, it makes it a lot easier and the pieces are more even and go together better."

Mrs. Baker said that she had made over 100 quilts. A large number of these quilts have been given to her daughters, grandchildren and great grandchildren. She stated that she made eight quilts in the past year,

Job Horizons Expanded For Senior Citizens

Last week Bailey County Judge Marilyn Cox signed a proclamation proclaiming March 14-20 "Older Workers Week in Muleshoe."

Texas Farmers Union, sponsor the Senior Community Service Employment Program, Green Thumb, Inc., and its president, Joe Rankin encourages local communities to celebrate Older Workers Week.

"Employers who look to the future and focus on maintaining a competitive edge are discovering the value of experienced workers," according to Rankin. "Let us recognize and highlight the contributions of our senior workforce as we strengthen our commitment to investing in their talents and resourcefulness," he added.

Three Green Thumb workers are employed here in Muleshoe. Lena Ruthardt is employed at Muleshoe Public Library, Adele Tompkins is employed by the Texas Department of Health and Thursie Reid is an employee of Muleshoe Area Healthcare Center.

Mrs. Reid began working in the Green Thumb Program on Feb. 19, 1992, and stated "I enjoy my work here." Some of her duties at the Healthcare Center include making coffee, in two places, an rolling the residents down for coffee. She takes some of the residents on walks down to the snack machines.

While the residents have their coffee, Mrs. Reid reads the morning paper to them.

Following coffee, at about 10:45 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday Mrs. Reid rolls them (the residents) down to the cafeteria for exercise, exercising the arms and shoulders.

Some of Mrs. Reid's other duties include delivering mail and rolling the residents to the cafeteria for lunch.

Mrs. Reid works from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Local People To Be Honored At Banquet

Mark your calendars and plan to be in Muleshoe on March 26 for the Annual Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet.

Getting underway at 7 p.m. in the Bailey County Coliseum, citizens who helped to make Muleshoe a better place to live during 1992.

The announcement of the Man and Woman of the Year, the Farm Family of the Year, and the Business and Employee of the Year, will be made. Nominations for the first three awards were open to the community and the final selection came through a secret ballot election by the Board of Directors of the chamber. It promises to be a special and exciting evening as those persons selected receive their surprise award.

The Business of the Year and the Employee of the Year are also chosen through a secret ballot election by the board of directors. However, the names of those on the ballot came from the list of monthly honorees for Business of the Month and Employee of the Month for the twelve months of 1992.

Employees of the Month were: January, Charlena Lindt; February, Lavon Hunt; March, Audrey Humphrey; April, Leon Warren; May, Doris Palmer; June, Elsa Solis; July, Terry Marricle; August, Lee Roy Flores; September, Delores Salcido; October, Alicia Pandillo; November, Missy McClure; and December, Marsha Watkins.

Business of the Month of 1992 included: Higginbotham Bartlett, Co.; Five Area Telephone Co-op; Thriftway, William's Brothers Office Supply, Lena Lumber Co., El Jacalito Tortilla Factory; J & L Fashions, Western Drug, Kristy's Plants, Muleshoe Trade Center, K.C. Muffler's, and Shipman Body Shop.

The theme for this year's banquet will be "Celebrating Agriculture" and the guest speaker will be Rick Perry, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture. He will be speaking on "Agriculture Neighborhood."

If you haven't purchased your ticket now is the time to do so, no tickets will be sold at the door. Tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office for $12 each.

Make your plans now to be at the annual banquet and enjoy an enjoyable evening plus supporting the Chamber of Commerce.

Jack Wilson is the manager of the chamber.

Single Family Housing Repair Loans Available

Rural Housing Repair Loans for applicants with income of less than $10,000 per year are available through county offices of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA). Joyce M. Thompson, FmHA County Supervisor, said.

Loans may be made to repair homes, located in rural areas, to bring them up to standards. Homes which are brought up to standards are considered to be structurally sound and functionally adequate after the repairs are made.

The homes must meet the needs of the family and provide decent, safe, and sanitary living conditions after the loan is closed.

In addition, the houses may lack some equipment or features such as a complete bath, kitchen cabinets, closets, or be completely finished in some rooms.

To be eligible, an applicant must have an income of $10,000 or less per year, own the home and either presently occupy or will occupy the home after the repairs are made, and have a net worth less than $7,500 or, for an elderly family, less than $10,000.

Interest rates for applicants with incomes of less than $5,000 can be as low as one percent. Applicants with incomes of $5,000 to $7,000 will pay two percent and applicants with incomes of $7,000 to $10,000 will pay three percent. The loan will be made for a period of 25 years. The maximum amount of the loan is $10,000.

The Farmers Home Administration assists rural America by providing temporary, supervised direct loans to farm and housing borrowers who have a Cont. Page 6, Col. 5

Some Families May Get Extra Cash From IRS

Tax time could be welcomed by people who qualify for a little extra cash from the internal Revenue Service.

Low-income families who are eligible for Earned Income Credit (EIC) can receive as much as $2,211 this year.

More families may qualify this year, especially if they became unemployed during 1992, or had their hours cut back," said Nancy Granovsky, family economics specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "So, it's especially important for families who never qualified for the EIC before."

"Many families miss the opportunity to receive this tax credit because they don't make enough money to owe taxes, so they don't file an income tax return," Granovsky said. "Also, people don't know about the EIC or how to file for it."

More than 14 million families probably qualify for the EIC, which is available to working parents who earned an adjusted gross income of less than $22,370 in 1992, and had at least one child living at home for more than six months, Granovsky said. Both married and single taxpayers can qualify.

The EIC is a refundable credit, she said, which means that eligible working families can receive it even if they owe no federal income Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES IN TEXAS.

Scientists Hope To Make Superovulation Predictable

The cattle industry has known for years that biotechnology can improve production. But knowing how biotechnology works may help even more, says a Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researcher working with hormones as an aid to embryo transfers.

Dr. David Forrest of the experiment station thinks his research team can benefit the bovine embryo-transfer industry and cattle raisers by making embryo transfer cheaper and more predictable. The key is finding how hormones can improve superovulation, or production of multiple eggs during a single estrus (or heat) cycle.

"The major limitation to the current procedures is the highly variable number of ovulations, which may range from zero to in excess of 30 in a cycle," said Forrest, who is also an associate professor of animal science at Texas A&M University.

"That makes it very difficult to predict the number of embryos one could collect from a donor cow in a transfer program."

Under natural conditions, a cow ovulates only once during a heat cycle. Conventional use of pituitary-derived bovine Follicle Stimulating Hormone, or FSH, might stimulate 10 to 20 simultaneous ovulations--process called superovulation.

But the process doesn't always work. If scientists knew more about how FSH does its job, they might be able to diminish the possibility of no ovulations, Forrest said.

The keys to finding out how several substances interact, one is insulin-like growth factor, or IGF-I, which regulates cells in the ovarian follicle called granulosa cells. These cells are critical to production of an egg.

Another is FSH, which causes the granulosa cells to be more receptive to IGF-I.

"If you increase both the production of IGF-I and the ability of the cells to respond to it, then you can increase the ability of the cells to develop," Forrest said.

Commercial preparations of pituitary-derived FSH injections have been used for more than two decades to increase ovulation in cattle. Such "superstimulation" can result not only in unpredictable ovulation responses, but ovulation failure or defective eggs.

There are two main objectives to work led by Forrest and Dr. Thomas Welsh, Jr., a Texas A&M associate professor of animal science. The first is determining how the gene for IGF-I is regulated by the two genetically engineered recombinant hormones--bovine FSH and bST--during follicular development and maturation. Recombinant hormones are more pure than pituitary-derived hormones, Forrest said, so they don't contain other hormonal substances that might affect superovulation.

The initial process involves isolating the messenger RNA that regulates production of IGF-I and measuring the amount of the RNA in the granulosa cells. It also means finding out how granulosa cells then recognize and respond to the IGF-I they produce.

The second objective is to find the best combination of bovine FSH and bST for improving superovulation. The team will first test for the optimum proportions of FSH and bST, then use FSH alone and combined with bST at different points in the heat cycle.

"Our main interest in the second objective is to determine whether it's better to administer recombinant bST early in the estrus cycle--before FSH is given--or if it's best in the middle of the cycle and at the same time FSH is administered," Forrest said.

Ultrasonography will be used to analyze follicular development during that portion of the research, as well as blood tests for analysis of other hormonal changes.

Use of recombinant bST has not yet been approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. However, Forrest said, the cattle industry generally expects approval, although when the FDA will finalize it is still uncertain.

He said the embryo-transfer industry probably will adopt recombinant bST use rapidly. The industry transfers more than a quarter-million embryos annually, he said.

His team's research project, which is funded by the Texas Advanced Technology Program, began in January 1992 and will probably extend through mid-1994.

If more effective embryo-transfer programs result from the research, producers will be better able to predict and schedule the number of cows needed for embryos, Forrest said. That should increase demand for services from the transfer

Rattlesnake Hunt Scheduled April 3 & 4

The 32nd Annual Waurika "Fangtastic" Rattlesnake Hunt sponsored by the Waurika Jaycees and the Waurika Volunteer Fire Department is scheduled for April 3 and 4 with activities to begin at 8 a.m. both days.

A registration fee of $2.00 per hunter is required to hunt the rattle snake and is good for both days with registration opening at 8 a.m. both days.

Snake catchers and sacks are available for rent or sale.

The longest snake captured will be auctioned and trophies will be awarded Sunday evening.

Trophies or cash will be given for several classifications of snake caught.

First place money for the longest snake caught is $200; second place is $175; third place is $150; and fourth place is $125, plus a bonus for live rattlers over six feet long.

Prizes for snakes with the most rattlers are: first $75; second $50; and third $25.

There will be four specially marked snakes released in the hunt areas and will be worth $25 each if recaptured.

First, second and third place trophies will be awarded for the shortest snake caught. The longest snake brought in by a first time hunter will receive a trophy each day.

All snakes entered for prizes must be alive at the time of the contest and all snakes entered become the property of the Waurika Rattlesnake Hunt.

All live rattlesnakes turned in will be purchased for the market prize.

For added entertainment, fangs and rattlers, James White and the Outlaw Handlers from Grandbury, Texas will be doing continuous performances both days in a pit full of live rattlesnakes.

The performances include a dangerous stunt show that is both exciting and courageous. The popular group will also give safety lectures on hunting rattlesnakes.

Other popular events are the Butcher Shoppe serving "Deep fried Rattlesnake Meat" for the hearty eaters. Exotic and rare reptiles and much more from other areas of the world.

A great carnival that has rides and thrills for all ages provided by A T&T Amusement, of Holiday, Texas. The carnival will be open all day and night Saturday and all day Sunday.

Jefferson County Helping Hands will host a 5K Run/at 8:40 a.m. Call 228-3581 (8 a.m. till 4 p.m.) or call 228-2228 after 6 p.m.

A Rattlesnake Dance will be at the County Line Corral with the "Borderline Band". Tickets are $10 in advance or $12 at the door. For tickets call (405) 229-2316 for more information write: Waurika Rattlesnake Hunt, 422 East "B" Street, Waurika, OK, 73573 or call 405-228-2828.

industry, and in turn drive down prices.

It could also encourage production of recombinant FSH, now commercially unavailable because the company that once produced it is no longer in business.

"Other companies could gear up to produce recombinant bovine FSH if they saw a profit in it," he said. If that doesn't happen, there are other research possibilities.

"One would be if we found recombinant bST to be effective in combination with pituitary-derived FSH. That may still prove beneficial," he said.

"Or we may learn more about the basic physiological mechanisms that regulate follicle development in ovulation, allowing exploration of alternative approaches to improving superovulation."

Farmers Union Praises Clinton Economic Plan

President Clinton's plan for reducing the federal deficit, stimulating the sluggish economy, containing health costs and providing basic coverage to all Americans is getting generally favorable reviews from the 250,000-member national Farmers Union.

While Farmers Union leaders admit they have concerns and unanswered questions about how some components of the package will affect family farmers, farmer cooperatives and rural people, they say the program outlined in Clinton's first address to Congress seemed to cut across the board.

"We commend the president on the progressive proposal on income tax brackets for high income individuals and corporations," said NFU President Leland Swenson.

The more progressive income tax structure, combined with closing loopholes for foreign corporations and eliminating incentives for corporations to relocate in foreign countries "will call on those who benefited most from the tax breaks of the 1980's--which resulted in our deficit increasing four-fold in twelve years--to contribute the most now," said Swenson.

While it appears farmers and ranchers will face reductions in farm support programs, NFU leaders say they will work with the administration and Congress to design policies which reduce outlays but stimulate market prices to offset reductions.

"Increased commodity prices could be the greatest single factor to stimulate investment, create jobs in rural communities, reduce costs of farm programs and increase government tax revenues," Swenson said. The Farmers Union has proposed that farm program supports be targeted to family farm operators through a system based on actual commodity production which can be capped.

The farm leader said a major concern members of his organization have is the proposed energy tax. Farmers are large users of energy products through input products, production operations and marketing.

Export Funding From Commerce Paving Way For International Business For Texas Companies

EMC Automation of Austin has been approved for a $350,000 Texas Exporters Loan Fund guaranty from the Texas Department of Commerce. The loan, funded by Texas Commerce Bank, is being used to support almost a million dollars in sales to Mando Machinery Corp. of Korea. Mando Machinery is a leading manufacturer of electronic components for the automotive industry in Korea. It will use the system to test products for compliance to electromagnetic compatibility regulations.

"By receiving the Texas Exporters Loan Fund guaranty, our chances of receiving future contracts from companies like Mando have greatly increased," said Joe Sivaswamy, president of EMC Automation. "With increased dependence on digital technology and communications, there is a need to test electronic products for their compatibility to their electromagnetic environment."

EMC automation estimates business will grow to $10 million a year within the next four-to-five years. Incorporated in 1987, EMC Automation designs, manufactures and markets computer controlled systems for electromagnetic compatibility testing.

Commerce's Texas Exporters Loan Fund is designed to provide exporters access to working capital loans from commercial lenders. It is a $2 million program, has a guaranty covering up to 90 percent of the principal amount of the loan and carries a maximum guaranty of $350,000 per client. By receiving financial incentive to export, Texas businesses open doors for future success and prosperity.

"Exporting is an effective way to increase business and protect pocketbooks against local economy downfalls," says Ed Sosa, Commerce's Export Finance Office manager. "With trade opportunities increasing daily, exporting also is proving to be a most effective way to participate in the global marketplace."

For more information on the Texas Exporters Loan Program, call 512/320-9662 or 512/320-9446.

The Bob Dylan 30th Anniversary Celebration

The Bob Dylan 30th Anniversary Celebration is a star-studded concert tribute to the American pop music icon. Filmed at New York's Madison Square Garden in October, the concert sold out 18,200 seats in a frantic, record-breaking 70 minutes. The concert celebrates the 30th anniversary of the enigmatic songwriter/performer's 1962 debut album, "Bob Dylan."

The Bob Dylan 30th Anniversary Celebration, a four-hour special, takes viewers front row center and backstage, capturing all of the excitement and emotion of this historic concert as the greatest names in popular music pay tribute to Dylan and the songs that made him a legend. Artists include Eric Clapton, Neil Young, Tom Petty, George Harrison, Stevie Wonder, John Mellencamp, Johnny Winter, Kris Kristofferson, Tracy Chapman, Richie Havens, Willie Nelson, Johnny Cash, Mary-Chapin Carpenter, Sinead O'Connor, Sophie B. Hawkins, Roger McGuinn, The Band, The Clancy Brothers, O'Jays, Pearl Jam's Eddie Vedder and Mike McCready, and Booker T and the MG's.

Bob Dylan, heralded as the definitive voice of the turbulent 1960s, brought to rock 'n' roll the traditions of poetry, protest, and personal confession. Each performer interprets Dylan favorites, revealing the indelible impression Dylan has made on American music -- from folk to alternative rock, from country to gospel.

The Bob Dylan 30th Anniversary Celebration will be broadcast Sunday, March 21st at 7:00 p.m. on KENW-TV.

Paul Simon: Born at the Right Time

In the 1960s, Paul Simon's "Bridge Over Troubled Water" was an anthem for a generation of Americans. Three decades later, Simon is still creating music with the power to move millions.

Paul Simon: Born at the Right Time, a three-hour special, follows Simon on a musical odyssey from the placid, middle-class streets of Queens, New York, in the 1950s to politically turbulent South Africa in the 1990s.

Paul Simon: Born at the Right Time is the first television program to tell Paul Simon's story in his own words and through his music. It is the story of a kid from New York City who became hugely successful during the heyday of Simon and Garfunkel, and tells of Simon's transition to performing alone.

On his "Born at the Right Time" tour in Rio -- where Simon performs with celebrated Brazilian musician Milton Nascimento -- kids, who weren't even born when Simon began his career, sing along to a newly orchestrated version of "The Sounds of Silence." In China, where there hadn't been a large-scale concert since 1945, Simon performs in a stadium for an audience of 25,000. Despite guards and an official warning that dancing is prohibited, the enthusiastic audience defies the authorities, jumping up to dance.

Paul Simon: Born at the Right Time will be broadcast Monday, March 22nd at 7:00 p.m.

Creative Living

with Sheryl Borden

Information on making hair bows and preparing a sweet red pepper salad dressing will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, March 23 at 12:00 and Saturday, March 27 at 2 p.m. (all times are Mountain). "Creative Living" airs on public broadcasting station, KENW-TV, from Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, NM.

Mary Ann Sanderson, who lives in Lubbock, Texas, has been making hair bows professionally a long time; however, her interest started with her own three daughters. Sanderson will show garments that have coordinating bows as well as demonstrate three different bow-making techniques.

Sanderson's business is Tie One On.

Robin Blackburn, who represents Hollywood Safflower Oil, will show how to roast fresh peppers and use them in an unusual, easily prepared salad dressing.

Due to Festival '93, "Creative Living" will not be seen on Tuesday evening, March 23rd, but will return to its regularly scheduled time on Tuesday, March 30th. On Thursday, March 25 at 12:00 "Creative Living" will discuss the care and hanging of art and demonstrate unique salad presentations.

Jim Nye, a certified framer with Deck the Walls, will discuss how to properly hang and care for artwork. Nye is from Houston, TX.

Lynne Trolley is the proprietress of Miss Mary Bobo's Boarding House, a 100 year old establishment in Lynchburg, TN. Tolley will share some of the unique salad recipes that are served everyday at the noon meal at the boarding house.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam, and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, CO. Viewers can request copies of materials offered on the show by sending one 29 cent stamp for each handout requested. Send the stamps, along with your name, address, and booklets requested to:

Tops News

Tops Chapter No. 34 met at the Muleshoe Church of Christ, Thursday, March 11th at 6:00 p.m. Leader Laverne James called the meeting to order. The Tops pledge was recited and the fellowship song was sung. Mrs. James led the group in a prayer.

Betty Jo Davis, weight recorder, called the roll with 17 members answering with the amount they had lost or gained. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Aurora Mata, secretary, and they were approved as read.

Best loser for the week is Orvdie Burris. Runners-up are Alene Bryant, first runner up, and Loretta Lloyd, second runner up.

The meeting was adjourned with the singing of the good night song.

ENMU Continues Student Trio Program Celebration

As a result of the long-term success of the TRIO programs, National TRIO week was celebrated last week across the nation. Eastern New Mexico University will continue the celebration, however, since the benefits for ENMU students are so great.

The TRIO programs began as a civil rights movement to increase opportunities to minorities and under-privileged students. Talent Search and Upward Bound were the first of the three programs to be developed. They are pre-college programs designed to aid junior high and high school students. The third program was Student Support Services, which was designed for retention of students already attending college. These programs have been providing educational opportunities since 1965.

Today there are other programs such as support for veterans and non-traditional students. Karyl Lyne, director of counseling and testing and the director of student Support Services at ENMU, says of the program, "The Educational Opportunity Center targets adults who are beyond college age. They determine who they are and help them get into college. There are scary things that are real barriers to these students."

Some of the other reasons that students are selected for programs are financial need, learning disabilities and being first-generation students.

Currently, there are four Upward Bound and Talent Search programs and three Student Service programs in New Mexico. In addition to being the outlet for the three original TRIO programs, ENMU is not the base for two counselors from ENMU Roswell who work with the Educational Opportunity Center. The EOC helps adults in the same way that Upward Bound helps young adults.

Another important program that is being developed is a tracking system. It will be used to track the progress of students in all of the TRIO programs.

A career exploration class is also being set up to help students choose careers. Lyne says "Research shows that people are making three to five major changes in their career life. So there is a need for focusing on career choices."

More than 600,000 students are helped each year through the TRIO programs at a cost of less than $400 million. According to Karyl Lyne, "The bottom line is providing educational opportunities to students who might not otherwise have them available."

The TRIO programs are funded on a grant by grant basis which are awarded through the United States Department of Education.

News From The University Of Texas

Texas Unique Hotel For Cancer Patients And Families

Worry about hotel reservations is no longer a concern of outpatients at The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston.

An 11-story luxurious inn has just opened across the street from the hospital. Its 198 rooms will be reserved primarily for outpatients and families of those hospitalized at M.D. Anderson.

Known as the Jesse H. Jones Rotary House International, it was built with an $8 million gift from the Rotary Club of Houston Foundation and $9 million in revenue bonds issued by the UT System. It will be operated for the hospital by Marriott Conference Center.

It is located at 1600 Holcombe Blvd. on the former site of the Anderson Mayfair Hotel, which also was owned by the UT System and which housed cancer patients and their families. The hotel was demolished in 1990 after almost two decades of service.

Death was a permanent resident at the Anderson Mayfair because many of the transient guests were terminal cancer patients who didn't need hospitalization. Rotary International House also will be a temporary home to those who require intensive treatment but on an outpatient basis. Rooms will range from $63 to $86 a night.

A facility of this type is a special need at an institution like M.D. Anderson which draws patients from throughout the world. More than two-thirds of those seeking treatment are from out of town. On an average day, the hospital staff sees 1,800 outpatients.

Rotary House International was designed not only to offer everything one might expect in fine lodging, but also to provide unique features that cater to the special needs of patients and their families.

To make guests feel at home, each room and suite is equipped with a refrigerator, microwave oven, dishes and dishwasher, television and a player for video cassettes. In addition to commercial and cable channels, the hospital's closed-circuit channels are available for viewing patient educational programs.

The home-away-from-home theme extends to The Oak, a family-style restaurant and lounge on the second floor. It seats 125 guests, and the menus are planned around the special needs of patients and their families. For those who prefer to dine in their rooms, a delicatessen on the second floor features a sandwich shop and an assortment of grocery items. Included are frozen entrees which can be prepared in the microwave ovens in each room.

Guests at Rotary House

International don't even have to worry about traffic on busy Holcombe Boulevard. A walkway from the second floor crosses the street and exits into Memorial Garden in front of the R. Lee Clark Clinic Building. Plans are to extend the walkway to connect with the new clinical services building now on the drawing board.

Patients with free time can enjoy a garden atrium on the first floor and an indoor swimming pool. Also available are a music and game room a leisure library and a craft room. A beauty salon, barber shop and laundry facilities are also available.

Patients or family members who need to conduct business while at Rotary House International have no problems. A fully equipped business/communications center is available.

Medical treatment is but one of the services to M.D. Anderson patients and their families. There is a Patient/Family Learning Center where those with cancer and their families are taught how to deal with the illness and care for themselves. In addition to special education classes for patients and families, there is an extensive videotape library of health care instructional cassettes.

Chaplains are available at all times to assist the various support groups that counsel patients, spouses and other family members.

Even parking is not a problem at the Rotary House International. The facility site includes 200 parking spaces for guests' automobiles. The parking area has 24-hour security provided by the University's own police department.

Inside the hotel, around-the-clock security also is provided.

The facility was named by Rotary International Foundation for the late Jesse H. Jones, prominent Houston business leader and philanthropist. More than 23,000 Rotary Clubs throughout the world contribute to the Foundation that made this unusual hotel possible.

AIR WORTHY---"Star Date," a daily radio program on astronomy and space exploration produced by the University of Texas at Austin McDonald Observatory, is the nation's longest-running science production on the air.

Started in 1977 on an Austin Radio station, the program now is in its 15th year. The two-minute presentations are broadcast by 200 radio stations around the country.

"Star Date" provides sky-watching information, astronomy research news from around the world and other topics related to that science and space exploration.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN?---

Injuries kill more Americans each year than pneumonia, chronic lung disease, stroke or AIDS.

According to figures released by The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas, more productive work years are lost to trauma than to heart disease and cancer combined.

Accidental injuries annually kill three times more Americans than died in the Vietnam War. They are the leading cause of death in the U.S. for people under the age of 45.

****

BOTTOM LINE---When it comes to training students for the world of business, Texas ranks among the best.

Of the 228 U.S. schools offering degrees in business administration, The University of Texas at Austin ranked seventh and Texas A&M University 10th.

The rankings were made by Dr. Jack Gorman through National Education Standard.

The other universities in the top 10 are outside Texas. They are, in order of rank, the Wharton School of business at the University of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Indiana University, University of Michigan, University of California at Berkeley, New York University, Carnegie-Mellon University and the University of Illinois.

PROGRESS REPORT---ONDROX, a new vitamin developed at the Smithville research division of The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center, is becoming a national best-seller.

The creation of Thomas Slaga, a biochemist who directs the Smithville division, ONDROX may be a cancer preventive. Studies with laboratory animals have shown that some of the compounds and ingredients in the drug inhibit the development of cancer in animals.

Federal law prohibits the manufacturer from making claims that the multivitamin can fight disease. It is being marketed for its ability to protect the immune system. Whereas most multivitamins contain 25 or so vitamins and minerals, ONDROX contains some 20 more.

Pioneer Round-Up To Be Held In Plainview

The Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club has announced Saturday, May 15 as the date for the 1993 Pioneer Round-Up. This will be the 65th year the Club has sponsored this annual event, according to Nancy Fowler, President of the sponsoring club. The theme chosen for the 1993 event is "65 Years of Pioneering, the Adventure Continues".

The Pioneer Round-Up was started as a method of honoring pioneers of this area. This continues to be one of the purposes of the event, but in addition, it has become an entertainment feature for people of all ages in Plainview, Hale County and surrounding areas.

Mrs. Fowler has appointed committees for the Round-Up and chairman of each committee is as follows: Program, Nelda Barbian; Dance, Helen Burleson; Reception, Celia Drager; Tickets, Kay Boedecker; Food, Nancy Cox; Serving, Pat Ray; Door, Sherry Hoover; Concessions, Doris Washington; Registration, Helen Harper; Parade, Gail Veach; Country Kitchen, Lois Teller; Float, Alice Doyle & Nelda Barbian; Placemats, Bula McGowan; Housing, Nancy Fowler; and Publicity, Jo Ann Clements.

Activities will be held in the Ollie Liner Center on the South edge of Plainview. The reception will be held in the meeting room at the Center which begins at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday morning.

The traditional Pioneer Round-Up parade will roll at 2:30 p.m.

The Saturday evening's program will begin at 6:00 when the chuck wagon supper will be served until 8:00 p.m. in the large assembly room at the Ollie Liner Center with the program to follow:

A square dance will conclude the day's activities.

All local and area people will conclude the day's activities.

This Pioneer Round-Up will be a day of entertainment and honor to those pioneers who came to this country many years ago.

ATTENDS LEADERSHIP MEETING---Future Homemakers Of America Muleshoe Chapter attended a Leadership Meeting at Odessa March 12 and 13, 1993. Attending from Muleshoe were Amanda Wolfe, Chapter Secretary; Misty Richardson, Chapter President; Mandy Seals, Class President; Laura Lira, Chapter Vice-President of Achievement; and Marquita Adamson, Advisor. Students attended general sessions and workshops on leadership. They had a great time handing out Muleshoe pins to delegates from 67 countries. Over 1000 delegates gained knowledge and leadership skills relating to the theme, "FHA, A League Of Its Own." Mrs. Adamson was on the program for the advisor's workshop, and her presentation was on FHA/Hero activities.

tax or have no income tax withheld from their paychecks. Those who owe no income tax receive a check from the IRS in the amount of their credit.

"If a family does owe income tax, the EIC reduces the amount of taxes owed, Granovsky said. "If the family's credit is greater than the amount of taxes owed, the family's tax bill will be reduced to zero and the IRS will send the family a check for the remainder."

To receive the EIC, a person abilities, and interest. At no cost to the employer, Green Thumb provides recruitment, screening, and referral of qualified applicants. We tailor the training to the job and share in the training costs."

"Not only during Older Worker Week but every week, employers should utilize the skills and abilities of our senior jobseekers; hiring experience, dependability, reliability, and dedication is just good business," concludes Rankin.

must file a federal income tax return, either 1040 or 1040A, and a new form called "Schedule EIC." Taxpayers may fill out both sides of the form, or fill out only the first side and allow the IRS to fill out the other, more complicated side and calculate the credit.

Granovsky said that those families who use the "married couple filing separately" status need to check with the IRS to see if they qualify to receive the EIC.

The amount of refund a family receives, she said, depends on how much income was earned and whether they qualify for two extra EIC benefits that are now available.

*The basic EIC for 1992 for families with one child is worth a maximum of $1,324 and $1,384 for those with more than one child. Most families who had an earned income between $5,700 and $14,400 last year will receive at least $1,000.

*Families with a child born in 1992 can receive an extra benefit of up to $376.

*Families that pay at least part of the premiums for health insurance policy that includes health care coverage for a child may receive an extra credit of up to $451.

Low-income parents with a foster child also can receive the EIC, Granovsky said. However, the foster child must have lived with the family for that entire year.

More information on the EIC and free assistance is available in most areas at Volunteer Income tax Assistance (VITA) clinics, she said. Call the local IRS office or (800) 829-1040 to find out the location of the nearest VITA clinic.

Don't Spray Firewood With Pesticides, Expert Warns

You discover that unburned log you left on the hearth suddenly seems to be full of bugs. And, good grief, the woodpile probably is too. But an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service warns, "Don't reach for the bug spray."

"Never spray the woodpile," said Dr. Mike Merchant, Dallas entomologist with the Extension Service. "The chemical can remain on the surface of the wood and can produce a toxic vapor when burned, which could be irritating to the eyes and sinuses. While not serious, common sense tells you not to burn something toxic."

Beetles are the most frequently found type of insect emerging from firewood, said Merchant. Fortunately, these beetles are unlikely to attack seasoned or finished woods in your home. They normally infest green wood in newly felled or weakened trees and aren't interested in your bookcase or antique table.

Beetles lay their eggs in trees and often end up in firewood. If you bring infested wood into the house and let it sit, adult beetles eventually emerge. Finding these insects in the house alarms some folks.

Termites, carpenter ants, cockroaches, spiders and centipedes, also can enter the house on firewood and cause undue concern, Merchant said.

"Sometimes insects find new homes by hitching rides on firewood," he said. "The poisonous brown recluse spider, for example, is found occasionally in firewood brought in from Oklahoma and other areas."

"Not native to Texas, the brown recluse spider is common in Oklahoma, Arkansas and southern Missouri. Being shipped in firewood is one way this pest has been carried into different parts of the country."

Merchant has these tips to prevent importing insects into your home in firewood:

*Never spray the woodpile with insecticide. The vapors could be toxic.

*Never store wood in direct contact with the soil. Instead, stack wood off the ground on a rack or platform of treated wood or stone.

*Keep the woodpile dry with good air circulation under and around it. This discourages cockroaches, millipedes, centipedes and pillbugs from setting up housekeeping.

*Never store wood in the house. Bring in only as much wood as you can burn at one time.

*Dangerous insects and spiders are rare, but it's a good idea to check logs carefully for insects before carrying them inside.

*Wear long sleeves and gloves when handling firewood.

Merchant has good news for those who find termites in their firewood: "Don't panic. Just don't bring the wood into the house until you're ready to burn it. Termites can't survive the fire."

News from Congressman Larry Combest

MEETING THE PRESIDENT

With rhetoric left out in the hallway of the room where we met in the U.S. Capitol, President Clinton talked candidly with those of us on the Republican leadership team. As the senior Republican member of the House Intelligence Committee and Small Business and Agriculture subcommittees, I was particularly interested in a firsthand account of the Clinton spending and tax plans relating to small businesses and family farmers, as well as foreign policy. Finally face to face, and the tone was refreshing.

Open Letter To The Public

MY FEAR OF AIDS
I am a youth in this area that recently was being tormented with the possible fear of having AIDS! I just received my results and I must say that I escaped luckily from the door of death.

I just want my friends at school to know that the AIDS disease is not something we are immune to if we are practicing sex. Yes, I also thought that if I trusted my partner and used condoms I would be okay. I did not know that a person could actually sway me to do whatever "I felt good, regardless of who I hurt" until I found out that one of my partners had tested positive for HIV.

I thought I was dead for sure. But I now know that I am lucky because my test was negative. To be point blank, I just want my friends to know that there is no such thing as: SAFE SEX unless one is committed to a person in a marriage. Any so called "safe sex" out of marriage is a LIE! I guess I found out that I am not as tough as I thought because I have allowed peer pressure and my insecurities to do WHAT I WANT AND WHAT MAKES ME FEEL GOOD NO MATTER WHO I HURT. I am going to make a change in my thinking about sex because I want to live and not die. Getting laid is no longer the "in thing" for me, it is now the stupid thing to do. Sex is no longer a toy for me. I will do my best to keep my body for my spouse because sex is has become an issue of living or dying for me.

In closing, I would like to say to my mom and dad: I love you both and I have learned that unless I am married I will not touch sex because at this time NO SEX IS SAFE SEX...

Later my friends,
Lucky

Bill Clinton opened the hour and a half dialogue acknowledging our philosophical differences of how to reduce the budget deficit. The new president believes his $178 billion worth of increased spending will help the economy. My conservative colleagues and I maintain we cannot spend or tax our way out of this deficit.

He readily admitted a number of things. The president said he would have asked for more spending cuts, but would have faced too much opposition from congressional Democrats. To get spending cuts, Clinton realizes he needs the coalition of Ronald Reagan's conservative Democrats and the 175 House Republicans. He will also turn to Republican suggestions on health care and welfare reform, both of which he praised as noteworthy. In that first-ever meeting with Republican leaders 90 days into his presidency, I found him very open to questions and suggestions. He acknowledged our strong differences as well as areas where we are closer than he has publicly state.

We continue to wait for specifics on his economic plans, which I believe his administration may well still be drafting. Meanwhile, as the majority in Congress, Democrats will force a vote on a budget resolution that essentially pledges support, without giving the specifics, as to how your tax money will be spent. We told the president that conservatives will not sign your names to a blank check. Although he countered by saying that was the way the 1990 budget deal between Bush and Democrats was handled, we reminded him that most of us in that room had voted against that agreement.

He did surprise us by volunteering his willingness to support an automatic expiration of his proposed new spending programs at the end of his term. I believe that all government programs should be reviewed under what are called "sunset provisions" evaluating both the purpose and spending record of those programs.

While he seems to appear sincere in his views, that does not soften my strong opposition to his methods and broken promises. Instead of promised tax cuts, middle-income families now face Clinton's tax increases. His administration's budget numbers still do not add up.

However, he was candid about mishandling the controversial announcements lifting the ban on homosexuals in the military and allowing AIDS immigrants into this country. I am adamantly opposed to those unwise moves and I have cosponsored legislation that would block those executive orders.

He also apologized for not giving key Members of Congress advance notice of his decision to airlift supplies into Bosnia. He promised we would be told in advance of such major presidential decisions in the future.

As we parted, I relayed our region's deep concerns about this plans for increased spending and taxes, adding that the past dozen years of 133 percent increases in spending far outpaced the 111 percent increases in revenues. As he well knows, the government is $4.09 trillion in debt. That track record clearly shows that increased taxes mean even more increases in spending.

Although no one's mind was changed, the olive branch of discussion was offered. If we can prune the wild growth of government's money tree, we will have all gained more than a symbolic olive branch from these talks.

Microwave Tips

Small and loosely packed pieces of shellfish are easy to defrost.

Spread them, separated, in a baking dish—single layer. Microwave on Defrost half time.

Rearrange and cook on Defrost last half of time. They should still feel cool—and soft.

Wait?

For years the National Rifle Association and others have locked legislation requiring a waiting period for the purchase of firearms.

Police organizations, concerned citizens and others have lobbied hard for the so-called Brady Bill, which would require such a waiting period. No editor can say with certainty a waiting period would deter crime and criminals.

But one can say the scandalous U.S. crime rate demands this approach be given a try, for a limited number of years.

Law-abiding citizens will not be terribly inconvenienced if they must wait a few days to buy a firearm.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
SPECIAL ELECTION
MAY 1, 1993

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Section 1 of Senate Joint Resolution 7 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to redistribute among other school districts ad valorem taxes levied and collected by a school district. The amendment would also allow the legislature to create county education districts with the taxable property of existing school districts in one or more counties combined. County education districts may levy, collect, and distribute ad valorem taxes as authorized by general law. The legislature would be allowed to set the rate of the ad valorem tax to be imposed in a school district or county education district or it may authorize the board of trustees of each school district or county education district to set the rate, provided that the rate of county education district ad valorem taxes may not exceed $1.00 per $100 valuation of taxable property, unless a higher rate is approved by the voters of the district. The amendment also provides that the amount of ad valorem taxes redistributed among school districts by the legislature and effectively redistributed within a county through county education districts may not exceed 2.75 percent of the sum of the state revenue appropriated for public schools and the revenue from local ad valorem taxes levied and collected for public schools. The term "state revenue" does not include revenue from ad valorem taxes, revenue for the provision of free textbooks, or contributions to a retirement system. Finally, the amendment provides that it does not affect the distribution of the available school fund under article VII, section 5, of the Texas Constitution.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment allowing limited redistribution of ad valorem taxes for schools, authorizing the legislature or local districts to set a minimum tax rate in county education districts, and placing a cap on the ad valorem tax levied by county education districts."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Section 2 of Senate Joint Resolution 7 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide that, except for state educational mandates imposed in compliance with the Texas Constitution or federal law, or unless enacted by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature, a school district may not be required to comply with an obligation requiring expenditure of school district funds unless the obligation is fully funded. The amendment also requires the legislature to provide by law a procedure for determining whether an obligation is fully funded. In the absence of such a procedure, and at the request of a school district's board of trustees, the comptroller of public accounts shall determine whether or not an obligation is fully funded. This amendment applies only to state educational mandates enacted after December 31, 1993.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment exempting a school district from the obligation to comply with unfunded state educational mandates."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 4 proposes an amendment to article VII, section 5(b), of the constitution, which currently authorizes the legislature to provide for using the permanent school fund to guarantee bonds issued by school districts and certain education-related revenue bonds issued by the state. The amendment would repeal the provision authorizing the use of the permanent school fund to guarantee state revenue bonds, but would permit the legislature to provide by law for the issuance of general obligation bonds or revenue bonds of the state for the purpose of making loans to, or purchasing bonds of, school districts for the purpose of acquisition, construction, or improvement of instructional facilities, including all furnishings. The amendment also provides that the state, pursuant to general law, may forgive the payment of principal and interest on all or part of a loan made to a school district under the amendment to partially finance an instructional facility. The cap of $750 million on the amount of bonds that could be issued under article VII, section 5(b), as amended, would be retained. The amendment would repeal the current provision of the constitution permitting the legislature to authorize bonds in excess of $750 million by two-thirds record vote of both houses of the legislature. While any of the general obligation bonds issued under the amendment or any of the interest on those bonds is outstanding and unpaid, there would be appropriated out of the first money coming into the state treasury in each fiscal year, not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, the amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest on the bonds that matured or became due that fiscal year.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of $750 million in state general obligation or revenue bonds to assist school districts in partially financing facilities, authorizing the state to forgive payments of loans made to a school district for partially financing facilities, and repealing the authorization for $750 million in state revenue bonds guaranteed by the permanent school fund."

TV Commentary

By Bente Christensen

NBC is being hurt by the phony documentary about which so much has been heard but NBC is not alone in managing the news.

ABC, in recent years,
has slanted the news more than either of its commercial rivals, in the writer's view, often distorting the overall picture. Peter Jennings is likeable and popular but he isn't head of the news department at ABC-TV.
CBS also slants news.

A March poll (Times Mirror) indicates CNN is believed truthful by more viewers than the three older commercials, CBS, ABC and NBC. But results were so close they mean little, except to reflect the dramatic increase in public trust for CNN, which trailed all three older networks a year ago.

NBC came out on top

in coverage of the Trade Center bombing recently-
in coverage of the story.
And Tom Brokaw is not involved in the recent NBC scandal. The question at NBC News is how long "Grandmother"
Chancellor will be kept on the news show with his nightly brainstorms.
Occasionally he gets off something good, but often it's think fare.

DAN Rather is hanging in there, trying hard to seem conscientious and on top of events, but he gets less and less impressive. And is his head getting smaller? Is he losing too much weight?

PETER Jennings' appearance also changed
slightly some months ago, when he came back on the air after an illness.
Brokaw might win the competition in the long run as the most durable and robust of the three!

Spring is almost here, so if you are planning a home remodeling project, the BBB reminds you that all agreements and promises regarding the project should be put in writing to protect both you and the contractor. Not only should you include a thorough description of the work to be done, but include starting and completion dates, cost breakdown of labor and material charges, the contractor's name, address, phone number and professional license number. Also, the BBB reminds homeowners to be sure the contract include clauses on permits, lien protection and warranties. Warranties and guarantees offered by the contractor should be in writing and should be specific and for how long. Finally, don't be rushed into signing a completion certificate for the job until you have inspected it and it has been completed as agreed to in the contract. Check the contractor out through your home builders association or call our office at 763-0459.

Schemers will insist that bankruptcy is the easy way to avoid responsibility for repaying debts, but don't believe it! Personal bankruptcy is designed to provide relief from heavy financial obligations that might result from unexpected events. Declaring bankruptcy gives some people the false sense that they will be given a fresh start; however, here are some snarls you will encounter: You must pay attorney and filing fees which can be substantial; bankruptcy proceedings are public; your credit record carries the blemish for 10 years which can affect your ability to gain further credit; some debts such as taxes and child support are not excused, check out your alternatives, contact your creditors--don't avoid them--try to work out a payment plan. Set yourself a budget and stick to it.
Managing your money without bankruptcy will bring you a sense of accomplishment and well-being.

Poly Filter Weights

A unique combination of a Poly Profit Weight and filter in one inexpensive easy to install package.
The filter weight is designed primarily for those low flow nozzles located near the pivot that are easily plugged and require constant attention.

The design of the Poly Filter Weight with o rings at either end make it very simple to disassemble to clean out accumulated material.
It has a poly screen filter with 32 mesh per inch to effectively clean a 4/64" nozzle. It is not recommended for nozzle size above 16/64" nozzle.
