Latest Farm Program Sign-up Dates Released

The following information was released by Danny Noble, County Executive Director, Bailey County ASCS Office.

1993 FARM PROGRAM SIGNUP

All producers that wish to participate in the 1993 Farm Program, MUST sign up their intentions by no later than April 30, 1993. We still have a lot of farms to go, so please call for an appointment today (Time is running out). After the operator signs the farm into the program, all other tenants and owners signature MUST be obtained and received in this office by no later than May 14, 1993.

1993 SMALL GRAIN ACREAGE REPORT

The final date to certify or request an aerial measurement service for wheat, rye, barley, oats, and triticale regardless of use, program or non-program, ACR or CU, is May 17, 1993.

This is also the final date to certify to zero acreage planted if the farm has a base for that commodity.

REMEMBER!!! If you miss your acreage report by the larger of 5 percent or 1.0 acre, not to exceed 10.0 acres, up or down, it can cause the farm to be ineligible for program benefits. Please don't guess.

TOLERANCE ON CORN/ GRAIN SORGHUM

The tolerance will be calculated on the total of reported for both crops. The determined acreage will be separately by crops. The difference between the reported and determined of each crop will be totaled and cannot be greater or less than the tolerance for the combined permitted.

1993 COMPLIANCE- SPOT CHECK

If a producer is spot checked and found to be out of compliance, that producer MUST request to the County Committee to determine that a good faith effort was made when measuring. If the producer fails to make this request or the committee is unable to determine good faith, all advance payments issued on the farm shall be refunded and liquidated damages will be assessed on all participating program crops. In addition, all crops on the farm will become ineligible for any program benefits, including loans. However, if the Committee determines that a good faith effort was made, a failure to fully comply penalty will be assessed. This penalty is now farm specific rather than crop specific. In other words, if you are penalized due to one crop being out of compliance and the penalty exceeds the payment for that crop, the penalty will carry over to the other crops on that farm until the penalty is collected.

SMALL GRAINS LEFT STANDING

If you have wheat, or other small grains on ACR or CU that will be

Census Of Agriculture Data Essential To Farmers

If all farmers and ranchers are not counted in the Census of Agriculture, decisions on farm programs, agriculture trade, extension programs, and others will suffer. In the long run every farmer and rancher will be affected.

The data from the Census of Agriculture are essential in allocating billions in agriculture funds every year.

*The distribution of extension program funds depends on the census.

*The number of acres of cropland that can be put into the conservation reserve program in your country is based on the census.

*Funds for farm disaster relief are tied to data from the census.

*Farm loan money available to states and counties depend on the numbers in the census.

These are but a few examples of why an undercount in the Census of Agriculture could be detrimental to every farmer and rancher in this country.

In addition, the government's negotiators on agriculture commodity trade heavily on the census data. If the information is understated, then American producers may not get the best benefits possible from current trade negotiations.

According to George Pierce, Assistant Chief of the Census Bureau's Agriculture Division, "More than 75 percent of America's farmers and ranchers have completed and returned their Census of Agriculture report. Others have requested time extensions until they complete their tax returns. But there are still quite a few that we haven't heard from. Response in some states and counties is better than others." What does this mean? Those states and counties with the greatest undercount may not receive their share of the agriculture programs, funding, trade considerations, educational funds, and consideration in Congress.

Price said, "What we also think

Priscilla Orozco Gets Her Wish, Trip To Disney World

All children have wishes, and sometimes they come true, at least five year old Priscilla Orozco's wish to go to Disney World in Florida came true.

Make A Wish Foundation of Amarillo, in conjunction with Give Kids A World granted Priscilla her wish and flew her and five members of her family to Florida on Thursday, March 19.

Upon arriving in Florida, they were met at the airport by a Give Kids The World representative and taken Holiday Inn Kids Village at Kissimmee, where they stayed throughout the trip. Holiday Inn Kids Village was staffed by volunteers.

Friday, Priscilla went to the Epcot Center and spent the day. While there she got to see Mickey and Minnie Mouse and their friends. That night she saw a fire works display.

Saturday she went to Magic Kingdom and saw Mickey Mouse again and got to go back stage. Saturday night she saw the Electric Light Parade. All of the floats, characters and people were lit up. Some of the characters on the floats were: Little Mermaid, Pinnocchio, Snow White, Cinderella and the Prince, Pluto, Winnie the Pooh and Tigger.

Later she got to see the Magic Kingdom Fireworks with Tiny Tim.

Sunday morning she toured Universal Studios: Mel's Diner, Acapella Singing Group from the 50's and got to take a backstage tour of Nickelodeon.

On Monday, they went to the Hard Rock Cafe at Sea World. There Priscilla saw Mama and Baby Shamu.

Priscilla's favorite part of the trip was getting to see Mickey Mouse. With Priscilla, seeing Mickey Mouse even took prejudice over being able to view the cock-pit of the airplane.

Priscilla has a lot to tell her classmates in Ms. Low's kindergarten class.

Program Marks 60th Year Of Service To Chronically Ill, Disabled Children

The state program which has been a mainstay to generations of children with serious health problems is celebrating its 60th year in 1993.

The Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Bureau of Chronically Ill and Disabled Children's Services manages state and federal programs paying for medical services, therapy, wheelchairs, braces and other needs of more than 16,000 children yearly.

Its clients are income-eligible children with catastrophic conditions, such as neurological disorders, epilepsy, hemophilia, cancer, HIV or AIDS, cystic fibrosis, or other conditions including severe birth defects.

John Evans, chief of the bureau, said that CIDC evolved from a small state program limited to helping some children with bone, joint and muscle disorders. "CIDC began in 1933 as the Crippled Children's Services of the State Department of Education. The program's original budget was only $10,000 in state funds," Evans said.

With passage of the Social Security Act in 1935, federal funding helped enlarge the program's yearly budget to $150,000. The legislature transferred the program to the state health department in 1945. Over the years, modifications to state and federal laws led to additions to a list of disorders covered by CIDC. Simultaneously medical advances expanded the kinds of treatment available to combat some illnesses.

Now, with combined state and federal funding of $106 million for the 1992-93 biennium, CIDC serves thousands of eligible children throughout the state. Many children are assigned TDH case managers who secure comprehensive services to meet their special needs.

Texas Marketplace Helps Minority Businesses Access Opportunities

To assist small and minority businesses access business opportunities, the Texas Department of Commerce recently added a new module to its Texas Marketplace program. As part of the new State Procurement module, Marketplace now provides the state's directory of Historically Underutilized Businesses on the system.

This directory allows easy access to a current listing of minority and women-owned businesses certified with the state. As the directory grows, Commerce will market it to public and private sectors as a comprehensive resource for locating "Without CIDC's help, the families of most of these children would have nowhere to turn. Meeting the long-term needs of a child with the disabilities or chronic illness can be financially devastating to a family trying to pay today's medical costs," Evans explained.

Evans said, "The cornerstone of recent success in CIDC case management has been decentralizing our eligibility screening. Applicants in any part of the state can seek CIDC program coverage at a TDH regional office or a children's hospital. We have minority and women-owned businesses in Texas. In addition, Commerce is working to increase the 4,000 companies currently in the database by adding the listings from similar directories maintained throughout the state by various organizations. Texas Marketplace is an excellent resource for minority chambers and other minority organizations looking to assist businesses, or it can be accessed by minority businesses themselves.

In addition to the Historically Underutilized Business directory, Marketplace maintains a business information and referral hotline. The toll-free line offers resource materials to help businesses get started and grow. Through Marketplace, businesses can access information on state licenses and permits, procurement assistance, Total Quality Management, and state and federal business finance programs. Texas Marketplace also consists of an electronic bulletin board system that contains international and domestic opportunity leads.

Educators Vote To Oppose Constitutional Amendments

Convention delegates representing the Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE) voted overwhelmingly Saturday, March 27, to oppose the three proposed constitutional amendments on school finance that will go before the voters on May 1.

"This vote sends a clear message to our state leadership that we will not accept a band-aid solution," said Cathy Fletcher, ATPE state president. "It is time to restructure our tax system and develop a long-term solution."

ATPE convention delegates also passed a resolution dedicating a state income tax for public education with the understanding that property taxes and sales taxes must be reduced in a proportional amount so that a per-pupil expenditure of funds will be at least equal to the national average expenditure.

"We have been laboring for 24 years with an identified inequitable public school funding system, and now the status quo bandwagon is overloaded with individuals who have chosen to do what is politically correct and not what is right," said Fletcher. "ATPE cannot stand by and allow our children to be taken on this ride that only leads to a dead end."

"We are not willing to accept a political solution," she added. "We are willing to accept a solution that is best for the children of Texas."

Several state leaders addressed the representatives of the 58,000-member group, including Rep. Libby Lineberger, chair of the House Public Education Committee, and Texas Commissioner of Education Lionel "Skip" Meno.

Meno also was the recipient of the ATPE Texas Liberty Award. It is the association's highest honor local agencies, institutions, organizations and personnel able to help CIDC clients. "We are mandated to coordinate--and in some places create--the resources needed to expand and upgrade service delivery to CIDC children and their families," Evans said.

Wanted --- Heros!

Hero's are getting hard to find, nowadays. We used to look up to certain public figures with admiration and think, "Boy, I would like to be like that" or we would have a warm-fuzzy feeling that helped us believe we could trust a person. I know it's dangerous to put people on a pedestal, because we expect too much and can be disappointed. However, it seems healthy for us, especially children, to have someone we can look-up-to, trust and depend on.

Some of the best Hero's can be parents. A little girl needs a daddy she can trust to crawl up onto his lap, be a flirty little sweet female without fear of being taken advantage of. A little boy needs to have someone he can share dreams, hopes and fears with, without being made fun of our slapped around when he makes a mistake. One of the best ways to be a hero is to just do what you say you'll do and take some time for that child to be able to really get to know a real hero -- their parent...

Global Competition

President Clinton told U.S. allies in blunt terms the United States is getting its economic house in order and they should respond by opening markets to American products.

Holt Reception To Be Held

Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Holt, longtime residents of the Pleasant Valley community are moving to Idalou. Thirty years ago in 1963 the Holts moved to this area, and they have been active in church and community activities since arriving here.

A reception to honor the Holts will be given Sunday, April 18, 1993 from 2:00 until 3:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of The First United Methodist Church.

When the Holts moved to Muleshoe, their four children, Glen, Jerry, Ronnie, and Robbie (now Mrs. Ausley) were grown and, as Ruth said, out of the house. Their son, Ronnie, who had recently broken up with his girlfriend, moved here with his parents. Mrs. Holt had recently become acquainted with a pretty girl named Sue Stewart, and she suggested to Ronnie that he should get to know her. Ronnie evidently agreed, because it was not long before Sue became Mrs. Ronnie Holt. Their two sons, Todd and Mike, grew up here and graduated from Muleshoe High School.

Ruth and F.D. Holt were married June 28, 1936, and in 1940 they decided to go into the grocery business in Lubbock. Mrs. Holt was from a grocery family, and her father helped them get started with $150 worth of grocery stock. When they left Lubbock before moving here, their grocery stock was valued at $65,000, a nice increase. Their store in Lubbock was located across from the George R. Bean School. They closed the store on Sunday, but all of the family worked in the store the other six days of the week. Store hours were from 7:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m.

Mr. Holt was raised a farm boy in Idalou, so the Holts will be moving to an area of family and friends. One son, Jerry, and his family live in Idalou, and they are in the grocery business. Mr. Holt looks forward to working there part time, as he loves this work.

Mrs. Holt was raised in Lubbock and graduated from Lubbock High School, as did the Holt's four children. Until moving here, Ruth had never lived on a farm, but she soon adjusted to country living. They stated that they moved to this area, because they believed that country people are more friendly and the air fresher. The Holts noted that you cannot live in a community like Muleshoe without having regrets of thinking of leaving. Again, a reception will be held in their honor Sunday, April 18, 1993 at First United Methodist Church at 2:00 p.m. to wish them the best in their new home.

Feeling Good About Self

"Self-esteem" is a phrase that is thrown around a lot. I think it is misused when it becomes the answer to a problem. Some advocate that all a criminal needs is to have a higher self-esteem. What you usually have then is a criminal that feels good about himself.

Feeling better about yourself is more than just thinking about how good you are. It's more than talking about it to others. If you want to really feel good about yourself-act responsibly. When you make correct decisions about how to behave and you do what you say you will do, you will build self-esteem and others will feel and think better about you, too.

To Remember Me

from Ron Trussler

L.M.F.T.

The day will come when my body will lie upon a white sheet neatly tucked under four corners of a mattress located in a hospital busily occupied with the living and the dying.

At a certain moment, a doctor will determine that my brain has ceased to function and that, for all intents and purposes, my life has stopped.

When that happens, do not attempt to install artificial life into my body by the use of a machine.

An don't call this my death bed. Let it be called the Bed of Life, and let my body be taken from it to help others lead fuller lives.

Give my sight to the man who has never seen a sunrise, a baby's face or love in the eyes of a woman.

Give my heart to a person whose own heart has caused nothing but endless days of pain.

Give my blood to the teen-age who was pulled from the wreckage of his car, so that he might live to see his grandchildren play.

Give my kidneys to one who depends on a machine to exist.

Take my bones, every muscle, every fiber and nerve in my body and find a way to make a crippled child walk.

Explore every corner of my brains. Take my cells, if mother, Mary Louisa; her grandmother, Delores Orozco; brother, John; and two uncles, Robert and Ronnie Orozco.

Make-A-Wish was founded in 1980 as a non-profit Arizona corporation to grant wishes to children under the age of eighteen with a terminal illness or who suffer from a medical condition sufficiently life threatening to create a probability that the child will not survive beyond his or her eighteenth year. Priscilla has Sciatic Fibrosis.

However, its actual beginnings were in the dreams of a little dying boy who wanted to be a policeman. Officers from the Arizona Department of Public Safety granted his wish with a custom made uniform, helmet and badge, and even a helicopter ride. That one child's special delight in having his dream come true provided the inspiration for the Foundation which has since granted hundreds of wishes.

Make-A-Wish of America is a National Organization which has 78 chapters and numerous divisions in the United States.

The Amarillo Chapter began March 5, 1984, and granted its first wish in June. Since that time 161 children have received their special wish.

Make-A-Wish's aim is to provide the family with some special memories--not just images of hospitals, doctors and equipment during a time of heart-wrenching turmoil for a family, a "wish" provides a welcome respite--a time normalcy and just plain fun. The family is never separated change that would cause a farm or farms to be combined or divided for the 1993 program year.

PAY LIMIT RULES FOR JOINT OPERATIONS

The payment limitation rules for Joint Operations (including Husbands and Wives) require that all their farming business be in both, all or the Joint Operations name at Gins, Elevators, Banks, Electric and Gas Companies, and all other businesses in which the Joint Operation is doing business with. If it is determined an individual rather than the Joint Operation, all members will be combined as one person for payment limitation purposes, rather than separate persons. If you have any questions concerning a Joint Operation, please contact this office.

has happened is that a lot of people who are no longer actively farming pitched their forms in the trash. That's human nature. But we need to know who's not farming by sending the form back indicating their situation. ## Fixed Rate Reduced For Rural Real Estate Loans

Federal Land Bank Associations (FLBAs) in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas have lowered their fixed interest rate for rural real estate loans to 7.85 percent. This compares to the previous rate of 8.2.

The new fixed rate is available to FLBA members for loans for new purchases of agricultural land or rural homes. The loans can be fixed at this rate for up to 10 years, after which borrowers may convert their loans to a variable rate or select another fixed rate. Loan payments may be amortized for up to 40 years.

"This is the lowest rate offered under this loan program since 1987 when the program was established to encourage new real estate purchases and thereby help strengthen land values," said Michael R. Davis, president of Agricultural Mortgage Lending Operations for the Farm Credit Bank of Texas.

"We hope this latest interest rate reduction will make real estate purchases more affordable for agricultural producers and rural residents who have been waiting for more favorable rates," he said.

The Farm Credit Bank of Texas provides long-term agricultural and rural housing loan funds through 48 locally-owned FLBAs in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. Additional information about FLBA loans is available through the local offices.

WE'VE GOT THE HOMETOWN Spirit

Don't wait to open your IRA...

The younger you are when you open your IRA, the more money you will have when you retire. That's pretty obvious, but when you see how much difference a year can make in an IRA, it's almost shocking.

If you are 24 years old and you wait until you are 25 to open an IRA, you'll have $100,000* less when you retire. How can that be? Well, there is a geometric progression that occurs with the principal and interest. One year can make all the difference in the world. Open an IRA today. Don't wait. ## Local Man To Interview Host Families

Brad Huckabee, Local Coordinator for the Academic Year in America program of the AIFS Foundation, has begun interviewing area families who would be interested in hosting an international student on the AYA program during the 1993-94 school year.

Huckabee has the applications of several boys and girls who would like to live in this part of Texas next year. AYA students are between the ages of 15 and 18, have solid academic records, at least three years of English and the maturity and flexibility required for a year abroad. A family can select a student from Germany, Spain, Brazil, or any one of 30 other countries around the globe. AYA students have their own spending money for personal expenses and full medical insurance. Their host families are asked to treat them just like their own son or daughter.

Students arrive next August to begin the school year with their American classmates. They attend the local public high school, carry a full course load and join clubs, sports and other activities. The cross cultural learning is returned two ways. A student comes to understand how Americans really live, work and think. The host family discovers how holidays are celebrated in the student's homeland, learns a few phrases of his language and experiences a new way of looking at things they have long taken for granted. Families that decide to host now are invited to choose the student they would like to welcome. Letters can be exchanged immediately and the friendship begins.

Interested families should call Brad Huckabee in Plainview at 806

Postmaster Urges To Mail Tax Returns Now

Muleshoe Postmaster Abel Arguello encourages the public to mail their Federal Internal Revenue Service tax returns before the Thursday, April 15 deadline and avoid the last-minute rush to the post office.

Arguello reminds postal customers to use adequate postage (29 cents for the first ounce and 23 cents for each additional ounce up to 11 ounces) and have a legible return address when mailing tax returns.

"The Internal Revenue Service will not accept Postage Due mail and this mail will be returned to sender," the postmaster advised. "Because local postal authorities are prohibited from opening First-Class mail, all local Postage Due mail without a return address must be sent to the U.S. Postal Service's regional Dead Letter Office in Atlanta, Georgia, to be opened." Arguello added that mail sent to the Dead Letter Office may take several weeks to be processed and returned to the sender.

On the April 15 deadline, Arguello said, many larger post offices throughout the country will provide midnight collections for the many thousands of tax filers who wait until the last minute to mail their returns.

Locally, the Muleshoe Post Office, located at 221 E. 3rd will provide mail collections until midnight.

"If you have any questions about the amount of postage required for your tax filing, call or try to get to your local post office early and our window clerks will assist you in getting those tax forms in on time," Arguello said.

Mammography Unit Will Be Here In May

On Friday, May 7, the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital Mobile Mammography Unit will be in Muleshoe at South Plains Health Care Providers, inc., 119 East Ave. C. Exams are done by appointment only, between the hours of 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. For information or to schedule an appointment call 1-800-377-HOPE (4673) or (806) 359-4673.

The total cost of the screening is $70. This includes the x-ray, physical breast exam, and the radiology fee for reading the mammogram. Funding has been provided by the Texas Department of Health to allow for free breast screening for women who qualify.

The major goal of the clinic is the early detection of breast cancer. The clinic provides low cost screening which includes a breast exam by a Registered Nurse trained in breast cancer detection, teaching of breast self examination, and a mammogram.

Currently, the most effective method known to win the battle against breast cancer is early detection. Early detection is best done by following the guidelines recommended by the American Cancer Society for breast cancer screening for women who have no signs or symptoms of breast cancer.

The guidelines are: Learn and perform breast self examination every month. Have a physical examination every year. Have a mammogram according to recommendations by age: 35-39, one baseline mammogram; 40 to 49, a mammogram every 1 to 2 years; 50 and over, Yearly mammograms.

Travelling With The Texas Angler

By Keith R. Warren

Texas hill country lakes are some of the most scenic fisheries in the state. These clear water highland reservoirs are beautiful, but more often than not, the fishing action is not so hot. Occasionally the fish just turn on and bite like crazy. If you're lucky enough to be on the water when this happens, you'll be amazed how good fishing can be.

Last week I visited Canyon Lake located approximately 15 miles west of New Braunfels. My fishing partner for the afternoon was Dan, an outdoor writer for the San Antonio Express News.

Dan and I met at 2:00 p.m. at Cranes Mill park and started throwing crankbaits paralleling windy bluffs. About the third cast I boated a 12" bass. After moving another 300 yards down the bluff, we'd caught 2 more about the same size.

I located some keeper size bass on these bluffs earlier in the week and it appeared that these fish weren't going to bite. Possibly it was due to a strong norther that had blown through the night before.

We fired up the big motor and headed to the mouths of coves located on the north side of the lake and started throwing plastic worms at isolated standing timber. The second cast to the first tree paid off with a nice 2-1/2 pounder. Due to the bright sun and clear water, the bass was located on the shady side of the tree.

There were only a few trees in the area so we checked them out and moved to another similar area and immediately caught 3 more keepers up to 3-1/2 pounds. The best color of plastic worm was purple with a yellow tail fished on no heavier than 12 pound test line.

The is combination netted a total of a dozen bass in less than 2-1/2 hours of fishing time. Now on lakes like Choke Canyon, Lake Fork or Sam Rayburn this wouldn't be impressive, but on Canyon Lake, this is pretty good.

We concentrated all of our fishing on the standing timber due to the lack of other cover available for fish. The average depth the fish were in was 6-10 feet. Most of them were typically skinny, which indicates a poor food forage base in the lake. But the largest bass was as fat and healthy as any we'd seen anywhere.

Many serious bass fishermen have given up on Canyon opting to fish elsewhere. But if you hit it right, with a little luck you'll be very impressed with this beauty of a hill country lake.

By the way, please remember to practice catch and release. Canyon fish don't grow as fast as fish in other reservoirs because they don't have enough to eat. By removing a 14" bass, it will take over 2-1/2 years for another fish to reach that size.

Economy Improving

Aided by strong Christmas sales, the economy is improving everywhere in the United States but California, the Federal Reserve said.

For Those Who Missed

Jennyslippers thank all merchants who donated prizes for the Easter Egg Hunt Saturday. Also, a big thanks to Mr. Bunny.

Jennyslippers do many projects thru a year, and we enjoy what we do. Sometimes we get very weary, but a rewarding weary. We aren't as young as we were when we started in Jennyslippers. Some of our ladies aren't physically able to do some of the projects we do, and some have spouses who require more time and care, some have small children, and some times we get sick, and the list can go on.

What I'm trying to say: Jennyslippers are women like all other women, and sometimes circumstances occur, and advertised plans have to change. This is what happened Saturday. We knew Friday we would have to combine all the ages at the same time for the egg hunt, so KMUL, Channel 6, and KMUL AM was asked to announce the change.

About 250 kids showed up for the Easter Egg Hunt at 1:30 pm. All had a good time and was home by the time the dirt storm hit.

We have a local radio station with AM and FM and a local TV station. These facilities have to be used by the community for local news, and sometimes a change of plans that may affect you.

The Journal did a great job of advertising the Hunt, but we didn't have time for a change thru them. Please, use all our medias.

Thank You, Jennyslipper President, Nancy Kidd

Commissioner's Commentary

By David R. Smith, M.D.

Of Carrots, and Cancer Sticks

Some people call the state and federal levy on tobacco a "sin tax." The more appropriate term, however, is "mule assessment."

About 25 percent of adult Texans continue to smoke tobacco, stubbornly balking at changing behavior so obviously harmful to themselves, their dependents and even innocent bystanders. Their mule-like persistence costs Texas citizens and tax-payers, smokers and non-smokers alike, an estimated $4 billion a year.

This astronomical cost is on the rise because of the escalating price of health care and because a growing number of untimely, tobacco-related deaths rob our economy of the growing projected value of these Texans' productivity.

According to the Texas Department of Health's latest estimates, Texans pay more than $1.2 billion in direct health care costs to treat diseases related to smoking. In addition, almost $3 billion is sacrificed in lost income and productivity resulting from early deaths and disability.

Together, these costs total more than seven times the state taxes collected from cigarette sales in 1990.

The economic costs of tobacco in the state are very high and very real. But the human toll is even greater. Tobacco is the number one preventable cause of death in Texas. New estimates indicate that almost 25,000 Texans die each year because of cigarette smoke. That means that smoking causes one out of every five deaths in this state.

Anyone who has experience with mules (or their hard-headed human equivalents) knows that the carrot, not the whip, is the more successful behavioral modification tool. Like a juicy carrot dangled in front of a reluctant mule, a hefty tax is a proven incentive to nudge habitual smokers toward more appropriate behavior.

Economists have determined that each 10 percent increase in the price of a pack of cigarettes results in a four percent drop in consumption. Among teen-age smokers, consumption drops 12 percent. And even more important than providing an incentive for smokers to quit, tobacco price jumps are an effective disincentive for young people considering the purchase of their first cigarettes or chewing tobacco.

In Texas, adding a dollar to the current 41 cents-a-pack tax on cigarettes would generate $810 million in the 1994-1995 biennium, according to the state comptroller's office. Another $74 million would be generated from a proportional increase in the taxes on snuff, chewing tobacco and pipe tobacco.

Because of their negative impact on consumption, tobacco taxes are not a dependable long-term funding source. However, such taxes would provide a logical source for immediate start-up money to help pay for desperately needed reforms in our health care system. It makes sense to tax those responsible for such a large strain on our economy--to collect a down payment on the later cost of medical treatment for tobacco-related disease.

The American public agrees. Various opinion polls consistently find that about four out of five citizens support higher cigarette and liquor taxes to finance health care reform.

A five cent-per-gallon state excise tax increase on beer alone, now assessed at a lower rate than other alcohol products, would generate an estimated $22.6 million a year, according to the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission. This amount could also be logically applied to health care reform, given the huge economic damage caused by alcoholism. (The American Medical Association estimates U.S. alcohol-related health care expenses at $13.5 billion annually.)

There is no doubt about it. These are hard times for bad habits. As a society, we can no longer afford to bear the multi-billion-dollar burden placed on our economy, especially our health care system by reducing their alcohol consumption and foregoing tobacco products--reaching for the carrot rather than the beer and cigarettes.

Pournelle More Than Science Fiction Writer

by Misty Whitewell and Steven Stapleton

"You go into writing because it's good work. Your work inside, sitting down and there's no heavy lifting," said Jerry Pournelle, science fiction author and national columnist.

Most of Pournelle's success has resulted from a collaborative effort with Larry Niven. The team can be classified as a success they have six titles considered bestsellers, starting with their first book, The Mote in God's Eye.

"My guess is, we've probably outsold just about everybody, not just in science fiction, but in all of literature," Pournelle stated.

Pournelle and Niven began writing together in 1974. Pournelle acknowledged that a successful collaborative team is uncommon. But, he says, "It seems to work out in our case."

He continued, "We both write, but I tend to be a little more detailed. I work harder at making sure things are self-consistent...I work out the details and look for implications further in then he (Niven) tends to when he's working alone."

Inferno, which Pournelle believes to be the most literary of their works, exemplifies the co-operative effort between the two.

"We're in the middle of writing something else and Larry said, 'I've wanted to do that (Inferno) since I was in college and the only trouble is that I don't really know how to get the theology right. So, let's do it together.' So, I said, 'Right,' and we did. Inferno has actually been a fairly successful book. We got a lot of literary awards for it."

The two novels, co-authored by Pournelle and Niven, which climbed to the top of The New York Times Bestsellers List were Footfall and Lucifer's Hammer.

Footfall, a novel about an alien invasion of earth by elephant-like beings, topped the New York Times Bestsellers in 1985.

"In terms of popularity Lucifer's Hammer may be our most popular book," Pournelle stated. "We sold five or six million copies."

Lucifer's Hammer spent 14 weeks as number two on the list and is based on the struggle of human civilization from the aftermath of a comet striking the earth.

Pournelle is currently promoting two novels, The Gripping Hand and Prince of Sparta. The Gripping Hand is a sequel to his first book with Niven.

Pournelle, a man with many writing accomplishments, has also earned many degrees. He acquired bachelor's degrees in engineering and history, a master's in systems engineering and statistics and Ph.D.'s in psychology and political science.

His diversified education contributed to a variety of jobs. He was a systems manager for Boeing, taught political science at Pepperdine University and was an executive assistant to the mayor of Los Angeles.

One of the first Authors to use a computer for writing fiction, Pournelle has always been a strong advocate of technology. With his writing skills and computer knowledge, it is easy to understand why he produces a monthly column for "Byte" magazine. Pournelle's relationship with "Byte" began in the mid-70's and has blossomed to the point where he considers himself to be a senior columnist in the computer business.

"I try to get about a million people a month to read my columns and I do the best I can to make it readable," Pournelle said. He continued, "There are a small number of people like myself, Dvorak and Seymore, who everyone in the business pretty-well knows." Pournelle is continually asked to lecture at places like Harvard, MIT, University of California and now at Eastern New Mexico University for Williamson Lectureship series. At Eastern, he will discuss trends in Western civilization and how they relate to current technology in a piece titled the "Future of Democracy."

With more than 20 novels in print and numerous magazines articles in circulation, Pournelle points out, "Most people who read science fiction know who I am." However, when asked if he thought he was noted, Pournelle concluded, "I don't know what that means, but I've certainly been put in footnotes if that means anything."

Texas Company To Raise, Export Israeli Sunflower Seed

A Lubbock area company will soon grow and export edible sunflower seed developed on an Israeli kibbutz, thanks to the Texas Department of Agriculture's Texas-Israel Exchange.

Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said that L&W Sunflower of Petersburg, north of Lubbock, recently purchased 20,000 pounds of seed stock from Kibbutz Shaar Haamakim near Haifa. The seed will be planted to raise sunflowers that have seeds an inch long—twice as long as most U.S. varieties.

L&W plans to export the seeds to Spain, where they are in great demand as a snack food.

"TDA and TIE were instrumental in developing the trade lead that will give L&W entrance to this market," Perry said. "Company officials visited the kibbutz last fall to discuss the sale and the possibility of a joint venture."

The seed was shipped Jan. 28 and was due to arrive in Houston in mid-March. Perry said the joint venture to develop hybrid seed with improved yields and vigor is still under consideration.

"Projects like this not only help to stimulate the Texas economy, they fulfill TIE's purpose—fostering cooperation between Texas and Israel on agricultural endeavors," Perry said.

Located on the same latitude, 30 degrees north, Texas and Israel have similar climates and soils and face similar production challenges such as limited water resources. Both are capable of growing the same crops.

TIE coordinates a variety of activities, including exchange visits to Israel for Texas farmers, ranchers, researchers, professors and others whose work is related to agriculture.

"Anyone who travels to Israel under the auspices of TIE must agree to share information and new technical knowledge acquired overseas with other Texans, multiplying the trip's benefits many times over," Perry said.

April Is Cancer Control Month

For the families and friends of cancer patients, open communication is often the key to coping with the disease, says a psychiatrist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"The word 'cancer' conjures up very frightening images for most people," said Dr. Lois Friedman, assistant professor of psychology at Baylor. "Patients' feelings of isolation and low self-esteem may be accentuated if their supporters have difficulty talking about the disease."

According to Friedman, people deal with cancer the same way they handle other major life stresses. Some family members may avoid talking about the illness or withdraw from the patient, while others react by maintaining a cheerful facade.

Friedman says encouraging a "positive attitude" too soon after diagnosis can have dangerous prematurely. "People need to understand that cancer patients are suffering a loss," she said. "Sadness and grieving are natural, appropriate responses for both patients and their loved ones."

The American Cancer Society estimates more than one million new cancer cases will be reported this year. An important first step for the many families affected by cancer is to allow for this period of sadness. Since the time required for dealing with grief varies for each patient, Friedman says it is essential for families to keep the lines of communication open.

Although many supporters want to offer advice, give medical tips, or tell cancer "stories" About other people, patients typically dismiss such information unless it is provided by professionals. For most patients, physical and emotional closeness is the best support loved ones can offer.

"Illness often brings families together," Friedman said. "Patients have a strong desire to be close to the people they love."

Friedman offers the following suggestions for coping with cancer in the family:

- * Include the patient in all family activities.
- * Inquire about the patient's illness.
- * Use the word "cancer" around the patient.
- * Avoid being too overprotective of the patient.

"The majority of patients make an adequate adjustment with time," Friedman said. "Family and friends should let the patient be the guide."

MEDICINE AT THE CROSSROADS

Explores Dilemmas Posed by Modern Medicine

Medicine at the Crossroads — television's most comprehensive examination of modern medicine — lends a penetrating and unique perspective on four critical crossroads of modern medical science: doctor training and patient care; medicine at the beginning and end of life; new technology assessment and "miracle" drugs; and prevention and new kinds of care for the individual's total health. The penetrating eight-hour documentary series is narrated by George Page.

"Temple of Science," the first hour of Medicine at the Crossroads, examines teaching hospitals as the evolutionary focal point of modern medicine. The program was filmed at John Hopkins University, one of the world's leading teaching hospitals. Many agree that the teaching hospital has become the symbol of hope for rich and poor. But critics claim it limits doctor training only to a narrow spectrum of serious illness providing a distorted picture of medical needs.

"Code of Silence," the second hour, looks at the barrier separating patients from their doctors who often cloak themselves in a code of silence. Dramatic comparisons are made between Japan, where silence is the rule, and the United States, where openness and informed consent are the standard practice.

"Life Support" examines the dilemma of modern medicine as it relates to aging and death. It takes a close look at how widely the treatments vary in the United States, Ireland, and India. The program reports on a wide range of critical issues related to the explosive growth in the number of dependent elderly, whose demand for desperately needed services will mushroom. In the year 2050, an estimated one million Americans will have logged a century of life — and nearly half of them with Alzheimer's disease.

"Conceiving the Future," the fourth program, reports on the medical establishment's growing ability to orchestrate conception, treat the fetus in the mother's womb, and sustain even the weakest of infants with elaborate life-support equipment. The documentary reports on new ethical and moral issues associated with such practices.

"Random Cuts" reports on the interplay of scientific, cultural, and economic factors in the use of surgical procedures. It compares different approaches to the treatment of heart disease in Germany, the U.S., and England.

"The Magic Bullet," program six, projects the "quick fix" dream on the reality that most disease is chronic and can't be cured. Yet there remains a widespread expectation that quick fixes for all diseases, including cancer and AIDS, are just around the corner.

"Pandemic," the seventh program, reports that science and hospitals alone can no longer solve our health problems — evidenced by the AIDS pandemic — and that medicine must respond to the social conditions that cause disease in the first place.

"Disordered States," the final program, explores care of the mentally ill. While an explosion of new knowledge in the neurosciences has led to improvements in drug therapy, the long-term care of people with mental illness remains perplexing.

Medicine at the Crossroads airs Mondays at 9:00 p.m. beginning April 12th. The series repeats Sundays at 3:00 p.m. beginning April 18th.

Poly Filter Weights

A unique combination of a Poly Profit Weight and filter in one inexpensive easy to install package. The filter weight is designed primarily for those low flow nozzles located near the pivot that are easily plugged and require constant attention.

The design of the Poly Filter Weight with o rings at either end make it very simple to disassemble to clean out accumulated material. It has a poly screen filter with 32 mesh per inch to effectively clean a 4/64" nozzle. It is not recommended for nozzle size above 16/64" nozzle.
