Equality In School Finance....Or Is It

By Superintendent Bill Moore
Many cheered the death of "Robin Hood" earlier this spring when the school finance propositions were soundly defeated. Now, after reviewing the impact of the latest schools finance legislation, it appears that the "Sheriff of Nottingham" is alive and well. You see, many property poor school districts like Muleshoe are losing money while many wealthy suburban districts are gaining money!

Hutchison Wins Senatorial Race By Landslide

In a landslide victory Saturday, Kay Bailey Hutchison rolled up one of the largest winning percentages by a statewide Republican candidate in Texas history. Ms. Hutchison is the first Texas woman elected to the U.S. Senate.

In Bailey County, Ms. Hutchison received over 95 percent of the votes or 580 votes to 56 for Democratic Sen. Bob Krueger.

Across the state, Ms. Hutchison (R) received 1,046,097 or 67 percent of the votes cast, while (D) received 506,014 or 33 percent.

Hutchison's defeat of Sen. Bob Krueger, the GOP now has both Senate seats for the first time since 1875.

According to Ms. Hutchison, the election sent a very important message to the Congress and the president, the people are tired of taxes. They want someone to get serious about cutting government spending.

Governor Ann Richards will now appoint a new treasurer to serve until 1994.

Ms. Hutchison, 49, made opposition to President Clinton's tax plan, particularly its energy tax, a centerpiece of her campaign. Republicans said the election should be a wake-up call to Southern Democratic senators to part company with Clinton on those issues.

You read that right! How can this happen, you ask? That's a good question. I can't find a good answer. But the fact of the matter is that, according to numbers received last week from the Texas Education Agency, Muleshoe I.S.D. can expect to lose about $240,000 in funding for the 1993-94 school year. The TEA further tells us that in order to have the same amount of revenue next year, we would have to raise our local taxes by about 15 cents. This is not only economically impossible, it is also way over the rollback limit.

The Equity Center, which is an organization that represents below average wealth districts from all over the state, paints an even bleaker picture. They show Muleshoe I.S.D. losing $348,010 and having to raise taxes by 23 cents to stay even. It appears that we are not the only ones in this area on the "hit list". Lazbuddie, Bovina, Friona, Farwell, Morton, Dimmitt, and Littlefield, to name a few, are among the many appearing on the list of districts losing money under the new plan designed to equalize funding.

You thought there was over a billion dollars of new state money going into the system? So did I, but it must not be coming west! Let's look at some comparisons. Muleshoe I.S.D. has a tax base of about $167 million or about $70,000 per student. This "wealth per student" is one of the best ways to compare districts financially, so let's take a look at a few districts from around the state.

Arlington I.S.D. has about $198,000 per student and is gaining over $1.5 million next year. They could cut their tax rate by a penny and raise the same amount of money in 1993-94 as they did in 1992-93.

has a per student wealth of over $249,000 and yet they are gaining about $3.3 million. To stay the same, they can cut taxes five cents.

La Grange, a Central Texas district about the same size as Muleshoe can look forward to a six cent tax cut and still raise the same amount of revenue as last year despite the fact that their wealth per student is $244,748. These are just a few of the above-average wealth districts that are "winners" under the new plan.

What about the rich districts that have to choose one of five options to give up money? Only the 109 super rich districts whose wealth is over $280,000 per student will have to choose from the five options. You can see that the "winners" listed in the previous paragraphs are just below that number. Once those 109 make a decision as to which option they will take, it seems obvious to me who the benefactors will be.

I've got to admit, I owe the legislature an apology. For the last couple of years when I have been asked what I thought was going to happen in school finance and how would it effect Muleshoe I.S.D., I have said that our wealth was such that it would be hard for them to do anything but help us. I admit now that I was wrong. I under-estimated the legislature. They did it...they Cont. Page 6, Col. 5

Galveston Sandcastle Competition To Be Held June 12

More than 1,100 of Houston's most creative and competitive architects and designers will pack up their buckets and shovels to participate in the seventh annual American Institute of Architects/Steelcase Galveston Sandcastle Competition--set for Saturday, June 12, 1993. Enthusiastic participants on 50 teams will build extravagant sand sculptures and castles utilizing wit, imagination, and their finest sand-sculpting techniques.

The event, one of the ten largest sand sculpting competitions in the U.S. is sponsored by the AIA/Houston chapter and the Galveston Park Board and is held at R.A. Apfel Park on the east end of Galveston Island. Sandcastle building will take place from 12 noon to 4 p.m., followed by judging from 4 to 5 p.m. and an award ceremony at 5:30 p.m. Throughout the afternoon, Pierre & the Zydeco Dots will perform festive Cajun music.

THE COMPETITION: Contestants are challenged to design and build a sand sculpture with sand and imagination their only limits. The sand sculptures are judged according to originality of concept, artistic execution, technical difficulty, carving technique and utilization of site, with a "Golden Bucket" trophy going to the overall winner and silver and bronze sculptures going to the second and third place winners.

Additional awards will be made in the following categories: People's Choice, Best Classic Sandcastle, Daredevil, Most Outrageous, Most Lifelike, Best Costumes, Best Team T-Shirt, and Team the Traveled the Farthest.

Participating teams draw up blueprints in advance and descend upon the beach at dawn, armed with wheelbarrows, buckets, clay sculpting tools, brushes, rakes, hammers, and wood forms, in addition to a formidable array of trowels, spades, shovels and spatulas.

The resulting creations run the gamut from traditional fairy-tale castles to enchanting visions of marine life and mermaids to startling realistic feats of trompe l'oeil.

GIANT EXHIBITION SAND SCULPTURE

An added feature of this year's event will be the creation of a giant sculpture by Mark Mason, former world champion sand sculptor with Santastic Promotions, a professional sand sculpting organization based in Miami.

With additional support from some of Houston's best sandcarvers, Mason's giant sculpture exhibit will be crafted from 750 cubic yards of sand, from Tuesday, June 8 through Friday, June 11, at Galveston's R.A. Apfel Park. Spectators are invited to come down to Apfel Park during the week to watch this amazing creation take shape.

VISITOR INFORMATION

There is no charge to observe the event; however, there is a $5 charge per vehicle to park at Apfel Park. In the event of rain, the Sandcastle Competition will be moved to Sunday, June 13. For additional information, call 713-622-2081.

WTAMU To Offer Summer Youth Leadership Camp

The Division of Student Services at West Texas A&M University (formerly West Texas State University) will sponsor a youth leadership camp June 20-24 on the WTAMU campus. The camp is designed for students ages 11 to 14 who want to have an exciting time developing their natural skills, talents, and leadership potential.

Activities scheduled for the week will focus on mental, social, emotional and physical development. Sample topics include but are not limited to "Learning How To Turn Your Mind Into a Human Calculator," "Maintaining the Joy of Positive Relationships," "Discovering How To Positively Handle Stress" and "Discovering How To Choose Health Foods That Taste Great."

Students will be housed in WTAMU residence halls and will eat in the Dining Hall. They will also have access to Nautilus exercise equipment, an Olympic-sized swimming pool, bowling lanes and tennis courts.

The cost of the summer Leadership Development Camp is $185 per participant before June 13. After that date, a late charge of $15 will be added.

For more information about the camp, or to register, contact Sharon McConnell, camp registrar, and assistant to the dean of student services, at 806/656-2050.

Clinton's Hair

The media, unfortunately, often goes bonkers over trivia. This was again demonstrated when President Clinton received a $200 haircut on Air Force One.

A mob of reporters follows the president everywhere; they were delayed when the president got his hair cut and many decided to write long diatribes about this.

For many days we were reading and hearing about it. Political columnists devoted whole columns to it.

When there's no real news and an oversupply of reporters, readers and viewers write about trivia. And about things like being delayed by a Clinton haircut.

West Texas Karate Competes In Tournament

Several members of West Texas Karate traveled to Crosbyton to participate in the AKBBA Invitational Karate Tournament hosted by Tim Adams of Spur Karate. Members of West Texas Karate competing in the tournament and receiving trophies for forms and sparring were Tony Anderson placing second in forms and third in sparring. Clay Bulls placed second in forms and first in sparring. Randall Hamilton, placed first in forms and Danny Kelley, instructor, placed first in forms and traveling to the tournament were Erin Kelley, Gilbert Recio and Jonathan May.

Several members of West Texas

Karate received promotion to higher rank. Those receiving promotions are as follows: Danny May 1st Degree Black Belt; Gilbert Recio, Red Belt; Gilbert Vela, Red Belt; Randall Hamilton, Purple Belt; Bruce Hinchey, Green Belt; Trey Nickels, yellow belt; Dustin Weir, yellow belt; Chris Vela, yellow belt; Jonathan May, yellow belt; Dan Williams, yellow belt; Toby Martinez, yellow belt; Christine Oliverez, yellow belt and Ric Peterson, yellow belt.

New Business Dean Named At E.N.M.U.

Dr. Delores Tremewan Martin, a senior economist with the Joint Economic Committee of the Congress of the United States, has been named dean of the College of Business at Eastern New Mexico University. The appointment is effective August 1.

Dr. Martin, of Falls Church, Va., has been a senior economist in Washington, D.C. since 1991. She was associated with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln from 1975-1990 as an assistant and later as an associate professor of economics. Dr. Martin was also an assistant professor at Radford College in Radford, Va., five years.

She received bachelor and master's degrees from the University of Nevada and a second master's and a doctorate in economics from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

Dr. Dorothy Allen, vice president for Academic Affairs at Eastern New Mexico University, said that the University was "extremely pleased that Dr. Martin accepted the dean's position as she will bring a wide variety of outstanding professional experiences to our campus."

Over a ten year period from 1980 to 1990, the new dean was an investigator, consultant or coordinator of many major special programs in several states dealing with economic development, public housing management, welfare reform, and employment skills. In 1986, Dr. Martin was a senior policy analyst in the White House Office of Policy Development.

She is a current member of the National Advisory Council, Populist Conservative Tax Coalition, in Falls Church, Va., the Committee on Taxation and Economic Growth in Washington, D.C. and the Advisory Council on Government Spending, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in Washington, D.C. She is a current reviewer of the Public Housing Self-Sufficiency Demonstration Projects of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the Child Care and Head Start Programs; U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Know The Weather

Why does a cooling of the air often produce clouds?

The air always contains a certain amount of moisture. When there are no clouds in the sky, the moisture is invisible, but it's there. Cooling condenses air and reduces its capacity to retain water.

In doing so, the invisible water particles in the air become relatively greater in content and finally become visible droplets of moisture. A cloud, then, is the result of cooling of air, which changes invisible moisture into visible form.

This cooling process also produces fog--the lowest of the clouds. The sun's heating of the earth, which, in turn, heats the air above it, which rises and is cooled in the higher altitude, causes the formation of most clouds.

Stretching Exercises-The Flexible Approach To Working Out

To guard against muscle, tendon and ligament strains and tears during exercise, it's important to warm-up and stretch before and after every workout. An exercise program should begin with a warm-up period to raise the body temperature and increase the blood flow to muscles. Warm muscles are more supple and easier to stretch. Typical warm-ups include walking while swinging the arms back and forth, or some other type of full body movement.

Once blood flow to the muscles has increased through warming up, stretching can begin. According to Sharon Salem-Kinney, fitness specialist and aerobics coordinator at Methodist Hospital's LifeStyle Centre, individuals should isolate the muscles to be stretched by using movements that are specific to that muscle and joint.

"At the LifeStyle Centre we use Aaron Matte's Flexibility Method which pushes the movement or stretch until the muscle is extended," she said. "Then we attempt to push the muscle a little farther to the point of light discomfort for one to two seconds and release back to the starting position, repeating the stretch several times. The release portion of the stretch is important because it prevents the muscle from contracting on its own."

A stretching program should emphasize the major muscles groups--back, abdomen, legs, arms and chest--as well as the muscles that will be worked most vigorously during exercise.

The following stretches are recommended by American College of Sports Medicine:

*Calves-Lean against a wall with the arms slightly bent and one foot slightly behind the other. Bend the knee of the front foot while keeping the back heel on the ground, the foot turned inward slightly. Repeat with the other leg.

*Thighs-Stand upright with the left hand on the back of a chair for balance, then reach behind and grasp the right foot with the right hand. Pull the foot toward the buttocks. Repeat with the other leg.
*Hamstrings-Stand with the feet shoulder width apart, one leg about 3 to 4 inches in front of the other, knee slightly bent. Place both hands on the knee of the rear leg and stretch the front leg by keeping the heel on the ground. Repeat with the other leg.
*Hips-Lie on the back with the legs straight out. Lift one knee at a time, then both, with the hands under the thighs and the knees tucked up to the chest.

*Back-Sitting on the ground, stretch the right leg straight out. Then take the left leg and cross it over the right leg, placing the left foot flat on the ground. Now twist the upper body so the right elbow is pressing against the outside of the left knee. Repeat with the opposite arm and leg.

After a workout, it's important to cool down slowly to bring the heart rate, breathing and body temperature gradually back to normal. For example, you might slow from a run to a jog to a walk over three to five minutes.

Summer Can Be A Trying Time For Children

Summer can be an uneasy time for children of divorced and remarried parents and for the parents themselves.

"Many of the problems of visiting non-residential parents depend on the ages of the children and on whether this is only the first or second such visit," said Dr. James H. Bray, a psychologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Pre-schoolers in particular feel insecure, wondering how they will be cared for and when they will return home.

"The custodial parent should prepare children for the visit," Bray said. "Simple, factual information can lessen the chance they will concoct negative versions of what is going on."

Full Sun Protection

There is no such thing as safe sunbathing. Today, more and more people are beginning to accept the fact the exposure to the sun causes skin cancer, premature aging of the skin and eye problems.

One way to protect yourself from the sun's harmful rays is to wear full spectrum sun protection, such as sunscreen and sunblock, when outdoors. Sunscreens are oils, lotions or creams containing compounds that filter out UV rays. Sunblocks are the creams or pastes, which resemble clown makeup, and contain zinc oxide or titanium dioxide. When properly applied, they block all light from reaching the skin and are good for the nose, lips or sensitive areas.

Sunscreens are categorized according to their Sun Protection Factor (SPF). The SPF gives the relative amount of a time a person can spend in the sun without burning, as compared to using no sunscreen. For example, a product with an SPF of 8 allows you to remain in the sun without burning eight times longer than if you didn't apply it.

To select and use a sunscreen properly, Doris Scales, R.N., B.S.N., O.C.N., oncology nurse specialist at Methodist Hospital suggests the following tips:

*Choose a sunscreen with an SPF of 15 or more. If you have fair skin or will be outside for a long time, choose an even higher SPF. Also, look for the seal of approval from the Skin Cancer Foundation, which tests sunscreens with SPF 15 or higher for safety and effectiveness.

*Apply the sunscreen 30 to 45 minutes before exposure to the sun. This allows the sunscreen time to penetrate the skin.

*Apply the sunscreen generously and frequently. If you swim or perspire heavily look for a screen that is water resistant.

*Don't assume that because your skin doesn't look red it's not getting burned. Sunburns become most evident six to 24 hours after exposure to the sun.

*Take into account the time of day and location. Ultraviolet rays are strongest between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., so sunscreen strength and reapplication should be adjusted accordingly. Also, the sun is more intense closer to the Equator and the higher the altitude. Those who are fair skinned might need to wear a hat and a sunblock on nose and lips under these conditions.

*When taking medication-- ask your doctor or pharmacist about possible reactions to sunlight and interactions with sunscreens.

For example, be sure children know exactly when the visit will end. Encourage them to take along familiar objects such as toys or stuffed animals. Regularly scheduled telephone contact with the at-home parent can be reassuring.

Bray suggests careful planning for children traveling alone. Have contingency plans to avoid children arriving at the destination with no one to greet them.

Children usually worry about having playmates while adolescents are concerned about missed social activities back home. Bray said.

But children aren't the only ones with anxieties; parents miss their absent children.

"And, while it's certainly okay to let children know they will be missed," Bray said, "avoid communicating anxiety to them. Sometimes they react negatively not because they do not want to go but because they sense anxiety in the parent."

Bray recommends focusing on the children's welfare, laying aside personal differences between the divorced parents.

For the parent being visited, the problems can include introducing children into a home that already has other children.

"The visited parent should clearly explain the rules of the house," Bray said, "and treat all children as equally as possible."

Bray also recommends that visiting children be given "alone time" with the biological parent.

It can be a trying experience for everyone involved, Bray said, but it is a manageable situation, particularly when the parents plan for and accept unexpected changes.

Governor Richards Signs Young Farmer Loan Guarantee Program Bill

Governor Richards signed into law last week a bill that would establish the Young Farmer Loan Guarantee Program (YFGP). The bill, sponsored by Sen. Bill Sims (D-San Angelo) and Rep. Pete Patterson (D-Brookston), would establish guaranteed loans for eligible applicants not to exceed $50,000 or 90 percent of the total loan amount.

"I applaud the efforts of Sims and Patterson in sponsoring this bill," Governor Richards stated. "HB 1287 is a vital piece of legislation for the future of the agriculture industry in Texas," the Governor continued. "It will provide young farmers with the funds they need to build a prosperous future for themselves and add to the economic base of Texas."

Sen. Sims added, "The program gives young men and women a chance for a career in agriculture that they might not have had otherwise." Echoing Sims comments, Rep. Patterson stated, "The legislation gives young people the opportunity to buy enough land to have a base in agriculture."

The program will be created in the State Treasury with funds currently collected and deposited in the Young Farmer Endowment Account in the General Revenue Fund. Funding for loans for the YFGP would come from a special $5.00 agricultural motor vehicle fee established in 1991 and from available federal, local or private sources. The legislation the Governor signed would, however, provide for the funding of the $5.00 fee by the filing of an application with the Comptroller's Officer.

Carjacking... A Growing Threat

Carjacking: A Growing Threat

You've been working late, and it's almost dark when you leave the office. The parking lot is deserted, except for your car...parked at the far edge, where a row of shrubs offered some shade at lunch time. They look spooky now.

Hurrying a little, you put your key in the driver's side door. Suddenly, there's a glove over your face, an arm across your chest, and something deadly cold against your neck. "Hand over the keys," a voice says, "and your wallet, too."

Carjacking is a growing threat in American cities. Texas Safety Association offers these tips for protecting yourself against this crime:

First, remember that your life is worth more than your money or your car. If confronted by an armed robber, it's best to give him what he wants.

It's even better to avoid placing yourself in risky situations. When you're driving, be alert to danger. Most carjackers approach on foot. Lock your doors, keep windows rolled up in slow traffic, and don't get too preoccupied with your stereo or cellular phone.

When you stop at a light, leave a space between your car and the vehicle in front. (You should be able to see the other vehicle's rear tires) This will give you room to maneuver out of the spot, if necessary.

Park in well-lighted areas, avoiding potential hiding places such as woods or dumpsters. When you walk to your car, try to walk with other people, or ask for a security escort. If you see someone loitering near your car, retreat to a place of safety and call for help.

Approach the car with your key in your hand. Check the front and rear seats and glance underneath the car. On some new cars, all doors unlock when you unlock the driver's door. This can be dangerous if a carjacker is hiding on the passenger side.

Looking for Special Site For That Special Day?

(NU) - Imagine chartering a sleek Art Deco private railroad car for your wedding reception. Or a Victorian mansion in San Francisco's posh Pacific Heights section or the infamous South Fork Ranch, home to the long-running television series "Dallas."

For couples with adventurous tastes, there are plenty of unique locations, historic places and restored mansions available for wedding or reception rental. Choosing one of these sites can create an unforgettable mood, help preserve American heritage by supporting a historic location and offer the bride couple the chance to feel like royalty for a day.

Consider, for example, how your special day could become extraordinarily romantic by setting the reception at a beaux arts library, with Tiffany hanging lamps, in Chicago or at a bayou townhouse in Cajun country. For this once-in-a-lifetime day, a unique place — a Hudson River steamboat, a museum, an estate in the Berkshires, the former home of Pearl S. Buck, the historic and restored Union Station in Washington, and in Atlanta, the Fox Theater, where "Gone With The Wind" premiered — provides guests and wedding parties alike with fantastic memories.

A valuable resource guide, "Places: A Dictionary of Public Places for Public Events & Private Places for Public Functions," lists more than 2,000 rentable sites around the United States. The guide, by Hannelore Hahn, offers capsule descriptions of each site, including guest capacity and contact information.

The book can be ordered by calling 1-800-284-7028 (residents of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut should call 1-212-737-7536) or sending a check or money order for $28.95, which includes postage and handling, to Places, Dept. NU, P.O. Box 810, Gracie Station, New York, NY 10028.

Governor Richards Signs Bill That Will Help With Predatory Problems

Governor Ann Richards signed into law a bill that will assist livestock producers in overcoming their problems with predatory animals.

"Livestock losses caused by an increase in predators are putting some Texans out of business," stated Governor Richards. "It's time we take action to protect our livelihood."

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Steve Holzhauser (R-Victoria) and Sen. Bill Sims (D-San Angelo), allows county commissioner courts, if they so choose, to augment the federal trapping program by increasing the bounty for predatory animals. The legislation changes the current capped amount of five dollars to $20, unless the Parks and Wildlife Commission approves a higher figure. The bill also prevents the payment of any bounty on animals that appear on any state or federal protected species list.

Rep. Holzhauser explained that the legislation was needed due to the limitations of the federal trapper program. This program allows counties to participate on a limited basis if they pay part of the expense of providing a federal trapper to protect livestock in the county from predators. However, Holzhauser noted, "The limited availability of federal trappers doesn't allow many counties to address the predatory problem to the extent livestock producers feel is necessary."

The bill provides the opportunity to address this problem that is a great concern to many Texans, especially those involved with raising and producing livestock. While it does not require any county to participate, it offers county commissioner's courts the option is they believe the livestock in their county is at significant risk. In addition, this bill allows the county commissioner courts to determine which animals pose a particular risk to the county, rather than limiting the scope to specific animals as the old law did.

Sen. Sims comments, "This is a good bill because it gives counties the authority to do what is necessary if they have a problem with a particular predatory animal. It offers more local control, which is needed."

Consultation with environmental and wildlife specialists helps commissioners courts produce an accurate assessment of the conditions in each county.

Sometimes, a carjacker will drive up in another vehicle, bump the victim's car from behind, then attack when the driver gets out to investigate. If you're rear-ended and don't feel comfortable leaving your car, motion to the other driver to follow you to the nearest police station or the parking lot of a busy store.

Under Texas law, you must exchange names, address, vehicle registration numbers, and driver's license numbers with any driver involved in a collision with you. In a minor collision, the law permits moving to a safer place to exchange this information.

If your car breaks down, pull as far as possible away from moving traffic, tie a white handkerchief around the antenna, close the windows and lock the doors. If someone offers assistance, open the window a crack and ask the person to call the police or a towing service. If the person is wearing a uniform, ask for identification.

Above all, trust your instincts. After a crime occurs, police often hear statements like, "I had a feeling something wasn't right, but..." Stay alert—and stay safe.

Comment On Sports

BASEBALL *****
 By Pete Fritchie
 After more than a month's play, there're numerous surprises in team performance in the Majors. No one would have guessed Oakland and Baltimore, two teams picked by some to win their divisions, would be resting on the bottom of their divisions.
 Nor would many have expected the Mets and Dodgers to be doing so badly, also at or near bottom. Some did predict Philadelphia's strong showing but none expected Detroit to be leading the division in mid-May.
 San Francisco is a major surprise and Boston and New York in the American east are greatly improved. The guesses of many sports writers that manager Butch Hobson of the Red Sox would be the first manager fired this year were apparently poor guesses.
 California is another surprise thus far in the season and perhaps manager Buck Rodgers can give Gene Autry, who has waited so patiently, a winner. The Cardinals and Houston are also very impressive after the first six weeks' play in 1993.

Ports Of Call

By Bente Christensen
 One of the most picturesque mountain drives in eastern America--easily reached from Tennessee in the west and the Carolinas and Virginia in the east is the stretch of Blue Ridge Parkway between Boone and Waynesville, N.C.
 Boone is an especially beautiful mountain spot, with spectacular Grandfather Mountain (about 6,000) nearby and Blowing Rock just miles away. In winter there's skiing close, at Banner Elk, Beech Mountain and other locations.
 Driving south on the parkway from Boone, one passes through Little Switzerland to reach Mt. Mitchell State Park--with the highest peak in eastern American at 6,684 feet. Nearby is Wolf Laurel, for winter skiing or summer viewing.
 Only about an hour south one reaches Asheville, the largest city in the western North Carolina mountains, directly on the path of the mountain highway.
 The drive south from Asheville leads to Richard Balsam mountain in about two hours--the highest point on the parkway--6,053 feet. From there one is close to Waynesville, a summer holiday spot for a hundred years.
 Great Smokies National Park, well worth visiting, is just a few miles distant (from North Carolina or Tennessee); it has peaks reaching up to 6,621 feet (Goyot), almost as high as Mitchell.
 From now until October the parkway is an inviting retreat from hot weather. In the west these heights seem modest--Denver is about as high as most of them. But no other highway in the east is so lofty, picturesque, and free!
