Athletic boosters hope new program will turn local athletes into winners

The Muleshoe Athletic Boosters and Muleshoe Schools Athletic Department are currently implementing a new strength and conditioning program for Muleshoe Schools. But it is more than just a winning team they are aiming for - they want to create a winning attitude.

The boosters club and athletic department discussed a new Bigger Faster Stronger program with the Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees during a meeting on Monday night, seeking to update the board on the program and gain the board's support.

The BFS program is being implemented into the MISD Athletic Departments following a seminar this past weekend which was deemed a motivational success. Approximately 300 local athletes reportedly participated in the seminar.

"The Bigger Faster Stronger Program is a unique program designed for the improvement of each athlete," said Randy Adair, Muleshoe High School Athletic Director. "The program does not put the athletes in competition with each other. It challenges athletes to challenge themselves."

"We have already committed to this program and think it will make a difference. We are not asking the board for anything right now, except to watch and listen and support the program," Adair said.

Adair said the BFS program is similar to what MHS already uses. However, he noted a big difference in techniques which can make a big difference - from the way a kid lifts weights to the way they are trained.

Dr. Barry Cowart is president of an Athletic Boosters new committee formed to develop long-range goals for MISD. Cowart said that MISD has had a large number of athletes recently and during football season who had accidents or injuries. He said most of these accidents probably could have been prevented through better training techniques.

Also, a major disadvantage and potential cause of these accidents, Cowart said, is the lack of year-round training for athletes. A summer training program was offered this past year but no students participated in it.

Cowart said, "Studies have shown that for an eight-week period a kid does not workout, it takes them about twice that amount of time to get back to the level they were at before."

Adair agrees with this philosophy and feels implementing a summer youth program to encourage athletes to keep in shape during the summer, would make a big difference.

To support this philosophy, many members of the Athletic Boosters visited Stephenville, a town with a school deemed a success by using the BFS program.

Gary Glover, president of the Athletic Boosters, said the main purpose of the trip was to observe the school. He said the Athletic booster were impressed, but not by any kind of "state-of-the-art" facilities. It was an "attitude that filled the building" at the school in Sepsheville.

Glover said, "Through the BFS program, the enthusiasm will generate itself."

A major approach the BFS program will instill in young athletes is an enormous amount of motivation and direction.

Adair said that MISD has already begun to implement the program. The program will not cost the school district any additional funds at this time, nor will it change the current schedule of students in athletics.

Adair said, "The major kind of change we are talking about right now is teaching kids to burn fat, learn better lifestyles and how to be better athletes." The BFS program will include nutrition. It will not include

Resident says more school facilities are needed

A Muleshoe resident, Dave Faver, addressed the Muleshoe School Board of Trustees on Monday night and expressed a perceived need for more school athletic facilities.

During the open forum part of a meeting Monday, Faver said there is a "lack of facilities" at Muleshoe Schools, in particular, tennis courts.

Favor said that prior to going to the board, he visited with two different groups of people, people with children in Muleshoe Schools and people with none. He said they all seemed to agree that more tennis facilities were needed.

"Tennis is becoming a popular sport and in order for our students to be competitive in the school system, new failities are needed," he said. "We presently have two courts and that is not enough to hold a tournament."

He said, "On behalf of these people, I hope the school board will consider adding more tennis courts."

Cindy Purdy, MISD board of trustees president, said the board will discuss options.

In other business on Monday night, the school board approved an Update 48 policy, with the exception of a drug testing provision. This provision will be reviewed at a later date. The board also approved the adoption of textbooks from the District Textbook Committee and approved administrative staff contracts following a closed session.

Three Way schools to celebrate 50 years

The Three Way Consolidated County Line Independent School District of Bailey and Cochran counties will celebrate its 50th anniversary of consolidation with special events set for April 18-21.

The Three Way School District was created by order of the Bailey County Commissioner's Court on May 14, 1945. The consolidation was the result of consolidation of the Wilson Independent School District of Maple, the Watson #10 School District and the Goodland County Line Independent School District.

Events will begin with an open house during the week of April 18-21 during the normal school days. Visitors will be

New Alzheimer's Unit is now open at Farwell Convalescent Center

The Farwell Convalescent Center officially opened a new Alzheimer's unit, Jericho Road, with a ribbon-cutting ceremony held last Tuesday at its new 14-bed certified unit. Jericho Road is the only certified Alzheimer's unit in the Texas Panhandle.

The name for the unit, Jericho Road, was chosen from a Bible story about the good samaritan in the Book of Luke. That story took place on Jericho Road. This also follows with the good samaritan society philosophy.

The center's "E" wing has been redesigned and renovated. It now includes a lounge room, extra kitchen and dining area, a nurses station, walk-in shower and other features.

Farwell Convalescent Center first opened its doors in 1976. The center presently has residents from various locations, including Tucumcari, Portales, Clovis and Melrose, N.M.; and from Texas towns including Farwell, Friona, Bovina, Muleshoe and Plainview.

The center has local pastors who come in every weekday morning to give devotions. This allows the center to stay close to its mission "In Christ's love, everyone is someone."

In addition, the center is governed by nine board of directors and has 25 volunteer auxiliary members.

The Farwell Convalescent Center is located at 305 5th Street in Farwell.

The Rock-A-Thon was held to raise money for the American Heart Association during its February Heart Month.

any kind of use of drugs or steroids.

The MISD Athletic Department plans a curriculum for the BFS program which will include student athletes in grades 7th and above.

The BFS seminar held this past weekend was conducted by Coach Jim Brown of Salt Lake City, Utah. The basic curriculum of this seminar will be used in implementing the BFS program at MISD. Adair said MISD will use Brown strictly on a consultational basis at this point.

The Athletic Boosters are looking at the overall long-range goals for MISD athletics and are currently also looking at the possibility of conducting a summer youth program with possible assistance from the city.

They are also exploring other options, such as writing for state and federal grants, seeking support from the community and donations from the private sector. This will include a search for in-kind donations, such as donations of labor, service and cash.

Funds are expected to be needed in the near future because the current school gym facilities will soon be outgrown with an increase in athletes expected.

Adair said, "In part, this new program is a similar format to what we have already been using. But now, we are going to take it to the next level."

The school board's response to the BFS program was favorable.

Superintendent Bill Moore said, "We need to see if this is a step the community wants to take."

The board did offer its support of the new program.

Bivins files bill to allow state to assist local schools

AUSTIN — State Sen. Teel Bivins (R-Amarillo) recently filed a bill that would allow the state to assist local school districts with the cost of constructing school buildings.

"Texas has a moral responsibility to help local school districts pay for building classrooms," Bivins said. "I believe that even in light of yesterday's Supreme court ruling. While the court vacated the lower injunction, the court made it clear the state has a duty to fully fund a school finance system that includes facilities."

The court ruling stated: "The districts must have substantially equal access to the funding for a general diffusion of knowledge for both operations and facilities needs. If the legislature abdicates its duty with respect to either of these needs, we will have no choice but to hold that the school finance system is unconstitutional in its entirety."

Bivins pointed out the state's overall proportion of education funding has dropped over recent decades, putting more pressure on local districts to make up the difference. "The state should be more of a partner in funding facilities as well as educational programs," Bivins said.

Under Senate Bill 5, the state would provide supplemental funding for school districts wanting to build or renovate facilities based on the wealth of the districts.

Senior citizens meet at depot

The Bailey County Senior Citizens met at the Depot on Feb. 27 for a regular covered-dish luncheon. The invocation was given by Olive Cox. The salute to the flag was led by Buster Kittrell.

After a delicious meal, President Buster Kittrell introduced Joellan Cowart and her daughter Robin. Robin read some poems. Mrs. Cowart sang several songs with Susan Nichles at the piano.

There were 30 present, including nine visitors: Reathe Knowles, Mable Nieman, Dot Bowers, Gladys Hartage of Farwell, Harold Burge, Joellen Cowart, Robbin Cowart, Suzan Nichles and Susie Spain.

Minutes were read and approved. A card for the sick was sent to Margaret Collins.

Buster read two readings about taxes. The tax man found a man who was rich, but he did not need to pay taxes for his wealth was not taxable. The dismissal prayer was given by Katie Roubinek.

Criminal Justice Agency to recruit minorities

AUSTIN- The Texas Department of Criminal Justice has launched an aggressive minority recruiting campaign to help fill 9,000 jobs the agency expects to staff in the coming year, including 7,000 new openings in the prison expansion program.

"We intend to meet or exceed the statewide minority employment goals in every job category mandated by the Legislature in the appropriations bill," TDCJ Executive Director James A. Collins said of the recruiting drive. "We can do this by capitalizing on our hiring opportunities as we complete the expansion program," Collins said. "Our management and our board have no higher priority."

Collins said the agency will stress recruiting Hispanic Texans "because that is our weakest area and it is the area where we have the greatest number of new employees because of expansion, the recruiting campaign will equally promote careers in TDCJ's other divisions, including pardons and paroles, community justice assistance, the Windham School System and the new state jails, Collins said.

Corrections

Wrong information

In the Sunday, Feb. 19 edition of the Bailey County Journal, incorrect information was printed in the page one story on "Efforts to cleanup old cemetery to begin."

The old cemetery referred to in the story is not called the Old Muleshoe Cemetery as stated in the story. It is the Bailey County Cemetery. Also, available lots for sale at the Bailey County Cemetery are not almost all used up as stated in the story. Only one main section is nearing capacity, but the Bailey County Cemetery still has several other sections with available lots.

The Journal regrets this error and hopes it has not caused confusion.

In the Sunday, Feb. 26 edition of the Bailey County Journal, the story on the upcoming Mule-Plex Production contained incorrect information. Proceeds from the production in August will not go to the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation as stated in the story. Only proceeds from a supper held before the production will go to the Heritage Foundation. Proceeds from the actual production will go to Mule-Plex Production Co. The Journal regrets this error and hopes it has not caused confusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stanley attended the wedding of granddaughter Shawn Jones at an aunts in Lubbock on Feb. 18. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alton Jones of Shallowater.

John Snitker of Houston has been to Enochs to visit his dad Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Snitker. They all went to Muleshoe to see Tannan Spencer of Friona play basketball in Muleshoe. Tannan is a granddaughter of the Snitkers.

Sam Austin of Lubbock spent last weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Austin.

I was sorry to hear that Essie Seagler had a stroke and was moved to Plainview where her son Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seagler live. She is in a nursing home there.

We were proud to have the four new members the past two months. They were Maudena Claunch, Irene Teaff, Lorene Latham and Junior Austin. Oleta Stanley, who has been ill so long, has been able to attend church the past two Sunday mornings. Kim Silhan and baby Jacob were visitors at the church Sunday morning.

Pena speaks to AARP about federal programs

The local chapter of the American Association of Retired People (AARP) met for their regular monthly meeting on Friday, Feb. 24. The invocation was led by Alton Epting. The pledge to the flag was led by Clara Lou Jones.

Twenty members and four guests enjoyed a delicious lunch.

Guest was Georgia Pena, who was introduced by Elizabeth Watson, program chairman. Also present were two residents and the activity director of the nursing home, Bottie Tiller, Rosa Sneed and Joy Stancell.

Georgia is the director of federal programs for the Muleshoe Independent School district. She gave reports on several programs such as special education students, migrants, handicapped and disadvantaged. These are all special children.

Every child deserves an education. Georgia also informed the group on the excellent computer programs, especially in the lower grades and in junior high.

After the program President Buster Kittrell called the meeting to order. The reading of the minutes was done by secretary Mable Wolf. The treasurer's report was given by Clara Lou Jones. The group voted to donate $15 to the Rock-A-Thon at the nursing home.

After other business and reported, the group dismissed with a prayer by Theron Eubanks.

Pets for adoption

IN NEED OF A HOME - The City of Muleshoe Animal Shelter constantly has a number of pets like this four-month-old Dalmation and this Australian Shepherd name Sam, which are available for adoption. Animals which are not claimed or adopted in five days, are then destroyed.

The City of Muleshoe constantly has a number of pets at the city animal shelter who have either been lost or are strays and are in need of a home. The city would like to inform and remind the public that these pets are ready for adoption. Animals which are not adopted or claimed within five days after being picked up by the city's animal control officer are then destroyed as a last option. The cost to the city of upkeeping these pets can grow over a period of time.

Raymond Martinez, the city's animal control officer said that many times pets are picked up as strays and cannot be returned to their rightful owners because they don't have tags or any other information to identify them. Also, he said that often times an owner will wait until it is too late, after a pet has been destroyed, to contact the animal shelter. Martinez said the animal shelter should be contacted once a pet is missing so they can be aware of it.

If a person's pet is picked up by the city though, there is a $5 a day care charge they must pay to get their pet back.

The city encourages people to consider adopting a pet from the city animal shelter. To adopt a pet, a deposit is required to insure the pet is spayed or neutered. The deposit fee is returned once proof that it has been spayed or neutered is presented.

Animals must also receive rabie shots before they can be adopted and an adoption fee and $1 fee for a tag to the city must be paid. For more information about adopting a pet from the city animal shelter, contact Martinez at City Hall.

FESTIVAL '95 March 3rd-13th

Glenn Miller's Greatest Hits

Glenn Miller's Greatest Hits celebrates the music popularized by one of the 20th century's foremost bandleaders, melodies that have remained in America's musical consciousness for over 50 years. Kathie Lee Gifford hosts this new 90-minute extravaganza.

Artfully combining a recent concert of the Glenn Miller Orchestra (under the direction of Larry O'Brien) with vintage footage of Miller and the band from the 30s and 40s, Glenn Miller's Greatest Hits captures the magic of more than a dozen of Miller's chart-topping hits, including "In the Mood," "Chattanooga Choo-Choo," "Pennsylvania 6-3000," "Moonlight Serenade," "Little Brown Jug," "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree," "Who's Sorry Now," "Serenade in Blue," "Along the Santa Fe Trail," "The American Patrol," "A String of Pearls," and many others.

The concert is spiced with rare archival clips of Glenn Miller and his band in the movies, on radio, in the news, and in performance.

Glenn Miller's Greatest Hits will be broadcast Friday, March 3rd at 10:10 p.m. It will repeat Monday, March 13th at 8:00 p.m.

The Lawrence Welk Show: Then and Now

The program includes rarely seen segments from over 30 years of television shows (some as early as the 1950s), illustrating the enduring popularity of Welk's musical variety show and the gifted performers. Reflections and remembrances from Welk fans were recorded in Branson and are integrated into the program.

The Lawrence Welk Show: Then and Now will be broadcast Saturday, March 4th at 8:00 p.m. on KENW-TV.

Let's hear it for them cowboy cartoonists

READY FOR SOME ACTION - Muleshoe High School student Shannon Johnson is ready and waiting as she competes during a tennis match at the school last week. In a tennis match against Littlefield last week, the MHS tennis team beat Littlefield, winning nine matches to one. They will compete in regional tournaments Friday and Saturday in Levelland and Brownfield.

In my life there are people with talents I admire: horse trainers, good ropers, cattle traders, backyard mechanics, welders, guitar players, A. I. technicians, farriers, purebred breeders and rough stock riders, for instance. I've resigned myself to the fact that your can't be good at everything, so, even though I admire these talents I don't envy them.

However, there is one gifted group that I come close to envying...cartoonists. I am lucky to be friends with many of this wacky persuasion. I'm partial to cowboy cartoonists. I can relate closely with their dead pan looney observations or bug-eyed, cinch bustin' cow catastrophes that they spread across a slice-of-bread size scene like bumpy blackberry jam.

I admit to secretly draggin' out quill and ink in the dark of night in an attempt to imitate them. I've been doing it since the 3rd grade and even today my drawing looks like a 3rd grader did it.

My cows all have heads like a garden rake. My horses look like scaffolding. My cowboys look like smiley faces with gorilla arms and Bozo the Clown feet.

I'm constantly amazed that these agriculturally afflicted cartoonists can give their animals expressions - surprise, confusion, malice, boredom, contentment, intelligence and pshaw.

They make it look simple. Usually black and white line drawings that we see in all our cowboy magazines and ag trade papers. But it ain't simple.

It is one thing to be able to draw funny. But then these cartoonists put a caption to the drawing that ties the bow on the package. Short, simple and funny.

I try and write funny columns but it takes me two lead pencils and a yellow pad to say what they condense into one line.

I've always felt like it is the truth in humor that makes it funny. If you can see yourself in the cartoon, you can relate. It also shows that the cartoonist has to have "been there".

From Ace Reid to the kid in the back of class drawing cartoons during algebra class, they continue to draw snapshots of our lives as we muck and stumble our way through the livestock business. God love'em, it's like they keep sendin' us pictures every week for our family album.
