

Mules face Morton Thursday in scrimmage

By Linda McGonagill

Muleshoe football teams will have their first outing Thursday, Aug. 24, when the Morton Indians come to Muleshoe for a controlled scrimmage.

The younger teams will start play about 5:30 p.m., and the varsity will start at approximately 7 p.m.

The teams will have at least two sessions, with about 30 plays for each side in each session.

Randy Adair, MISD head coach and athletic director, believes the scrimmage is an opportunity to evaluate personnel in performing against another team in a controlled environment. "In a scrimmage, coaches also have the opportunity to stop and teach."

Coaches from both schools give each other an idea of what plays to expect, he said, since the idea is to learn as you play.

The Mules are preparing for their season opener Friday, Sept. 1, when Portales comes to Benny Douglas Stadium. Game time is 8 p.m.

Adair said Portales has a good quarterback and offensive line, with an eight-man defensive front. "Playing Portales is like playing a 4A school in Texas. But we are excited about playing them—we just hope we get the right people in the right places at the right time," he said.

Portales will be ahead of the Mules in playing time, as they will open their season

Chances for deficiency payments diminish for cotton farmers

LUBBOCK — According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG), the chances of any type of deficiency payment for Upland cotton being available for the 1995 crop continues to diminish.

PCG officials note that since the weighted average price received by growers has increased each month for the first six months of the year, the chances of it dropping below the 72.9 cent Upland cotton target price are slim.

On the opposite side, the increase in the weighted average price shows that cotton prices continue to stay high—which is good news for producers looking to get a good price for the 1994 crop.

Marketing figures for the month of June indicate a total of 4.169 million bales of cotton have been marketed during the first six months of 1995. USDA's preliminary estimate of June marketings totaled 248,000 bales.

The average price received by farmers during the month was 86.3 cents per pound. Through the first six months of the year the weighted average price received by farmers totals 81.69 cents, 8.79 cents above the 72.9 cent upland cotton target price.

"Cotton producers here on the Texas High Plains, as well as in other parts of the Cotton Belt, are having to operate on very slim margins," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "Without a deficiency payment on the 1995 crop, those margins are shrunk even more."

Johnson adds that the people most seriously affected by the lack of a deficiency payment in 1995 will be those who have lost their crops already or have very limited potential on the cotton still in the field.

Leasing waivers re-defined

COLLEGE STATION — Landowners who lease their land for hunting often obtain waivers to minimize their liability. Recent rulings by the Texas Supreme Court have clarified what a waiver should contain.

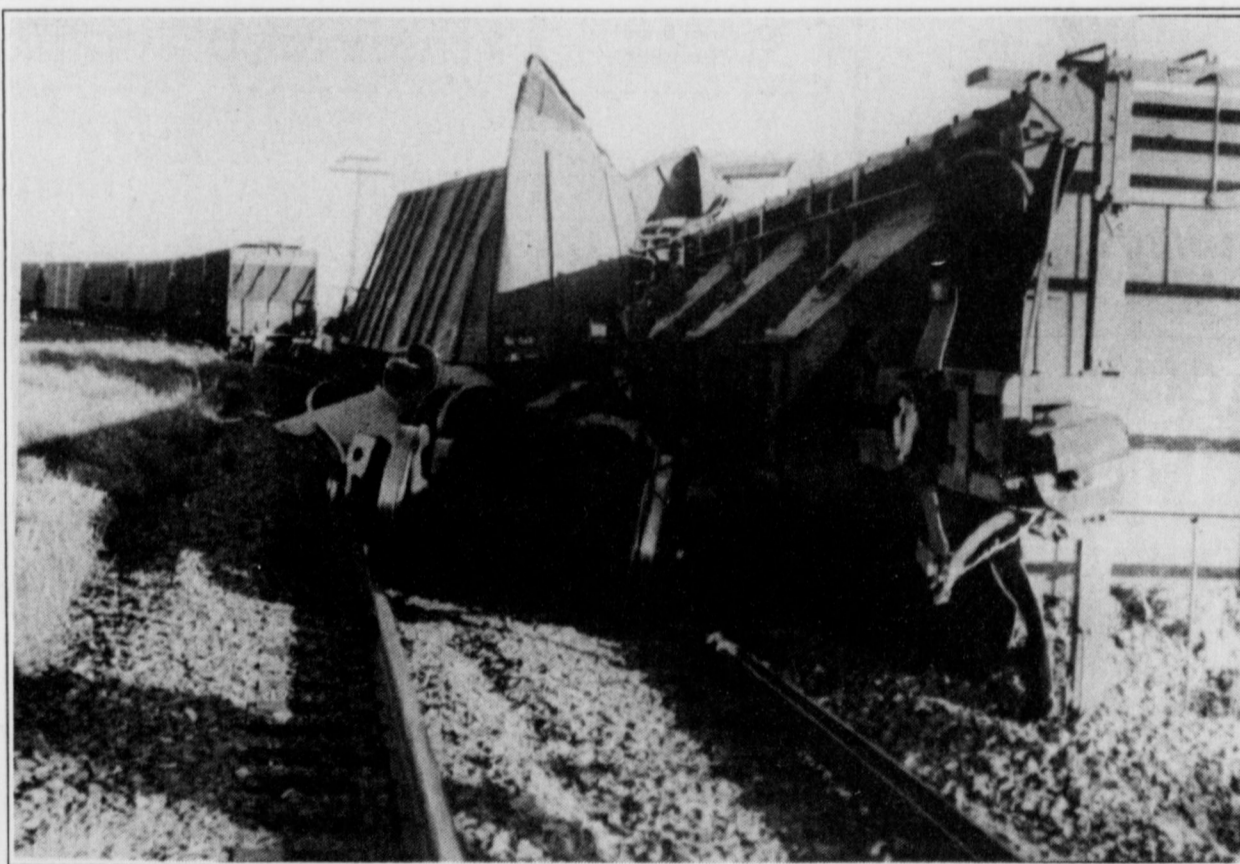

"A waiver is defined as the intentional relinquishment of a known right," says Judon Fambrough, attorney with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University and author of The Texas Deer Lease.

"To be effective, the release provision must be based on an offer and acceptance where the parties have equal bargaining power," says Fambrough. "For example, parents cannot release in advance a minor's right to recover for personal injuries caused by the negligence of another."

Likewise, the agreement for release must be based on consideration, but it need not be monetary. An agreement not to sue in exchange for hunting rights may be sufficient.

Recently, the Texas Supreme Court added three requirements for an effective waiver agreement. First, there must be a statement in which LUBBOCK — Classroom projects by high school agricultural mechanics students and open crop exhibits by South Plains gardeners and farmers will be on view during the upcoming 78th annual Panhandle-South Plains Fair, Sept. 23-30, reports Steve L. Lewis, fair manager.

Ag-mechanics exhibits must be the work of students enrolled in TEA approved classes during the 1994-95 school year or the beginning of this year. Exhibits can be constructed individually or jointly by FFA members and will be on display in a tent west of the former Agriculture Building throughout the eight day run of the fair. Ag-mechanics exhibits must be submitted by agriculture teachers.

Rosettes and $2,775 prize money will be awarded through four places in each of the following ag-mechanics areas:

livestock and farm equipment; general shop projects; recreational and home convenience; finished wood projects and trailers. Ag-mechanics judging is set to begin at noon, opening Saturday of the fair, and winners will be announced about 2 p.m.

Entry deadline for ag-mechanics exhibits is Sept. 21 and exhibits will be accepted from 3-6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 22, or 8:30-11 a.m. Saturday. Show officials include Texas Tech University Agriculture Education Department members David Lawver and Lance Kieth.

Area farmers and gardeners can exhibit fruits, vegetables and crops in the Open Crop Department of the fair, located in the Children's Barnyard building. Crop entries will be taken from 3-7 p.m. Friday and 8-11 a.m. Saturday.

New or expanded categories include quilted items, clothing, furniture, Southwest ceramics, floral arrangements, jewelry, handmade dolls, luggage, vests, broomstick skirts, and mailboxes."

High Plains cotton prospects still run from excellent to poor. USDA's 3 million bale production estimate for the area is still possible given better than average weather through the remainder of the season.

"Our crop is really sitting right on the edge at this time," says Johnson. "The difference between us putting together a 3 million bale crop or one significantly below that figure will depend largely on what happens during what's left of August and September."

Marketing and price figures quoted above were taken from the national agricultural Statistics Service and are subject to revision.

the hunter expressly releases the landowner from any acts arising "from the landowner's negligence."

Second, the written contract must give the hunter fair notice of the release provision. The fair-notice principle focuses on the appearance and placement of the provision, not its content.

"The fair-notice requirement is not necessary if the landowner can prove the hunter had actual notice or knowledge of the provision," says Fambrough.

Third, the release provisions must be conspicuous. The element of "Conspicuousness" is tied to the "fair-notice" requirement.

"Basically, the release provision must be conspicuous enough to give the hunter fair notice of its existence," says Fambrough. "What is conspicuous? There's no real answer."

Fambrough suggests several ways to make a provision conspicuous. These include emphasizing entire paragraphs, not just a portion; placing provisions at the beginning or end of the contract on a separate sheet of paper; use of italicized headings and having hunters initial the waiver paragraph if it is part of the contract or to sign the page if it is a separate sheet. The Texas Deer Lease contains a sample release.

Deadline to submit applications for tax exemption to RRC August 31

AUSTIN — Oil and gas operators may be able to qualify for state severance tax exemptions on inactive wells despite a current requirement that the well be capable of producing, Texas Railroad Commission (RRC) Chairman Barry Williamson said.

In a letter to well operators across the state, Williamson strongly encouraged operators to submit an application for the tax exemption "Without regard to whether the well can demonstrate productive capability."

Current requirements for the 10-year exemption — known to the industry as the 3-Year Inactive Incentive — include proof that the inactive well is capable of producing hydrocarbons, but has not done so for more than one month over the past three years.

The deadline to submit applications to the RRC to qualify for the 3-Year Inactive Incentive is August 31.

The 3-Year Inactive Well Incentive Program has been an unqualified success, according to Williamson. Since its beginning in 1993, 4,022 oil and gas wells, capable of producing 13.4 million barrels of oil and 156.4 billion cubic feet of gas a year, have been certified. The Commission estimates the value of the production at $531 million and the positive impact on the Texas economy at $1.5 billion.

Recently, Williamson instructed his staff to reevaluate the production capability requirement. The requirement that the wells must have been inactive at least years remains intact, he pointed out.

"We're trying to get every last one of these wells we possibly can back on line," Williamson said. "If operators will submit an application to the Commission by August 31, 1995, there is a chance they will qualify and can produce for 10 years without having to pay severance tax," Williamson said.

"I remain committed to helping Texans maximize incentives for oil and gas production and to saving wells that are in danger of being plugged," Williamson said. "I want to seize every opportunity to achieve these goals."

Black Magic wins

By Linda McGonagill

Black Magic, a basketball youth group from Muleshoe, won the age 11-12 division at the Hereford Town and Country Jubilee in a three-on-three basketball tournament recently.

In the three-on-three competitions, scoring is somewhat different from regular basketball, in that each basket counts as one point, rather than two.

Black Magic defeated Marsh 16-7, the Final Four, 16-8, and Lazbuddie, 17-2, winning best in their class.

In the first game, scoring was as follows: Daniel Johnson had 7 points, Michael Norman had 5, Moises Garcia had 3 and Andy Dominguez had 1.

In the second game against the Final Four, Johnson had 3 points, Norman had 6, Garcia had 6, and Dominguez had 1.

In the third game against Lazbuddie, Johnson had 4 points, Norman had 8 and Garcia had 4.

Black Magic Coach Mac Norman said the team members have worked hard this summer and deserve recognition. The team may still play in some future competitions.

Meet the Mules

Lots of fans showed up to meet the Mules Friday night. Participants of football and cross country were introduced at the event sponsored by the Booster Club. Band members, cheerleaders and Mini Mule cheerleaders joined the fans at an ice cream supper.

Most Texas drivers have had very little formal drivers' education

Saying it's been too long since most Texas drivers had any formal driver education, five state agencies and 3M Corp. are conducting a campaign to emphasize the meaning and importance of traffic signs, signals and lane marking.

"Sixty percent of the licensed in Texas are more than 35 years of age," said Carlos Lopez, engineer of traffic for the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT).

"It may have been 20 or more years since these drivers first got their licenses or had any formal driver education. Our campaign, Vital Signs, will help fill this educational gap."

The goal of the campaign is to make Texas' roads and highways safer by providing information to motorists on the meaning of various traffic signs, signals and lane markings they encounter while driving.

"We call it Vital Signs because that is exactly what traffic signs are, signs that are vital to your safety," Lopez said. "We want Texans to learn their vital signs, to understand them and to follow them."

The campaign is part of the research implementation plan for a TTI study sponsored by TxDOT. The study evaluated the effectiveness of 52 traffic control devices through surveys and focus groups involving more than 2,400 drivers.

"We're always working to improve what we have," said Lewis Rhodes, the study's Project Director at TxDOT. "We're continuously trying to make things more helpful to the driver."

TTI Associate Research Engineer Gene Hawkins and Research Scientist Katie Womack shared responsibility for the study as co-principal investigators.

"Through this research, we intended to utilize scientific methods to evaluate devices which could or should be improved from the perspective of driver understanding," Hawkins said. "We hope to improve the overall effectiveness of the transportation system, there by enhancing safety and ease of travel."

The campaign will also include a Drivers Handbook by DPS, an update in the curriculum of driver education classes by TEA and a program by the health department to provide information to senior driver.

TTI's Center for Information and Technology Exchange developed the overall campaign and produced a 30-second public service announcement for television, as well as a poster and brochure for distribution throughout the state.

The brochure, which will be available at DPS licensing offices and from TxDOT, focused primarily on sign shapes and colors, one of the fundamental areas addressed in the study.

3M Corp., which manufactures the reflective sheeting used on many traffic signs, provided funding for the printing of education materials and video reproduction services.

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch expects 10,000 spectators

The Texas Panhandle's most exciting Labor Day weekend event is still the annual Cal Farley's Boys Ranch Rodeo!

The proof of this claim is visible in the large number of spectators who return each year to cheer about 100 youngsters riding broncs, bulls, and calves, competing for trophies and the titles of Jr. and Sr. All-Around Cowboys.

About 10,000 people attending the two-day rodeo, September 3 and 4, also applaud young cowgirls challenged in barrel racing and pole bending events.

Tickets for both performances of the rodeo are still available in Amarillo. Reserve bleacher seats are $4, general admission $3, and children 6 to 12 years old are admitted for $1. Rodeo performances begin at 2:30 p.m.

Food cheap source of vaccines

HOUSTON — Inexpensive vaccines to prevent diseases that now infect millions around the world could come from foods we eat every day, researchers say.

Scientists at Texas A&M University's Institute for Biosciences and Technology (IBT) in Houston and the Roswell Park Cancer Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., say proteins extracted from genetically engineered plants, such as potatoes, have the same ability to induce immune responses as the current, more expensive commercial vaccine.

"This is the first real evidence that proteins produced in transgenic plants have all the essential features needed to trigger the immune system."

Mule-Plex Production Co. wishes to say "THANK YOU" to the community for it's outstanding support during the last year. Thanks to you, we had three great productions: "Beehive", from the Amarillo Little Theatre, "The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940", directed by Kerry Moore, and "Keepers of the Legend", directed by Alan Finney and Sally Messenger.

It was the community that made each of these productions a major success. Mule-Plex will continue to bring and produce quality entertainment to the Muleshoe community in the years to come. Plans are already underway for this next year's activities.

Special thanks to Kerry Moore for all of his efforts through the years that helped Mule-Plex get started and the wonderful productions he directed. Thanks also to Alan Finney for his work on "Keepers of the Legend". A heartfelt thanks to all the casts, stage and production crews that have given their time and talent to make each of the Mule-Plex productions a great success over the years.

This "Thank You" note could not be complete without expressing our sincere thanks to our local businesses. They have always been very generous with their donations and support. Without them, much of what Mule-Plex does would not be possible.

Again, thanks to you all and we look forward to the next year.

SINCERELY,

American Playhouse
"Cabeza de Vaca"

The American Playhouse presentation of "Cabeza de Vaca" is a real life adventure inspired by the memories of Spanish explorer Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca who, after being shipwrecked off the coast of Florida in 1528, walked for eight years across America to the Pacific coast of Mexico. He was the first European to see these lands. During his quest for survival he lived with lost Indian tribes, experienced the secrets of their mystical ways, and performed medical wonders. When finally reunited with the Spanish, he had come to see the conquest in a different, more barbaric light.

"Cabeza de Vaca" was Mexico's official selection for Academy Award consideration and had its world premiere at the 1991 Berlin International Film Festival. Although the film is clearly epic in nature, it was shot in only eight weeks in two main locales in Mexico: Nayarit and Coahuila.

The film begins in 1536 in a Spanish camp named San Miguel de Culiacan. Four bedraggled men — Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca and his companions, Castillo, Dorantes, and a Moorish slave — arrive in the camp and find themselves surrounded by armored soldiers and enslaved Indians. They are stunned to learn that it has been eight long years since their expedition foundered off the coast of Florida with 600 men, and they are the only ones that have survived.

Castillo and Dorantes are overjoyed to find "Spain" once again, but Alvar is devastated by the cruelty of the Spaniards and the horrible treatment of their captured and enslaved Indians. Only Alvar comprehends the magnitude of the adventure they have survived, and the impact of destruction of the cultures he has come to love and respect.

"Cabeza de Vaca" on American Playhouse airs Friday, August 25th at 12:00 midnight. It repeats Monday, August 28th at 9:00 p.m.

The Great Depression
Fridays at 10:00 p.m. (begins August 25th)
"Somehow, in the hardest of times, with America slipping away, our parents and grandparents found the courage to fight their way out," begins The Great Depression, an unprecedented seven-part series. "Nothing turned out exactly the way they planned. ... But by the time the Great Depression was over, they had done better than simply save America—they had made a new America."
The series offers a new look at how Americans responded to the greatest crisis to confront them in this century. The series portrays America at its most vulnerable and most courageous. People are the center of the story — not just the well-known heroes and politicians, but the unsung women and men who fought to preserve America's democratic ideals.

Terra International presented Stewardship Award by Valent

WALNUT CREEK, CA – Terra International Inc. of Muleshoe received the Stewardship Award for its outstanding environmental stewardship in 1994 through the Vanguard awards program sponsored by Valent U.S.A. Corporation.

By complying 100 percent with Vanguard's stewardship standards and scoring better than the national average, Terra International Inc. branches in Blytheville, AR; Lyons, NY; Bovina and Muleshoe each received the Stewardship Awards for their commitment to agrochemical stewardship.

"We're very pleased to present Terra International Inc. with the Stewardship Award. Through its participation in Vanguard, Terra International is essentially taking the stewardship ideal off of paper and really making it work," said Mike Bledsoe, Valent quality assurance, stewardship and safety manager, who heads up the program.

Valent created the Vanguard Program in 1993 in an effort to ensure safe handling of agricultural chemicals and to promote stewardship by its distributors. Funded with more than $700,000 in 1994, the program offers financial incentives to distributors for meeting and surpassing environmental and stewardship standards set by Valent and the American Crop Protection Association (ACPA).

In 1994, more than 350 Valent distributors participated in the program by submitting the ACPA's "Safe Agrochemicals Storage, Dealer Warehouse Self-Evaluation." Vanguard addresses five main issues of product safety and stewardship: run-off containment, separate flammable storage, emergency response procedures, employee training and community right-to-know (providing information on chemicals stored to safety officials in the community).

Distributors are evaluated, independently audited and ranked in the Vanguard Program, as well as against the national average, based on their scores.

All Valent distributors participating in the program also receive a report card after their scores are evaluated. The report compares the distributor's scores to the national average, showing line by line how that distributor is doing in the program. Terra International Inc. is one of only 28 companies nationally to win the Stewardship Award honors. Valent U.S.A. Corporation, headquartered in Walnut Creek, CA, develops and markets a variety of crop protection and plant enhancement products.

New Mexico Outdoor Drama Association to host a musical SANJON, NM—The New Mexico Outdoor Drama Association will present a musical at 7 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 26 at the Tucumcari High School Auditorium in Tucumcari, NM.

The presentation features Suzanne and Jim, who blend banjo picking with flying feet, duet singing and home spun humor.

Jim Hale is an Appalachian style banjo artist who is a student of early recorded country folk music. His banjo has been featured on the TV mini series "The Wild West."

Another fund-raiser, a gospel jubilee, will be held Sunday, Sept. 10, at the Caprock Amphitheater starting at 4:30 p.m.

MISD School Board notes

The Board of Trustees began Monday night with reports from the campus principals concerning the program additions and/or changes they are anticipating for this school year.

Following the principal's reports, Georgia Pena spoke to the trustees concerning the summer program sponsored by St. Edwards University in Austin for migrant students.

With her were Freddy Santos and Lisa Rodriguez. Both Freddy and Lisa have participated in the St. Edwards program and told of their experiences.

Next, Superintendent Bill Moore gave the trustees a review of the accountability system and briefly reviewed the campus report cards received recently from TEA.

The campus report cards rated the high school as a low performing school due to one of the sub-groups on the TAAS test scoring below 25 percent.

Because the campus was rated as low performing, the district is required to hold a public hearing.

That hearing will be held at the high school building on Sept. 25 in conjunction with the regular school board meeting.

In other business, the trustees adopted an appraisal calendar for the 1995-96 school year, adopted Update 49 from the TASB Policy Service, and continued their discussion of the 1995-96 school budget. A budget hearing will be held on Aug. 28.

Following general reports from the administrators present, the trustees voted to employ Joe Baker and Betty Lacefield as teachers for the 1995-96 school year.

The next meeting of the board will be held on Aug. 28.
