

The Southwest's newest and most ultra-modern theatre is nearing completion in Ft. Worth. This fabulous Aluminum-domed structure will house Casa Manana Musicals which will feature outstanding hits from Broadway. This first season will present for the first time in this area "theatre-in-the-round" musicals including "Can-Can", "Carousel", "Pajama Game", "The Merry Widow" and "Call Me Madam". This entirely new concept of Summer Musicals allows for an actual feeling of participation on the part of the audience and has been widely acclaimed in other parts of the nation.

The Dome, a new and spectacular sight on the entertainment horizon of the Southwest, is composed of 575 diamond-shaped panels joined by gold colored struts. Erection was accomplished by setting a portable mast in the center of the floor. The Aluminum diamonds were then joined together at the base of the mast and hoisted by rigging to a height sufficient to attach another circle of the panels. This process was repeated until the entire dome was completed.

Developed and designed by Kaiser Aluminum Corporation, the Casa Manana Dome is 145 feet in diameter and will seat approximately 1,832 persons around a centrally located stage. The dome's clear-span principal is ideally suited for musicals, symphonies, operas and other dramatic productions.

With architectural design by A. George King and Associates, the Casa Manana project will include wings extending from the central dome to house dressing rooms, executive offices, property shop, wardrobe and rehearsal rooms. The ultra-modern building will be 62½ feet high with 29,000 square feet of floor space on the main floor. The additional areas will cover 9,500 square feet of floor space. A projection room located on the mezzanine will contain 1000 square feet. The circular stage is located in the center of the main floor and is 32 feet in diameter. The stage is removable and the orchestra pit can be covered to adapt the building for other usage such as motion pictures, conventions and other gatherings.

The dome was erected by Lydick Roofing Company of Fort Worth and the General Construction was under the direction of Butcher and Sweeney Construction Company, also of Fort Worth. Scheduled for completion June 27, the work is well along and the builders say it will be finished on time.

On July 5, Casa Manana Musicals will open with a typical Broadway opening night and the summer season will begin on July 7 to bring to the people of the Southwest the newest and greatest in the entertainment field - Summer Musicals . . . "In-The-Round".

About Your Health . . .

She is five years old and pretty, full of childish zest. She is also almost deaf.

Three weeks ago specialists found this black-haired, black-eyed youngster's hearing loss might one day be restored to the point where she might hear without a hearing aid.

She is one of four children -- all of whom might otherwise have faced lifelong handicaps -- who have been accepted for help under a new program of the State Department of Health.

Operated by the department's division of maternal and child health, the new service is intended for deaf and hard of hearing children living in areas covered by local health departments whose parents have limited income. Eligibility and appointments for service under the program is determined by the local health department director.

The Dallas Society for Crippled Children, in cooperation with the State Health Department, is set up to do examinations and to fit children with hearing aids if necessary. Additional centers will soon be set up in other areas.

Priority for helping meet costs of doctor's fees, laboratory work, x-rays, hearing aids, and other expenses is being given to parents of handicapped children under six years of age. Youngsters of other ages may be accepted at the discretion of the department.

These are some of the main services given at the center to deaf or hard of hearing children.

A thorough examination will be made by a child specialist. Separate examinations are given by ear specialists, and by specialists in mental and emotional health. Exams include necessary x-ray and laboratory work.

The extent and type of hearing loss is checked, and if a hearing aid is necessary the youngster is given one of the type which will do him the most good.

The department is unable to pay for treatment -- even if it is recommended -- but it will provide the drugs necessary for treatment. Drugs are furnished directly to local health department directors for use in individual cases.

The department will also try to help hard of hearing children particularly those who have never learned to talk because of their hearing loss, get special training.

In many instances, parents of hard of hearing children are able to give special training to their children with assistance from the State Health Department.

Funds to support the program are limited, so it is necessary to get proper authorization before children can be accepted for the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Crawford and daughter are spending a week's vacation visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Pringle of Clyde and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Crawford and other relatives.

Other visitors in the Elbert Crawford home were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Betcher and family of Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Turner of Oplin.

Your reporter, Mrs. Lillian Crawford, visited Wednesday with Mrs. Dolph Hodges. She had not been feeling well due to keeping up her own work and trying to help neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carpenter. Possibly it isn't the work, but just the worry and the recent sorrow that many of us know that has come her way.

Mrs. Ruth Kiser and a friend, Mrs. Minnie Hart of Winters, were also visiting Mrs. Hodges, a sister of Mrs. Kiser.

Robert Foller visited relatives in Abilene over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Driggers and Terry Lynn of Midland spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Evelyn McQueen.

(Editor's Note: This is the 10th in a series of articles compiled by C. M. Vaden, Jr., Field Representative of the Abilene Social Security Office.)

A third type of benefit payable under the Social Security program is a disability payment. This is payable to a disabled worker beginning at age 50, or to a child of a worker receiving retirement pay under Social Security, or who died fully insured provided the child is disabled and has been since before age 18. The child must be dependent on the worker at the time he becomes eligible or at the time of the worker's death.

The law also provides that a worker may "freeze" his social security at the time he becomes disabled. This protects any future benefit rights that a worker may have so it is very important that any disabled worker establish his disability now with the Social Security Administration regardless of the age at which he becomes disabled.

In order to be eligible for the "freeze" or for payments, a person must be so severely disabled that he is unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity. This applies to the childhood disability cases as well as the disabled worker.

The worker, in addition, must have worked under Social Security at least 5 of the 10 years before the established beginning date of his disability and also for one and one-half years in the 3-year period before he became disabled. The disability must be a physical or mental disability that is medically determinable. The worker has to be disabled for a period of six months before the payments can become effective. A disability can have no effect on a person's Social Security unless he was disabled at least six months before age 65.

For more information write the Social Security Administration, P. O. Box 1641, Abilene and ask for a free copy of the book, "If You Are Disabled."

Texas Driver's Speed Record Improves

Eventhough the average speed of Texas driving showed some improvement last year driving too fast for conditions continued to hold its number one position in the list of causative factors for rural fatal accidents.

According to the Texas Department of Public Safety, one or more traffic law violations are apparent in most every rural fatal accident. For all types of rural accidents -- those classified as fatal, injury and non-injury -- the Texas DPS said seven out of every eight involved at least one violation of our traffic laws.

Records for 1957 disclose that 2,539 persons died in traffic accidents in our state in 2,077 fatal accidents, and our economic loss was estimated at more than 277 million dollars. Even so, our death rate dropped from 6.5 to six deaths per 100 million miles of driving. There were 67,886 injury accidents last year and 191,120 non-injury accidents, making a grand total of 261,063 accidents of all types.

With an eye on the accident and fatality record for 1958, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., DPS director, asked for greater public cooperation in traffic law observance. He said, "Records for the first third of this year indicate that with continued public cooperation some 250 fewer persons will be killed this year than in 1957. Garrison said each individual driver "is a deciding factor in determining whether or not this will become a reality."

"Each driver must use his own knowledge, judgment and decision in avoiding accident situations. We have laws that are designed to aid the driver in protecting himself and others on our streets and highways. Those laws will do only one-half the job, if only one-half of the drivers use them.

"Security in driving is the business of every driver. We hope that Texas motorists will continue to improve their knowledge of traffic laws and will become more disciplined in using them. This must be done if we are to make our streets and highways safer for ourselves and our families."

Mrs. Douglas Gibbs and children of Fort Stockton returned home Tuesday after a few days visit with her mother, Mrs. Lillie Swofford and Mr. and Mrs. Barney Gibbs.

Recent visitors in the home of Mrs. Walter Bryant were: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Austin and family of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gaines of Fort Worth.

Oplin Observations

By Daphne Floyd

Oplin had some kind of a heat wave last week; that is I feel safe in calling it that with 90 degrees in the shade every day. Shade? Who finds time for the shade these days? Sure lots of work, work, work going on around these parts.

Must be some kind of new epidemic going through the community for Patricia Breeding and Clarice Polindexter were both sick last week with upset tummies, sore throat, headaches and all the other discomforts you can mention.

Marvin Rutland got a piece of steel in his right eye last week. Rather serious too for Marvin was hospitalized and a blood clot prevented x-rays from showing just what damage had been done. Then too infection set up and last reports were not too favorable.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Windham and Paula hosted a barbecue picnic down at the ranch picnic grounds last Sunday. Umm, barbecue, red beans, salads, and all the other trimmings that go with such a meal. Friends of Paula's from out of Abilene were Mr. and Mrs. Kirk

Jordan and children, Lissa and Buddy, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Anderson and son, Clint, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Guest and children, Andree Sue and John. Other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rocky of Baird, Dr. M. C. McGowen and daughter, Carol Lynn of Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Windham and son, Frank Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Floyd.

Ray and I stopped Monday afternoon of this week to say hello to Mr. and Mrs. Lawt Pentecost of Abilene who were down Oplin way. Lawt and Malda informed us that they were off to Houston for the summer months since his work was near Houston then too there's lots of fishing nearby.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Frymire and children, Kenneth and Brenda of Sweetwater visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Betcher awhile Sunday night. They really drove down to wish her father a "Happy Birthday" since Sunday was his day.

Mr. and Mrs. Farris Bennett had as their guests for the week end, Dr. Morris Bennett and his wife and their son, Ben, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ramp, all of Canadian.

Need some weights for your throw lines or trot lines?

If you'd like to have some extra weights, for free -- even an anchor or two, maybe -- then here's a tip.

Next time you see a new home going up, bricks being laid, or concrete being poured -- drop in for a visit. Ask the boys to let you have the left-over "mud".

Then, here's what you do with it.

Get some old syrup buckets, paint buckets, or what have you -- anything from gallon size on down, that will hold concrete.

Next, find some old metal clothes hangers and cut them into strips of varying lengths -- depending on your needs. Bend the wire in the middle to make a loop. Take the two loose ends and twist the wires around each other a few times, about two or three inches below the loop. Then fan out the loose ends at right angles to the loop. This should give you a piece of wire shaped like a "T" with a loop in the top end.

Now, stick the cross-bar part of the inverted "T" into an empty can and pour in the cement. Adjust the "loop" to a sufficient height above the concrete so that there will be ample room in "the eye" for whatever size rope you plan to use.

Let the "mud" sit overnight. In the morning you'll have a home-made weight -- or anchor, depending on its size -- made of solid concrete, and at the cost of but a little time.

Using smaller cans you can make whatever size weight you'd like for your throw line, or trot line. Larger cans make excellent weights for anchoring the boat while fishing, or beaching.

If the can is so large that a coat hanger may be too light to withstand the weight of the concrete, use an abandoned piece of heavy, galvanized clothes line, or a small chain.

Eventually the can will rust away. But you'll still have your anchor of poured concrete just as long as your wire "loop" remains intact. So, select as strong a wire for that purpose as you can find -- and one that is as rust-resistant as possible.

If you want to get fancy with your home-made anchors here is something else you can do. Punch two holes in the side of the bucket, directly across from each other and some two inches from the bottom. Through these holes insert a piece of iron rod, such as is used to reinforce concrete. Let this rod extend out from the sides of the can about three or four inches.

Next, punch two more holes on opposite sides of each other, but at right angles to the first rod and a inch or so above it. Then place the second rod through the can. This gives you two iron rods at right angles to each other and only a short distance apart.

Now when you pour in the concrete you will have an anchor with four prongs extending outward. So, when you drop anchor and the boat begins to move with the wind or the current -- and the anchor tips over -- the prongs "dig in" and hold the boat in position.

DEAD MINNOW BAIT -- Do you throw away your dead minnows?

Most fishermen just toss out dead minnows that fall to survive in the old minnow bucket. However, we've encountered a few old-timers of late who report some mighty good catches of catfish, with dead minnows as their bait.

Their method is to use a leader, 24 inches or so long, with a lead shot where line and leader join. They use shot of just enough weight to enable them to cast a good distance into deep water and pull the line to the bottom fairly fast.

The procedure is to cast to a likely spot and just sit back and relax for a while. If they haven't had a strike after five or ten minutes they reel in slowly and take a look at the bait, just to see what's going on down there.

Next cast is made in another area.

They say the biggest strikes come when things are real quiet. But they do get an occasional strike while reeling in. Catfish in the first instance; bass in the second. And with dead-minnow bait.

TIPS BOOKLET -- A postcard to Alex Corporation, 411 Fourth Avenue, New York 16, N.Y. will bring you an interesting 24-page multi-colored booklet. Just ask for their "Tips and Tackle" booklet. It's free.

For example: To clean your salt water reel Alex suggests "Add half a cup of vinegar to a pail of water and slosh the reel well."

To surf fishermen they say "An empty milk bottle is a valuable accessory on the beach. Bury it in the sand. It makes an ideal rod rest while you are baiting your hook. And it protects reel from sand and grit."

Fresh water spin fishermen are given several pages of excellent hints for better fishing.

LICENSE -- Many tourists in Texas this year are surprised to find that they can buy a fishing license for $2.15 which will permit them to fish in either fresh or salt water. This is the same license fee paid by Texans who fish outside their home counties and/or use a rod with a winding device.

PORT ARANSAS -- If you are looking for information about fishing on the Texas coast this year write Norma Skinner, Port Aransas Tourist Bureau, Port Aransas, Texas.

Port Aransas, not too far from Corpus Christi, advertises that fish bite there every day. Norma Skinner is ready to prove it with pictures and literature. She'll also send you a list of boat owners, lodging accommodations and other fishing facts about the Port Aransas area.

NEW ORGANIZATION -- A national varmint caller's association now is being organized in Texas. Headquarters will be in Lubbock, where W. G. McMillan Sr., nationally known big game hunter, is spearheading the movement.

Numerous events are promised by this group, which uses wild callers to get predators within shooting range.

25th Big Spring Rodeo Announced

The Big Spring Rodeo Association has announced that plans are complete for the 25th annual performance of the Big Spring Rodeo, June 12, 13, and 14.

Everett Colburn, veteran producer, will again be at the helm of this show, with his usual fine array of rodeo stock, tops in announcers, clown acts, and specialty acts. Among the 3 specialty acts this year will be the famous Moore Family.

Comprising the 6 major events will be calf roping, saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, bulldogging, and bull riding. There will also be a wild cow milking contest. The Girls' barrel race will be still another feature of the rodeo.

A big parade will proceed through the downtown section of Big Spring at 4:00 o'clock p.m. on June 12. Attractive prizes are offered the first three winning floats in the amount of $50, $30 and $20.

Sheriff's posses and riding clubs from the neighboring cities and counties have been invited to march in the parade. An appropriate trophy will be presented the outstanding posse at the first night's performance. After the parade the posses will be honored with a barbecue at the rodeo grounds.

How To Save Your Life In A Tornado

If you live in an area where tornadoes may strike — and most Americans do — your radio or television set may mean the difference between life and death for you and your family.

Robert Edson, national director of Red Cross Disaster Services, reported today that during the next five months the tornado danger will be at its peak in many states.

In issuing a list of safety rules to follow, Mr. Edson said tornadoes are the most vicious of nature's storms. When a twister hit Wichita Falls recently, radar was used for the first time to measure the force of its winds. The wind velocity was clocked at 250 miles an hour.

Topping the list of tornado safety tips was the advice to pay close attention to radio or television tornado warnings from the weather bureau. In emergency situations, these advisories may also be preceded by the CONELRAD attention signal.

Here are the other things you can do both before and after a twister to minimize the danger:

1. When time permits, go to a storm cellar, cave or underground excavation, preferably one with an air outlet. Pressure within the tornado funnel is very low, sometimes causing buildings to "explode".
2. Tornadoes usually move from southwest to northeast. You should move at right angles to the tornado's path. An automobile can often outrun a tornado.

3. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as ditch or ravine.
4. If in the city, seek inside shelter, preferably in a structural steel building. Stay away from windows.
5. In homes, the southwest basement corner offers greater safety in a frame house. If there is time, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off, and windows on the north and east sides of the house should be opened to permit rapid air pressure adjustments.
6. Have flashlights and other emergency lights in working order and keep them handy.
7. When a tornado warning is issued, check on everything that might blow away or be torn loose. Store as many loose items underground as possible. Loose objects on roofs are especially dangerous.
8. Seek medical care at Red Cross disaster stations or hospitals for persons injured during the storm.
9. Don't touch loose or fallen wires. Report such damage to the light and power company or nearest policeman.
10. Unless you are qualified to render valuable assistance, stay away from the disaster area where you may hamper first aid and rescue work.

Mr. Edson said tornadoes usually make their first annual appearance in the neighborhood of the eastern Gulf states. Then the "zone of maximum tornado frequency," as the weather bureau puts it, advances northwest following the seasonal trend of thunderstorms and reaches Iowa and Kansas in June. This region remains vulnerable until October.

Mr. Edson warned, however, that not too much faith should be put in the theory that the tornado threat is a seasonal one.

He pointed to a recent study which showed that twisters struck during every month of the year. And these tornadoes hit 47 out of the 48 states.

"The threat is nationwide and is to be taken seriously 12 months of the year," Mr. Edson declared.

Handle Poisons With Much Precaution

Don't fail to follow manufacturer's directions when handling and using highly toxic insecticides, warn Extension Entomologists F. M. Fuller and C. F. Garner. They point out that weather conditions continue to favor heavy insect infestations and this means farmers will be handling materials which kill bugs as well as humans.

Insecticide injury to man is most common through oral and respiratory intake or by skin absorption. Continued exposure even to lower insecticide concentrations, with no regard to safety measures, can result in accumulation of chemicals in the body and may cause eventual tissue or organic injury, say the specialists.

Many phosphorus compounds, such as parathion, methyl parathion, EPN, TEPP, demeton, Diazinon, Phosdin, Thimet, and Guthion are extremely poisonous and must be handled with care. Many phosphorus insecticides are more poisonous to warm-blooded animals than most other chemicals used for insect control, say the specialists.

Since phosphorus insecticides tend to reduce the cholinesterase enzyme, entomologists advise regular handlers of such materials to have cholinesterase tests at 10-day intervals while working with the material. Local doctors can provide information on such tests.

It's a good idea to bathe and change clothing immediately following a highly toxic job and not enter a field for two or three days after it has been treated, say the specialists. Always wear gloves and freshly laundered protective clothing during handling, and stop working if a toxic insecticide is spilled on the skin or clothing for a thorough bath and change of clothes, they advise.

Other pointers to remember include the use of approved respirators; protection of humans and livestock from drifts, sprays or dusts; store all chemicals away from children, irresponsible people, and all forms of feed and food; keep readable labels on all containers and have first aid information and antidotes

There must be a reason why more life insurance is being bought by farm people than ever before. Life insurance is the only way most of us can create an estate for our loved ones. Money is needed most when the head of the house is no longer present. Check your problems that might be facing you, along with your Auto and Life Insurance needs, then contact your Farm Bureau Agent, without obligation.
