Mule train leaves Childress in the dust

District champion Mules to head into playoffs as top seed

By Delton Wilhite
Sportswriter

The Mules boarded the bus at 2 p.m., Friday, for the long drive to Childress. It was almost like a playoff trip for the Mules. The distance was about the same as any game the Mules will play in Region 1.

A loss would not eliminate the Mules from the playoffs but it would cost them the district championship and the number one seed in the playoffs.

The top seed has a bye week to prepare for the post season and an opportunity to heal the nagging bumps and bruises players acquire.

The Childress Bobcats were 3-6 on the season and 1-6 in district when the Mules arrived at Fair Park Stadium. It was Senior Night and the Bobcats may have played their best game of the season. But, the Mules were able to with stand the early onslaught and got past the Bobcats 41-19.

"It is hard to find anything wrong with a 9-1 season," said Mule coach David Wood. "It is always tough to play over here in Childress. The long trip takes a lot out of you. They hung in tough for a long time."

"But we came out in the second half and really executed. I was proud of how the kids responded in the second half. We are getting out of here with no injuries and now we are getting ready for the playoffs. We will be hitting on all cylinders in two weeks no matter who me meet."

The Mules kicked off to start the game. The Bobcats used just five plays to march 69 yards for the first touchdown of the game. There was still 10:54 left in the first period. Jordan Bledsoe made a toss to Andrew Kelly for a 45-yard pass and run.

The Mules answered quickly with a broken play. The snap from center was high and if Cooper Washington was not six foot five the ball might have sailed to the Mule 10-yard line.

Instead, Washington leaped high in the air to grab the ball. Ryan DeLeonsaw Washington was in trouble and came back to the line of scrimmage near the Mule sideline. Washington spotted him managed to get the pass away. DeLeon fell in behind a convoy of Mule blockers and scored. It was a 62-yard pass and run. Saul Elizalde tied the game

Veterans honored at council meeting

By Larry Thornton
Managing Editor

Muleshoe's city council welcomed local veterans during Mondays' otherwise routine regular meeting.

"Today, we honor our veterans who have protected us, who have provided our defense, and who have secured our liberty. It is because of you who have served, and those serving now, that our Constitution is as alive now as it was 223 years ago. This week, on Veteran's Day we pay tribute to you and honor you and those who have proudly and humbly served in our Armed Forces. Thank you for your service to our great nation," Mayor Cliff Black said.

In other business, the city council:

resolution denying a request from Southwestern Public Service that would have allowed the energy company to provide a credit for interruptible service to large energy consumers.

According to City Manager David Brunson, consultants for a coalition of cities of which Muleshoe is a part have some questions about

SPS' program application — such as why the program will only be available to large energy consumers and whether the savings they receive will be shouldered by the smaller energy customer — and approving Monday's resolution would send the issue to negotiation to get those areas of the application clarified reimbursement for the Rotary Club's annual Labot Day Roping.

While the club submitted receipts totaling $2,860.50, of which $2,160 met the city's requirements for reimbursement from the city's hotel/motel tax fund, the city council had previously approved a reimbursement of up

Bailey County employees receive new health benefit

By Larry Thornton
Managing Editor

Bailey County employees have the opportunity to be healthier employees.

Recently, the county's commissioner's court voted to contract with Covenant Health Systems of Lubbock to provide "wellness" services for the district's employees at a cost of $25 per employee, or a total of about $1,500 with 100 percent participation.

At the court's Oct. 12 meeting, Lamar Hayes of Covenant appeared in regards to the program that provides the preventative health program through the hospital in Lubbock.

At that time, action was tabled to allow the members of the court to talk with county employees and also to gather additional information from other public entities that have similar contracts with Covenant.

According to County Judge Sherri Harrison, the City of Muleshoe has used the program for several years and is well pleased with its results.

Precinct 1 Commissioner Butch Vandiver expressed opposition to the program at the Oct. 12 meeting, and later cast the only dissenting vote regarding the issue, wondering about the benefit the program would provide to the county's budget and whether it would reduce the county's employee health insurance rate.

He also questioned whether the program would be better than the individual employee going to his or her personal physician for similar tests.

However, Precinct 3 Commissioner Joey Kindle suggested the program would benefit county employees who didn't normally go to their physician for such

Personnel issues result in apology demand

By Larry Thornton
Managing Editor

What initially appeared would be a quiet special meeting of the Muleshoe Area Hospital District's board of directors suddenly changed Thursday, Nov. 4, when a member of the public in attendance stepped forward and demanded an apology from Park View Nursing Care Center's administrator.

"I would like Maegan (Chisholm) to apologize," Janice Snell of Muleshoe said before the meeting could be adjourned following an hour and a half executive session concerning personnel issues at the nursing home.

"You tried to make people believe things I did not do," Snell said to Chisholm.

In her response, Chisolm gave a qualified apology, noting that what she had said was based upon information she'd received from other sources.

Snell, who was not invited to join the board

Lady Mules cross-country team competes in Region 1 meet

By Delton Wilhite
Sportswriter

The Lady Mule cross-country team that competed in the Region 1 Meet in Mae Simmons Park was all in their first year of high school.

This was the highest level of completion any of the girls had participated.

The team was coached by Jamie Diaz and Val Acree. "We are so proud of these young ladies. They competed well today and the Lady Mules have a bright future in cross-country," said Coach Acree.

The Lady Mules placed 17th in a field of 24 complete teams.

Carolina Franco finished 27th with a time of 12 minutes and 56.93 seconds. That was a faster time than the District 2-2A Champion ran last week. Miranda Garza placed 50th with a 13:31.65.

Adrienne Precure was 94th with a time of 14:19.62. McKenna Dunham ran 124th with a 15:02.19 and Kalie Lovell finished 131st in a time of 15:07.64.

The Lady Mules will now move on to basketball and hit the hardwood Tuesday night against the Sudan Hornettes.

Mayor's address: Thoughts for Veterans' Day

As spoken to the veterans attending the Muleshoe City Council meeting on Nov. 8:

The preamble is the opening of the Constitution and is one of the most famous and often quoted passages in history. As students, we memorized and recited the preamble to the Constitution and today we can still recite the Preamble to the Constitution.

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish the Constitution for the United States of America."

Gouverneur Morris, a Pennsylvania delegate to the Constitutional Convention was the author of the preamble. He was known for his eloquence and this writing was entrusted to Morris because it is such a crucially important

FSA county committee elections are in progress

Kim Hanlin, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Bailey County recently announced that the county committee election is in progress.

Ballots were mailed to eligible voters and completed ballots must be returned by mail or to local FSA offices by Dec. 6.

"I strongly recommend that producers vote because the county committee members play a huge role in the Agency, especially at the county level," said Hanlin. "County committee members make decisions on how federal farm programs will be administered locally," he said.

County committee members are elected to office by their peers and serve as the representative voice for agriculture producers in the county, and they are responsible for communicating with USDA to ensure that national programs are adapted to fit local needs.

County committees are responsible for making decisions on issues including commodity loans and payments, conservation programs, disaster assistance programs and emergency programs.

Hanlin encourages minority and female producers to serve as county committee members in the future. It is important that the county committee is comprised of members who reflect the demographics of the local agriculture community.

Farmers and ranchers who participate in FSA programs are eligible to vote. If eligible voters do not receive a ballot by mail, one will be provided by the local USDA Service Center. Ballots returned by mail must be postmarked no later than Dec. 6, 2010.

The preamble defined the people of the nation, who they were, what they valued and what they needed. The Constitution of the United States was signed on Sept. 17, 1787, and 223 years later it does the same for us.

The members of the Constitutional Convention were aware that their actions would be far reaching. They were not just writing for their time, but for a future that they would never see, attempting to ensure that their grand experiment with democracy would stand, would endure and would serve as a guiding light and inspiration for others.

Gen. George Washington was elected to serve as president of the Constitutional Convention; however, Washington almost did not attend. By that time in his life Washington was suffering with rheumatism, he was grieving over the death of his brother, was busy with the operations of Mt. Vernon, and he was not sure that much would be accomplished.

His decision to attend changed the course of history and established the birth of this country.

I am sure that like Washington, when you were called to serve you had issues to consider before responding to that call; issues such as family concerns, businesses to run, farms to farm, educations to continue and some anxiety about your mission. But, like Washington, you responded and your efforts preserved the freedoms established at that Constitutional Convention held in 1787.

Today, we honor our veterans who have protected us, who have provided our defense, and who have secured our liberty. It is because of you who have served, and those serving now, that our Constitution is as alive now as it was 223 years ago.

This week, on Veteran's Day we pay tribute to you and honor you and those who have proudly and humbly served in our armed forces. Thank you for your service to our great nation.

in closed session to discuss issues related to her, as were some of the nursing home's employees, added that those employees should be ashamed at what they told the board.

"This is not the forum to handle this," MAHD board member Wayne Pierson said, adding that the issue had already been addressed in the closed session.

Although Thursday's meeting agenda included a period for open forum, no one, including Snell, used that time to address the board.

Upon its return to open session, following the aforementioned closed session, board president Bill Liles announced that no action would be taken regarding the closed session, "other than to express our tremendous support of all our employees and the tremendous job they're doing."

In other business, Thursday, Nov. 11, the MAHD board voted to hire an architect for the rural health clinic expansion.

"I felt its very hard to convey what we're going to do without a picture," Liles said, adding that he'd like to see how much could be done with as little money as possible.

The hospital board meet in special session again on Monday, Nov. 8, with the only agenda item being a closed session to discuss pending litigation with the board's attorney, and issues regarding AccessCare Dialysis.

In business conducted during Monday's regular session, the commissioners' court:

- Spoke with Joe

- Approved the minutes from the county's Oct. 12 regular meeting and Oct. 28 special meeting.

- Approved payment of county bills totaling

- Received the county treasurer's October report, and approved the September report.

- Authorized the county judge to sign a memorandum of understanding that would require the county to provide assistance to a neighboring county should it's county offices be struck by disaster, such as a tornado.

"It's something we already do out her in West Texas," Harrison said prior to the vote of approval, but adding the the memorandum was now required by the state.

Reading program is 'sink or swim' for local principal

Pirates at Dillman Elementary?

That's right. I saw it with my own eyes. Pirates at Dillman Elementary. I don't know how they floated their pirate ships into the hallways of our pre-kindergarten to second grade elementary school, but they are everywhere!

Pirate ships, pirate hooks, pirate swords, and even a one-eyed pirate captain. I think some of the children have even been captured and taken aboard the pirate ship.

The captain of the pirate ship looks remarkably like Mr. Todd Newberry, the Dillman Elementary principal. But I don't remember Mr. Newberry having a patch over his eye, a hook for a hand, or a peg leg — must have happened during construction.

If you have visited Dillman lately, you are aware that the Accelerated Reading program has a pirate theme this year.

Mr. Newberry has used a lot of creative ways to motivate his students to read more books over the years. He has allowed his students to shave his head, let students drag him through the mud in a tug of war, dressed up like a mermaid and sang a song, and dressed up like an egg and sang a humpty-dumpty song.

But this year's incentive program may have gone too far. If the students reach their goal of 5,000 Accelerated Reader points for the year, the principal of Dillman... I mean the captain of the pirates... will have to "walk the plank!"

The students are well on their way to mutiny at sea, too. I think they are already half-way to their goal, and it isn't even December yet. They seem to be enjoying the idea of watching their leader walk the plank and end up in the deep blue sea.

Most of the faculty and staff spent a good bit of time building and painting the Pirate theme around the school, but most of the credit belongs to Dillman kindergarten teachers, Joan Nix and Lora Wallace.

'Do you want your church to grow spiritually?'

"Do you want your church to grow spiritually?" queried an item in my e-mail in-box today.

I can be a little contrarian, and since the only option given for me to click on was a "Yes," my first reaction was, "No, not really, but thanks."

Well, duh! Aside from the fact that it's God's church and not mine, what pastor would not like the church he serves to grow spiritually?

Of course, all church leaders would answer the question, "Yes!" But for more than a few, the honest answer would be, "Well, spiritual growth would be good, but what I really want most is for my church to be really,

Focus On Faith
Curtis Shelburne

really large!"

Most respondents wouldn't say that. They'd do a much better job baptizing their kingdom-building, so that no one — not even them — could be sure whose kingdom, theirs or God's, they most want to grow.

By the deft use of religious lingo and slippery reasoning, they would easily convince themselves that physical growth and spiritual growth go completely hand in hand and that numerical growth is a sign probably of spiritual growth and certainly of God's blessing.

The Apostle Paul warned long ago that those who are greedy for money "pierce themselves with many griefs."

Healthy churches come in all sizes, but when church leaders become so greedy for numbers that they'll run their poor sheep through any hoop, and when they forget that sheep have faces and are not just a flock to fleece, they do indeed "pierce themselves" and those in their care with "many griefs."

I wonder how many young pastors have gone off to the latest church growth seminar, bought a program from someone marketing what Eugene Peterson (in his book Under the Unpredictable Plant) calls "spiritual monkey glands" to toss into the pot, mix properly in the caldron with all the other recommended ingredients, and produce enormous growth — and end up poisoning the flock or running their poor sheep into the ground?

If it sounds more like an idolatrous mixture of witchcraft and today's "success" dogma than real spirituality, well, there's a reason for that.

The cross, as Peterson notes, is "conspicuously absent" and real community and genuine relationships are devalued. All in the name of "growth."

As Peterson warns, instead of God's Spirit working on large numbers as Peter preaches about Christ, what we get is a multitude dancing around a golden calf built by a religious consumer marketer ahead of his time named Aaron.

The ad insists that with their product spiritual growth is "simple." Forgive me if I doubt that and opt to skip the slick video.

Spiritual growth has never been simple or easy. But I can already name some of the ingredients. Prayer. Time in God's word.

Non-glitzy, unselfish Christ-centered cross-centered living. And that means sacrifice. And that means even suffering.

Their plan, they say, is based on "who you are." God's plan is based on who he is.

An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth...

"An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth..." With this we will attempt another bit of writing from Christ's sermon on the mountain, delivered to some of his disciples a little more than 2,000 years ago.

Some might ask whether it is valid, and does it apply to us today? In my judgement, the answer would be "yes," on both counts.

For I know of no principle of truth, honesty, justice or right living that is not in some way reflected in chapters five, six and seven of Matthew's gospel — the sermon on the mountain.

There we find a foundation for additional and expanded teachings to people of God and about people of God.

Briefly he told them to rejoice and be exceedingly glad for "Ye are the salt of the earth, and the light of the world."

We understand that a city that is set on a hill cannot be hid. But we also understand that if the salt has lost its savor it is good for nothing more than to be cast out and trodden under foot of men.

There's no doubt that Christ recognizes, as

Something worth saying...
By Glen Williams

I suppose most people do, that all mankind under the unrestrained workings of their own evil nature are corrupt. Therefore they are inclined to reject the teachings.

But there is now, and there has always been small bands or congregations of people that do receive it and hold fast to it.

Now if I ever get through talking to myself there's two or three scriptures I would like to comment on-one is verse 38 of chapter five, mentioned in the beginning; "Ye have heard that it hath been said, an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth."

It seems to me that with this and two or three scriptures before it Christ was laying the basis for us to deal, one with another, in a fair way.

Let your communications be 'yea' 'Yea'; 'nay' 'nay' for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil." I think it likely we would say today "yes" or "no".

And he follows through with this principle, that ye resist not evil; (him that is evil.)

That seems a bit strange to me; he told them to not resist him that is evil. Or resist not evil. I feel sure that it applies only to a certain situation, because we know that, considered in the generally accepted meaning we place on it, we should avoid it. In fact I think we see it in a different light if, or when, we give thought to the rest of the verse.

"But whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also." It is in that sense that we are not to resist evil.

If someone wants to smite us, Christ said whosoever, we are to turn the right cheek.

We are not to resist it, but we are to turn the other cheek also, and let him have at it. You might remember: I didn't write this. It is scripture.

Now, in my judgement, one of the most important qualities that any one can possess is the ability

Mules defeat Childress Bobcats in final district game

Childress punted three times after that during the opening period and the Mules punted twice. The Mule offense finally sparked to life late in the first quarter. The Mules took over following a Bobcat punt at the Mule 25.

Joey Ramirez bailed his quarterback out after another high snap and came back for a pass. Washington got the ball away with Bobcats draped over him. Ramirez scooted to midfield for a first down.

Junior Baca scored on a 29-yard Hammer play on fourth down and Elizalde added the point after to give the Mules a 14-7 lead with 8:06 left in the half. The Mules ground four and half minutes off the clock with 10 plays and covered 75 yards. The Mules were in front to stay with 14-7 lead at the intermission.

The Mules made adjustments at the half and returned to the field to score twice in the third period. Ramirez returned the opening kick of the second half from the Mule 20 to the Childress 42.

The Mules only needed four plays to put the ball in the end zone. Isaac Baca cut off tackle and raced 15 yards to pay dirt with 10:10 left in the third period. Elizalde added the point after to extend the Mules' lead to 21-7.

The Mule defense stopped the ensuing Bobcat drive and forced them to punt on fourth down. The ball rolled dead on the Mule 35. Ray Martinez took the wide-receiver-screen nine yards on first down. J. Baca danced through the middle of the line for seven yards and a first down.

Juan Sanchez went wide left for 12 yards and was tackled by his face mask for 15 more yards to the Childress 21. Washington rolled left on the option, faked the pitch and threw down field to DeLeon in the end zone. The kick by Elizalde was good and the Mules had a cushion of 28-7 with 6:40 left in the third period.

Childress struck back before the period ended with a 39-yard toss from Bledsoe to Jacob Darter. The Mules led 28-13 after three periods.

The Mules got those points back with a five-play 72-yard drive. The drive ended on a 23-yard screen pass to Eric Orozco. The Mules led 34-13.

Childress scored once more on a five-yard pass from Bledsoe to Kelly with 2:53 left in the game to trail 34-19.

Isaias Guerra made an over the shoulder catch on the ensuing kickoff at the Mule 20 and returned it to the Mule 41. The Mules fumbled at midfield and Childress recovered. Elizalde picked off the Bobcat pass at the Mule 40 and returned it to the Childress 2.

J. Baca scored from the two on the Hammer play. Juan Guerrero booted the point after for the final score of the game.

The Mules rushed 23 times for 160 yards, completed 12-of-17 passes for 171 yards to roll up a total offense of 331 yards. Washington rushed seven times for 49 yards and completed 12 passes for 171 yards and three touchdowns.

Ramirez had three catches for 24 yards, Orozco made one for 23 and a TD and Elizalde, Martinez, and I. Baca made one each for nine yards. Guerra caught one for seven yards and Rico Alarcon had one for six. Eleven different Mules handled the ball.

The Mule defense gave up 53-yards rushing and 294 through the air for a total of 347 yards.

Childress was forced to punt seven times during the game. The Mules held once on fourth down.

Sanchez made 12 tackles with four being for losses, one sack and two quarterback hurries. Washington made eight tackles, three for losses, two sacks and one special team tackle.

Juan Orozco recorded six tackles with one being for a loss. Ramirez had six tackles with one for a loss and Elizalde made six stops and intercepted one pass.

Orozco made four tackles and broke up four passes and Alarcon had four tackles, two for losses, one sack, and one special team stop and blocked a kick. Guerra recovered a fumble, broke up a pass and made three special team tackles.

The Mules earned a bye week as the number one seed from District 1-2A Division 1.

The Mules will meet the winner of the Breckenridge (8-2) and Ballinger (6-4) game that will be played at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Abilene Wylie's stadium. The time and place of the Mules' game will be available next week.

JV Mules 'cage' the Childress Bobcats

By Delton Wilhite
Sportswriter

The JV Mules continued their winning ways by caging the Childress Bobcats, 40-7, in the final regular season game to be played in the new and improved Benny Douglas Stadium.

The Mules kicked off to the Childress 22 and Joey Guerra made the stop at the Bobcat 29. It was three-and-out for Childress with Shawn Atwood pressuring the quarterback on third down and 11 needed. The pass was complete for three yards but Carlos Sosa was there to secure the tackle.

The two teams battle to a 0-0 tie after one period.

The Mule defense halted a Bobcat drive early in the second period to take over on downs at the Mule 27. Sosa gained 11 yards with a run around the left side and Childress was penalized 15-yards for unnecessary roughness.

Caleb Wood connected with Devon Cantrell on a fade down the Mule sideline. Cantrell made the catch at the Bobcat 30 and out raced the defense to the end zone. Sosa tacked on the point after to give the Mules a 7-0 lead with 6:54 left in the half.

Childress tied the game at 7-7 after an 85-yard drive at the 4:24 mark of the second period.

Childress kicked off and Chris Lozano fielded the ball at the Mule 10. Wood turned around at the Mule 20 and faced Lozano. Wood took the handoff from Lozano as Cantrell came from the opposite direction. Cantrell took the handoff from Wood on the Starburst return.

Cantrell raced to the end zone behind a wall of blockers. The return had covered 90 yards and three Mules had handled the ball. Sosa booted the extra point and the Mules regained the lead with 4:10 left in the half.

Guerra kicked off to the Childress 10 and Aledaio Godinez raced down field to make the stop at the Bobcat 20. Childress gained seven yards on first down but the Mules put on the pressure on second down.

Atwood was closing in on the quarterback as he threw the pass. Sosa made the pick at the Childress 40 and returned it for five yards.

Wood pegged Lupe Campos on a down and in route for 10 yards. The Mules set up a wide receiver screen to the left side and Wood connected with Chris Cage for eight yards to the Bobcat 17. The Mules lost two yards on second down.

a post pattern and they connected at the four and Lozano spun into the end zone. Sosa gave the Mules a 21-7 lead.

The Mules were not through and with the clock ticking down Atwood and Adrian Torres turned up the heat on the Bobcat quarterback forcing him to throw earlier than he wanted.

Godinez made the pick at the Mule 40 and reached the Bobcat 44 before being brought down.

The Mules had just three seconds left in the half showing on the clock. Wood sent three Mule receivers wide to the left.

He took the snap and stepped back a couple of steps, pump faked and then set sail to the end zone on the quarterback draw. It was a 44-yard TD run to give the Mules a 27-7 advantage at the half.

The Mules were forced to punt on their first possession of the second half and Matthew Ambriz boomed the ball to the Childress 24. The Bobcats reached the Childress 46 before Ambriz broke through on a stunt up the middle for a sack and a seven-yard loss.

Cage stunted on the next play and the pressure forced a bad pass. Godinez picked it off at the Mule 35 scored to extend the Mule lead to 33-7 at the end of three periods.

The Mules had forced the Bobcats to punt as the third period ended and Cantrell returned the ball to the Bobcat 48.

Wood gained 12 yards up the middle. He then tossed to Lozano over the middle for a 38-yard TD and the final score of the night.

conversion was good and the Roughnecks led 8-6.

McCall returned the ensuing kickoff to the Mule 43. The Mules battled to the Sundown 33 but an interception stopped them.

Regalado and James Mendoza stopped the Roughnecks at the Mule 39. Hurtado and Mendoza recovered a Sundown fumble on the next play at the Mule 34. The Mules were forced to punt on the first play of the second period.

David Diaz booted the ball to the Sundown 20 where the Roughnecks took over. Sundown scored on a 34-yard run but the 2-point conversion failed. The Mules trailed 14-6 with 7:01 left in the half.

Visente Solano returned the ensuing kick to the Mule 36. Hurtado gained 28 yards to the Sundown 28 when he kept on an option play. Hurtado hit McCall on a post pattern for 22 yards to the Roughneck 14.

Regalado made seven and five yards on back-to-back plays to the Sundown two-yard line. Mendoza blasted a hole in the Sundown line for Regalado to score from two-yards out with 4:26 left in the half. The Mules trailed 14-12.

The Roughnecks took control of the game after that and led 22-12 at the intermission. Sundown added four more TDS in the second half.

Football Contest 2010

By Terry Brewster

This year's Muleshoe Journal football contest comes to an end.

I appreciate everyone who took the time to play this year and hope that it has been fun for you.

I have enjoyed seeing families and co-workers competing for bragging rights of being a football expert.

There has been some new players this year and many who play every year.

Some players started late but won the weekly prize with the most correct guesses.

Megan Broyles won the weekly prize twice.

This week's winner didn't get a perfect score but was way ahead most players this week.

Not to be bested by her brother, Shelbi Harrison made eight correct guesses. So, she is the winner of our $25 weekly prize.

The high scores for the final week's contest were: Shelbi Harrison, 8;

Conner Harrison, Debbie Weir, Mike Reyna, and Zedreck Herrera, 7.

The definite key to being the grand prize winner is playing every week.

The players with highest correct guesses in this year's contest played consistently. Sometimes their scores weren't perfect but they were still putting up points on the board.

This year's winner was just a few points ahead of the rest.

Joe Abeyta had 75 correct guesses for this contest. He is the $200 grand prize winner of the 2010 Muleshoe Journal football contest.

The highest scorers were: Joe Abeyta, 75; Conner Harrison, 73; Debbie Weir, 72; Sherri Harrison, Ruben Mata, Rene Valle, Devnie Orozco, Jayden Herrera, 71; Jil Waggoner, Vicki Gonzales, Rudy Gonzales, 70; and Terry Field, 69.

The Muleshoe Mules

will start into playoffs next week.

Since the Mules had a bye I thought I would take this week to plan for some extra fun for the next contest, Muleshoe Journal Playoff Picks.

Since the Mules are in it to win it, we hope that you will be with them all the way to state champions with Playoff Picks.

Please support the businesses who support our community and schools.

Thanks to all of the local and area businesses who helped make this year's contest possible.

We hope that you will play Playoff Picks. It will be fun and free to play.

Look for details in next week's issue of the Muleshoe Journal.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SERVICE TO AMERICA. WE REMEMBER

Armistice Day officially became a holiday in the United States in 1926, and a national holiday 12 years later. On June 1, 1954, the name was changed to Veterans Day to honor all U.S. veterans. In 1968, new legislation changed the national commemoration of Veterans Day to the fourth Monday in October. It soon became apparent, however, that November 11 was a date of historic significance to many Americans. Therefore, in 1978 Congress returned the observance to its traditional date.

Veterans Breakfast

Veterans of Muleshoe will be hosting a free Veterans Day breakfast on Thursday from 6-9 a.m. at the Earl Ladd Fire Station. All veterans and their families are invited to come out and enjoy a wonderful breakfast and visiting.

The folks at L&L would like to thank all of the men and women who have served The United States. The result of your service is the freedom we all share today and the rest of the world dreams of. We are indeed humbled at the sacrifice that both you and your families have made.

Find Sacrifice, and Love will also be found. Whatever is sacrificed is always worth more than whatever it has been sacrificed for. God didn't just talk about loving us, but demonstrated it in the sacrifice of his only Son. Jesus, being sinless, willingly gave his Life for a world that was covered in sin, in the hope that through His sacrifice we might be Free in Him.

Christ has set an example that many of our finest men and women have chosen to follow. THANK YOU.

Construction starts at Sudan ISD

By Savannah Sain
Sudan Correspondent

Construction has begun at Sudan Independent School District on the new field house and elementary science lab.

Crews arrived late last week to set up the construction site.

The construction crew has already torn out the concrete slab on the south side of the elementary building between the hallway and the library. Plywood has been installed to cover the library windows.

Those windows will permanently be removed because that will be one of the walls of the science lab.

The field house construction is also beginning. Huge equipment has begun removing soil and dirt from the area where the new field house will be located.

The new location will be between the existing practice field and the stadium.

Construction will continue for at least a year.

Both projects will be built simultaneously. The contractor has asked that no one park along the fence line at the stadium.

SISD Red Ribbon Week held

By Savannah Sain
Sudan Correspondent

The Sudan High School Student Council recently invited students and teachers to join them in participating in Red Ribbon Week, a national focus on drug and alcohol abuse awareness.

Oct. 25-29, Sudan's high school students were encouraged to dress up in relation to the days assigned by the student council.

On Monday, students dressed in neon colors for "Flash Out Drugs Day."

Tuesday students dressed in their finest western wear for Rope Out Drugs Day.

Wednesday students dressed as members of the opposite sex by participating in "Gender Bender" or "Don't Let Drugs Confuse You Day."

On Thursday, students dressed as nerds by "Being Above The Influence - Be Smart Day."

And to conclude the week, Friday, students dressed as fictional characters on "Fake Out Drugs day."

Students and teachers had a great time dressing up and seeing each other get even more creative as the week progressed.

Sudan High School's student council also hosted a blood drive on Wednesday, Nov. 3, at Sudan Elementary.

Sudan High School hosts SPIN meeting

Sudan High School hosted their scheduled SPIN (Students and Parents Information Network) meeting on Thursday, Nov. 11.

The high school was in charge of the program this month.

The Sudan Chapter of FCCLA was in charge of the content of the SPIN meeting.

Twelve of the members gave presentations on the subjects that they had learned at Peer Education this past month.

Savannah Sain and Karen Trevino gave a presentation on Financial Fitness. Terra DeSautell and Hailee Gonzales gave a presentation on alcohol poisoning.

Texting and driving was discussed with Mackenzie Lance and Julie Gonzales. Nancy Delgado and Maribel Centeno gave a presentation on childhood obesity.

Jade Goen and Mecca Dodd informed the audience about bullying. Finally, Josh Barrett and Brooke Lennon gave a presentation on environmental issues.

Cheri Sain, the FCCLA advisor, gave a brief introduction about peer education and explained that these students are now informed and can give presentations to the entire school about these topics.

Many of the presenters have plans in place to lead the school in projects in these areas.

Sudan resident talks about her favorite season

By Cheri Sain

I love the fall.

Oh sure, I love the turning of the leaves, the Friday night football games, the marching band music floating through the crispness in the air.

But, the one night of fall that I love most of all is Halloween.

Of course my kids dressed up and had silly fun knocking on neighbor's doors as they giggled and pretended to be something silly or scary. But, my kids always had to go trick or treating early on Halloween, and the reason is not that I am an overprotective mother.

You see, I live on the stretch of road in Sudan west of the school known as Halloween Alley to most Sudan kids.

My family and I look forward to this night the most because our neighbors, their children, and the young ones from all over the town flood our narrow strip of highway.

We start to get excited when we see the first set of car beams dance at the other end of the street because we know that we will soon have a knock on our door.

For a couple of hours, dozens and dozens of trick or treaters make their way on my porch, ring the doorbell, and show me proudly their wonderful costumes.

I know these kids think that they are taking something from us and not giving back, but they are wrong.

We get a chance to visit with our neighbors, comment on how much the kids have changed over the years, and connect with people all over the town.

When the last trick or treaters head for home, my family goes to the living room and pick at the last of the candy. We talk about our favorite costumes of the night, how much candy we have given away (this year more than 700 pieces!), and what we plan to do next year.

My son came home from college just to pass out candy, and my son and daughter plan to come back next year to share in the experience.

For us, Halloween isn't about the scary stuff. It is about having fun, connecting with young people, and enjoying our neighbors.

I love the fall.

We're working on an invention that...  ...beeps when a pet slips its collar!

Invent and Discover

I was just watching video clips of a cool, new invention: a mechanical dolphin, called a "Seabreacher," jumping and diving in water. This personal watercraft can do many things that I do naturally, except it can only dive about five feet - not as deep as I can! This invention is great for racing and for fun.

When people need or want something - even if it does not exist yet - they can be very creative. They "invent" things to solve problems or improve items that already exist.

The process of inventing starts with an idea. An inventor might draw sketches of the idea, or even create a model of it. Inventors often write journals about their progress, too.

To protect their ideas, inventors might apply for patents. If a lot of people like or need the invention, a manufacturer may agree to produce and market it to millions of people!

Look around and find a small problem or something that bothers you. Can you think of a way to fix it? Can you invent something new?

Read the clues to fill in the crossword about inventing:

1. a written agreement giving an inventor the right to make, use or sell her invention, protects against people copying it
2. the first of its kind
3. will make your product, market it, sell it
4. the first model on which all the rest are based
5. something new, discovered or made, often to solve a problem
6. a notebook that tracks the progress of an invention
7. filled with drawings, tools, materials, projects
8. plans, ideas, formulas are kept _____
9. some inventions are found by mistake
10. drawings to show ideas
11. what one calls an invention, its title
12. inventions often solve these

Come to get these freebies!
This week we have a new crossword puzzle about inventors. Check out the computer and technology crossword puzzle too...and the matching reading log and certificate sets.
