

WJHS coaching staff undergoing sweeping changes

BY RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

The Watson Junior High School coaching staff is having a complete makeover.

The Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees accepted the resignation of two more junior high school coaches Monday, meaning none of the current junior high coaches will return next year.

Junior high athletic coordinator and long-time boys track coach Ted Johnson and Jimmy Orr resigned Monday to accept jobs at Morton High School.

Girls coaches Denise Dunham and Shelly Turnbow will remain in the MISD school system but will no longer coach. In March, Jason Inman resigned.

Turnbow took the job of physical education teacher at DeShazo while Dunham will teach at one of the district's two elementary schools.

Head girls track and cross country coach Kim Zollinger also resigned Monday.

Under Zollinger, the cross country won the District 1-3A title and advanced to the state meet for the first time in three years. The Lady Mules finished district runner-up in track and had two individuals advance to state.

In between, she coached the Lady Mules junior varsity basketball team to a 23-5 mark.

"In all my 12 years of coaching, they responded to my coaching better than any other group I've ever had. I couldn't have had a better bunch of girls."

Zollinger's husband served as a graduate assistant at East-

Getting started

Muleshoe freshman Stacy Locker races out of the blocks during the 800 meters at the UIL Class 3A state track meet Saturday at Royal-Memorial Stadium in Austin.

Talent runs deep at state

AUSTIN — She had the heart, but not the legs, of a champion.

Bolting out of the blocks, Muleshoe High School's Stacy Locker grabbed the lead in the 800 meters Saturday in the UIL Class 3A state track meet at sunsplashed Royal-Memorial Stadium.

But the quick pace caught up with the freshman phenom, who faded from first to last in the final 200 meters.

"My legs went dead," Locker said. "I was thinking, just let me finish the race. That was the worst feeling in the world — watching all of them passing me — and I couldn't do anything about it."

Muleshoe teammates Cari Faver and Ricko Aguirre also found out that the talent pool in Texas runs deep while in Austin.

Faver finished seventh in the 3200 meters and Aguirre sixth in the shot put.

Mishael Bertrand of Pottsboro, who stayed glued to Locker's outside shoulder for the first lap and a half, won the race with a blistering time of 2 minutes and 15.53 seconds. Katie Barkley of Llano was second at 2:15.93 as the top four runners all finished under 2:20.

Locker, who ran a career-best 2:23.62 at regionals, finished at 2:25.66.

Obviously struggling to stay out front, Locker was clinging to the lead as the tightly bunched field headed into the back stretch of the second lap.

Locker had a 64-second split for the first 400 meters, nearly five seconds ahead of her normal pace.

Bertrand surged past Locker and into the lead with about 200 meters to go. Two more runners caught Locker on the turn.

"After the first lap, I thought maybe I could win the race," Locker said. "At 600 meters, I didn't think I could stay out

Board modifies block schedule

Roofing projects, academic policies and a purchasing consortium were all discussed Monday at the Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees meeting.

Trustees approved a $291,000 bid by Ajax Roofing of Lubbock to repair and perform general maintenance on several sections of roof at Muleshoe High School this summer.

The roofing project at MHS is part of an ongoing project, started two summers ago, to maintain roofs on all four MISD campuses.

"This should pretty much finish the high school," said MISD Superintendent Bill Moore. "The high school has the oldest roof, so we decided to focus on it this summer."

Moore said he expects all four campuses to be completed within the next two years.

In other business, the board approved changes in the way grade points are awarded for Advanced Placement high school courses.

Beginning with the 1997-98 school year, students in AP courses will receive 6 points toward their grade point average (GPA) if they earn an "A" in an AP course. Students will also earn 5 points for a "B", 4 for "C" and 3 for "D."

No points would be granted for grades below a "D."

Board members said the change will encourage students to enroll in the college-level courses without fear of hurting their grade point averages.

"We need to encourage kids to take higher level courses if they're capable," said board member Ed Cox.

Board members also approved the addition of AP physics to the course offerings for the 1997-98 school year.

In other business items, Board members approved a modification in block scheduling at

MHS. Currently, classes at MHS are scheduled in 90 minutes blocks and meet every other day. However, band and athletic students use two of their assigned eight periods so they can meet every day. "We have students dedicating 25 percent of their class schedule for extracurricular activities and we don't think that's a good situation," Moore said.

Under the new schedule, band and athletic classes will be scheduled once every other day. Band and athletic students will then meet during a 45-minute tutorial period on days their classes are not scheduled to meet.

MHS Principal Al Bishop said band and athletic students not in good standing would be required to attend tutorial classes.

Board members also voted to join the Texas Purchasing Consortium Cooperative.

The purchasing consortium is composed of 59 Texas school districts. The consortium allows its member school to save money by bidding for food and food service supplies as a group.

The district joined the consortium as part of their contract with Aramark Corporation, which operates the food service programs at all four MHS campuses.

Several personnel changes were also approved by the board.

Resignations were received from Watson Junior High School coaches Ted Johnson and Jimmy Orr, MHS coach Kim Zollinger, and DeShazo instructors Laura Johnson and Kristi Orr.

In addition, Dillman music instructor Jo Jinks will retire at the end of the current school year.

New personnel hired for the 1997-98 school year were Edward Perez, Michael Rose and Thomas Albert Burleson II, who will teach at WJHS, Jennifer Watson and Amy Kelly, who will teach at MHS, and Bethany Rose, who will teach at DeShazo.

State grants exemption for fungicide that controls ergot

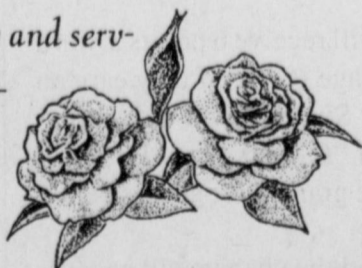

The Texas Department of Agriculture, acting on a request from the Texas Grain Sorghum association, has issued a crisis exemption for use of propiconazole on grain sorghum to control ergot.

The product, Tilt fungicide, can effectively control the new disease and can now be used in all sorghum-producing counties in Texas.

The disease, sorghum ergot or Claviceps africana, is a fungal infection of sorghum. The disease, which has been prevalent in Africa and Asia for decades, finally made its way to Texas this year. The U.S. sorghum industry has been closely tracking the disease since its spread to the Western Hemisphere two years ago. Scientists have documented its northward movement and predicted the movement of this disease into Texas.

"When the disease was found in South Texas, the Texas Grain sorghum association and the National Grain Sorghum Producers were ready to go with a request for an exemption so that Tilt could be used to control the disease," said Travis Taylor, executive director of the association. "We asked the Texas department of Agriculture to issue the exemption and they worked very quickly to get it through."

It is with grateful hearts we thank all those who did so much to help us in our time of grief. Our thanks to the Rev. John Wagoner, Dick Tarr, Scott Pace for the music, to First United Methodist Church and the church ladies for the preparing and serving of the meal. Everyone for the food, flowers, cards, memorials and prayers. The kindness and thoughtfulness shown to us was indeed helpful.

Experts warn of weevil onslaught

By Joe Bryant
A&M Extension Service

LUBBOCK—Unless each farmer protects his fields, boll weevils may take a big bite out of yields and profits in "the world's biggest cotton patch," the more than three million acres around Lubbock which is annually planted to the crop, warn entomologists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment station and Texas agricultural Extension Service.

"We're looking at a $100-million to $200-million cost across the (20-county) area for individual farmers to battle the increased weevil problem this year," said Dr. James Leser, Extension Service cotton entomologist.

Farmers with weevil problems will have to pay from $32 to $60 an acre, depending upon the number of times they have to spray, he projected. "Even with this level of control we will still have yield losses (from the weevil)," he said. "On 75-cent (a pound) cotton, that could average $31 an infested acre."

Boll weevil traps monitoring the emergence of weevils which overwintered following last year's crop snared "significantly more weevils in April than ever before," said Dr. Don Rummel, Experiment Station entomologist who has been tracking and studying the pest here for almost 30 years.

"We're seeing a more cold-hardy weevil," Rummel said. "All early indications are that this may be the greatest boll weevil population ever on the High Plains."

"The only thing that can moderate that," said Leser, "is a poor growing season for cotton. What's good for cotton is also good for the weevil."

He said scientific research and experience show three things: "The boll weevil is definitely overwintering everywhere across the High Plains that we're trapping; it is continuing to spread across the area, and the infestations are increasing in magnitude."

"This is the first year that many producers who have doubts about the presence of weevils will become believers."

In 1994 the legislature created the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation with authority to assess growers to pay for the control efforts.

Earlier this year, the Texas Supreme Court ruled that while the program was legal, the legislature had given the foundation an unconstitutionally broad delegation of authority, ending the statewide effort. On May 2, the PCG Boll Weevil Steering Committee canceled all plans for its diapause weevil spray program this fall.

"We're still capable of running a program, but we've lost the ability to collect the fees to pay for it," said Roger Haldenby, who heads the control programs for PCG. "The weevil is going to make an assessment on High plains cotton in 1997, no matter what the law says."

County Commissioners award pair of contracts

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

After lengthy deliberations, the Bailey County Commissioners Court Monday agreed on a health insurance provider and a bank during a five-hour meeting Monday.

The County decided to stick with Ted L. Parker & Associates of Lubbock for its health and life insurance despite a highly-competitive bidding process.

Three Lubbock insurance companies submitted sealed bids to provide secondary health coverage for the county's 47 full-time employees and elected officials.

"This is the first time we've had a competitive bid in a long time," said Precinct 3 Commissioner Joey Kindel.

Parker & Associates' winning bid was for $53,222. RH Administrators bid was $53,805, plus a 1,000 set-up fee. The third bid was for $69,000.

The County has a partially self funded health plan, which covers medical expenses of up to $15,000 a year on each of its employees. Additional expenses would then be covered by its health insurance provider.

The County also carries a $10,000 life insurance policy on its employees.

After a lunch break, the Commissioners switched its banking services from 1st Bank to Muleshoe State Bank.

The deciding factor was proposed interest rates.

Muleshoe State Bank will pay the County the same interest rate as a 13-week treasury bill.

1st Bank offered to pay the same as a 13-week treasury bill, minus .25 percent.

Coaches

ern New Mexico University in Portales last year, but is now looking for another coaching job.

"I'm always the one that has to get up and go," Zollinger said. "But I don't mind."

Zollinger stayed just one year at Muleshoe.

Amy Kelly of Clovis was hired as her replacement. She has no previous high school coaching experience.

Johnson and Orr will be reunited with former Muleshoe coach Bruce Lacefield at Morton, who was named head football coach last month.

"We've worked together before, so we'll be on the same page," Lacefield said. "Plus it's not often you get to work with friends."

Lacefield joined the Morton staff last year after being let go by current Muleshoe coach and athletic director David Wood.

Johnson will serve as defensive coordinator and head boys track coach. Orr will become an offensive coordinator and will also coach a second sport.

"I hate the thought of leaving Muleshoe, but it's something I have to do further my career," Johnson said. "I hope to be a head coach and athletic director one day, and this is a necessary step toward becoming one."

"You don't invest eight years of your life in a community and the kids, and not get attached. It's going to be hard to leave."

Wood understands the move Johnson and Orr are making.

"It's something that will help their careers," Wood said. "Getting a coordinator position is a step up."

Rreplacements for the boys coaching positions have already been hired. The girls positions remain open.

"It's unusual to have everybody leave at once, but at the same time, I understand," Wood said. "Sometimes it's a good thing because you get to bring in people that share the same philosophy."

Wood said he is also looking to fill two high school coaching positions. One position is newly created and the other has been open since football season.

Teen Leadership sponsors bike-a-thon

With the help of a puppet called Billy Bob Biker, students from Teen Leadership's Big Brother/Big Sister project just completed a successful bicycle safety program from Kinder Korner Day Care Center.

A total of 23 kinder korner kids were taught by Teen Leadership students the importance of safety while walking or riding bikes. In addition to the lesson, Teen Leadership provided color pages that daily reinforced the safety lesson for one whole week at the center. As a follow up to the week-long study, a bike-a-thon was held at the city park.

A safety obstacle course was set up at the park by the Teen Leadership students that included stop signs, yield signs, no bikes allowed signs, and even a traffic light that changed periodically to stop, yield and go! Kinder Korner kids had taken pledges and rode their bikes around the course observing the safety rules and fulfilling their obligations to those who had pledged money for their participation.

At the end of the bike-a-thon lemonade and cookies decorated as traffic lights were served to all participants and their parents. Each child participating received a certificate of participation and a McDonald's student award certificate including a free treat at McDonald's. Prizes were awarded to the following kinder korner kids.

Best decorated bike:
Female: Janessa Brown
Male: Riley Smith
Safest Biker Award:

Austin Bamert
Most Money Pledged:
1st Place: Katlin Luscombe
2nd Place: Cassi Stegall

Award winners received a large stuffed teddy bear, Mr. Sketch scented markers donated by Wilson's Appliance and a free pizza donated by Pizza Hut!

Shelbi Harrison with Teen Leadership Big Sister, Connie Espinoza.
